1973 in review

JENSEN BEACH—The year 1973, like most previous years, was 12 months of ups and downs, pros and cons, progress and frustrations.

It was a year that Jensen Beach residents got their own telephone directory, but not until after a knock-down, drag-out battle with South Central Bell officials.

After a myriad of work and frustrations, the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce moved into a new building.

Jensen Beach received but failed to get a new downtown traffic plan.

After many public hearings, county commissioners set a new density limit for Hutchinson Island.

A month-by-month review of 1973 includes:

JANUARY

Bruce Hemphill, district telephone company manager, announced that Jensen Beach, Port St. Lucie will have new telephone numbers.

A 440-family housing development and a 40-acre shopping center is planned for Jensen Beach-Sewall's Point area.

Chairman county commissioner is urged by Ransom Tilton of Jensen Beach.

Milwaukee Brewers consider Jensen Beach for a spring training site.

A United Fund of Martin County goal has been set at $64,000.

Bahama Resort Inn on Hutchinson Island is slated to open this week.

A traffic light to be used by members of the legislative delegation and District No. 1 commissioner will be ordered on Commerce Avenue.

Outdoor Art Festival, seventh annual, is scheduled for March.

A commercial Street traffic problem is reported.

Ground breaking services are held for addition to the Jensen Beach Community Church.

Turn clocks forward

JENSEN BEACH—Time ran out on the year of 1973 at midnight Dec. 31 and before 1974 is a week old it will be short an hour.

Because of the energy crisis the federal government has brought back daylight savings time again.

On Sunday, Jan. 6, turn your clocks ahead again.

Island dropped

City charter hearings begin January 14

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH—Public hearings on the proposed charter for the City of Jensen Beach will be held January 14 through 18 in five nightly meetings at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce building on Commercial Street it was announced Friday by Art Hansen, chairman of the Chamber's incorporation Committee.

Full information on the public hearings and a complete copy of the proposed charter will be published next week in The Mirror.

Though planning and the charter are not yet completed the committee hoped to have the document ready for the public hearing and format of the hearings set so that the public can participate in the drafting of the final form, according to Hansen.

At the meeting Friday the final boundaries of the city were approved by the committee. Hutchinson Island was withdrawn from consideration as a part of the city with the boundary following the Intracoastal Waterway. Thus the community of Rio was excluded from the city.

The committee feels that the responsibilities for services to Hutchinson Island were too great for the new city to assume. Also there is strong opposition from the Hutchinson Island property owners to annexation by being a part of the city, Hansen said.

He added that Rio was excluded because we felt that residents were fairly well divided in their desires to be a part of the City of Jensen Beach.

In both cases, the committee agreed that once the city was formed Rio and Hutchinson Island could petition for annexation.

The committee timetable for incorporation begins with the public hearings on January 14 through 18 at the Chamber of Commerce building, then final draft of the incorporation bill for presentation to the Martin County Legislative Delegation at the public hearing on February [illegible].

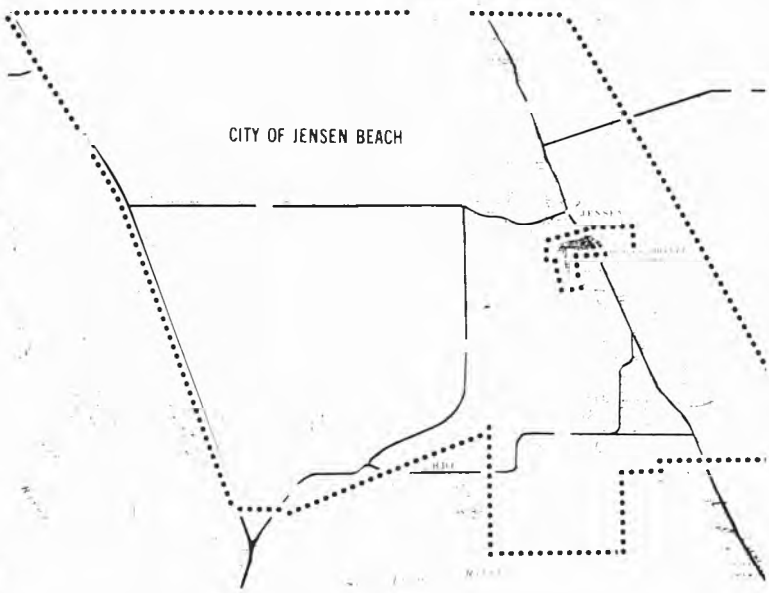
Following passage of the bill which would require a referendum, the city charter would be put to a vote of the residents on July 16. The charter requires that if passed an election of a mayor and four city councilmen be held the second Tuesday of September with the regular state primary election.

The charter proposes four councilmen with Jensen Beach divided in half at the south line of the Town of Ocean Breeze Park and two councilmen coming from the north and two from the south district. All voting with the mayor would be elected city wide. Elections would be [illegible].

The city still has not set proposed millage for taxes, leaning toward lasting a slight amount above the 12.7 mills already assessed by the county and available to the city upon incorporation. The committee discussed between 11 mills and 20 mills, but agreed to delay the setting of millage until it is learned how much money would be available to the city through various revenue sharing proposals.

We should just set what we need to get the city started, and leave future millage up to the city council, Hansen said. A three mill cap is planned for inclusion in the charter.

In other areas the committee limited the borrowing power of the city to $25,000 without a referendum by the residents.



Tschudi fund drive under way

JENSEN BEACH—Donations in memorial envelopes are being collected by the Good Works Council of St. Martin Catholic Church in Jensen Beach for the George Tschudi family.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Tschudi, 29 South Drive, was about 80 percent destroyed by fire Dec. 23.

Councilor of the council said that the clothing has been taken care of.

First Federal plans second art-o-rama

JENSEN BEACH—The second Art-o-Rama sponsored by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County will be held Jan. 11 through Jan. 20 in the Martin II Room of Community Health on Commerce Street in Jensen Beach.

There will be awards and ribbons given to each category of the open art show. There is no entry fee.

Categories include:

Oils, acrylics, water colors, mixed media, graphics, Black and white, color and sculpture.

A ribbon and a $25 savings account will be awarded for the best of show, and a ribbon and $10 savings account will be given to first prize in each category.

Rules for the show include:

1. All art works entered must be the artist's own work, originals only, no copies or reproductions.

2. A maximum of four works of art may be entered.

3. Work should be framed and if matted, clearly labeled on the back with title, artist, price and phone number.

4. No wet paintings will be accepted.

5. Artists should provide easels or stands for entries.

6. While every care will be exercised in handling all works submitted, neither the sponsor nor coordinator can assume responsibility for loss or damage. All such responsibility must be assumed by the exhibitor.

7. Sales may be negotiated individually with the artists. Each artist is responsible for complying with performance of Florida sales tax regulations.

All exhibits are asked to be brought to the First Federal Community Room Thursday, Jan. 10 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. and are to be picked up Friday, Jan. 18 between 6 and 9 p.m.

Madeleine Rebeiser is the show coordinator and Ruth Bowman is assistant coordinator.

Gluckler seeks mini-bus info

JENSEN BEACH—A mini-bus interim report will be made at the Martin County Commission Jan. 8 meeting by the commission's Bus Committee.

Commissioner Ed Gluckler, one of the commissioners studying the possibility of establishing a mini-bus service said Monday that the committee has learned that federal funds are available and that a company in Florida makes 12-passenger buses.

Gluckler said that he would investigate the cost of the mini-bus before the next commission meeting.

Meanwhile a committee of the Martin County Senior Activities Club, Inc. will discuss a bus service at the club's Jan. 9 meeting.

John Donnelly, a member of the committee, said Monday that his group has received information from the group that set up a bus service in St. Lucie.

New sailfish entries

STUART—The Winter Tournament of the Stuart Sailfish Club has these entries:

Spanish mackerel 9 lb 8 oz, Helge O. Wing of Stuart aboard The Mar. Capt. Hal Wing. Jack Cravalle 31 lb, James Mason, Vero Beach aboard the Fran E. Capt. Pete Robertson and Jr. Angler sailfish, David James Kenny Stuart, aboard Golden Falcon, Capt. Pat Kenny.

Women's sailfish 7 ft. 6½, Betty H. Kenny Stuart, aboard Golden Falcon, Capt. Pat Kenny and wahoo 41 lbs., Mary Billue, Port Salerno aboard Mary B. Capt. Glenn Burdge.

DECEMBER IN JENSEN—Cold in the north and there is snow, sleet, slick roads and freezing temperatures during the Christmas holidays. Pictured is a Dec. 30, 1973 beach scene in Jensen Beach. Enough said.

INDUCTION—Cubmaster Tom Hillegas welcomes two new members into Port St. Lucie Cubscout Pack 499 during the December meeting. Pictured above with Hillegas are Mrs. Yankello, Michael Yankello, Chip Yankello and Michael Montanino.

WELCOME—Bill Meyer is greeted by Cubmaster Tom Hillegas when he joined the Webelos contingent of Port St. Lucie Cubscout Pack 499 during the December pack meeting. Mrs. Meyer looks on.

SANTA'S VISIT—Little Robert Richardson became so shy when Santa came to visit he didn't know what to do. Santa came to visit all the children recently at the Beau Jardin Apartments in Jensen Beach. In the background is Norma Hacy, supervisor at Beau Jardin, who made special arrangements for Santa's visit.

D & M News Notes

MILDRED STINNETT
334-4486

Forty people enjoyed a most delightful dinner Christmas Day, in the recreation hall, which was preceded Christmas Eve by a merry group, led by Santa himself, which toured our Park, singing carols.

The Winningers, as usual, supplied the turkeys, and the remainer of the traditional dishes were brought by those who came to enjoy the food, the fun, and the fellowship. Mr. Conklin, our expert coffee maker, did a fine job.

Those responsible for the room and table decorations, which added so much to the festivities, were Olive Binns, Fran Gehres, Esther Gentry, Jo Enos and Darlene Patnaude. Jaunita Broullette was Chairperson for all preparations, and everybody agreed she did a splendid job.

Juanita read the Christmas Story, in place of the blessing, and later that evening, when residents returned to snack on left-overs, she read "When Father Shook the Stove" by Edgar A. Guest, as preliminary to a game of "I Remember", which produced hilarious memories of times gone by.

She also apinted a lovely "thank you" gift which was presented to the Winningers in appreciation for their part in the dinner.

Recreation Hall activities include a "Weight-off" group which will commence meeting Jan. 8 in the hall, so if you want to work off the extra poundage gained during the holidays, if you feel just a bit overweight, or just want a little exercise, keep that date in mind.

Even during the hectic holiday season, Juanita, our resident art instructor, has continued teaching her group of amateur artists, and now our color charts are almost complete.

The regular Pot Luck Supper will be held at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 2. Today's Every one, whether association member or not, is welcome, and the food is fabulous.

Don and Ethel Phillips have had Ethel's son Ray Westbrook, his wife Beverly and their three sons with them for their annual Christmas New Year visit. They came from Barton, N.Y. and have been thoroughly enjoying the delights of this area.

Also here for their annual visit were Mrs. Stetser's daughter June, her husband, Rod Hess, their son and daughter, all from Woodbury, N.J.

Harry and Alice Eastlack are entertaining their daughter, Miriam and her husband Don Gill, their grandson Don and his "intended", Debbis Friedrich, from Bedford, N.J.

We are happy to hear that Mrs. Foster has recovered nicely, but her house guest, Eleanor Keyes, of Boswell, Ind., has been "under the weather".

Ray Barr, Celia's husband, has been hospitalized for tests, and we wish him a rapid recovery.

VOL. 5, NO. 1, JANUARY 2, 1974 10

Homeowner general meeting

PORT ST. LUCIE--The general meeting of the Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association will be held in the CESA building January 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Lance Norvell, Port St. Lucie Chief of Police and St. Lucie County Sheriff, will be the guest speaker for the evening.

There will be an election of officers at this general meeting and members are also urged to pay their 1974 membership dues. According to secretary Jo Walker, dues may be mailed directly to her, Box 817, Port St. Lucie, should this be more convenient.

Members are urged to support their association with their ideas, problems and presence at the meetings.

Soccer registration is this Saturday

PORT ST. LUCIE--Soccer registration will get underway Jan. 5 at Sportsman's Park on Prima Vista Blvd.

Members of the Port St. Lucie Optimist Club, sponsors of the soccer program, will be on hand to accept the registrations from 9 a.m. until noon on Jan. 5 and 12, according to Walter Wagberg.

There will be a $5 registration fee which will include the insurance coverage.

Registration for soccer will be by weight, not age. There will be two divisions, 90 to 130 pounds and 131 to 180 pounds.

Boys will be required to provide white shorts and must use either sneakers, football or soccer shoes to participate in the game.

special guest speaker will be Donna

Springtime in January

PORT ST. LUCIE--The year 1974 will start off with spring in January - timewise anyway.

In an effort to combat the energy crisis, the government has moved the springtime daylight savings time up to January.

On Sunday, Jan. 6, it will be later than you think, lest you remember to turn your clock ahead one hour.

Welcome Wagon to meet January 7

PORT ST. LUCIE--The next regular meeting of the Port St. Lucie Welcome Wagon Club has been scheduled for January 7 at the marina on Prima Vista Blvd.

The agenda will include a demonstration by Rex Air Vacuum Cleaners and also a white elephant sale.

Privateer, a well known artist in this area, who will demonstrate oil painting. Her paintings have been shown at the St. Lucie Hilton and many local banks here and in Miami.

A Silent Auction will follow the demonstration and all members are asked to bring along some items which they no longer care to keep. This will help the church as well as provide fun at the auction.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Kas Harris and Mrs. Elsie Millspaugh. All women of the church and guests are invited to join in for an evening of fellowship.

Christmas is enjoyed by Yacht Club

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Stuart Elks Club was the setting for the annual Christmas party of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club, held Dec. 7.

Eleanor Hoffman, Dave Owen, Happy Trottier, Rose Germanie, Ralph Conley, George Findberg, Carol and Al Roth were the door prize winners for the evening. Each took home a bottle of champagne.

Party chairmen were Harold and Marjorie Redshaw, assisted by Bob and Millie Geringer.

Club decorations were by Carol and Jim Houlik with the assistance of Max and Maxine Erwin, Juanita Hoit and Ruth Kritsch.

The year 1973 in review

PORT ST. LUCIE--The year 1973 in Port St. Lucie was one of tremendous growth which brought about many changes. Residents struggled with the rising prices, the energy crisis and the predictions of impending restrictions.

It was a year marked with battles over saving the Savannas, annexations, 100 percent tax assessments, planned unit developments and telephone directories.

It was also a year in which many things were acquired. There were added facilities serving the area, a toll-free telephone exchange, banking facilities, new and additional doctors and an ambulance crisis resolved.

There were more places to go and more things to see. There were added cultural activities, more educational opportunities and more recreational facilities available to the people of Port St. Lucie.

The following is a month-by-month review of stories that made headlines in the Mirror during the year 1973.

JANUARY

Port St. Lucie Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh met with St. Lucie County Chairman George Price and county administrator Weldon Lewis to discuss a landfill to be located west of Florida's Turnpike.

Robert Brunton caught two seven lb. carp while ocean fishing.

New houses were being constructed at better than a two-a-day pace within the city of Port St. Lucie.

Southern Bell Telephone Company's plant manager, Glenn Sutton, announced 300 Port St. Lucie customers, and 200 Jensen Beach customers would have the newest computer system in the new central offices as part of the company's new telephone exchange connecting the two areas with toll free service.

Kenneth L. Thompson replaces vice mayor Julian Flood on the city council.

Wide-ranging talk indicates GDC housing in two counties. A hunt at hope for water and sewer service to the Jensen Beach area and a major commitment to master planned growth for the over 6,000 acres of land owned by General Development Corporation in Martin County was voiced by Fred Smith, president of GDC.

The Pruitt property, a 66 acre tract on Prima Vista Road, was annexed to the City of Port St. Lucie.

Top salesmen win GDC honors during convention '73 held at the Port St. Lucie Hilton. Over 500 General Development Corp. representatives attended the affair.

St. Andrews Lutheran Church kindergarten is accepting registration for four and five year old children for the fall term.

The city council looked with approval on the use of only usable acreage in figuring unit density for development but tabled the entire project of zoning changes into a related application for planned unit development for more study.

Retiring Sheriff Norvell of St. Lucie County was honored by the PSL city council.

City Investing makes offer to buy General Development Corp. stock. Under the terms proposed, GDC would exchange $12 face value of new issue of its 8½ percent subordinated general shares currently traded on the New York Stock Exchange at approximately $10 per share. Charles H. Kellstadt, board chairman of GDC, agreed the board of directors would study all aspects of the proposal including the price.

Redemption schools in Port St. Lucie bid.

With the battles of 200 homeowners on the dotted line, Councilman Kenneth Thompson planned to meet with city attorney Rupert Smith to get an election for the North Port lighting district under way.

Anita Wirth, Marie Hovis and Geordie Lindberg head the PSL Allstate's Club.

Two hundred workers attended the Commodore's Ball held at the St. Lucie Hilton Convention Hall.

Southern Bell started moving in trailers and equipment on the site of the new telephone exchange in PSL.

MAY

Cub Scout Pack 499 meeting is highlighted by the breaking of a piñata.

Port St. Lucie-River Park homeowners complained about the $40 per year charge for the use of the swimming pool at the North Port St. Lucie Marina.

Port St. Lucie Mayor Eugene Kavanaugh signed the Optimist Club's respect for law week proclamation.

The operation of CESA was discussed by the board of directors and trustees and it was agreed the Bureau of Aging grant would be tried for a period of six months.

PSL city fathers went into a head scratching session looking for ways to help the county fire district come up with a major part of $200,000 the estimated capital expenditure for a PSL fire station.

Leash law is unleashed as the city council passed an ordinance requiring all dog, cats, monkeys and other household pets be on a leash when outside the house.

PSL considered garbage collection that would be paid for by taxes rather than private enterprize services.

Conditional approval of the charter of the proposed bank for Port St. Lucie was received from the state comptroller, according to Clement Hramiec, president.

Except for the controversial stock exchange offer, GDC board chairman Charles H. Kellstadt told stockholders at the May 8 session at the Convention Hall that the company has never been in better shape.

Mrs. Thomas Bashara, Mrs. Jerry Gross, Mrs. Irene Carter and Mrs. Mildred Whitney have been elected to head Episcopal Church Women of the Holy Faith Church.

CESA drive increases with $5,000 donation

PORT ST. LUCIE--The second phase of the Cultural, Educational and Social Association (CESA) complex took one giant step forward as First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Ft. Pierce contributed $5,000 toward the building fund.

This contribution added to the $4,000 CESA already has in the building fund boosts the total to $9,000 toward the estimated $200,000 goal for the construction of a 400 seat assembly hall and an arts and crafts building.

According to Lundin the plans for the proposed structure are moving right along. George Askiel the architect has completed the preliminary sketches which will be presented to the CESA building committee and the educational committee at a 2 p.m. meeting on Jan. 8.

At this time we hope to make some decisions as to just what type of structure we will attempt to build, Lundin added.

The CESA committees recently met with the educational specifications group from Indian River Community College and entered into some preliminary agreements as to what the college would like to see in the arts and crafts building and how to obtain their opinion on the 400 seat assembly hall.

As a result of that meeting, CESA would plan to build a stage in the assembly hall 25 feet wide in order that it would be large enough for full furniture upholstery classes on it.

The principle requirements that the college wants to see fulfilled in the arts and crafts building are ceramic facilities, oil painting facilities as well working and electrical facilities, sewing and possibly nurses aid facilities.

CESA's input into the suggestions was that in addition a photographic darkroom be added.

It was also agreed between the CESA committees and IRCC that the proposed arts and crafts building consisting of two 25 x 50 rooms would represent a minimum structure but three such rooms would be desirable. This according to Lundin is what the CESA building committee will come up with.

It is our hope, said Lundin, that the building, the proposed second phase of CESA can be in operation one year from the day we open our fund-raising campaign.

Spearheading the campaign will be Mrs. Brown, finance committee; Judd Reading, building committee; and Vaughn Lewis, education committee.

The proposed addition to the CESA complex is just part of the long range plan for the one million dollar cultural center which it is hoped will eventually include classrooms, lounge, community center, theatre, gift shop and an olympic size swimming pool.

When the second phase of the CESA complex is completed, it will serve as an off campus facility for Indian River Community College. The college will completely equip the building and in addition will pay CESA $300 per month rent. Presently the college pays $200 per month rent on the existing CESA community center.

Forty people enjoyed a most delightful dinner Christmas Day in the recreation hall which was preceded Christmas Eve by a merry group led by Santa himself which toured our Park singing carols.

The Winingers as usual supplied the turkeys and the remainder of the traditional dishes were brought by those who came to enjoy the food the fun and the fellowship. Mr. Conklin our expert coffee maker did a fine job.

Those responsible for the room and table decorations which added so much to the festivities were Olive Binns, Fran Gebres, Esther Gentry, Jo Enos and Darlene Patnaude. Jaunita Broullette was Chairperson for all preparations and everybody agreed she did a splendid job.

Jaunita read the Christmas Story in place of the blessing, and later that evening, when residents returned for snack on left overs, she read "When Father Shook the Stove" by Edgar A. Guest, as preliminary to a game of "I Remember" which produced hilarious memories of times gone by.

She also painted a lovely "thank you" gift which was presented to the Winingers in appreciation for their part in the dinner.

Recreation Hall activities include a Weight off group which will commence meeting Jan. 8 in the hall so if you want to work off the extra poundage earned during the holidays, if you feel just a bit overweight, or just want a little exercise, keep that date in mind.

Even during the hectic holiday season Jaunita our resident art instructor has continued teaching her group of amateur artists and now our color charts are almost complete.

The regular Pot Luck Supper will be held at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 2. Today. Every one whether assistant member or not, is welcome and the food is fabulous.

Don and Ethel Phillips have had Ethel's son Ray Westbrook, his wife Beverly and their three sons with them for their annual Christmas New Year visit. They came from Barton, N.Y. and have been thoroughly enjoying the delights of this area.

Visiting here for their annual visit were Mrs. Stetser's daughter June, her husband Rod Hess, their son and daughter all from Woodbury, N.J.

Harry and Alice Eastlack are entertaining their daughter Miriam and her husband Dee Tifft their grandson Don and his "intended" Debbie Friedrich, from Bedford, N.J.

We are happy to hear that Mrs. Foster has recovered nicely but her house guest, Eleanor Keyes of Boswell, Ind. has been "under the weather."

Ray Burr Celia's husband has been hospitalized for tests, and we wish him a rapid recovery.

SANTA VISIT—The jolly old man from the North Pole, with a year's growth of white whiskers, is enough to frighten a three-year-old girl even if he promises to bring toys Christmas. Charlotte Pennington, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pennington of Alexander Bay, N.Y., wasn't sure that Santa would come to Jensen Beach since it doesn't snow here. Santa came, however, to the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce building Saturday afternoon. Waiting their turn to talk to Santa are Buck Mauldin and his two-and-a-half-year old son Jim.

United Church Women hold annual meeting

PORT ST. LUCIE—The annual meeting of the Church Women United of St. Lucie County has been scheduled for January 8 at the Port St. Lucie United Methodist Church from Prima Vista Blvd.

Mrs. Dorothy Lawrence, area vice-chairman of CWU of Vero Beach will install the new recording secretary and federal-slate for incumbent officers.

Mrs. Dorothy Cain will accept the office of recording secretary for the unexpired term of Mrs. Ruth Ritta.

All past presidents of the group will be honored during the meeting according to Mrs. Joseph Greenbaum, president.

Members will be welcomed to the annual affair by Rev. Dean Brim, pastor of the host church.

The agenda will also include a solo by Mrs. Ruth Sipple accompanied by Mrs. Vaughn Lewis.

A coffee hour will begin at 9 a.m. in the fellowship hall, with the business meeting to follow, in the sanctuary.

Linda Jones, the installation and dedicated flame ceremonies. Mrs. Dwyer Sue will deliver a brief message.

Christmas cards are still coming in with news from folks who are not my regular correspondents, bring the year's single news. Such as The Gramstorffs who retired in the park for several years were broken up when Mr. Gramstorff went to Ill. and died last year. Now we learn that Mrs. Gramstorff passed away this summer. Also, Walter Binder, lot 81, has succumbed a stroke and installation of a pacemaker, and is once more back at work. Again, Carl and Hazel Edmondson have lost their dining room through a fire. Carl is busy supervising its remodeling, but it will be mid-February before they are able to get back there.

Dorothy and Jim Gobert, who are visiting in Va. and Kathryn Smith a lot, visited Nassau this week. They talked to Dorothy and Ernie's descriptions of the boat in the boat were just too much.

Harriet and Inez Taylor had a visit from their daughter, Mrs. Lorraine Thomas. She drove her home to St. Petersburg and stayed for Christmas. They have returned then their granddaughter and her college room-mate.

Ruth Sage came in Thursday, Dec. 27 to spend the rest of her Christmas vacation in the park.

Inez and Bill Chanson visited their daughter over the Christmas holidays.

Tuesday was birthday time for Lucille [illegible] celebrated her's on Wednesday and Attwood Brockel [illegible] was the year on the 31st.

[illegible] and the children [illegible] during June's mom and dad [illegible] for 461 for two [illegible].

[illegible] has his sister and [illegible] visiting for the holidays.

[illegible] showers drove two large [illegible] for their Christmas [illegible] visits primarily from A [illegible] gathered at the rec. hall at 2 [illegible] Manor provided dinner [illegible] portable stereo. At 5 p.m. [illegible] thirteen came to the [illegible]. After eating carols [illegible] outstanding event of the [illegible] Hall's singing of [illegible].

Holiday Out-lines

BY BETTY TAYLOR
334-0624

Vansant, Willo and Harold Shirey, Betty Taylor, Liz Faust and Ellena Percy. Ellena and Jean played their melodicas for carol singing.

Wendy Sue Glassford came in for a three week stay with her parents John and Cappy Glassford. John had to fly home on Wednesday when police reported their home had been robbed.

Marie and Walt Vallery had their Christmas dinner with their friends Irma and Russell Walters of Pepper Park. The Walters were former owners in Holiday Out.

Bob and Louise Ritschard entertained Pat and John Bushan and Tom and Lorraine Goodwin on Sunday, Dec. 23 at their lot.

Lucille Dunphy celebrated her birthday on Christmas day and shared her cake with her neighbors, the Vansants.

Paul and Virginia Schoenberger, lot 452, dressed their dog Frizzie in a Santa hat for the holiday, personally styled for him by Arletta Wehlege, lot 417.

Georgie Bird Heinlen, lot 42, came in for the winter season last Thursday.

Priscilla and Robert Smith, lot 442, and some of their family arrived in the park on Friday evening for an indefinite stay.

Carl and Anna Drushal, staying at the South Seas, Ft. Pierce, had luncheon with Martha and Jim Lewis on Sunday, Dec. 23.

Frank and Lee Cieper, lot 319, came in last week for their winter vacation.

Arletta and Frank Wehlege, lot 417, had the Robert Smith family as dinner guests on Sunday, Dec. 23.

Bing Crosby is sporting a new tow vehicle, a camper type truck. He is busy installing bunks, table, etc. for ride trips.

Steve and Edith Pointon have been visiting relatives this holiday season. Bob Lyon and Stacy Palm are here for the first time, and delighted with the place.

Wallace D. and Marjorie McCune arrived Dec. 17 and plan to stay until the beginning of February. Their daughter, Beverly, alternates duties with our regular lifeguard.

Linda, Tom and Cindy Hall, Marvin and Essie Smith, Betty Taylor and Mary and I.A. Traynor had dinner on Saturday, Dec. 22, to celebrate the Traynor's 28th anniversary.

Eileen and Bill Hunter are caring for a good home for a female brown and black thoroughbred hunting dog. They say she has all her shots and has been pronounced in excellent health by a Stuart vet. The dog is medium size and gentle. Contact Eileen or Bill, lot 505.

The Holiday Out Pavilion Church had a large attendance at Christmas service. Norma Quillen was soloist, with Rhonda Brush of the Hobe Sound Bible College at the piano and Bert Turner at the organ. Rev. Neil Gunsalus preached an inspiring sermon. Stanley McCall have the call to worship and the benediction. Harold Landis read announcements and called for the offering and Mark Sumner was head usher.

Thirty five attended last Sunday's [illegible] at 2 p.m. in the rec. hall. It is hoped this attendance will increase in the future. Bring your friends and sing your favorite hymns with Hottie Blair at the organ and Ellena Percy directing.

A large and enthusiastic group armed with flash lights trudged through the park singing Christmas carols on Christmas Eve. As was done last year, luminaries were placed at both sides of each driveway and lit at 7 p.m. Although the high winds made keeping the candles lit quite a problem in some spots, the streets were a lovely sight. Compliance with methods for saving energy made the park darker than usual and the luminaries showed to much more advantage than last year, when trailers and patios were decorated.

I hear belatedly that Bernard Schultz is hospitalized. Best wishes to him for a quick recovery. He is in Martin Memorial Hospital.

[illegible] Sunday, Dec. 23, Joe and Edna Vansant had as guests Capt. and Mrs. [illegible] Pompano Beach. Next day Joe and Edna Del Newcomb shopped [illegible] Jeffrey on her way to her new home, an apartment in W. Palm Beach.

Bingo. Single games were won by Kay Rice, Jo Ann Allison, Helen Naylor, Alicia Peeler, Mae Desmartie, Mildred Gray. The Good Neighbor game was won by Sonja Martiello with her partners Ina Meachille and Ada Olmstead. Gene Gray was the emcee.

Pat and John Vetterl, lot 184, came in before Christmas and will be here for some weeks to come enjoying their new Airstream.

Ruth and John Rothschafer, lot 156, left for Alma, Mich., but will be back in March. A surprise farewell party was held at their patio attended by Del and Mae Starn, Jean and Mac McCabe, Pat and John Vetterl, Lila Marie Nava and Earl and Ruth Bowers. Snacks were served. Ruth's sister, Dell, joined them later in the evening.

Harold and Frances Peterson, Alma, Mich., are here for about two weeks. Their children are Sandy, Barb, David, Linda, Jeff and Scott. They are guests of the Flemings. Frances has a sister in Homestead and on a recent visit to her the family had the fun of picking tomatoes and touring the Everglades.

And now, another year is gone. It it was good to you, may this new one continue the same way. If your year was a bad one, I wish you all the luck in the world that 1974 will change the tide. Happy New Year to you all.

News from Blue Heron

SELMA GARDNER
334-6961

As Ed Sullivan would say this has been a "Rillily Big Week" for us. There has been lots of entertaining going on in the park. The festivities started early with much house to house visiting that always would up in a party. Bud and Vi Garrett had Open House on Saturday night and just about everyone was there and had a real nice time. Bud was the Chef and believe me he does a fine job. On Christmas Eve night there was open house at Dot and Tom Brown's, Alice and Henry Weigand's, Pete and Nellie Turner's and Ellen and Harry Bayliss'. I suppose we'll all have to go on a diet now, after all those goodies. We would up by going caroling and I'll guarantee we'll never be hired by Mitch Miller for a singalong. I think we were all singing in a different key but it sounded good to us.

Alma and Tom Carpenter, Pat and Chuck Sutton, Tom and Dot Brown had Christmas dinner at Pete and Nellie Turner's house. Pat and Chuck's two sons and their families had just left to go home, after spending two days with them.

Vi and Bud Garrett and Floyd Gazell went to dinner at Ft. Pierce where they were joined by Selma and Walter Gardner and Mac and Jean McCabe.

Alice and Henry Weigand had a lot of company for Christmas dinner. They were Ross and Bill Tenor from Avalon, N.J.; Marion and George Moss from Rosedale, California. The Moss' are staying for a while at Hallandale. They also had Pete Petrey from Blue Heron as a guest.

Russ Bollen and Frances had a house full of company, sorry I didn't get their names but we serenaded them anyhow—much to their suprise.

Marie and Ed Mulder had son George and wife and two boys visiting them for several days and had a real old fashioned Christmas.

Dot and Tom Brown are expecting guests Bill and Dot Mason from Trenton, N.J., to visit them for a week. The Masons are due to arrive on Dec. 28

Ellen and John Seroyer spent the Christmas holidays in Jacksonville and got the best present of all. It was a new grandson (their first) and he weighed 7 lb. 15 oz., and is 21 inches long. The mother and father, John Jr., and Sandy Seroyer named the baby Sean Travis Seroyer

All the residents of the park planned a New Year's Eve party and the ladies met Wed. at 10 a.m. on Ellen Bayliss' porch to make plans for the refreshments. Will let you know how it turned out in next week's Mirror

Happy New Year to everyone

The Barn.... plus

Energy crisis notes: I am changing my address from a post office box in the Stuart P.O. to my local rural mail box and am writing a little squib to all friends and foes alike. that I shall have time to have a great garden; I can take long rides on my new bicycle and maybe even go fishing down on the sea-wall. and I'll be saving eight miles of driving every day. Do you boil a whole kettle of water for one cup of coffee? That is a no no

The rehearsals of 'Carnival' are being held in two sections, as I understand it. co-directors Carr and Langbehn neck taking part of the action. Richard Carr at the Barn and Hank Langbehn at St. Mary's. When I stopped there last night, they were tearing the front of the stage apart. This play takes place in a circus tent and I assumed this demolition was part of the making of a big top

Another energy crisis note. The attendance was down 50 percent at the open house at the Elliott Museum on Christmas Eve. Last year, the count was over 600 but people really seem to be trying to conserve, and that makes me feel better about my own efforts

The Under the Banyan Tree Celebration Art Show at the St. Mary's Episcopal Church was delightful despite the cold weather. The temperature was instrumental in containing almost all the exhibitors to the courtyard, which made for a very pleasant show, both for the exhibitors and the customers. Mark and Chris Perry, and their helpers, if there were any, certainly did a great job which I hope they will repeat next year

The twenty-third Annual Winter Art Show will be held Feb. 1, 2 and 3 at the Miracle Mile Shopping Plaza in Vero Beach. I have got the brochure and application on the bulletin board at the Art Mart if anyone wants further information.

Vet meeting

FORT PIERCE—Veterans legislation will be discussed at a 7 p.m., Jan. 13 meeting at the American Legion Hall, 610 South Fourth St., Ft. Pierce, State Rep. Charles Nergard announced.

Rep. Nergard said that Rep. Ray Mathis of Polk county, chairman of the House Committee of Military and Veterans Affairs, will attend the meeting.

"This will be a free forum meeting for the purpose of deciding the type of legislation which would be most beneficial and desired by veterans," Rep. Nergard said.

Rep. Nergard urged all veterans of the four-county area to attend the meeting.

Hats off to the block chairman who planned the Christmas dinner menu. Believe all who say anything special rose for an ovation except Ida Hausman, without whose help I may have still been snuffing celery! She just happened by the kitchen and spent over three hours assisting me. Such a beautiful meal artistically served to 112 people deserved a ball big enough for at least elbow room. Wall in wall people does not aid digestion or do justice to our gourmet cooks in the park.

The dance Saturday night was not well attended. Those who did go had a ball and more than their money's worth. The gals were done up proud and our spouses put their best feet forward. Music was really great and Cindy and Peter were most gracious hostess and host for the gala affair.

Cheers to the fine decorators who really made the rec hall a fine Christmasy spectacle.

Millie Middleton reports Dr. and Mrs. Peter Sarti flew down from N.J. to spend Christmas with their parents, Ralph and Ann Larberg.

The Cherry family are here from Farmington, Mich. We enjoy having them for the holidays.

Peter and Doris Stoukas and daughter Donna are here from Hamilton, Ontario. Donna had her picture taken with Santa Claus and Lisa Wetmore, their next door neighbor. The Wetmores hail from Oregon, Ohio.

Venture Out News Notes

By Willard Auch

Welcome to Betty and Peter Costa from Springfield, Penna. They have their two sons along. The sons are on an extended vacation because of semester breaks.

Happy to have the Merry Millers back in the park. Their daughter and son-in-law, Marilyn and Ralph Rose are spending the holidays with them.

Willard Auch wishes to thank one and all that assisted in the dog hunt Friday night. Dr. Fred Meeker's dog, the silver poodle, slipped away while we were cooking out at Fred's in Beach Club Colony and he made every effort to find his way back to his former home where the Paynters now reside. He was found in Holiday Out. The poor lost soul was very happy to see Granddaddy Willard.

Mate and Bill Grueling received a big package from, they think, the Mowrys in Ashland, Ohio. The package was very light and contained confetti shredded like snow and a great big plastic snow ball. Seems someone back home in the northland wanted them to know it was snowing up there.

Wilda Wilson reports Ernest and Elizabeth Ann Dyke from Jackson, Tenn., are on their lot with three of their children and Mrs. Dyke's mother. They will be with us until after New Year's day.

John and Kathie Spindler and daughter are enjoying a short visit home in Stone Harbor, N.J.

Mr. and Mrs. McNamara from Massapequa Park, N.Y. are here for a few days.

Happy to have Mary Ellyn Meachum join the reporting staff. She reports Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fitts spent Christmas with their daughter and family in Miami. The Fitts' are returning to their home in Broomall, Pa., but will be back at VO in February.

Joe and Amy Freitag are busy installing a screen for their patio.

Mrs. Penny Kyle and her children Mary, Kelly and B.J. have returned to Peoria, Ill. after spending the holidays with Mary Ellyn Meachum.

Dr. and Mrs. W.A. Treat have their son Tom with them for the holidays. Doc is boasting that his son is catching more fish that he is. Tom will return to school in Bozeman, montana the first week in January.

Bob and Hallie Arrowsmith are happy to be entertaining their son Robert, Jr., and daughter-in-law sue, during the holidays. The young couple hail from Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wisler of Mishawaka, Ind., are spending Christmas week with their daughter, Carol and son-in-law Jerry Jarsenbeck.

Bill and Cleo Pendergras spent Christmas day with their daughter Sandra, who lives in Orlando.

Paul and Evelyn Seham had an especially nice Christmas. Her brother Elmer and Jane Deater from Valley Forge, Pa. with niece Bonnie and George Kerr, also daughter Becky and son-in-law Marvin Currie with grandchildren Paul and Pat converged to help them celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary on Christmas Eve.

Ruth Balash reports Hal and Myrtle Abrams are very happy to have their daughter Jill visiting them for Christmas and she will stay until Saturday when she will fly back to her teaching job in Virginia.

Roger and Mildred Fortin also had visitors for the Christmas holidays. Their son Roger, and his wife were here for Christmas and then the four of them went down to Audjoe Cay for a few days. They are all having a wonderful time.

Bob and Dorothy Hendrixson were disappointed that their son Gary and his family had to cancel their visit at the last minute. They had all looked forward to Christmas together.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank John Balash who managed to keep things running smoothly at the Wednesday night bingo. There was a record crowd and the bingo cards ran out in a very short time. We had to borrow cards from Holiday Out. We want to thank Holiday Out for their cooperation.

We also want to say that we are sorry some of the people did not get to play bingo. If they had waited until John Balash brought the extra cards back from Holiday Out they too could have played.

Clyde and Lola Ronar have now moved into their new condominium apartment at De La Balsa in Stuart.

Fran Tener reports Jessie and Les Shaver visited their family in Miami over the holidays, and had a festive time with Jessie's mother, sister and daughter and her family. They got back to greet son Charles and his family from Tenn. It wasn't long before Les had son Charles busy cleaning father's boat. Charles is staying in his motor home, and had a good time visiting with the Ludwigs who are also "horsey" people.

Glad to report that Theo Slagle is back home and feeling better. She may have to slow down her motors for a little while until she has a chance to rest up from her pre-Christmas activities.

Selma and Joe Valara are back home after a plane trip from New York City which took them 18 hours and ended in a taxi trip from Miami to Venture Out at 6 a.m.

Dick Tener is complaining about his fishing catch, his golf scores and says he cannot even win at bingo. He is looking forward to a better 1974. Perhaps he will change his sport to tiddly-winks.

The Autenrieths served their guests a delicious fresh ham for Christmas dinner. Walter went to some trouble to order one and every bite was worth it.

The Higgins have their grandson, John Atkinson, visiting them. He is an example of perpetual motion. He takes time to eat enough to fill his hollow legs and then he is off to pool, shuffleboard, bike, etc. Grandpa Hank still finds time to get in his golf and other activities. Grandma Catherine has been busy baking pies and cakes to give to fortunate friends. Her strawberry shortcake is the greatest. Or it is her pumpkin pie that is the greatest? It's all delicious.

We are so glad to have Helen Williams back with us. She manages to keep cheerful although it is very tiring to be on crutches. However her broken hip is mending and her brother Frank is being put to work gardening by Roy.

Bobbie Ostertag spent Christmas in Tampa with daughter and son-in-law Gail and Mike Corcoran, and daughter and son-in-law Bonnie and Denny Juettner and grandson Timmy. Bobbie's parents from Deerfield Beach also joined them. Bonnie and her family are returning here to be with Bobbie and to arrange a memorial service for Bill Ostertag. We all are fortunate to have such wonderful memories of Bill and the times he spent with his lovely family here.

Bobbie Ostertag and her family wish to express the sincerest thanks for the thoughtful expressions of sympathy on the death of her husband Bill. A memorial service will be held at the Jensen Beach Community Church Saturday, January 12 at 3 p.m. All friends are invited.

The Venture Out New Year's party saw two of the members of the Quiet Knights Trio who have played with Buzzy Berrigan and both of the Dorsey brothers back in the big band era. The party was the bargain of the year with food, music and all the trappings of an exceptionally good time.

There will be an excursion to Jai Lai at West Palm Beach in the immediate future. We hope, if enough interest is shown, to make this a weekly or at least bi-weekly, happening.

Are there only six pool players in the whole park? Weekly winners to date are Thornton Cook and Andy Wilston.

WHO'S WHO IN VENTURE OUT sewing.

Mary and Carl Rose of Auburn Heights, Mich., were both born in Detroit. They are fast becoming Floridians.

The Roses will be married thirty years in April. They have three sons and one daughter and six grandchildren.

Carl is an engineer with Fisher Body, a division of General Motors. His interests are many. He plays the piano and the organ. He is the organist in his home church and pleases all of us with his wonderful talents when he is in the park. Photography, furniture and car model making are among his many hobbies.

Mary is a buyer committee for an independent pharmacy in Detroit. Her hobbies are interior decorating and Both Mary and Carl have been very active in youth work in the home area for many years. The Roses will be their happiest when their lot at Venture Out will be their home address instead of the cold snowy north.

Chamber committee seeks donations

JENSEN BEACH—Donations are being asked by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee to pay for a possible charter referendum and election of officials.

In a "Dear neighbors" letter, committee chairman Art Hansen says:

The anticipated charter referendum and election of officials will cost money ... more than go to a few for large donations we want you and the others to make small amounts (not over five dollars). This will help initiate a policy of people run government rather than a tendency to let a few make the decisions."

Hansen points out in his letter that last year many persons in the community signed a petition asking the chamber to proceed with details of incorporation "with that mandate," Hansen writes in his letter. "The chamber board of directors appointed an incorporation committee to study the feasibility of incorporation, draw up a proposed charter for submission to the legislative committee and finally for approval by the state legislature."

Hansen says in his letter that the committee is convinced that Jensen Beach should become an incorporated city so the citizens can enjoy the benefits of having a government run by the people who will listen to and abide by the wishes of the people.

"Our committee has now completed a proposed charter," Hansen writes. "We want you to become familiary with it and if you have any thoughts let us have them. We anticipate the help of our news media and public meeting to tell our story."

Hansen said that checks should be made payable to the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Any surplus money will be placed in a special account to be used exclusively by the elected officials for interim expense, according to Hansen.

County charter hearings are set

STUART—The first in a series of public meetings on the proposed Martin County charter will be held Wednesday, Jan. 9 at the Martin County courthouse beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Copies of the proposed charter were to be distributed to various locations around the county, including the courthouse, Stuart national Bank and in Indiantown.

The Charter Commission was set up by the legislature several months ago, and the members of the commission have been working on the charter ever since. It would give the county a measure of home rule.

UF to begin

JENSEN BEACH—Plans for the 1974 Martin County United Fund campaign will be outlined at the next board meeting which is tentatively set for Jan. 11, according to Ken Ferguson.

Ferguson, UF president, said the campaign to finance 12 participating agencies would be held the last weeks in January and first two weeks in February.

Resident questions incorporation; Art Hansen answers

(Editor's note: This letter from Mrs. Keith W. Lamble asks some provocative questions about the incorporation of Jensen Beach. In the public interest, we have asked Art Hansen, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee, to answer the questions.)

To the editor:

On Thursday night, January 2, I heard for the first time that Jensen Beach is going to be incorporated. From what I heard, and later read in your newspaper, it sounds as if this has already been decided. I would like to ask a few questions of Art Hansen or any other member of the incorporation committee. They are as follows:

1. Will the residents of the Jensen Beach area be able to vote on whether or not we want Jensen incorporated, or has it already been decided by a few people?

HANSEN—In a public opinion petition taken last fall, over 1,300 residents indicated that they would like to have incorporation presented for a vote by signing those petitions. We are presenting a charter that must be approved by the voters in a referendum. All residents will have the right to vote on incorporation of Jensen Beach.

2. What benefits will incorporation have for the general public in this area?

HANSEN—Incorporation will bring the people closer to government, and our neighbors will make decisions affecting our health and welfare. If we want more services, we, the people, will decide, and rather than depend on the whim of a county commissioner who is part of a five-man board that must think county-wide, we will have five men from Jensen Beach making decisions—again, keeping government closer to the people. Many more benefits will be brought out in public hearings we will be holding every night next week.

3. Is it not true that once the city is established our property taxes will almost double?

HANSEN—No. At present, Jensen residents are paying 18.755 mills in taxes, or $1.8755 per one thousand dollars valuation, to the county. The school board gets 10 mills, the general county fund gets 7.07 mills, the flood control district gets .485 mills and District A gets 1.20 mills. The new city would take over the 1.20 mills now being paid by residents of the Jensen area. Section 3.05 of the proposed charter sets a limit of three mills on what the city can levy, or a maximum of 1.8 mills more than is now being paid. The committee has not yet decided how much millage will be needed, researching what funds will be available to the city in revenue sharing from state and federal sources, franchise and business license fees. The millage will be decided before the issue is voted on so that the people know what it is going to cost. However, at the full 1.8 mills additional taxes for a home assessed at $25,000, with a $5,000 homestead exemption, would increase from $375.10 to $411.10, or an increase of $36. Taxes would not double, and the charter limits the taxing power of the city. Only the people can change the charter can change the taxing power of the city.

4. As a property owner and taxpayer in Jensen Beach, I would like to ask that each person in this area will have a say in something as important as incorporation, especially since, in the long run, we will be the ones who pay for it.

HANSEN—You are absolutely right. That is why we are holding public hearings next week, Tuesday through Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Langford Park Field House. We want to present our findings and have the people review our charter with us. We have tried to design a city that is people oriented and motivated. We certainly appreciate your concern and intelligent questions, which enable us to keep you, and all residents of Jensen Beach, informed on this very important subject, as we seek the best document for the people to vote on before Jensen Beach becomes a city.

Second annual

Art-O-Rama opens Friday

JENSEN BEACH—Hundreds of paintings and works of art will be on exhibit starting this Friday in the second annual Art-O-Rama, sponsored by First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County. The show will open at 9 a.m. Friday, Jan. 11, in the Harry H. Hoke Community Room on Commercial Street. It will continue through Friday, Jan. 18, at 6 p.m.

The exhibit, open to the public during banking hours, will be judged over the weekend and ribbons will be placed on winning entries. A ribbon and $25 savings account will be awarded for Best of Show, and a ribbon and $10 savings account will be awarded to first place winners in each category. Ribbons will go to second and third place winners.

This is an open art show and there is no entry fee. Categories include oils, acrylics, water colors, mixed media, graphics and sculpture.

All exhibits are to brought to the community room on Thursday, Jan. 10 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. and are to be picked up Friday, Jan. 18 between 6 and 9 p.m. A maximum of five works will be accepted and all must be originals only, no copies or reproductions. Work should be framed or matted and clearly labeled on the back with title, artist, price and phone number.

Artist should provide easles or stands for entries and they should have the owner's name attached. No wet paintings will be accepted.

Madelene Rebeiser is coordinator and Ruth Bowman is assistant coordinator.

We are looking forward to another fine exhibit this year," Buck Mauldin, manager of the Jensen Beach branch, said Monday. Last year 43 artists exhibited 162 works of art.

Election of 1974 officers

Walton will view incorporation

WALTON—A controversial working copy of an incorporation charter for Indian River Drive is expected to be presented at the Jan. 17 meeting of the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association at the Walton Community Center.

Incorporation discussion is expected to be one of the two major issues discussed while the election of 1974 officers will be the other.

In as much as the 1974 officers will be nominated and elected from the floor, a large attendance is anticipated for the Thursday meeting.

Phil Thibedeau, who heads a five-man committee studying incorporation, said, "Although I don't know what success we will have with the legislature, I think it behooves us to make the effort to protect our area.

"We are trying to protect ourselves from the encroachment of annexation from the City of Port St. Lucie," Thibedeau continued.

The working copy of the incorporation was drafted by Thibedeau, Don Litner, Dick Little, Wallace Kramer and Roland Ankeney and will be presented to the drive residents for their consideration.

During a previous meeting held in November, incorporation was suggested as being, possibly, the only answer. A show of hands at that time indicated 60 percent of those in attendance were in favor, while the remaining 40 persent maintained an open mind on the subject and were desirous of additional information.

As a result of this meeting, a committee of five was selected to draft the charter and spearhead the proposal.

"Our property is so close, that whatever they do within the City of Port St. Lucie affects the integrity of the entire area.

"They completely opposed the entire concept which area people were contented with. Their attitude was, that even though the newly annexed Port St. Lucie property was in the heart of our community, they would institute whatever zoning change they desired. They did not recognize the Indian River Drive community or its opposition," Thibedeau went on.

Recently members of the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association were successful in working with various state agencies to secure an injunction against the Universal Adams Twin Banyan Plantation development.

The project was stopped well over a month ago by the Florida Department of Pollution Control after beginning construction on a wide causeway across some of the savannas wetlands.

Then on Dec. 11 Robert G. Amann, area coordinator for U.A. appeared before the Port St. Lucie City Council requesting a preminuary site plan approval on an alternate proposal.

The major changes in the alternate proposal were the Indian River Drive outlet, the relocation of the golf course and the change in size and relocation of the four buildings to be constructed east of the Florida East Coast tracks.

SR-707 improvements at Beacon 21

The entrance to Beacon 21 on ... is being improved and more safety devices such as reflector ... on the curb will be installed, ... to the development's con... manager.

... 21 construction manager E.J. ... said that he has been working with the Department of Transportation (DOT) on the road.

Turning lanes into the entrance have been installed at the developer's expense, and Pollack said reflector lights will be placed on the curb.

"Turning lanes at developments and shopping centers have been an improvement to help traffic flow," Martin County Road Superintendent Cliff Raulerson said.

A few years ago the bridge over Warner Creek on SR-707 at the site of Beacon 21 was narrow over wooden rails.

The bridge has been widened and the roadway widened with proper markings and turning lanes.

Fire department seeks donations

JENSEN BEACH—The annual drive for donations is now under way by the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department.

Fire Chief R.B. Spinney said that about 1,800 letters have been mailed to area residents seeking donations.

The department, one of the best equipped in the area, will purchase a new fire truck this year to replace a 17-year-old truck.

"The new truck will cost about $22,000," Chief Spinney said.

In his "dear neighbor" letter, the chief wrote:

"This is our annual drive for donations from the residents that we serve. All funds received are used exclusively for the purchase and maintenance of equipment for your Fire Department."

"Your generosity in the past, combined with the efforts of the dedicated members of the Fire Department, has given us the best equipped and most efficient Volunteer Fire Department in Martin County. This gives us an excellent insurance rating and benefits many of you by a lower insurance premium."

"You are cordinally invited to inspect the Fire Department facilities and equipment any time during the hours of 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to noon Saturday."

"Your Fire Department is a non-profit organization and donations are tax deductible."

The well-equipped department with its water tank trucks--500 and 600 gallons--also includes a "cherry picker" which can reach to the fourth floor of buildings.

The new truck will be purchased this spring and will have high pressure fog equipment, according to the chief.

Building in county hits $67 million

STUART–During 1973, building permits issued by the Martin County building inspector's office totalled more than $67 million, almost a $10 million increase over 1972.

A total of 2,868 building permits were issued in 1973 for a total of $67,124,185 compared to 2,247 permits in 1972 for a total of $58,625,659.

While Martin County Commission has approved construction of about 1,600 units on Hutchinson Island alone, Building Director Harold Glass isn't so sure that the building boom will continue.

Glass points out that money is "still tight" with high interest rates.

Also, Glass said that the condominium apartment building will depend on the success of condominium apartments that are now available.

The building totals for December 1973 were down slightly from the December total of 1972–$2.1 million compared to $2.5 million.

Also, there were seven multi-family permits issued for a total of $960,000 in December of 1972 and no multi-dwelling units permits were issued last month.

However, in November of 1973 total was $9.3 million compared to $4.5 million in the same period of 1972.

Edward A. Prohaska, builder, died suddenly

JENSEN BEACH–Edward A. Prohaska of 438 Skyline Drive died at Martin Memorial Hospital on Jan. 5. Prior to his death, he asked Dr. Richard Q. Penick to write the obituary notice.

Normally newspapers publish the pertinent facts in an obituary but in this instance The Mirror is printing the notice as written by Dr. Penick.

"Edward A. Prohaska, 75, of Skyline Drive, was summoned to the world beyond on January 5 from Martin Memorial Hospital. He was a native of Huntington, N.Y. and was the last surviving member of his family. His mother was a niece of the famous Bohemian composer Antonia Dvorak, with whom she lived as a child.

"He is survived by his wife, Lucy, and a sister-in-law, Josephine Neurohr. He moved here in 1960 from Babylon, N.Y. where he as a contractor had constructed over 1,000 homes. He contracted for his first residence at the age of 17.

"Ed, as his many friends knew him, was kind, sincere, honest, conscientious and dependable in his building and personal dealings. He is credited with saving the life of a friend, Steve Koronski, who had been poisoned with carbon monoxide fumes. Using external cardiac massage he twice revived him.

"A childhood injury to his left arm shortened it but did not prevent him from becoming a superior athlete. In 1917 he played baseball against the great Hans Wagner and in later years golf occupied his recreational hours and his game was very competitive. Locally he was an avid softball and bowling fan.

"His brother, Charles, was credited with leading Infantry Company K to the rescue of the Lost Battalion in WWI. He was one of three of the original 240 soldiers to return. Ed himself was to enter the service in WWI, the armistice was signed. He was to serve in WWII but an age bill was passed just six hours prior mustering-in ceremonies.

"Ed's passing has created a void in the lives of his many friends."

Services were held Tuesday at Yates Funeral Home Chapel, Rev. Donald E. Johnson, Jensen Beach Community Church officiating. Burial was in All Cemetery.

FIT Film Festival

JENSEN BEACH–The Florida Institute of Technology will resume its International Film Festival series this Saturday at 8 p.m. with Federici Gellini's film "Nights of Caburua" in the campus auditorium.

In 1957 the film gained international acclaim when it won the Academy Award as the Best Foreign Language Film of the year. Fellini's wife, Ghuilietta Masina, portrays Cabiria, a poor, but lovable little woman living on the outskirts of Rome. For Fellini, she is a touching human being and a symbol of humility, trust and hope. And, while she struggles constantly, her spirit is indestructible.

The Saturday review in its critique of the film said, "Fellini is one of the few directors who is not afraid to rely on imagery, to let the camera speak for him. His pictures transcend mere technique. The strain of a tear that recalls paintings of medieval madonnas. They are neither tricks or effects, but the product of that subtle interplay of technique and emotion we call art.

Tickets are $1 and can only be purchased at the door starting at 7 p.m. There is enough seating for 250 persons. The film will be shown once. For further information call 334-4200 or 287-1550.

DEDICATION–Students and principles from each of the Martin County Schools were present for the second beach strip dedication Friday at the Gilmour property

'Tiger Shores' dedicated

HUTCHINSON ISLAND–The second beach strip purchased for public access was dedicated Friday and officially named "Tiger Shores" after the Martin County High School students who raised $25,000 for the acquisition of a beach area for the youth.

The ceremony took place on the Gilmour strip just north from the Islander 12 Condominium.

County officials and the "Save Our Beaches" executive committee praised all the Martin County students who took an active part in the "Save our Beaches" campaign.

In all, the final figure raised by the students of Martin County reached $36,771 toward public beach acquisition.

County commissioner Timer Powers praised the students saying, "An outstanding job was done by the students of Martin County, who were motivated and took positive action."

"No one can fail to feel an enormous sense of pride for the significant example of accomplishment which has been exhibited by our students in this county. When the call came, they responded far beyond all our expectations," remarked County Commissioner Ed Gluckler in praise of the students.

Officials gave special praise to Scott Fletcher, campaign director for the "Save Our Beaches" committee and his co-workers for the endless hours spent behind the scenes of the program.

Martin County Commission vice chairman Ross Philbrick said, "I wish to express our everlasting thanks and appreciation for your great gift to present and future generations. For all time, it will remain as a permanent reminder of the leadership and statesmanship displayed by our youth during the year 1973."

During the dedication, special recognition was given to local realtor, Ralph Hartman Jr., who waived his $11,000 commission in the sale of the beach strip. Further thanks were given to Peter Jefferson and Fred Stresau who drew up the plans for the strip.

Also recognized for their help in the beach purchase were County Purchasing Agent Paul Pnerod, County Planner Lenard and County Attorney Steve Calvert.

St. Joseph Guild

STUART–The first night card party will be sponsored by St. Joseph Guild on Friday, Jan. 18 at 8 p.m. in the parish hall.

Coffee and Cake will be served and there will be door and table prizes. The public is invited.

ENGAGED–Mrs. Anne Lawson of Jupiter announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Bertha Lee Evans, to Elbert James Silas, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Silas Sr. of Jensen Beach. Miss Evans attended Jupiter High School. She was in Deca, Journalism, the Pep Club and the Keyettes Club. Silas is a graduate of Martin County High School and is currently employed at the Jensen Cabinet Shop in Stuart. No date has been set for the wedding.

ON LEAVE–Wayne E. Sprague, Fireman 3rd Class U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Sprague of Jensen Beach has been home on a two-week leave after completing his basic training at Orlando Naval Training Center.

He will now attend Advanced Technical Training School in Philadelphia, Pa., and San Diego, Calif., to specialize as a Hull Maintenance Technician.

The names of all candidates for the office of mayor shall be placed upon the election ballot first and in alphabetical order. The names of all candidates for council seats shall be placed upon the regular ballot in alphabetical order for the seat to be voted upon. Council seats shall be listed on the ballot in their numerical order. Run-off election ballots shall be in the same form as prescribed herein for the regular municipal election ballot.

ARTICLE V
CITY COUNCIL

5.01 The Legislative Power of the city shall be vested in the city council consisting of five (5) members and a mayor, who is the executive.

Council Members

5.02 Two members shall be qualified electors from an area of the city designated as district one. One member shall be elected to a seat designated as seat one (1) and the other member elected to a seat designated as seat two (2).Two members shall be qualified electors from an area of the city designated as district two. One of these members shall be elected to a seat, designated as seat three (3) and the other member elected to a seat designated as seat four (4).

The council members shall be elected by the qualified electors of the city at large.

5.03 Districts. District one shall be the area of the city south of east west line bordering the south border of the Town of Ocean Breeze Park. District two shall be the area of the city north of the east west line. The location of this line to be changed by ordinance when necessary to fairly represent an equal number of voters in each district within six (6) months after publication of each decennial Federal Census.

5.04 Terms of Office. The councilmen for seats one and three shall initially be elected for a term of one year. Thereafter said term shall be for two years. The councilmen for seats two and four shall initially and thereafter be elected to a term of two years.

5.05 Judge of Qualifications. The council shall judge the qualifications of its members and shall judge the grounds for forfeiture of their office. A member charged with conduct constituting grounds for forfeiture of his office shall be so notified by certified mail and shall be entitled to a public hearing on demand, and notice of such hearing shall be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the City at least one week in advance of the hearings. Decisions made by the council under this section may be subject to review by the courts.

5.06 Salaries. The council shall set the salary of the mayor and council members; city attorney and city clerk. City officers shall be reimbursed for expenses incurred in the performances of their duties as provided by ordinance. No salary shall be paid elected city officers during the first year after the adoption of this charter.

5.07 Vacancies, Forfeiture.

5.071 Vacancy. The office of councilman shall become vacant upon his death, resignation, removal from office in any manner authorized by law or upon a declaration of forfeiture by the remaining members of the council.

5.072 Forfeiture. Upon notice and hearing, the council may find a member has forfeited his office by declaring he (a) lacks at any time during his term of office any qualification for the office prescribed by this charter or by law, or (b) violated an express prohibition of this charter, or has been (c) convicted of a felony, or (d) conducted himself in such a manner as to bring discredit to himself or his office, or (e) failed to attend three consecutive regular council meetings without being excused by the council.

5.08 Filling of Vacancies. A vacancy in the council shall be filled at the next regular meeting by the majority vote of the remaining members. The one chosen shall serve the unexpired term of the vacant seat.

5.09 Meetings. The council shall hold a regular meeting once a month in such time and place as provided by ordinance. Special meetings may be called by the mayor or by three (3) members, upon no less than twelve (12) hours notice to all members. Notice may be waived upon declaration that an emergency exists.

5.10 Vice-mayor. Each new Council shall, at the meeting at which it takes office, elect by majority vote one of its members as vice-mayor of the Council. The vice-mayor shall serve as Acting Mayor during any absence or disability of the Mayor.

5.11 Investigations. The council may make investigations into the affairs of the City and the conduct of any department, office or agency. For this purpose it may suppoena witnesses, administer oaths, take testimony and require the production of evidence.

5.12 Audit. The council shall provide for an independent annual audit of all city accounts. It may also provide for more frequent or special audits as it deems necessary. Such audits shall be made by a certified public accountant or firm of such accountants who have no personal interest, direct or indirect, in the fiscal affairs of the City government or any of its officers. The auditor shall be designated at the beginning of the fiscal year. If the state makes such an audit, the council may accept it as satisfying the requirements of this section.

5.13 Ferfeiture. The council shall establish the rules and regulations for administration of a uniform personnel system for city employees.

ARTICLE VI
MAYOR

6.01 The executive power of the city shall be vested in a mayor who shall be elected by the electors of the city.

6.02 He shall serve a term of two years and may succeed himself.

6.03 He shall see that this charter and the ordinances and resolutions of the council, subject to enforcement by him or officers or employees subject to his direction and supervision, are faithfully executed.

6.04 He shall preside at all meetings of the council, shall have the right to take part in the discussion and shall vote on all matters before the council.

6.05 He shall recommend appointment of employees to the council. He may suspend, transfer or terminate any appointed administrative officer or city employee subject to rules and regulations of the council.

6.06 He shall direct and supervise the administration of all departments, offices and agencies of the city except as otherwise provided by this charter.

6.07 He shall prepare and submit the annual budget and capital program to the council.

6.08 He shall submit to the council a complete report on the finances and administrative activities of the city as of the end of each fiscal year.

6.09 He shall make such other reports on financial condition, needs of the city, and operations as the council requires and make such recommendations to the council on affairs of city as he deems necessary.

6.10 He shall appoint a city clerk who shall be subject to approval of the council. The clerk shall perform those functions assigned to him by this charter or by the council.

ARTICLE VII JUDICIARY

7.01 The county court for Martin County, Florida, shall have jurisdiction over all persons breaking any ordinance or law of the City of Jensen Beach. Any fine imposed by the county court shall be deposited to the general fund of the City of Jensen Beach.

ARTICLE VIII ORDINANCES

8.01 An ordinance is an official, legislative action of the council which action is a regulation of general and permanent nature, enforceable as a local law.

8.02 A resolution is an expression of the council concerning matters of administration, expression of a tempor ary character, or a provision for the disposition of a particular item of the administrative business of the council.

8.03 Each ordinance or resolution shall be introduced in writing and shall embrace but one subject and matters properly connected therewith. The subject shall be clearly stated in the title. No ordinance shall be amended or revised by reference to its title only. Ordinances to amend or revise shall set out in full the revised or amended act, section, sub-section, or paragraph of a section or subsection.

8.04 A proposed ordinance shall be read by title, or in full, on at least two separate days and shall, at least fourteen days prior to adoption, be noticed once in a newspaper of general circulation in the municipality. The notice of proposed enactment shall state the time, date and place of the meeting, the titles of proposed ordinances and the place in the city where copies of the ordinances may be examined by the public. Said notice shall also state that interested parties may appear at the meeting and be heard with respect to the proposed ordinance.

8.05 The council, by two-thirds vote, may enact an emergency ordinance without complying with the requirements of paragraph 8.04 above (providing the Mayor and council have six (6) hours notice).

8.06 All ordinances shall be posted for thirty (30) days after adoption by the council in a place convenient to public inspection.

8.07 The majority of the members of the council shall constitute a quorum. The affirmative vote of the majority of the quorum present shall be necessary to enact any ordinance providing that three-fifths (3-5) of the members is required to enact an emergency ordinance or adopt any resolution. On final passage, the vote of each member of the council voting shall be entered on the journal of the council. On final passage, the vote of each member of the council voting shall be entered on the official record of the meeting.

8.08 All ordinances or resolutions passed by the council shall become effective ten (10) days after the passage or as otherwise provided (unless vetoed by the Mayor).

8.09 Every ordinance or resolution shall, upon its final passage, be recorded in a book kept for that purpose and shall be signed by the Mayor and the clerk.

8.10 The following subject shall be treated by ordinance.

(1) Administration of an administrative code;

(2) Any action penal in nature or which carries with it a penalty for violation;

(3) Establishment of city department, agency or office;

(4) Levy of taxes, regulatory fees, user fees or charges;

(5) Grant, renewal or extension of a franchise;

(6) Convey or lease of real or personal property of the City;

(7) Adoption of zoning plans, building codes or regulations for health and safety;

(8) Provision for police and fire protection;

(10) Other subject as the council shall deem necessary;

and

(11) Amendment or revision of any city ordinance.

ARTICLE IX
FINANCIAL PROCEDURES

9.01 The fiscal year of the City shall begin on October 1 and end on September 30 of the following year.

9.03 On or before August 1 of each year, the mayor shall submit to the council a budget for the next fiscal year with his explanatory message the budget shall provide a complete financial plan for all City funds and operations for the fiscal year.

9.03 The council shall provide by ordinance for notice and hearing on adoption of the budget. Adequate copies of the budget and message shall be available in public places for inspection by the public.

9.04 The council shall adopt a budget for the fiscal year which appropriates funds not to exceed the anticipated receipts from taxes and other sources for the fiscal year. No officer shall draw money from the treasury except as provided in the appropriations of the budget ordinance.

9.05 The mayor's budget and the budget ordinance may be amended by the council in the manner provided by ordinance.

9.06 To effectively administer the operation of municipal government, the mayor may transfer unencumbered appropriations within departments. Upon the recommendation of the mayor, the council may transfer unencumbered appropriations between departments by amendment to the budget ordinance.

ARTICLE X
INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

Section 10.01 (1) Initiative

The electors of the City shall have power to propose ordinances to the council and, if the council fails to adopt a proposed ordinance without any change or substitution, to adopt or reject it at a City election provided that such power shall not extend to the budget or capital program or any ordinance relating to appropriation of money, levy of taxes or salaries of city officers or employees.

(2) Referendum

The qualified voters of the City shall have power to require reconsideration by the council of any adopted ordinance and if the council fails to repeal an ordinance so reconsidered, to approve or reject it at a City election, provided that such power shall not extend to the budget or capital program or any emergency ordinance or ordinance relating to appropriation of money or levy of taxes.

Section 10.02 Commencement of Proceedings

Any five qualified voters may commence initiative or referendum proceedings by filing with the city clerk an affidavit stating that they will constitute the petitioners' committee and be responsible for circulating the petition and filing it in proper form, stating their names and addresses and specifying the address to which all notices to the committee are to be sent, and setting out in full the proposed initiative ordinance or citing the ordinance sought to be reconsidered.

Section 10.03 (1) Petitions Number of signatures

Initiative and referendum petitions must be signed by electors of the City equal in number to at least twenty five percent (25 percent) of the total number of electors registered to vote at the last regular City election.

(2) Time for Filing Referendum Petitions

Referendum petitions must be filed within thirty (30) days after adoption by the council of the ordinance sought to be reconsidered.

10.04 Certificate of Clerk; Amendment.

Within ten (10) days after the petition is filed, the city clerk shall certify as to its sufficiency, specifying, if it is insufficient, the particulars wherein it is defective and shall promptly send a copy of the certificate to the petitioners committee by registered mail. A petition certified insufficient for lack of the required number of valid signatures may be amended if the petitioners' committee files a supplementary petition within ten (10) days after receiving the copy of such certificate. Within five (5) days after it is filed the clerk shall complete a certificate as to the sufficiency of the petition as amended and promptly send a copy of such certificate to the petitioners committee by registered mail as in the case of the original petition.

10.05 Referendum Petitions, Suspension of Effect of Ordinance

When a referendum petition is filed with the city clerk the ordinance sought to be reconsidered shall be suspended from taking effect. Such suspension shall terminate when: (1) there is a final determination of insufficiency of the petition, or (2) the petitioners' committee withdraws the petition, or (3) the council repeals the ordinance.

10.06 Action on Petitions (1) Action by Council

When an initiative or referendum petition has been finally determined sufficient, the council shall promptly consider the proposed initiative ordinance in the manner provided in Article VIII or reconsider the referred ordinance by voting its repeal. If the council fails to act upon receipt of the petition, it shall submit the proposed or referred ordinance to the voters of the City.

(2) Submission to Voters

The vote of the electors on a proposed or referred ordinance shall be held not less than thirty (30) days and not later than one year from the date of the receipt of the petition. If no regular City election is to be held within the period prescribed in this subsection, the council shall provide for a special election; otherwise, the vote shall be held at the regular election, except that the council may provide for a special election at an earlier date within the prescribed period. Copies of the proposed or referred ordinance shall be made available at the polls.

10.07 Results of Election

(1) Initiative. If a majority of the electors voting approve the proposed initiative ordinance, it shall be considered adopted upon certification of the election results and shall be treated in all respects as an ordinance adopted by the council. If conflicting ordinances are approved at the same election, the one receiving the greatest number of affirmative votes shall prevail to the extent of such conflict.

(2) Referendum. If a majority of the electors voting on a referred ordinance vote against it, it shall be considered repealed upon certification of the election results.

ARTICLE XI
AMENDMENTS

11.01 Amendment of any section or revision of one or more articles of this charter may be proposed by resolution of the council agreed to by a majority of the members. The full text of the amendment and the vote of each members shall be entered on the journal of the council.

11.02 The amendment shall then be submitted to the electors at the next regular election Or a special election for the purpose may be called by a vote of a majority of the members of the council.

11.03 If the proposed amendment is approved by the electors it shall become effective immediately, or as provided in the amendment.

ARTICLE XII
TRANSITION AND PRESERVATION

12.01 Names to be placed on ballot for "Special" election (see 4.05).

Any person having the qualifications of an elector under the general laws of the State of Florida governing elections and who shall have registered to vote in accordance with the ordinances of the county and who shall have filed with the supervisor of registration a statement of intention, in such form as it now exists (for the county elections not less than thirty (30) days nor more than forty-five (45) days prior to the date of the special) election shall be placed upon the ballot of the special election as a candidate for the office proclaimed to be sought in the statement of intention filed by the candidate.

The names of all candidates for the office of mayor shall be placed upon the election ballot first, and in alphabetical order. The names of all candidates for council seats shall be placed upon the special election ballot in alphabetical order for the seat to be voted upon.

Council seats shall be listed on the ballot in their numerical order.

Runoff election ballots shall be in the same form as prescribed herein for the special municipal election ballot.

12.02 All county ordinances and resolutions which are in force in the incorporated territory shall remain in full force to the extent that they are not in conflict with this charter.

12.03 All rights, claims and contracts shall remain in force except as modified pursuant of this charter.

12.04 All operations of this charter shall be considered seperate and severable. If any article, section, sentence or word is held invalid, the other provisions shall not be affected. If the application of this charter to any person or circumstances is held invalid, application of the charter to other persons and circumstances shall not be affected.

Section 3 Schedule

(1) This act shall become law when approved by a majority of those electors voting in the territory to be incorporated at the special election to be held July 16, 1974. The supervisor of elections of Martin County shall conduct the election and certify the results under the following provisions.

(a) Each person presenting himself at the election poll shall sign an affidavit that he is a registered voter of Martin County and a resident of the territory and district affected.

(b) The question presented to the voters shall be

"Shall the legislative charter providing a municipal charter form of government for the City of Jensen Beach, as passed by the 1974 Legislature of the State of Florida, be adopted?"

For adoption

Against adoption

A majority of the votes cast shall be required to make the provisions of the charter effective. The charter shall become effective upon certification that a majority of the votes cast favored the adoption of the charter.

Equal rights are subject for women

STUART--What does the Equal Rights Amendment mean to women?

Why did four out of five of legislators vote against it last year?

The answers to these questions will be explained on Jan. 12 when the American Association of University Women of Ft. Pierce combines with the Stuart-Area AAUW at a debate at the Hilton Hotel meeting room in Port St. Lucie.

Mrs. May Cross, president of the Stuart-Area club and Mrs. Virginia Sines, president of Ft. Pierce AAUW will preside at the meeting. Marjorie Silver Adler, prominent in both local and state government will be the moderator.

Speakers will be Elaine Gordon, Dade County legislator and co-sponsor of the ERA in the House of Representatives who will speak for the amendment. Marie Cranow, member of the Florida bar association will be against it. A question and answer period will follow after the debate.

Luncheon will be served at 12 noon. For reservations call Val Adams, 334-2888 or Gail White, 688-3478.

The National AAUW has approved the passage of this amendment along with hundreds of other prominent national organizations.

V.F.W. news

BY GEORGE M. HODGE
SERVICE OFFICER REPORT

Annual income Questionaire time again.

Completing the AIQ card for 1973 and 1974, the basic rules include: Payments of any kind or from any source will be counted as income unless specifically excluded. Income will be counted for the calendar year in which it is received and total income for the full calender year will be considered under most circumstances. Any questionable income should be brought to the attention of the V.A. for ruling.

Annual income limitation, under the protected pension - old pension law is $2500 for an unmarried veteran or widow, and $3500 for a married veteran or a widow with dependents.

Annual income limitation under the new law - PL-86-211 is $3600 for an unmarried veteran or widow without dependents and $3800 for a veterm or a widow with dependents.

Where there is doubt as to the amount of anticipated income, a pension or DIC will be allowed at the lowest appropriate rate, or will be withheld until the end of the reporting calender year, at which time the total income as received during the year may then be determined.

Brunswick stews

JENSEN BEACH—We had a request recently for Brunswick Stew. Now, we all know that stews are versatile dishes where one can add a bit of this and that to please a certain family, but usually the same meat or fowl is used as the base. But not with Brunswick Stew!

We added a little paragraph to the Cook of the Week column a few weeks ago saying we had a request for the Brunswick Stew recipe, and several readers called or sent recipes to us. Most used chicken, one used rabbit and still another recipe uses pork and beef.

So, take your choice. We're printing three Brunswick Stew recipes for your selection.

Jeanie Crider offered one for

AMISH DUTCH BRUNSWICK STEW

1 hen or 2 small chickens
3 small Irish potatoes
1 large onion
1 can tomatoes
1 can lima beans
1 can corn
1 slice lemon
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. butter
Salt & pepper to taste

Boil chicken the day before and used the boned chicken and stock for the base. Add other ingredients and cook slowly for 2 hours.

Selma Gardner offered one to be cooked in an electric slow cooker.

Cook of the Week

BY RUTH BOWMAN

BRUNSWICK STEW

4 to 5 lb. frying chicken, cut up
1 lb. can tomatoes
1 cup water
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 cup chopped onion
1 green pepper chopped
1 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. seasoned salt
½ tsp. pepper
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen corn
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen lima beans

Rinse chicken, drain and pat dry with paper towels. Place in pot, add all remaining ingredients in order given. Cover and slow cook eight hours in electric slow cooker. Taste and correct seasoning before serving to six.

Selma says she doesn't know how long the cooking time would be in regular stove-top cooking.

GEORGIA BRUNSWICK STEW

3 lb. pork, ground
3 lb. beef, ground
2 cans corn
2 cans tomatoes
3 hens large lump of butter
salt & pepper to taste
red pepper to taste
3 large onions

Grind corn, tomatoes and onions. Cut up boned and chopped hens and add to ground meats. Add seasonings and cook slowly for several hours until desired taste is reached.

The Rabbit Brunswick Stew just substitutes rabbit for the hens.

We are always looking for new and different recipes, or even old favorites we might have forgotten about. If you have one to share, please call me at the office, 334-4333, or at my home, 334-4503.

High school basketball

BY DONNIE WILKIE

The Martin County High School Fighting Tigers upped their record to 7-6 last week as they split a pair of Suncoast Conference Eastern Division games.

First, on Wednesday evening, the Tigers outdueled the John I. Leonard Lancers by a score of 83-77. But then on Friday night, they dropped their fifth contest of the season, 76-57, to Lake Worth, the leading Eastern Division team.

The Leonard game was a wild shoot-out. It featured lots of contact, plenty of scoring and an excitement that could be felt in everyone.

Al Sutton led all scorers with 35 points. Sutton, playing for Leonard, was aided by Kevin Anders, who rang up 25.

The game should have been put away in the first half, but a tenacious defense by Leonard prevented the score from getting out of hand. Also, in the second quarter, Leonard came up with a 27 point performance to make it close at halftime, 48-40.

By the end of the third quarter, the score was 66-55. The Tigers wrapped up the game with a 26 point fourth quarter.

On Friday night the Tigers traveled to Lake Worth. But they got off to a bad start, as they trailed after period number one, 22-12. The second quarter was close, but the Tigers left the court at halftime trailing 36-24.

Leading the Tigers was Russell Holloway, who bagged 14 points.

This week the Tigers will face two games. On Friday night, they will host Forest Hill, while on Saturday night MCHS travels to West Palm Beach.

JENSEN BEACH–The New Year's Eve party held by the Anchor Line Yacht Club was well attended. More than 100 members bid farewell to the old and joyfully toasted 1974 in at the club's second anniversary New Year's celebration.

The party progressed with dancing and the intermittent awarding of prizes until 11:30 when a buffet supper was served. At midnight there was a champagne toast for the new year accompanied with horn blowing and noise makers.

The Club was decorated with a "Father Time" theme. The committee, chaired by Pat and Bob Conkling, was Fern and Wayne Leland, Anita and Ray Gibson, MArion and Allen Moore, Lillian and Jim Driscoll and Gertrude and Lester Web.

Last year was a year of great activity. Each month there was a bus-a-cade to many places throughout the southern part of the state, plus monthly dinners planned by the various committees. Every event was booked to capacity.

The coming events of the club include a lasagna dinner on Jan. 19 and a steak dinner on Feb. 2.

Your Savings Center of Great Interest puts money in savers pockets--puts families into homes!

Because we have just two main functions, this community benefits immensely from our day to day operations.

By offering savers the highest legal rates for interest income people are encouraged to save regularly or invest cash reserves. The interest they earn makes possible the purchase of the many extras that enrich life.

In turn, these savings deposits are loaned to local families to help them buy a home of their own, and ultimately to own it debt-free.

So, for your benefit, and that of the community, open a savings account during January. That way you'll be sure of earning the most interest during 1974.

One day service still available

In this world of "Well, it'll take about two weeks" it's reassuring to find a business that still leans over a little bit to give a customer service.

Of course, when you've been in one business for over 25 years, like Goerge Tiabul of Certified Auto Body and Paint Shop, you know your customers needs.

He began the business in his hometown in Long Island, but moved down to Martin County some 19 years ago. He opened at his present location in March of 1971.

The one day service is, naturally, not on every car they do, and is by appointment. But, if you've had cause to check into car body repair recently, and car rentals, you can appreciate just how great a service this is.

Tiabul said it's not too unordinary to have a request to paint a refrigerator or some other appliance.

He once had the unique priviledge of restoring the body of a 1915 electric car for some people on Jupiter Island.

Tiabul has even painted Frances Langford's custom-made Fiat that she kept from one of her movies.

They are capable of working on all makes of foreign cars, too.

All in all, George Tiabul and his crew of Certified Auto Body and Paint Shop do the kind of work with the kind of attitude that the people of Martin County will appreciate for another 19 years.

THE CREW THAT CAN DO—Don Call, Jack Strachan, owner Goerge Tiabul and Aricka, display the new sign soon to go up on Certified Auto Body and Paint Shop crossing Tiabul's 25 years in the business.

LITTLE PROFESSOR BOOK CENTER—Just a portion of the Best Selling Books display at the Little Professor Book Center in the Ocean East Mall. The new book shop carries 15,000 titles in paper back and hard back editions currently on their shelves.

If it is not on the shelf they will get it for you

It's eight o'clock in the evening and the fare on TV isn't a good prospect for viewing perhaps that new book (well). Maybe someone at last night's party mentioned a book that sounded intriguing, but today is Sunday. There's a book on the New York Times best-selling list that you'd like to get but don't want to drive 50 miles to get it.

Well, two enterprising gals, Lucy Hupfel and Ada Frenock, have opened the Little Professor Book Center in the Ocean East Mall with answers to situations like those.

Open until 9 p.m. weekday evenings and on Sundays until 1:00 in the afternoon and stocking the Times book list, they have become the "Belles of the Book Set" if their brisk trade is any indication.

Opening the doors to their new business in October, and with a stock of ten thousand titles on the shelves, they have increased their titles to 15 thousand and have added out of town newspapers and magazines from abroad. Growing the way they have, they now have a browsing trade and they come in regularly.

We have been so happy with the way the book buying people locally have taken to our shop. They not only are buying books off our shelves, but our order department is just as busy because they know that we can get any book that is in print for them in just a week or so," the girls reported.

The Little Professor Book Center carries things from A to Z with titles in fiction, non fiction, art, Gothis paerbs, religion, sports, sailing, golf, dictionaries, mystery, science fiction, biography, and auto-biography, occult, humor, business, history, literature, philosophy, cooking, social sciences, psycology, hobbies, crafts, nature, westerns, references, and Florida. Too, here are inspirational books, gift books and books on the Performing Arts.

And last but not least, if the book you're looking for isn't on the shelf, but still in print, they can order it for you.

BUSINESS AS USUAL—Tom Higgins, of Firestone, has yet to feel a big crunch from the fuel shortage as business just seems to keep rolling along.

Little tires were big this last year

Firestone of Martin County is headed by Tom Higgins.

Higgins spoke at length the other day about the fuel crisis and how its affected his business at Firestone.

Well, I'm selling more small car tires now," says the man. Higgins continued on, other than that, I can't see much difference.

He noted there are less tourists down here this year, but the people that are here are paying more attention to properly servicing their car.

The little we might have lost in tire sales, we've more than made up for in tune-ups. Figures show that you can lose as much as 15 percent in your car's gas mileage if it is not tuned properly.

Also, cars in use should be checked more than ever now, are not properly inflated.

The Firestone people have worked in the best shortages they can, and are trying to help the situation about it.

Local dealers, Firestone Steel Radial and Deluxe can give you up to 40 extra miles from every tankful of gas you buy.

Pretty strong statement? They've got the figures and test results to make you a believer.

So for the time being, Tom will keep his four service technicians busy with brakes, batteries, front-end alignments, high speed balancing, engine tune-ups and tire changing, as business continues very much "as usual" at Firestone of Martin County.

T ST. LUCIE–Veteran golfer ...ugh will lead a host of golfers in a ...of tournaments this month at the ...cie Hilton Country Club Resort.

...n begins Wednesday, Jan. 9, with ...A Stroke Play Championship and ...A Age Group tournaments. ...Stroke Play Championship will be ...as the Sinners Course and the ...roup Tournament on the Saints.

...2 hole Stroke Play Championship ...at 8:30 a.m. with the foursome of ...Fuhrman, Ed Schumann, Bob ...and Lou Thelk getting under way. ...Age Group Tournament, 36 holes, ...s golfers on the 50-54 range, up to ...ear-old youthful swingers.

...slated for play at the two busy ...s are Julius Boros and Art Wall ...d Al Besselink and Doug Ford ...t-year old Snead will be back to ...defend both titles this year as the professionals move to the St. Lucie Resort for the annual series of tournaments and merchandise show.

It will be the first visit to the St. Lucie complex since 1963 when the winter program was held here.

The age group is a $5,000 event, the Stroke Play Championship is a $10,000 added event, and the Senior-Junior Best Ball Championship, Jan. 16-17, is a $10,000 tournament.

The Quarter Century Club Championship opens to PGA members of 25 years or more in the next tournament followed by the Match Play Championship, Jan. 24-28.

Besselink has entered the Stroke Play, Senior-Junior and Match Play events, and Ford will return for a second crack at the Stroke Play and Seniors' titles.

ESA group views plans

T ST. LUCIE–The preliminary ...ns for phase two of the CESA ...s were viewed by several CESA ...ttees during a special meeting ...st Thursday.

...the exception of minor changes, ...eliminary plans were approved ...chitect George asked received the ...ed to complete the site plan which ...submitted to the CESA board of ...rs and trustees possibly within ...

...sketches submitted by Asklof ...d two buildings which, when ...ted, will move the CESA complex ...p closer to the proposed long ...plan for a one million dollar ...center.

...proposed building, the classroom ...ual crafts building, will be 50 x 60 ...house three classrooms 20' by 50 ...the second is a 50 x 100 foot ...ly hall.

...major change suggested by the ...uilding finance and educational ...ees was the addition of 100 seats ...proposed assembly hall. Based on ...ive year projection of the ...opulation, it was agreed the ...m seating capacity of the hall ...ow 500 in lieu of the original 400. ...llowances made for future ...ions at a nominal cost when the ...mands ...econd change suggested was to ...the width of the three classrooms ...in the arts and crafts building to 20 feet in lieu of the original 25 feet. By instituting this change, both of the proposed new buildings of the phase two addition will be the same width and conform more suitably to the overall master plan of the million dollar center.

The proposed assembly hall is to be multi-purpose. It will not be a fixed-seat type facility whereby the usage would be limited tremendously. Instead it will be equipped with folding chairs with provisions made for adequate storage facilities.

According to members of the group, the proposed assembly hall will fulfill one of the greatest needs of the area. There are several clubs in the community which have long since outgrown the facilities available both at the marina and the CESA community center.

With an estimated cost of $200,000 in mind, the CESA finance committee will launch a campaign drive February 1. hopes are high for the proposed addition being in operation within one year from the drive kickoff.

At present time there is $9,000 in the phase two building fund, according to the president of CESA, Dick Lundin.

Spearheading the campaign will be Mel Broom, finance committee; Judd Reading, building committee and Vaughn Lewis, education committee.

Council critical of GDU actions

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie City Council lashed out against General Development Utilities last Tuesday for heavy handed actions with respect to the energy crisis.

"There is a great dissatisfaction about the pool heaters," said City Councilman Lawrence Kimmel. "Although I will admit the utilities company took a noble stand at the beginning of the energy crisis by cutting off pool heaters and shutting off some of the street lights, I feel they have been a little heavy handed in the matter."

In one instance, Kimmel pointed out, a resident was under doctor's orders to use the pool for therapeutic treatments but the heater was shut off, regardless.

"Residents are finding it a little hard to live with such rigid standards while the tennis court lights are burning until all hours of the night," he said.

During the recent cold spell when the consumption of heating fuel was at its peak, several residents reported the pilot lights in their homes were out. In the cases where the homeowner couldn't re-light the pilot, the utilities company responded. The following month the consumer was billed a service charge of $5.

At this point Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh said, "Yes, I know this to be a fact, I was one of them."

Kimmel questioned if this was a way the utilities company had of picking up additional revenue.

Other complaints registered include residents receiving notices of unpaid bills and being told to call the utilities office immediately to prevent services being discontinued. When the call is made, a toll call from the country club area, the consumer has been jokingly told that it was just a computer mistake.

Addressing Robert Seeley, general manager of Port St. Lucie, Kimmel said, "When situations like this arise it makes us wonder when it will be possible for the Port St. Lucie area to be hooked up to the natural gas main running along the turnpike."

"Whether or not the city of Port St. Lucie should continue with the General Development Utilities franchise is questionable under such circumstances," Kimmel added.

North route opening is set for 1974

PORT ST. LUCIE–The extension of St. James Drive in Port St. Lucie to South 25th Street in Fort Pierce has been designated a priority project for 1974, according to Port St. Lucie Councilman Lawrence Kimmel.

Kimmel met with the special road and bridge committee of St. Lucie County last month to discuss the road and a proposed bridge need across the Indian River near the Walton Road.

According to Kimmel, progress is being made on the acquisition of rights-of-way for the north-south road connecting Port St. Lucie with Ft. Pierce. It is expected the contract on the north portion will be let sometime this month.

Construction of the various segments of the road will be the responsibility of the State Department of Transportation, St. Lucie County, General Development Corporation and the City of Port St. Lucie.

The section from Virginia Avenue to the White City Road will come under the Department of Transportation. White City Road to Port St. Lucie City limits will be the responsibility of St. Lucie County and General Development Corp. and the City of Port St. Lucie will be jointly responsible for the stretch between the Port St. Lucie City limits to St. James Drive.

"I am very pleased with the type people working on this committee and the action we are getting from them," Kimmel said.

"I believe we will see cars traveling this road within the year," Kimmel said, adding, "It is an optimistic but possible goal."

As for the Indian River Bridge, surveys have indicated the need is there, but, when we get it is another thing, Kimmel said.

The committee will continue to hold monthly meetings until both projects are underway.

PSL retirement okayed

PORT ST. LUCIE–An ordinance establishing a retirement and benefit system within the City of Port St. Lucie was approved on the first reading last Tuesday by the Port St. Lucie City Council.

The ordinance was instituted as a result of the Home Rule Act passed last year by the state legislature requiring all municipalities to establish a retirement program.

In outlining the basic plan, City Attorney Rupert Smith pointed out the plan will provide retirement benefits and life insurance for city officials, either elected or appointed, and all employees of the City of Port St. Lucie.

All funds necessary to provide such program will be paid by the city to the Port St. Lucie Pension Trust Fund. Trustees of the fund will include the mayor, the city attorney and a qualified bank having trust powers.

The pension formula has been set up as follows, according to Smith, $15 per year of service up to 40 years maximum service, minimum pension will be $200 per month, and the maximum pension will not exceed two-thirds of the recipients salary or $1,000, whichever is greater.

Homeowners will install

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association will hold their quarterly meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 9 (today) at the CESA building at 7:30 p.m. This will be the occasion for the installation of new officers for 1974 as well as a discussion of pertinent problems left over from 1973.

The speaker for the evening will be Sheriff Lanie Norvell, who in his second capacity is Chief of Police for the City of Port St. Lucie.

All members and residents of the city west of the river are urged to attend.

City Attorney sports new look

PORT ST. LUCIE–City Attorney Rupert Smith appeared at the Jan. 8 meeting of the city council sporting a new short hair style.

"I'm afraid the girl in the barber shop got a little carried away, but it will grow out," Smith reported.

Election of 1974 officers

Walton will view incorporation

WALTON–A controversial working copy of an incorporation charter for Indian River Drive is expected to be presented at the Jan. 17 meeting of the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association at the Walton Community Center.

Incorporation discussion is expected to be one of the two major issues discussed while the election of 1974 officers will be the other.

In as much as the 1974 officers will be nominated and elected from the floor, a large attendance is anticipated for the Thursday meeting.

Phil Thibedeau, who heads a five-man committee studying incorporation, said, "Although I don't know what success we will have with the legislature, I think it behooves us to make the effort to protect our area."

"We are trying to protect ourselves from the encroachment of annexation from the City of Port St. Lucie," Thibedeau continued.

The working copy of the incorporation was drafted by Thibedeau, Don Litner, Dick Little, Wallace Kramer and Roland Ankeney and will be presented to the drive residents for their consideration.

During a previous meeting held in November, incorporation was suggested as being, possibly, the only answer. A show of hands at that time indicated 80 percent of those in attendance were in favor, while the remaining 40 persent maintained an open mind on the subject and were desirous of additional information.

As a result of this meeting a committee of five was selected to draft the charter and spearhead the proposal.

"Our property is so close, that whatever they do within the City of Port St. Lucie affects the integrity of the entire area."

"They completely opposed the entire concept which area people were contented with. Their attitude was, that even though the newly annexed Port St. Lucie property was in the heart of our community, they would institute whatever zoning change they desired. They did not recognize the Indian River Drive community or its opposition," Thibedeau went on.

Recently members of the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association were successful in working with various state agencies to secure an injunction against the Universal Adama Twin Banyan Plantation development.

Berecks entertain

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Berecks of Port St. Lucie just said goodbye to their family, the Barton Berecks of Riverdale, N.Y. who extended their holiday sojourn because of their fun time here.

The project was stopped well over a month ago by the Florida Department of Pollution Control after beginning construction on a wide causeway across some of the savannas wetlands.

Then on Dec. 11 Robert G. Amann, area coordinator for CA, appeared before the Port St. Lucie City Council requesting a preminnary site plan approval on an alternate proposal.

The major changes in the alternate proposal were the Indian River Drive outlet, the relocation of the golf course and the change in size and relocation of the four buildings to be constructed east of the Florida East Coast tracks.

Soccer open to girls

PORT ST. LUCIE–Girls will be eligible to participate in the Port St. Lucie soccer program for the first time this season, according to an announcement released by the Optimist Club.

Registration will be conducted at the Sportsman's Park on Prima Vista Blvd. Jan. 12 from 9 a.m. til noon. The $5 registration fee will include the insurance coverage for participants.

According to Walter Wingberg, coach for the Optimist sponsored program, registration for soccer will be by weight not age. The two divisions will include 131 to 180 pounds and 130 pounds and under.

Players will be required to provide white shorts and must use either sneakers, football or soccer shoes.

Homeowners set dinner dance

PORT ST. LUCIE–Another gala dinner dance party will be held by the St. Lucie Country Club Homeowners Association Friday, Jan. 11 at the Convention Hall, beginning with cocktails at 6 p.m.

Dancing to the big band sound of Jose Moniz will be from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m.

The evening of fun is jointly sponsored by the St. Lucie Country Club Homeowners Association and the St. Lucie Hilton Inn.

All homeowners in the country club area whether they are presently members of the association, or not, are invited to join in the fun and meeting their neighbors, according to Clem Bramley, Jr., association president.

Contact Stephanie Stephens at the Hilton for table selections and purchase of tickets. Tickets must be picked up on Jan. 9.

PSL sidewalks not for sale

PORT ST. LUCIE–Residents and realtors alike were warned by the city fathers to take care when placing 'For Sale' signs on their property.

Complaints have been registered with the city hall that some of these signs are being placed out by the sidewalks.

"The sidewalk is not for sale," Council Lawrence Kimmel said as he reminded residents of the city ordinance stating signs must be placed within 5-feet from said structure.

Nottley resigns

PORT ST. LUCIE–Members of the Port St. Lucie City Council accepted the resignation of Dr. Harold Nottley from the finance committee during last Tuesday's council session.

At the same time councilmen approved and adopted the appointment of Kenneth L. Thompson to serve as a replacement on the finance committee.

All county to clean-up PGA

PORT ST. LUCIE–The city council last Tuesday granted approval for All County Sanitation to provide the clean-up services during the PGA Tournament at the St. Lucie Hilton Resort area.

Three hundred exhibitors are expected to display their merchandise during the tournament scheduled to start the last of the month and continue into mid-February.

According to the contract submitted for approval the sanitation company will provide daily services to the area.

Republicans to hear Schreckengost

PORT ST. LUCIE O.D. Schreckengost will be the featured speaker at the Port St. Lucie Republican Club's meeting Jan. 10 at 7 p.m. at the C.E.S.A. Building.

Schreckengost, St. Lucie County's state committeeman for the Republican party, will give a report on his attendance at the recent Republican convention at Atlanta, Ga.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

The slate of new officers will be presented to the members for election of officers at the February meeting.

BICYCLE VACATION–Not to be outdone with the energy crisis, Kevin and Mary Jane Upright of West Port, Conn., are enjoying a six weeks vacation touring south Florida by bicycle. Due to the gasoline shortage, the couple shipped their bikes and booked a flight to Florida to enjoy the long time planned vacation.

Defeat energy crisis

Pedal Pushers tour south Florida

BY ALICE HICKEY

BEACH–The energy crisis ed many things for many Sunday drives have been weekend activities modified, ion plans cancelled, or, you were lucky, just altered the case with a young couple d through Jensen Beach last morning. d Mary Jane Upright planned a Florida vacation for several months. He had worked hard in Weston, Conn. as a painting contractor, and Mary Jane had just graduated from the University of Conn. with a major in psychology.

It was to be a real get away from it all type vacation, traveling to Florida in their camper van, and taking in all the sights along the way.

Their Florida headquarters was to be in Delray Beach, where Kevin's parents live, and from there the agenda was to include plenty of sunshine, outdoor living, fishing on Lake Okeechobee and Disney World.

"God was with us but Nixon wasn't," said Kevin. "Frankly, the gasoline shortage scared us out as far as the van was concerned, so we decided on bicycles and our own energy."

Refusing to have their vacation plans foiled, they shipped their bicycles, and booked a flight to Florida.

After spending the holidays in Delray, the couple packed their camping gear into a two-wheel bike trailer which Kevin pulls, and the real vacation got under way.

Mary Jane and Kevin have been on the road one week, and are enjoying every minute of it, just about.

"It didn't take us very long to discover the sand flies," Mary said. "With all of our camping, these were new to us."

They camp at night in a two-man pup tent, do their own cooking, and can average 35 to 50 miles per day, if they choose.

"We are not out to break any records," Kevin said. "We just want to enjoy the area, fresh air and sunshine."

The amount of supplies and equipment the couple had neatly packed in the little two-foot bicycle trailer was unbelievable.

A partial list included such items as the two-man tent, cooking utensils, bedding, clothing, a camp stove, fishing poles and tackle, first aid kit, food, snacks, mess kits and an adequate supply of tools for making any adjustment or repairs to the bicycles.

Following the first night camping on the beach, an additional purchase was made which they intend to keep close at hand, insect repellent.

After mapping out their daily journey over a cup of coffee in The Mariner office, the suntanned couple set out on the next leg of their vacation. By evening they expected to be in a camping area near Sebastian Inlet, where they would do some more fishing.

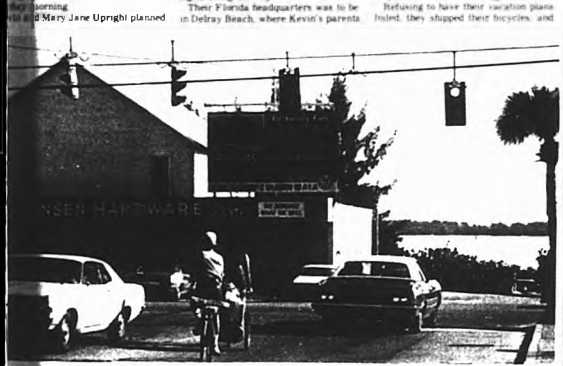
According to Kevin, the mosquito bite bewn very good.

"We have had only a couple of close calls," he said. "We came through West Palm Beach, and that was a real bugger."

They plan to continue using back roads as much as possible, keeping an eye peeled for good fishing spots along the way.

"We expect to take four more days to get to Disney World, spend as much time there as it takes to see it all, and then head back for Lake Okeechobee for more camping and fishing," he said.

Tentatively, the couple will wind up their bicycle vacation the last of January, and head back to Connecticut sporting Florida suntans.



AND PEDALLING–With an over abundance of energy a generous helping of spunk, Kevin and Mary Jane Upright leave Jensen Beach on the next leg of their vacation. By evening they plan on being in a camp site near the Sebastian Inlet where they will do some fishing.

Packed house unpacks

STUART–There was a full house at the opening of Tuesday's session of Martin County Commission, but after a brief announcement by Chairman Dr. Edward Gears, the room was nearly vacant.

Chairman Gears announced that the garbage franchise hearing was not set for today, but would be held Jan. 22.

There were some grumbling and mumbling over the apparent mix-up of dates, but the room quickly cleared of persons very much interested in the garbage collection decision.

And there were some outside noise which interrupted the discussions of Mariner Sands development. A helicopter made several landings and takeoffs in the area between the courthouse and the sheriff's building. And then there was a fire siren that put a stop to about everything for several minutes.

Bible conference set for Stuart

STUART–The First Baptist Church of Stuart will feature Dr. James Mahoney and family at the second annual mid-winter Bible Conference Jan. 13-18.

Dr. Mahoney is a former pastor, conference speaker and author. He is director of special ministries for the Richard Hogue Evangelistic Association and spends much of his time speaking in Bible Conferences across the country.

Sunday, Jan. 13 is the first day of the conference, which will begin at 10:30 a.m. There will be morning and evening sessions through Friday at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. A nursery will be provided at all sessions.

Flood report to commission

STUART–Potential coastal flood problems in Martin County were outlined by engineers of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Tuesday's [illegible] session.

Army engineers conducted the flood plain information study at the request of the county commission.

Purpose of study is to provide the Martin County government agencies and private residents with flood hazard information which can be used to control development in areas which may be subject to future floods.

It is pointed out in the report that the peak elevation of the open coast surge for Martin County is eight feet above mean sea level for the intermediate regional tidal flood and nine feet above mean sea level for the standard project flood.

Also, the report concludes:

The extent of damage caused by any flood depends on the topography of the area flooded, depth and duration of flooding, velocity of flow, rate of rise, and developments on the flood plain. An intermediate regional or standard project tidal flood would result in inundation of residential and commercial sections in Martin County coastal area.

It is estimated that the intermediate regional flood would inundate 8,000 acres and that about 800 structures would be flooded in the Martin County coastal area. The standard project flood would inundate about 9,000 acres and flood about 1,000 structures.

SOMETHING NEW–What a day for a daydream is maybe what this lone man was thinking last Monday as he say on the new wooden stairway leading to the Jensen Bathing Beach. The stairs were constructed this past week at all Martin County beaches through the Housing and Urban Development Program (HUD). The Jensen Beach has stairways at both the north and south end allowing better beach access. Recent heavy seas destroyed much of the Martin County shoreline.

Fire damages OBP trailer

OCEAN BREEZE PARK–An em ployee of Tri-County Gas was filing a heating oil tank at the Ocean Breeze Park trailer Tuesday afternoon when an explosion occurred, causing a fire which damaged the trailer.

"I know what happened but don't know how it happened," Al Hendry, co-owner of the gas company said.

Hendry said employee James Edwards had put about seven gallons in the tank when the explosion apparently occured.

Edwards was taken to Martin Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released.

Ambulance driver Walter Redit said Edwards received "superficial" burns. "He'll need a haircut," Redit said after returning to the fire site.

Jensen Beach Fire chief Randolph Spinney said the trailer, owner by W.H. Fitzgerald, received some smoke damage and a couple of windows blew out.

The chief didn't have an immediate estimate of fire damage.

Hendry said that he would ask a state fire marshal to investigate and he would make pressure checks to make sure there are no leaks.

The trailer is on Indian River Drive.

OBP Ambulance out of business

OCEAN BREEZE PARK—Because of a new state law which went into effect Jan. 1, the Ocean Breeze Park Ambulance Inc. is out of business.

We are in the process of dissolving the corporation," Percy Jones, president, said.

The new state law requires ambulance drivers and attendants to pass the emergency medical technical (EMT) course, up to 102 hours or be registered nurses or doctors.

Jones pointed out that residents of OBP don't have time to take the EMT course since most of the park residents live here only four to six months a year.

"The average age of the park resident is 72," Jones said, "and I doubt that they could retain all the information that goes into the course.

I've talked to several persons about taking the course and I found only one man willing to take the course."

Jones said that about 14 people have been volunteers for the ambulance duty, and that the average ambulance run is one per week. We had 54 runs in 1973," he said.

The 1965 Dodge ambulance is the victim of the new state law, according to Jones.

The ambulance doesn't meet state requirements," the native of Traverse City, Mich. said.

Despite its age, the ambulance is in excellent condition and it looks like a brand new vehicle. "But it's obsolete," Jones commented.

Funds to operate the ambulance come from donations and a White Elephant Sale each January.

It takes about $1,000 a year to operate the vehicle," Jones said.

We plan to donate the ambulance and what funds we have in the bank to the Jensen Area Samaritan Inc.," he said.

The Jensen Ambulance Volunteers will provide service to the park according to Walter Redit.

OUT OF THE BUSINESS—Because of the new state law the Ocean Breeze Park ambulance is out of business. Percy Jones, president of the park's ambulance association, is shown with their 1965 Dodge ambulance which is obsolete under state regulations.

Didn't know I had so many good friends, but the little lady from Nashville, Tenn., that opened the beauty salon for us and is working day and night to make it a success, has certainly kept me busy. Not one dull moment; Florine Magness works for ORA out of Nashville, headquarters. The barber shop will be opened next week, but Florine looked around and came up with two of the best operators in the area, Carolyn and Clark. The beauty shop will be opened six days a week, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. You may have free coffee and all that southern hospitality. Carolyn, who has worked in this area, also lives in our resort and is a fine artist. Some of her work can be seen in the shop. She also loves to walk to beach and enjoys cooking.

Clark Matthews also worked in the area. His wife works at the Jensen Beach Post Office and Clark enjoys fishing, gardening, painting and taking care of his tropical fish and his wife Irene. The grand opening is the 11th and 12th. Come and make these two welcome.

New Year's Eve's private block party had 60 in attendance. Ham and all the trimmings, hosted by Dee and Czar Zaremski, and Verne and Velma Clift, Ann and Bernard Murphy. Music was provided by Ken and Elsie Buck, our very own lot owners. Street dance by the moonlight. Needless to say, a fun filled enjoyable night was had by all.

While walking our beach New Year's Day, we spotted a whale, about ten feet long. A friend of ours, Andre, said, "That would make a whale of a sandwich," my friend is French and wished the mother was there to cit ut up. While everyone was mulling around and looking it over, one young man decided to extract it's tooth, which was about two inches long. Bob Tift helped the Marine Patrol dig the grave. Even our VIP from Nashville, E. Randall Henderson, have a chance to get a close-up of the whale. He had his lovely wife and two sons here.

We've put a new face on savings.

We call it Special Purpose Passbook Savings; you'll call it great. It's the only way we know of that you can earn 6% interest, compounded daily to yield 6.18%, with an initial deposit of only $10. It's the perfect savings plan for those who have a specific goal like, a down payment on a house, a new car, or your children's college education. Open as many accounts as you wish. Make a deposit each week or month, or whenever you wish, of $10, or more. Withdrawals can be made during the first 10 days of January, after money has been on deposit for one year or more. If you withdraw the money at any time other than the first 10 days of January there is a substantial interest penalty required by law.

Why not earn 6.18% for your savings; open a Special Purpose Passbook account today. Special Purpose Passbook Savings: another way Stuart National has put a new face on banking.

The Barn... plus

BY BARBARA GATELY

The St. Andrew Society met last week and the attendance was the highest in the history of the group. The hire was a documentary film by Irene and Stanley Paulauskas and its subject was, of course, Scotland. It was a most beautifully photographed, sensitive film and was narrated by Irene without the aid of notes.

The film started with a tartan-clad piper playing his pipes as he came out of the mist and ended as he disappeared back into the fog with the skirl of the pipes fading long after he had gone.

Documentary films are the business of this young couple, who are the son-in-law and daughter to the Scottish Reeds, newly come to North River Shores. Stanley told me they spent six weeks in Scotland with a schedule that precluded anything but photography. They had a car to carry their equipment and they stayed wherever they could get bed and breakfast. They were lucky with the weather, to have got so many pictures with bright sunlight shining on the lochs and braes.

Added note to the St. Andrew Society: one need not be Scottish to be a member - only interested in Scotland and things Scottish. Please call the Editor of the Florida Scot, Miss Emeline K. Paige at 287-4256 in the afternoons for information on becoming a member.

Marguerite Duston, one of our local painters of distinction, is having a one woman show at the Convention Center at Port St. Lucie during the month of January....and Phyllis Athy, our lady of the flowers, is doing the same turn at Burdine's in West Palm Beach. Both are well worth attending.

New faces and voices have been added to the chorus rehearsing for "Carnival", the next Barn presentation. Mary Hyatt and her two blond moppets, who, if you please, know all the words to the songs; Judy Koch Humphrey, Lyn Gleason, Nick Plattis, Amy Smith, Barbara and Luther Thomas and then there was Jerry Krause playing drums and Mike Chesham alternating with John Fulton at the piano or organ.

More voices and bodies are needed for small important parts. Who would like to be half of a Siamese twin or a blue lady or a roustabout? Come on over to the Barn at night and discuss your talents with director Richard Carr and perhaps he will put you to work.

"Carnival" will have all the hoopla of the atmosphere inside a circus tent. Lile, played by Pat Britton, the hero by Mike Tschudi, Rosalie the comic lead, by Pat Fitzgerald and Marco, the magician, by David Corliss are all doing a great job learning their parts and the attending chores. David is taking cigarettes out of everyone's ears and is having great fun learning sleight-of-hand. This is a fun show, the music is pretty and we expect to start around the end of January, beginning of February.

Antique show January 12

FORT PIERCE—The first annual Ft. Pierce Antique Show and Sale, sponsored by the local chapter of the American Cancer Society, will be held Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 12 and 13 at the National Guard Armory on Deleware Ave.

The Antique Show will be held Saturday from noon until 10 p.m. and Sunday from noon until 6 p.m. Professional antique dealers from all over the state will participate in the show, with a percentage of the sale going to the local Cancer Society.

Members of the Tri-County Dental Auxiliary will assist with the project and will be at the local American Cancer Society office in the Arcade Building during the week preceding the show to take donations for the Cancer Society booth. This booth, called "Attic Treasures" will sell white elephant items donated by people in the community who bring these items to the office during the week of Jan. 7-11. Anyone donating an item will receive a receipt of his donation for tax deduction purposes as the money raised will be used by the American Cancer Society.

Refreshments will be available.

Dr. Richard Skripak is Cancer Crusade chairman for these fund raising projects.

Blue Heron News

BY SELMA GARDNER

Hope you had a good time welcoming in the new year. We had a party here in the park and most all of the residents were there, some few had other plans and Ed Askeldsen was not feeling too well and Otto Schneiblen had minor surgery, but all others attended. We did have a real nice time–bet there were a lot of sore muscles from dancing. There were so many refreshments left over that we are going to have another party in a couple of weeks. It will be held on Saturday or Sunday afternoon. Not sure yet.

Jim and Avis Harper visited friends in Punta Gorda for the new year.

Alice and Henry Weigand went to Miami for the Rose Bowl Parade, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Toxour. They were with friends and family, had real good grandstand seats and said it was beautiful–but crowded.

Charles and Lucy Mathews are staying for a week in one of the cottages. They are friends of Dot Brown and Alma Carpenter and he was their former boss in Trenton, N.J. Mr. Mathews served three terms as Mayor of Newton, N.J. and is still an active member of the Council and is also Chief of the Housing Inspection Bureau in Trenton. They have been doing a lot of golfing while here and said they have enjoyed it very much.

We have some new residents, they are Charles and Florence Bullock from Monticello, Ind. They ran into some real bad weather on the way down, lots of snow and ice and were very tired and glad to get here. They are now getting settled in their new mobile home and expect to stay until April or May. We wish to welcome them and hope they enjoy living here.

Dot Brown's father is very ill and she has been to visit him and reports that he is still in a very serious condition. Hope the next report will be much better.

Tom and Alma Carpenter went fishing off the causeway bridge and caught 12 nice pan size whitings and perch. Tom landed a big barracuda after quite a struggle and a broken line then turned it loose. He said after such a struggle he's sorry he didn't keep it to have it mounted.

Alice and Henry Weigand had guests, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Toxour and Lynn, Diane and George Toxour, also Bob Glazier and Jack Swartz all from Avalon, N.J. The Toxours have been staying at their home on Singer Island and are now headed back to their home in Avalon. Diane and Jack Swartz are prolonging their stay at Singer Island where they will have Henry and Alice as their guests next week.

Jean and Mac McCabe of Holiday Out celebrated their 27th wedding anniversary at the Gardner's house. Hope we can celebrate our 56th together. Happy anniversary kids.

Goegre Urquardt has been a bit under the weather but I see him go by in his car and am sure he must be feeling fit again. Ed Askeldsen is also feeling much better and Otto Schneiblen is ok. So glad.

Happy birthday to John Seroyer on Jan. 8 and Russ Rollen on Jan. 17 and although Louise Wuesten has not returned from Tuxedo, N.Y., hope she also has a happy birthday on Jan. 8.

VWW1 Auxiliary plans dessert card party

JENSEN BEACH–A dessert card party will be held by the VWW1 Barracks 854 Auxiliary on Thursday, Jan 10 at 12:30 p.m. The party will be at Langford Park field house, and president Mrs. Mary Kerner is chairman. There will be door and table prizes.

The regular sewing session will be held Wednesday, Jan. 9 at 10 a.m. at the field house. Those attending are asked to bring a sandwich; beverage will be provided. Items are made for veterans hospitals.

Twenty-eight members attended the auxiliary meeting on Jan. 4. Margaret Tracy was accepted as a new member. The auxiliary and barracks met for a covered dish luncheon prior to the meetings.

Famous Artists series

WEST PALM BEACH–The winter season of the Famous Artists Corporation will open on Tuesday, Jan. 15 with the presentation of "Fiesta Folklorico" by the National Dance Company of Mexico's cast of 50.

The presentation will be at 8:30 p.m. at the West Palm Beach Auditorium. Tickets are on sale at the box office.

Duplicate bridge

STUART–The regular Wednesday night session of the Stuart Duplicate Club on Jan. 2 was attended by 34 players. Winners North-South were Ed Sakesian and Bob Lukas with 116 points. Jim Clark and Gerry Boyd were second with 103 and Toni Henry and Lou Collins third, with 100.

Winners East-West were Jack Alger and Roger White nosing out Mildred and Buzz Lombaer 98½ to 98. Third place went to Ben and Sonia Libson with 90 points.

Game time is 7:30 every Wednesday night at the Stuart Youth Center. Roger White is the director and a partner is guaranteed.

World Around Us presents 'Amazon'

STUART–The World Around Us series sponsored by the Martin County Library Association, will present the first of a series of illustrated lectures on Wednesday, Jan. 9 at 8 p.m. The lectures are held at the Lyric Theatre, Flagler St.

The Amazon, Equador and Peru" will be Wednesday's presentation by John Nicholls Booche. Tickets are available at the Martin County Library and several local business places.

IRS toll-free phone service

JACKSONVILLE–"Beginning this year taxpayers throughout Florida will be able to telephone the Internal Revenue Service toll free to have their tax questions answered," A.J. O'Donnell, Jr., IRS district director for Florida, said. The new system will be in operation on Jan. 2, the first day of the tax filing season.

"As a result all Floridians will now be able to obtain tax information and assistance without leaving their homes and offices," O'Donnell said. The IRS official emphasized that the toll-free system will be particularly beneficial to taxpayers living outside any of the 19 cities where IRS officer are located. "Taxpayers who previously had to drive a considerable distance or make a costly long-distance call will now be able to call us toll free," O'Donnell added.

The toll-free number to call will depend on the area the taxpayer is calling from. The toll-free number for taxpayers in area code 305 to call is 1-800-432-7575. Residents in area codes 904 and 813 should call 1-800-343-8300.

IRS personnel are now available to answer taxpayers' inquiries at the local and the toll-free telephone numbers each weekday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Taxpayers located in the Central Time Zone will be able to dial the toll-free number up until 4:30 p.m. C.S.T.

Wildlife series January 18

STUART–Season tickets are still available for the Audubon Wildlife Films series starting on Jan. 18 with "Gems of Nature", filmed and narrated by Annette White. The films will be shown at the Woman's Club Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Martin County Audubon Society.

Entering its 15th year locally, the series presents 90-minute color wildlife films from around the world, narrated in person by the photographers. Proceeds from the series support six matinee films presented free to Martin County school children.

Scheduled in addition to "gems of Nature" are Feb. 1 "Florida's Cypress Country", Fisheating Creek", March 1 "Mother Penguin Summer", March 15 "Treasure of East Africa".

Tickets are available from Jay Jarrett at 283-0163 weekdays or 287-2814 evenings and weekends. They are also available at Hall's Book Store, Stuart Photo and The Showcase in Stuart, and the Craft Center in Jensen Beach.

Birth Control Association will elect officers

STUART–The Animal Birth Control Association of Martin County will have a monthly meeting Thursday, Jan. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of the First National Bank and Trust Company.

Election of new officers for 1974 will be held and other important business will be transacted according to Mrs. Claire Tate, chairman.

An outline of educational programs in the county which will include talks and showing of films to schools and organizations will be discussed. All persons interested in animal welfare and spay-neuter help for dogs and cats are invited to attend.

St. Martin supper set

JENSEN BEACH–A pot luck supper will be held by the new Jensen Beach Catholic Parish of St. Martin at 6 p.m. Friday, Jan. 11 at the Jensen Beach Community Church fellowship hall.

Ken Caesar is general chairman of the supper, and doors will be opened at 6 p.m.

Parishioners are requested to park in the southeast section of the parking lot behind the church.

There was a large attendance at the first St. Martin supper in Nov., and coupled with repeated requests by parishioners for a re-run of the affair, Rev. Father Michael Sullivan to set the date of Jan. 11 for the next supper.

Hot pots and hot dishes will be needed at the entrance door, and tables will be assigned to parishioners in the order of their arrival.

Frank Pittman speaks at meet

JENSEN BEACH–Frank Pittman, assistant director of the Environmental Studies Center in Jensen Beach, will speak at the anniversary meeting of the Jensen Beach Garden Club on Jan. 14. The 1 p.m. meeting will be in the fellowship Hall of Jensen Beach Community Church.

A white elephant sale will follow the meeting.

Postage increases postponed

MIAMI–Postage rate increases, scheduled to go into effect on Jan. 5, have been postponed until March 3. The announcement made recently from the office of the Postmaster General E.T. Klassen in Washington, D.C., was reiterated here in the Miami District (Ft. Pierce to Key West) by E.H. Daws, district manager-postmaster of Miami.

"Implementation of both domestic and international postage rate changes will be at 12:01 a.m., Saturday, March 3," Daws stressed. "Postage rates currently in effect will remain unchanged until that date."

Second class or controlled circulation postage rates will be computed on the current basis until March 2, he added.

Items required to modify lobby scales and self-service equipment will be installed at postal facilities after the close of business Friday, March 1.

The selling price of international coupons will be increased from 23 cents to 38 cents per coupon on January 5, but the rate of exchange for coupons issued by foreign countries will remain at 15 cents for each coupon until March 2.

Lake Manor News Notes

BY SYLVIA SIMAN
334-6782

We greet you in the new year of 1974 with some of our accomplishments of the past year. It has been my pleasure in being active in some of these. Through co-operation of many of you we have created a Sun evening hymn sing conducted by Doris Tucker and Alice Stoddard who in turn started a caroling group. Community singing led by some of our men, a quartette, square dancing under guidance of Gladys and Glenn Oakes, recording of birth dates and anniversaries started by Jed Robertson, a trip, personal safety demonstration, showing of travel slides, sewing classes, shuffling, and of course our coffees, pot luck dinners and hobby class with Gladys Oakes which we also had the previous years. This shows what all of us can do together. Also starting a mens coffee.

About forty came together in our hall for New Year's Eve and all said they had a very good time. Our square dance group treated us with their newly learned dances which were very delightful. Some joined in dancing in the round. A few Kazoos added to our amusement. Of course, as always, very delicious finger foods were enjoyed and punch and coffee. Charlie Brinsley was the only three game winner at shuffling with two courts filled.

Bingo had a fairly good turnout last week. Pat Scriven and George Marsh calling, doing a fine job and a few new interesting games by Pat.

A lovely Tuesday coffee this past week was hosted by Elizabeth Duffield and Fern Hill attended by twenty ladies. They also treated the ladies at hobby class and as very many thanks to you two.

Welcome home again, Marion Burke, glad you are out of the hospital.

Good to see Margaret and Eleanor Elken back after their Christmas visit north. Got to meet the gentleman who lived in the Elken home, he was interesting to talk with. After all, he too was born in Norway, his name being Nelsaen.

A good turn out at a well conducted Community Club meeting last Thursday night led by our president Willard Morgan. Many issues were discussed, some at length and some tabled for a future date.

Congratulations to Gene Krahaur our new social chairman who is taking over along with Doris Tucker and Madeleine Ballanz as his committee. Many thanks to all of you who were so helpful these past two years to me, also for your kind expression of appreciation. Best wishes to the new committee.

Happy birthday greetings to Dot Beamer, 4th; Eleanor Elken, 5th; Tom Rooney and Jim Williams, 8th; Lee King, 11th; Mary Emminger, 13th; Karl Rosengarth, 18th; Madeleine Ballanz, 22nd; Tassi Roman 29th and Clara Burmeister, 31st.

Happy anniversary to Kay and George Layton, 15th; Edna and Robert Staples, 1st; Elizabeth and Karl Duffield, 4th and Gladys and glenn Oakes, 26th.

IRS plans tax refunds

JACKSONVILLE—The Internal Revenue Service is getting ready to issue some 60 million tax refunds, including about 1,600,000 to Florida taxpayers. The problem is to get taxpayers started early enough to file for their refunds.

"Early enough," says A.J. O'Donnell, Jr., district director of internal revenue for Jacksonville, "means January. This year taxpayers who file in January should get their refunds in four to five weeks. After January, they'll probably have to wait six to eight weeks."

The reason for the delay in issuing refunds to late filers, O'Donnell explains, is that most taxpayers tend to put off doing their returns, with the result that work piles up at the service center where they are processed.

"It stands to reason," O'Donnell points out, "that our Chamblee Service Center can process returns and approve refunds much faster when workloads are light—as in January. It would be a good idea for anyone who would like an early refund to start getting his records together now.

Even taxpayers who are still waiting for their W-2 forms or perhaps their interest or mortgage statements from their bank ought to start getting their other records together now so that they can file as soon as the documents arrive, O'Donnell advises.

RIO PETITION REGISTERS 179

JENSEN BEACH–With only three days to organize and circulate petitions seeking community support to join in the incorporation effort of Jensen Beach, the Rio Civic Club Tuesday night reported 179 in favor and only four against. The report was made at the First Langford Park public hearing on incorporation.

...Rio Civic Club members voted ...kingly last Thursday night to ... Jensen Beach Incorporation ...ee to include all of rio in the ...ation charter, and petitions will ...ulated in the community in an ... back the club's decision.

..."not too late to be included in the ...ration charter," Walker said. ...ed an organization like the Civic ...put out petitions."

"I'm for incorporation," Walker said, "and as a businessman I'll probably be hurt more tax-wise than anyone else."

Pointing out some advantages of having a mayor and council to represent the area, Walker said, "We are now getting as much as we'll ever get from the county."

Club member Nick Dollard also noted disruptions of past meetings when there were attempts to incorporate and that the old tax question was also raised as a means to halt incorporation.

Dollard also noted that one petition circulated several years ago had a confusion question and still more than 50 percent of the people favored incorporation.

Forsberg requested the members to attend the public meetings at Langford Park on incorporation to find out what the move is all about.

Petitions will be circulated in the Rio area within the next two or three days asking registered voters their opinion on being included in the Jensen Beach incorporation boundary, according to Walker.

Land deal complete

Regional shopping center is planned for Jensen area

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH–The strong possibility of a regional shopping center, planned by the developers of Palm Beach Mall, received more strength last week with the closing of a land purchase of over 200 acres with frontage on the east side of U.S. 1, between SR 707 and the Jensen Cutoff Road.

The $1,295,900 deal involved the land formerly owned by General Development Corporation south of the cutoff road, and was sold by John Fort to a subsidiary of Edward J. DeBartolo, known as "America's Shopping-Mall King".

DeBartolo has developed the Palm Beach Mall, and has malls under construction or in operation in Ft. Lauderdale, Tampa, Orlando, Jacksonville, Gainesville, Bradenton, Sarasota, Lakeland, Boynton Beach, Daytona Beach and St. Petersburg.

Developer planning indicated that the mall would be smaller that the Palm beach Mall, yet still of a regional type with about 500,000 square feet.

Considering the pace at which DeBartolo builds the shopping center malls, it is possible that planning and construction can be developed to have the first phase open within a year, it was learned.

The DeBartolo firm has connections with major national chain operations and has hinted at the possibility that May Company would be moving to Florida in his mall operations. It was not known what forms DeBartolo has in mind for the Jensen Beach operation.

HERE–Al Walker points to an incorporation charter in The Jensen Beach Mirror to show his fellow Rio Civic members where Rio is located. This group of Civic Club members, plus some more volunteers, will pass petitions in the community in an effort to be included in the proposed incorporation area. Pictured with Walker are Joseph Foster, Joseph Forsberg, club president, Alex Wilson, Val Marwarring, Al Rupp, Nick Dollard, Mrs. Markus and Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs.

Chamber directors listen to first incorporation report

JENSEN BEACH–"I strongly believe that everyone should have a chance to express himself on incorporation," said former county commissioner Frank Wacha Monday night, setting the tone for the first public hearing on Jensen Beach incorporation.

Wacha added that he felt that the community of Rio should be included in the incorporation boundaries, and said that due to the "clear mandate of the Chamber of Commerce to bring incorporation to a vote, it should go to the people."

Wacha referred to the encouraging response of citizens to a Chamber incorporation petition last fall in which over 1,000 residents signed.

Art Hansen, chairman of the incorporation committee, also set the tone of the hearings as he told Chamber directors, "I want to make this clear. We are not debating whether or not we are going to incorporate. We want ideas. The people will decide incorporation at the polls."

Hansen introduced his committee of Dave Deer, vice chairman, Wacha, Rick TenBroeck, Walter Redit, Ernie Baker and Don Wilkie. Neil McMillan, attorney, was also announced as the legal arm of the committee.

Hansen praised the help of Rep. Chuck Nergard and County Commissioner Ross Philbrick in preparing the charter and seeking information on revenue available.

The cap of three mills in the Jensen charter became confused as Nergard reported that Jim Tate, director of the Governor's Committee on Local Government, had told him that the committee would not approve any bill for incorporation where any specific millage is defined. State law provides for a maximum limit of ten mills.

"I would suggest that all candidates for office in the city be committed to a three mill cap. That would take care of that," Nergard said. Hansen said that the committee would leave in the three mill cap, but if the bill could not pass without its removal, give Nergard permission to remove the cap and go to the candidates to hold millage at the three mill limit.

Nergard also suggested that the charter include the provision that the 1.20 mills now being paid by residents of District A in Jensen Beach to the county would no longer be paid with incorporation. That amount would then become a part of the millage paid to the city.

Ross Philbrick added that with $80 million in assessed valuation in District A, about 65 percent would be in the city.

John Heyburn asked several questions he said had been asked of him by residents. Hansen answered each question. They were:

Q. What will be the cost of special election? A. About $600, estimated by the supervisor of elections.

Q. Will we have to buy voting machines? A. No. We will use county voting machines.

Q. Will we have to pay a mayor and council wages? A. Not in the first year. In the second year the mayor and council will set compensation.

Q. Will we have to hire a lawyer permanently? A. Yes, a city attorney will have to be hired.

Q. How many members on the council? A. Five.

Q. Is this a municipal form government? A. Yes.

Q. Is a city clerk necessary? A. Yes.

Hansen said that the incorporation committee would meet on Mondays at the Chamber building at 8:30 a.m. to finalize the charter after the week of public hearings.

Public hearings will be held tonight, Thursday and Friday at the field house of Langford Park beginning at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the Charter.

...tate asks for Jensen central water system

...SEN BEACH–The Florida Divi... of Health has expressed concern ... future water supplies to Jensen ..., and recommends a central water ...ribution system, in a letter to the ...sen Beach Chamber of commerce.

...he letter was written to Jon Chicky, ...sident of the Chamber, and outlined ...concern of the division of health and ...five ways for the Chamber to help ...mmunity to obtain a water system.

...illiam M. Bostwick, Jr., regional ...ineer, pointed to the fact ... the Chamber was, "the only ...unity-oriented organization known ... since Jensen Beach is not ...orporated community."

The five methods suggested included forming an organization to plan, build and operate a distribution system from an existing plant, to plan, build, construct and operate a watersource, treatment plant and distribution system, to get Martin County to provide a system from an existing plant, incorporate and provide the system as a municipal service, and interest a private utility in providing water to the community.

Bostwick pointed to the many "shallow-type wells" supplying water to residents, saying that the wells could be classified as a public water supply "though not community wide."

He added, "We doubt seriously that these sources of water which have been developed over a number of years, would meet the minimum requirements of this agency with regard to protection against contamination or proper chemical quality.

"As Jensen Beach increases in population and density, it seems reasonable that the possibility of contamination and reduced chemical quality becomes greater."

"Bearing this in mind, especially with the use of septic tanks as a means of waster water treatment on rather small parcels of land, this agency believes that only through the development of a properly designed and constructed community-wide public water system can your community continue to grow and provide acceptable water for your residents."

Chicky said the Chamber would study the proposal.

...ommission to view minibus

...ARTIN–A converted van truck that ... be used in a county wide minibus ... will be demonstrated to Martin ...mmissioners at 1 p.m. ... at the courthouse, Commis... Ed Gluckler said Monday.

...ner Gluckler, a member of ...ation transportation committ... and the Venice, Fla., firm that ...in converting standard vans ... into 12 passenger buses, would be at the courthouse to demonstrate their product.

Commissioner Gluckler, who had been working on setting up a county wide bus system, said he had talked to the Atlanta office of the Urban Mass Transportation Agency Monday.

"The spokesman at the Atlanta office assured me that federal funds are available for the transit system and that we are on the right track," Gluckler said.

"He said that federal funds are available up to 80 percent for bus purchase and maintenance, and also state funds at ten percent are also available," the commissioner added.

He said that the Atlanta office, regional headquarters for the transportation agency, was the place where the decisions are made for federal funds. He explained how we should go about getting the funds."

At last week's commission meeting, Gluckler reported that setting up a bus system using regular-size buses would cost $60,000 a year, and he claimed his minibus system could be set up in about 60 to 120 days.

He anticipated that purchase of the vans cost would be about $10,000.

One plan discussed by the commissioner would be a dial-a-bus system, or the riders could order a bus by calling a central dispatcher or by making appointments for daily pickups during peak travel hours.

Besides the low cost of setting up the system, Gluckler said the small buses would be cheap to operate. He said the van-size bus would cost only 15 cents a mile to operate.

Since the county is moving ahead with a study of a bus system, the Senior Activities Club has abandoned its bus study. Several weeks ago the club appointed a committee to look into the bus system, getting federal help, but committee member John Donnelly said that the committee was no longer functioning since the county is moving ahead with its plan.

With the exception of the Jensen Beach area, which has traditionally had a very successful door-to-door campaign, the drive will rely primarily on mail solicitation. Some 30,000 letters will soon be going out with a pamphlet detailing the services rendered by the twelve agencies and providing a postage paid return envelope for donations.

A new facet to this years drive will be a concentrated effort to obtain donations from the business and industry sector of the county. William Parkhurst, UF director in charge of this aspect of the drive, has received a complete list of all occupational license holders in Martin County and will make a special mailing to the business community. Efforts are also being made to arrange for payroll deductions in as many companies as possible.

Persons in the Jensen Beach area who wish to participate in the drive should contact Mrs. Ira Henderson at 334-3604 or Mrs. Ransom Tilton at 334-1480.

Work date for Bell not set

JENSEN BEACH–No construction date has been set for the $3 million Southern Bell Telephone Co.'s facility on Jensen Beach Cutoff Rd., Bruce Abernethy said Thursday.

"I don't know when we will begin pushing dirt," the district manager for the company said.

"No firm decision has been made yet," Abernathy added.

"From the time we begin pushing dirt it will take from 18 months to two years before the plant is ready. It will be late 1975 or early 1976 before it will be ready," Abernethy said.

When Southern Bell received approval for the electronic switching systems central office and plant works center from the County Commission last October, Abernethy said work should begin in January.

Abernethy said Thursday that the target date always had been 1975, but gave no reason why work wouldn't start this month only pointing out the company has not made any firm decision on beginning of construction.

The switching station, which will serve Jensen Beach, Hutchinson Island and Port St. Lucie, will be located on the north side of the Cutoff Road.

Abernethy said that the switching station in North Port St. Lucie which also served the Spanish Lakes area has been completed.

Also, the district manager said the new telephone directories for Jensen Beach, Port St. Lucie and Stuart would be ready April 28.

Resources Board will elect tonight

JENSEN BEACH–Members of the Martin County Resources Development Board will meet tonight (Wednesday) at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant to hold their annual meeting and elect officers for the coming year.

The cocktail party will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evinrude and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lawrence, according to Richard E. Campbell, president.

Intent questioned

The Martin County Charter--well done, but dangerous

POLITICAL ANALYSIS
BY DICK CAMPBELL

It took almost two years to complete the document that was unveiled last week for public inspection, and the proposed Martin County Charter shows the in depth job done by the hard working charter commission.

As in all such documents there are areas unseen by its authors that are dangerous to representative governments areas that need not only explanation but also rewriting to avoid the questioning of intent of the commission.

Everything in the charter can presently be done by the county commission under home rule with the exception of four items. meetings can be called without public notice in violation of the Florida government in the Sunshine Law; it is possible that constitutionally elected offices can be abolished and replaced by appointive officials; all municipalities would become subservient to and controlled by the county; the opportunity to seek help through legislative act could be removed without a vote of the people.

The charter really is consolidation by ordinance making the county government all powerful removing the judicial scales of political and public pressure and making the election of county commissioners the only court of retribution for the citizens.

Under the theory of modern, businesslike government removed from the people, the document is a dream. It goes about as far as it is possible to go giving all authority to the county commission and making the county administrator answerable only to the commissioners.

As the Charter goes through the apathetic public hearings on its way to the polls some suggestions for concern and change might be considered by the commission:

ARTICLE I, Sect 1.01 The paragraph outlining general powers is much too far-reaching, much too broad, and grants every conceivable power to the county. This should be discussed by the commission as it seems an awesome act to create fears if powers unknown.

In Sect 1.03, the power again shows in the right to take over any municipality without a vote of the citizens of that municipality. The dangers of a "coup" by some deal with three disgruntled city councilmen in the takeover of a city are evident in this. It should be changed to provide a referendum of the people for such a takeover.

The trail of abolishing constitutional offices of tax assessor tax collector, sheriff, supervisor of elections and clerk of circuit court and the mechanical apparatus to change those elective positions to appointive, removing the power of the public vote from five areas of county government, is long and involved.

Sect 2.01 and 2.03 gives the commissioners the power to adopt, amend and repeal ordinances and administrative code. Sect 2.02 then makes it possible that the commission can amend the full charter by a majority vote of the commission.

Though 4.01B provides for elected department directors, 4.04 through 4.06 abolishes the state-constitution provision for constitutional status (protection) of these offices. The natural question arises, If these offices are to remain elective, why abolish their constitutionality?

Section 4.12 provides the vehicle for making those offices appointive through the administrative code and already outlined procedures of commission power to amend the charter.

In Sect. 8.02, the county commission is given the power to amend the charter through the use of "may," rather that "shall" in the verbiage. This section is the capper to the potential of removal of elective offices and change to appointive officers in county government. The section is A power that the county "may frame and propose amendments to this Charter, and may submit any such amendment to the voters." If the word "shall" was used, the county would be required to submit such changes to the voters, but as long as "may" is used the commissioners could pass such without referendum.

The same is true in only more strongly worded in 8.02B, where the county "may by ordinance propose amendments to this Charter." Thus wording makes it possible that the Charter can be changed by majority vote of the commission.

It probably is not the intent of the Charter Commission to abolish elective offices, or give the county commission the power to change the Charter by a majority vote, but the danger exists and wordage should be tightened up to eliminate those possibilities.

Other areas of concern include Sect 2.03 (4), in which the county commission is given supoena powers for investigation. This somewhat takes the reason of being from the grand jury, and opens the doors of county commission government to the possibility of witch hunts in politics.

Sect. 2.02 (16) may just be moot, for the power to levy an impact fee is still being disputed in court, and the general laws of Florida do not allow the practice of levying impact fees.

It is easy to see the reasoning behind Sect 2.03. Restrictions on County commission but the section is not only unworkable but also in much too restrictive. It smacks of shop stewards and the penalty of removal from office by malfeasance charges opens the doors to entrapment for political reasons. The intent is proper and good, but the section should be so rubbed.

Sect. 2.05. A should provide public notice for both regular and special meetings. This section is in violation of the spirit of the Florida Government in the Sunshine Law. It would be possible for a special meeting to be called, with notice for each member, but even though it provides that the meetings be "public" if the public doesn't know where it is or when the meeting is in violation.

Also Sect. 2.05B provides that the journal of proceedings of the county commission be a "public record" but does not provide when that journal becomes public. There should be provision in the paragraph that the journal shall be a public record available as soon after the proceedings as is practical. In this way, minutes of meetings would be available to the public and not pigeonholed for a period of time for political purposes.

Sect. 5.08 leaves conflict of interest to interpretation and should be clarified. It is almost impossible to measure what "substantial" really means. Is five percent of a multi-million dollar deal substantial? Or should it be 50 percent?

The all-encompassing document prepared by the Martin County Charter Commission is an excellent Charter with the exception of the points listed above.

Necessarily being the controversial points. It is possible that the commission might have in its efforts to carefully draft the Charter overlooked the dangers inherent in those sections listed.

It would be unfortunate if the fine job of the Charter Commission was defeated at the polls due to the few flaws that are in every document of this kind, and there is still time to make changes, or to clarify intent through different wording.

If it is possible to separate the controversial measures, and make them a separate issue on the ballot, much the same as the state constitution was separated into the divisions of government for passage by the people that should be done.

There is much good in the charter. The organizational structure is professional in nature, but the human political element must be recognized and accomodated.

Poorbaugh to fight litter

BIG--State Rep. Jack Poorbaugh is going to continue his fight against litter in the next session of the State Legislature, and in his talk to the Republican Women's Club he wondered if the energy crisis is real or a hoax.

The south Martin County resident was the Tuesday speaker at the club's meeting at the Crow's Nest Restaurant.

Near the conclusion of his brief talk, Poorbaugh, a builder, pointed out that he hopes the building industry can continue to prosper and noted "A lot of builders are going to wait until the Washington hearings are over and see if the crisis is real or if it is a hoax."

On state-wide bills he hopes to sponsor. Poorbaugh noted that the "Oregon bottle bill" was defeated in last session.

The so-called bottle-bill would require manufacturers make returnable bottle and containers to help reduce highway litter.

Poorbaugh proposes that a "first step be taken" in the litter fight by requiring every moving vehicle to have waste containers.

The chairman of the Martin County legislative delegation noted that the delegation would meet Feb. 15 at 9:30 a.m. at the courthouse to consider local legislation.

One of the local bills to be considered, according to Poorbaugh would be the incorporation charter for Jensen Beach.

Some other local legislation would apply only to Palm Beach County, such as realignment of the taxing district of Jupiter. Also, a state wide day care bill is expected to be passed which would require repeal of the local day care bill.

New officers of 1974 were installed by Poorbaugh. Taking the oath were Pat Gluckler, president; Jane Kelly, first vice president; Nina Hatton, second vice president; Gladys Almeford, secretary; Pat Mitchell, corresponding secretary, and Jane Henderson, treasurer.

ity of Jensen Beach Charter...too restrictive

POLITICAL ANALYSIS
BY DICK CAMPBELL

harter of the City of Jensen published last week in The is a good document, taking the ead by the various charters that ities for this area, and putting ideas that offer city governs people not certain of the responsibilities involved in being a city.

It has much danger in it, perhaps because of the care of its drafting, and of the recognized fears of the charter committee.

It would be almost impossible for the city council to act independently on major issues with the charter as presently written. As pointed out by one critic of the restrictive nature, the city couldn't build a city hall for the $25,000 maximum limit placed on borrowing power.

Another critic points out, and rightfully so, that the limit of three mills on city government, and the resistance of the public to taxation, would almost make it impossible to increase the millage so that major public works could be initiated.

It would take a charter amendment, approved by a referendum vote of the taxpayers, to levy more than three mills or to borrow more than $25,000 under these provisions. Those seeking a small, volunteer city government with no pay, and no major city services would have succeeded in this through the present makeup of the charter.

The incorporation committee should take into account the nature of investment needs and restudy both Section 3.03 and 3.06 to see if the millage and the borrowing power of the city needs raising in the initial document.

In elections, Sect. 4.01 provides for ordinance regulation of elections, whereas elections are provided for by state law, conducted by the supervisor of elections. Omitting "...who registers for city elections as provided for by ordinance..." would solve this.

Also, In 4.01, the runoff election should be held the third following Tuesday to conform with state primary runoff elections.

Sect. 4.03 provides for non-partisan elections for city offices. Without the major political parties and their organizations to work for candidates, the city elections would be like those of other cities, with from ten to twenty percent of the voters turning out for an election.

The need for making the elections partisan is evident in making the city more responsive to the needs of the citizens, for more people would vote and take part in the elections and in city government if the elections were partisan and the candidates would have the full weight and power of the political parties at their disposal.

In 5.03, allowing councilmen to be the judges of forfeiture of office would open the door to political vendettas and should be removed. A grand jury could do the job, and is set up to do the job.

In sect. 10.6 (1) and 3, provision is made that the people cannot protest taxes levied by the city council by petition and referendum. We believe that such petition and referendum should be available to the citizens, and that there is no reason that the council should withhold that right from the people.

Sect. 5.08 provides that the council will hold one meeting a month. The section should provide that the council hold "at least one meeting a month" so that the limitations do not hinder proper performance of duties in busy periods.

Sect. 5.08 also does not provide for proper public notice of the meetings of the council. It provides only that the council members be notified, and thus is in violation of the Florida Government in the Sunshine Law. Provision should be made so that the public and the media be informed at the same time the members of the council or of special commissions are informed of the meeting.

Sect. 8.11 is dangerous as it gives witch-hunt powers to the city council, and takes the proper place of grand jury action. The grand jury is the proper place for investigations wherein the city thinks that criminal or civil laws have been broken, and the grand jury has supoena powers.

Again, public notice of city business takes a beating in Sect. 8.04. The public should have the right to read proposed ordinances, published in a newspaper of general circulation, before passage of that ordinance. The ordinance description provides that ordinances must be read in full, but provides only that they be published by title. The 8.04 provision should be changed to provide full publishing of the ordinance.

In 8.05 the mayor and the city council can pass an "emergency ordinance" with publishing, without public hearings, and without public notice of the proposal "providing the mayor and the council have six hours notice." This entire section should be eliminated. There is no need for emergency ordinances without public notice. If emergency ordinances are needed then they should have a short time tenure, with a proper expiration date, with passage only on public notice after the fact.

In Sect. 8.06, provision is made for a veto of the mayor which is not the intent of the document, as no provision is made for allowing the mayor to veto the ordinance. The mayor is the fifth, or tie-breaking, vote of the council and needs no veto power.

Sect. 8.08 provides that the ordinances be recorded in a book, but does not provide that the book is a public record. While this is assumed, it should be clearly stated so that there can be no misinterpretation of the public nature of city business.

Sect. 8.09 should provide for public notice and publishing of the proposed city budget. Public notice keeps the citizens informed, and helps to keep them involved in their government. An informed public is an interested public.

Sect. 10.03 provides too short a period of time to organize a petition drive for reconsideration of an ordinance. That period should be extended from thirty days to 60 days to give the citizens the time to organize, educate and collect support for a reconsideration.

In the transition phase, Artical 12, the entire section should be rewritten providing that the candidates should file a qualifying fee, and that the section be in compliance with the laws of Florida.

In 12.02 county ordinances should have no mention, as the charter does not mention ordinances as such, but applies to the passage of such.

Sections 8.01 and 8.10 Provision should be made for adoption by reference of codes of technical regulation. Ordinances should be advertised in full rather than just by title.

Section 10.04 Mailing should be by certified mail, return receipt requested. Letters with no monetary value cannot be sent by registered mail.

Section 12.03 This section is fine as far as it goes, but it should go farther.

This section should specify the mechanics for transferring maintenance of residential-type streets from the county road department to the new city.

This section should also specify that the county street and house numbering ordinance shall be followed by the city.

This section should further set up the mechanics for transferring the administration and enforcement of planning, zoning and building ordinances from the county. Also provision should be made for transfer of records from the county. The new city government should be prepared to assume these responsibilities at once.

The new charter should require comprehensive planning and zoning regulations, subdivision and platting regulations, and building codes.

obless rate takes big jump

EN BEACH—The jobless rate ped about 4.5 percent since mber and interstate unem- claims have increased about nt, a spokesman at the Fort office of the Bureau of yment.

"The threat of a shortage of heating fuel up north has increased the overall jobless rate," Dan Wasserman, area unemployment claims manager said.

Wasserman said that the overall unemployment claims have increased from 2.5 to 4.5 percent over the past month, and about 25 percent of that is attributed to the energy crisis.

"The people (jobless) are flooding down here," wasserman said.

He said that the threat of a heating oil shortage and seasonal workers has increased the work force.

A representative of Wasserman's office is at the Jensen Beach Post Home on South Savanna Road each Thursday and the long lines last Thursday gives a good clue as to overall jobless picture in the nation.

Government statistics released last Friday indicated as many as 100,000 workers were laid off in mid-December because of the energy crisis.

Last Thursday there were car tags showing people from many northern states. People arrived in all sorts of vehicles - sports cars, campers, compact and big cars - to stand in line to sign up for unemployment compensation.

Wasserman said that his office does the paper work but the home state of the person filing the claim must determine and pay the jobless.

The home state office must determine if the worker qualifies for unemployment compensation," he said.

Maximum number of weeks a worker can receive compensation varies, according to Wasserman, "but the maximum is 26 weeks."

County attorney gives suggestions to Jensen

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Steve Calvert, county attorney, offered suggestions relative to the incorporation of Jensen Beach this week in a letter to The Mirror. Calvert prefaced his remarks as being those of his own, and not those of the county commission, and did not comment on the advisability of Jensen Beach incorporation.

In his letter, Calvert comments on sections of the recently published draft of the city charter.)

The following comments are those of the County Attorney individually and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Board of County Commissioners. The County Attorney prefers not to comment on the advisability of Jensen Beach being incorporated and bases his comments on the assumption that it will be incorporated.

Section 2.01 This section should be drawn with the precision of a legal description in a deed and should be prepared by a licensed surveyor. The present description is too imprecise.

The western boundary will cause many problems since U.S. One would be in city limits but land fronting on west side of U.S. One would not be. If the road is going to be the boundary, then the exact boundary should be the centerline.

My personal preference would be to have the western boundary just west of the Winn-Dixie shopping center since this is the western limit of the developed area of Jensen Beach. The area west of the Winn-Dixie shopping center to U.S. One or perhaps the county line on the west could be reserved for later expansion.

Some thought should be given to future expansion in this area by City of Stuart as well as City of Jensen Beach. It would be better for the area to be divided in a logical manner rather than helter-skelter. Rio area will also present a conflict with expansion of City of Stuart. Beacon 21 area should be excluded from city limits now since it is part of Rio.

The Town of Ocean Breeze Park should be abolished and added to the City of Jensen Beach since it is not a viable municipality.

If left as it is, it will be a thorn in the side (or rather the middle) of the new city which will find that it will have to provide services such as fire and police there in order to protect Jensen Beach proper while not being able to exercise municipal control or to collect municipal taxes there.

Section 3.05 The three mill cap is unrealistic. The City of Jensen Beach would probably be as large as the City of Stuart and would require the same level of services that Stuart has. Municipalities are created today to provide services and the new city should expect to provide unlimited municipal services.

The millage cap should be the usual cap of 10 mills.

Section 3.06 The $25,000 debt limitation is also unrealistic for the same reasons. The new city will have tremendous initial capital expenses if it is going to be a viable municipal government. (Expenses for such things as city hall, police station, fire station, road department, police cars, fire trucks, road maintenance equipment, etc.) Also no real property taxes will be assessed until 1975 and the money for these won't be received until December, 1975, or later, so that initial operating expenses will have to be financed.

The borrowing and bonding power of the city should be unlimited.

Section 3.07 All annexations should be required to be contiguous and compact areas. No annexation should be permitted which creates an unincorporated "island" within the city.

In order to insure that the Martin County portion of Hutchinson Island will have a unified local government (with as a separate town or as part of a mainland municipality or as an unincorporated area), no partial annexation of land on Hutchinson Island should be allowed. If Hutchinson Island is to be annexed, it should be taken as a whole.

No annexation should be permitted into St. Lucie County under any circumstances. Contrary to common belief, a municipality can be in more than one county. An example is the Town of Longboat Key which is half in Manatee County and half in Sarasota County.

Attend city hearings

The facts will be laid out for all to see in the public hearings on incorporation of Jensen Beach on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the field house at Langford Park beginning each evening at 7:30 p.m., and all citizens should attend so that they will be fully informed on the subject.

We hope that something as important as incorporation will receive the full measure of interest of citizens, as it affects how they will live in the future, and whether or not they will have the vehicle of a city council to formulate their future.

It is at the incorporation meetings that the true facts can be ascertained. Rumor mills will make all kinds of stories and threatening asides to the dangers of incorporation, but at the incorporation hearings those stories and asides will be placed in an unemotionally clear light.

There are responsibilities for various things that are a part of becoming a city. The citizens will have to weigh whether those things they want, services and protection in life, health and property, are worth the cost in additional taxes to themselves.

Most important in this is that citizens who are informed on the issues involved in incorporation will be able to vote intelligently when the subject is placed on the ballot for the citizens to judge. An intelligent vote for or against incorporation is the American way, and would end all concern for the future.

Perhaps the Martin County Commissioners involved in the developer suit just wanted to dalay everything, and perhaps they really did want to subvert the Florida Government in the Sunshine Law. In any case, the issue has been an embarassment for the county, and has cost county taxpayers $6,000 thus far.

The developer sued the commissioners when they refused to act on his Hutchinson Island project. Hubert Lindsey, a big city attorney, challenged the Florida Government in the Sunshine Law, asking that he be allowed to meet in secret with the four commissioners involved to prepare their case.

The challenge was wrong in the first place, because the commissioners had been accused of conspiring to stop the developer. If that had been done, the commissioners would have had to hold secret meetings to do so. That, in itself, would have been a violation of the "Sunshine" law.

In asking that he be allowed to meet with the commissioners in secret, the attorney indicated to all that they had, in fact, met secretly, or discussed the issue and conspired together in violation of the law.

Nothing is further from the truth, but the commissioners allowed themselves, and the good name of Martin County, to be tainted by asking for such secret meetings with the attorney.

The $6,000 was a frivilous expenditure any way it can be looked upon. For public officials to meet in secret on public business is expressly against the law, and their business in the suit is public. For a former newspaperman, now a county commissioner, to be a party to such a suit, after having fought secret meetings himself for so long, is an added embarassment.

Use death penalty or abandon it

The Florida electric chair sits idle, though not a victim of the energy crisis. It is a victim of continuing challenges of the Florida death penalty, and of squeamish governors who fear the political consequences of being the first to order an execution since the chair was unplugged in 1964.

The Florida Legislature passed a death penalty law, and it should either be used or repealed. Convicted murderers laugh at the law, knowing full well that it is politics that keeps them from going to the "chair."

The deterrant of threat of death is to no avail if it is not used to set the example that death is the penalty for henious crimes that take a life.

The death penalty is necessary in extreme cases, but must be used if it is to be on the books. It is wrong to allow those who hold contempt for the life of another to laugh at danger to their own life.

It is equally wrong to not use a law that is in Florida statues to protect the people of Florida.

Those who feel that the death penalty is morally wrong and should be abolished should also campaign for their cause. Indecision and non-enforcement is not the answer in the growing murder rate of Florida.

Grassroots Opinion

"Yesterday, historically speaking, Americans were promised a chicken in every pot and a car in every garage, and for the most part, they got them. Today, however, the pot more and more frequently is empty as, thanks in the crazy laws of economics (or men's fooling with them). As for the garage, more and more frequently it's full as a gasoline shortage threatens to turn the infernal combustion engine into a decorator item. Thus we come full circle and tomorrow's smart politician may well promise Americans a chicken in every pot and a car in that runs in every garage. As someone once said, political promises are like summer television—reruns of the same old show. Almost, but with just enough difference to make life interesting."

Poor motorists

If you live in Jensen Beach and it's the month to have your car inspected you should:

Get a tank of gasline, pack a light lunch, borrow three dollars, locate your registration certificate and be able to prove you have car insurance.

The inspection station is on A-1-A, real handy for folks who live in Port Salerno but a pretty good drive from Jensen Beach.

You need a tank of gasoline and a light lunch because it takes quite a spell to get through the line, even if two traffic lanes are open.

Get in line and turn of motor, or let the motor idle. Either way you are gonna use a right smart amount of gasoline. Starting and stopping the car probably uses the same amount of gasoline as letting the motor idle. I didn't make a check of the gasoline used since I was too busy wondering why the cars in the other lane were going through the checking faster than my lane.

It wasn't that it took too long to go through the checking operation that got too me, but the time I spent thinking about how the motorist gets abused by the government and car manufacturers and just about everybody else that has anything to do with making a buck off car owners.

Most Americans have no choice--you either go to work and do everything else in going about your day-to-day survival by using your car.

Most sections of this country are without mass transportation.

Railroads found out a long time that it was more profitable to haul than passengers. While the trains hauling passengers you got treated pigs on many occasions.

It used to be that the worked leave the factory, get on a trolley ride to within a couple of blocks home. The trolley stop was favorite tavern where he could wa have a few beers and walk home.

But the trolleys quit running and bars were moved outside of town them out of sight from the neighbor The guy now gets off work at the fac drives out of town for a few beers since he is so far from home has for the road. This is a problem.

And the guy who designs the highw for the motorists to travel on see have the curves in the wrong plac few signs are placed along the ro warn the motorists that some goofed so the motorists should be

And for years when politicians wi much imagination gather and de more tax money is needed the ge about the first thing that comes to

The car has been taxed like it w luxury item and the poor old mo gets soaked every time another prog is initiated in Tallahassee or Was ton.

Since private industry has gone business of hauling people to wo mass numbers why doesn't government just flat take over the and planes and then subsidize motorist.

Even with hauling pigs, railroad now in bankruptcy and asking fo government to bail them out of th again.

With this gasoline shortage and companies getting rich out planned attack on the motor pocketbook, the Detroit car maker finding out that many motorists are of the gimmicks that they have putting off on us over the years.

The air bags that the insura companies are trying to sell us been in the hands of a lot executives over the years.

Back to the trolley cars neighborhood bars. And commissio should build another car station -- this one in north County.

My light lunch became rather on my stomach.

I'm getting older

Having just passed my forty-fifth birthday, I know I am getting older, slower, and more relaxed, and much less athletic.

As all "older" men say, "My mind is just as bright and sparkling" but I need more time to think.

I notice it on the tennis court. A few years back I would go after every ball, giving it the old college try. Now, I look at the ball coming across the net and judge whether I have a chance to get near it before going after it.

By then, of course, I have generally waited too long and miss the darned thing. Also, I no longer jump over the net. I walk around, or crawl under.

I notice it when I try to look at something.

When I read anything, I need glasses.

There was a time I could pick up a menu, and read even the smallest print, like roquefort dressing is twenty-five cents extra. Now I have to put on the glasses to read the word "Menu."

I am proud to say that my battle of the bulge is going well. I held that weight down from 216 of early last year to the 190 to 194 that I now sport. It feels good to get back in my clothing, without a hang over.

Tennis is what did it. Chasing that ball all over the court makes me drip off the pounds.

Now that I've stopped watching television, I've gained strength. Just packing up the Miami Herald each morning is a weight-lifting exercise.

We had our birthday party last Friday. Bobby, Carol, Ransom, Tilton and I have a birthday about the same time, and we have a ritual every year of having lunch together. Ransom is older than I am, and Bobby younger. Neither of them show their age at all.

But it does my heart good to see a cute chick in a mini dress in the full bloom of youth walking down the street. That must mean that I'm not too old.

During the holidays I was in a department store, and noticed this lovely young thing looking at me. I stepped around the Jockey Shorts section and peeped through the ties at her. Wow, I thought, there is a pretty one.

I noticed that she was still watching me as I worked my way past the trousers, stopping to examine the material on a pair in the "Teen Set" section, and then saw her walk right up to me.

"Hi," she said, smiling.

"Well, now hi there," I responded, holding in my stomach. I put my best Paul Muni leer on my face, leaned against the sport shirts piled on the table, and said, with originality, "Do I know you from somewhere?"

"Don't you remember, Mr. Campbell? I used to baby-sit with Ricky when he was a little boy. You must be a grandfather by now."

I bristled, let my stomach out, and said, "No, he's not old enough to be married."

I walked away as a clerk came up, stared at me with a nasty look, and rearranged the sport shirts.

It's awful getting old.

Cost of 'making a buck' going up too!

It costs more today to make a dollar bill literally or a thousand dollar bill for that matter. The government estimates that it costs about one cent to produce a dollar note, up seven cents from 1971. A thousand notes, which cost $8.68 two years ago, now cost $10.50. The U.S. Bureau of Printing and Engraving attributes the higher costs to (1) rising labor rates to a small degree, (2) high costs of wiping towels and other cotton wastes used to clean the engraving plates, and (3) increased paper costs.

WE JUST KNEW THAT THEY WOULD WORK IT OUT OF BUGS

Before installing them in production vehicles, Volkswagen has outfitted 50 Beetles with automatic seat belts and sent the cars off on a year-long test in U.S. city and country traffic. If "real world" results match laboratory and test track findings, VW hopes to offer its new passive-restraint system in some 1975 models.

In operation, the system puts an end to any "buckling up" inconvenience. To "wear" the new belt, its user simply opens the car door and slides into the seat. As the door closes, the torso belt -- one end of which is attached to the rear edge of the door and the other to an inertia reel retractor between the front bucket seats -- automatically adjusts to the wearer's size. A padded knee bar under the dashboard prevents front-seat occupants from "submarining" out of the belts during sudden deceleration. Belt wearers have full freedom of movement until an emergency occurs when the belts lock instantly.

Volkswagen engineers say that unlike air bags, which primarily protect occupants during frontal collisions, their new automatic belt and knee bar combination offers protection in all types of collisions, in roll-overs and in "panic" stops. In addition to those advantages, the automatic seat belt system would be available at considerably lower cost than air bags.

HARNESSING NATURES ENERGY SOLVES TWO CRISISES WITH ONE BLOW

To the unfamiliar, it might look like a new-fangled scarecrow rising high above the tops of citrus orchards or other crops, but the swinder tower with its spinning propeller is the newest development in frost protection equipment.

More and more, these wind machines will be appearing over the tops of not only citrus crops, but strawberry, tomato, apple, peach, grape, nut, apricot, prune, plum, avocado and flower crops as well, as general use continues to climb.

The wind machine works on the theory that harmful cold air is held down, close to ground level, by a temperature inversion. By mixing up the warmer air, usually about 30 feet above ground, with the cold air below, this relatively pollution-free device can raise the temperature ten degrees over an area of ten acres.

The efficiency of this machine in protecting crops is remarkable. One wind machine can do the work of 500 individual heaters which means much in this period of pollution an energy shortages, since one wind machine can save as much fuel as 1000 gallons an hour.

Social Security news

FORT PIERCE-Today, over 32 million women are building social security protection for themselves and their families through their own work.

The working woman has both disability and survivors protection. If she becomes unable to work for a year or longer because of a disabling accident or severe illness, she and her dependents may be eligible for monthly cash payments from social security. If she dies prematurely, monthly cash payments from social security can help her children through school--until they're 22, if they remain full time students and unmarried.

Even though her husband may be working at a full-time job, her children are still eligible for benefits on her work record.

On her own record, the working woman can retire at 62 with reduced monthly cash payments. Or she can wait until she's 65 and get full monthly cash benefits.

Women need to know about the social security program and how it affects them and their families.

Q. How much money can I earn working part time and still her monthly retirement checks

A. You can earn as much this year and still get full pay the year. If you earn more than in benefits will be withheld for you earn over $2,100. And m what you make for the year. Y receive benefits for any month you neither earn more than substantial work in self-employ a result of a recent change security law, the amounts w $2,400 a year and $200 a month

Q. If a woman's only inco monthly social security chec 19 year old child is severely unable to work, can he g checks too?

A. Yes, people who becom disabled before 22 may monthly payments if a parent security checks or has working long enough security.

National Blood Donor month

STUART–Representatives from the Martin County Commission, Jensen Beach Chamber of commerce and City of Stuart were on hand at the Palm Beach Blood Bank drive in the Martin Memorial Hospital last week to help kick off blood donations for the month of January.

President Richard Nixon has named January as National Volunteer Blood Donor Month and said, "Volunteer blood donations are recognized as one of the noblest and most vital gifts. There is no substitute for blood. There is no substitute for the voluntary donor."

"During this special observance, I encourage all Americans to follow the inspiring example of those who have freely given blood to save another life. There is no better way than this to demonstrate true human compassion and generosity," the President said.

Clarence Rydell of Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Robert Hall of the city of Stuart started the drive by giving their pint of blood. County Commissioner Ed Gluckler was present for moral support, but due to a permanent rejection card from the Red Cross in 1948 he could not donate blood.

Blood donor plans are available to fit the need of every individual or group in Martin County from ages 17 through 66.

The family plan covers, with the deposit of one pint, the immediate family and can be given as a gift to another family.

The direct donation plan is available and because the blood bank is a member of the American Association of Blood Banks and affiliated with the National Clearinghouse Program, blood credits may be sent or received throughout the nation.

The church or organization plan is designed under a pre-deposit plan, insuring credits when needed by anyone designated by the organization.

A personal account can be opened with credits deposited in the donor's name and valid for a period of two years.

A Martin County Account was established for Martin County residents. For each pint donated a credit is received and may be released any time desired. This credit lasts indefinitely until used.

The blood bank, located in Martin Memorial Hospital, is open Monday 12 noon to 8 p.m. and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

On Monday, Jan. 21, the blood bank will be closed but will open Tuesday, Jan. 22, from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

...tiorama takes on a new, expanded look

...nd Gerry Lauder are the new ...f Patiorama.

Back around 1957, a couple named Brinsley first opened a business at their home in Jensen Beach called the Patiorama.

In the 17 years of its existence, there have been very few changes in the business, except for owners and the addition of the Knitting Knook. But recently, the Patiorama began to get a whole new face.

It began in October, 1973, when the new owners, Earl and Gerry Lauder, took over. They had the ideas and the energy to build the Patiorama into what will soon be a very busy little corner in Jensen Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Lauder came to Jensen from Louisville, Ky., where he had worked in management for Louisville Electric Company for 27 years. She spent 23 years with the Phillip Morris Tobacco Company.

They had been vacationing in Martin County for four years and decided this is where they wanted to be.

They had friends of theirs start looking for a business venture, and when the Patiorama came up for sale they jumped on it.

Lauder has more than doubled the inventory of furniture and patio accessories, his wife has expanded the Knitting Knook to include all types of do-it-yourself kits and personal instruction and newest of all the Unique Boutique, formerly of Stuart, will soon be joining them at their location.

The Unique Boutique carried hand crafter specialty items in ceramic, macrame, decoupage, and the like.

The Lauders have a 15-year-old son, Joel, who helps around the business after school and on weekends.

Probably the greatest innovation in the "Patiorama Face Lift" was the beautifully-lighted rocky waterfall which now graces the view of the 707 travelers.

All three shops will be open 9-5 Tuesday through Saturday and will close Sunday and Monday.

LANDSCAPING COMPLETED--Gerry and Earl Lauder pose with part of their new landscaping that puts a new front on Patiorama and Knitting Knook.

Organ lessons are free at Organ Shop

If you ever wanted to learn to play an organ and the cost of an organ and lessons left you out...you no longer have an excuse.

The Organ Shop in Fields Plaza, Ft. Pierce, begins another class for beginners, intermediate and advanced players this week and all for FREE.

Ernie Chasse and Cliff Goodall, owners of the shop and retailers of the Conn Organ, offer the courses, and have since they opened the shop in 1972. "We have taught people that have bought almost any name organ to play. Cliff uses the Conn in the class, but he always tells the owners of another manufacturer's organs how to set what he is demonstrating on their organs.

We offer the classes free, because we feel that it is good to help people regardless of whether they own an organ or whether it is a Conn Organ," Ernie explained, and added, "free, no strings attached".

The classes, which are taught on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights, begin at 7:30 and are over at 9:30 with a coffee and cookie break sometime in the middle. The coffee and cakes are free, too.

Cliff, who is the instructor of the three classes has become well known in the area since arriving here two years ago. His many concerts, and Ernie and his work in helping to form the Ft. Pierce Organ Society, have made them friends from Vero to Stuart.

Learning to play the accordian at the age of seven, Cliff went on to the piano and then the organ. He studied at the Hartford (Conn.) School of Music and then took lessons for years under Gorden Stearns. When he was only 14, Cliff began his teaching career. Teaching the accordian helped to pay for early lessons in his ten years of organ study. An accomplished musician, he was choir director and organist in the largest church in New Britian, Conn.

Residents of Port St. Lucie, they both like the area but never seem to have the time to do the ideal things they talk about. "We're just too busy here at the shop an with an evening class in Vero Beach we're involved every day and almost every night, but we love it," Cliff added.

"These classes that we offer are informal and really quite casual with questions and answers all through them because that's the way the people who attend them want it to be. The ages range from ten to the upper sixties, and they all have their own questions and problems in learning to play or play better," Cliff explained.

The classes are for six weeks and then the beginners go to the intermediate class and intermediates to the advanced class, if they feel they are ready. There is no time limit set on taking the classes, and as Ernie related, "They can come to the classes for as long as they like to learn at any pace that suits them."

Now, if you want to learn to plan an organ, how are you going to beat that offer?

AT THE ORGAN--Cliff Goodall is shown as he conducts on the Organ Shop's Free Classes that they give for beginners, intermediate and advanced players.

Bacons' entertain Swedish visitors

JENSEN BEACH–Miss Linda Hall and Miss Bret Warner have been visiting Mr and Mrs. O.G. Bacon of Skyline Drive for a week.

Miss Hall, niece of Mrs. Bacon, is a resident of Gavle, Sweden. She is accompanied by her friend, Miss Warner of Bollnas, Sweden.

Both girls are men's barbers. They will leave Thursday for Nassau where they will spend a week before taking off for Finland, then home to Sweden.

FT. PIERCE–The annual four-county art show will be held in the Ft. Pierce Art Gallery from Jan. 11 to Feb. 1. Artists should bring their work Friday from 10 a.m. and 12 noon and pick up Feb. 1.

Work will be judged Friday night.

The annual scholarship show will be Feb. 23 and 24 beside the library.

Brenda Funk feted at baby shower

JENSEN BEACH–A baby shower was given for Mrs. Edward Funk of Hyline Drive Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Don Davis, also of Hyline Drive. Co-hostess with Mrs. Davis was Mrs. L.W. (Skip) Lenherd.

Guests attending included Mrs. Rudy Yaniga and Mrs. Dennis Walton. Sending gifts but unable to attend were Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Michael Rizio.

Baby Diana Lynn Funk was born Friday, Dec. 21 at Martin Memorial Hospital, weighing in at 3 lb. 2 oz. She was welcomed home by her brother, Bruan, who is seven.

Guild night card party will be this Friday

STUART–The first night card party will be sponsored by St. Joseph Guild this Friday, Jan. 18 at 8 p.m. in the parish hall.

Coffee and cakes will be served and there will be door and table prizes. The public is invited.

All money from the party will be used by the altar committee for its work in caring for the linens and decorations for the altar.

The Parmenters are entertaining Jae and Millie Capra from Van Nuys, Calif. Jae is the nephew of Frank Capra, producer of many famous movies. Jae and Millie recently sold their well-known 'Copra's Red Lantern Restaurant' in Van Nuys and are thinking of settling nearby in their retirement.

Todd Bowling arrived Saturday as the advance guard in getting things shipshape for Lucy's arrival in the near future.

Dr. and Mrs. Shane returned to Washington after a pleasant holiday with their family.

Betty Davis reports:

Excitement ran high at our table at Bingo. Mercy Whitney won the first game and twelve year old Deanne Irwin won $6. This was especially fine as it was her birthday. Better yet much of it went for a gift to take home to her mother. Brother Dennis tried so hard but like Jake, came home empty handed.

Clarence Snodgras has been hospitalized in Ashville, N.C. but hopes to return here Jan. 15. His wife earlier reported he was suffering from 'flabitis' but this time it's the result of a back injury.

Expect Ethel and Bob Stem of Stroudsburg, Pa. on their lot Jan. 10 for several months.

Red Fitzgerald came up with a spaghetti dinner for 13 that was gourmet "italiana" if ever one was. Cooking is one of Red's favorite hobbies, while Alice stands by for the k.p. duty.

Raymond Hartlieb of Waterloo, Ontario, Cand. stopped overnight with the Irwins while on a bicycle tour of the states.

Vicious vandalism has caused a great deal of damage and expense to Venture Out. One recent suggestion is to close the pool at dusk to keep the hoodlums out. Seems reasonable.

Aycock Funeral open house is this Saturday

JENSEN BEACH—Open house for the new Aycock Funeral Home at 544 West Commercial St. Jensen Beach, will be Saturday Jan. 19, 1 to 8 p.m. and Sunday Jan. 20, 1 to 6 p.m., owner G. Wade Aycock announced Tuesday.

In a dear friends letter to residents, Aycock wrote:

"As you know for the past five years, we have been serving the Jensen Beach area from our Stuart facilities. Due to the growing needs of this community, it has become our desire to provide for you the same services here in this area. As a result of your fine support we have been able to bring this about by establishing a new and complete funeral home in Jensen Beach."

The resident director of the Jensen Beach Aycock Funeral Home will be William C. Branaman.

Branaman began his internship in 1958 at the Scobee Funeral Home in Delray Beach. He graduated from the Dallas Institute in 1963 and a year later he received his funeral directors' license.

Prior to joining the Aycock Funeral Home in Stuart, he was associated with the Kraeer Funeral Home in Boca Raton.

Construction on the new funeral home on the Jensen Beach Cutoff Road began last July. The facility, the same type structure as the Stuart funeral home, has a chapel, repose room, casket selection room, reception room and offices.

The parking area is in the rear of the building with covered parking for the family, according to Aycock.

We are proud to have been selected again for the mechanical and electrical contracting for the new

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Dear Friends,

As you know, for the past five years, we have been serving the Jensen Beach area from our Stuart facilities. Due to the growing needs in this community, it has become our desire to provide for you the same service that we have been privileged to render to the people of this area. As a result of your fine support we have been able to accomplish this goal by establishing a new and complete funeral home in Jensen Beach.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation and invite you to our open house Saturday, January 14th from 1:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m. and Sunday, January 15th from 1:00 p. m. to 6:00 p. m.

We look forward to seeing you at the open house and becoming better acquainted with you.

Sincerely,

G. Wade Aycock

Charlotte W. DeVane to assistant cashier Clement A. Bramley, Jr., president, said because of the excellent reception of the bank by the residents of Port St. Lucie area the board of directors felt it necessary that the official staff of the bank should be increased to give the service expected by its customers.

Mrs. DeVane is one of the original staff which opened the Port St. Lucie Bank on Oct. 9, 1973. Her experience and knowledge of banking has been a great asset in starting the bank, according to Bramley. In her new position she will continue to supervise the commercial banking area of the bank as well as assist customers with their accounts. She is also qualified to handle credit transactions.

She was born in Vero Beach and is married to Lt. Jerry DeVane of the Fort Pierce Police Dept. She is the mother of four children, three of whom are living at home. Her oldest son is a senior at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn. The family is active in Port St. Lucie Baptist Church.

New directories, too

Southern Bell exchange April cutover expected

PORT ST. LUCIE--The delivery date for the new telephone directories has been scheduled for April 28 according to Bruce Abernethy, district manager for Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Abernethy made the announcement to the Port St. Lucie City Council last week. He also assured members of the council that the long distance exchange number applicable to General Development Utilities located on Prima Vista Boulevard had not been requested by GDU officials.

The matter had been jokingly questioned by Councilman Lawrence Kimmel.

"I am just curious to know if this long distance number was intentional on the part of GDU in order to cut down on the number of calls from complaining consumers of the country club area," Kimmel said.

In explaining the situation Abernethy pointed out that prior to the switchover to the new electronic central office last December, the temporary mobile office used by Southern Bell had a capacity of 1400 lines.

Since there were 2,000 lines in the area it was necessary to make the 878 exchange cutover in two steps.

The first step in phase one of the $1 million expansion project was completed last summer.

Phase two and the final cutover in the 878 exchange, which will include the balance of Port St. Lucie, River Park and Spanish Lakes, is expected the last of April.

The new phone books for the Port St. Lucie, Jensen Beach and Hobart area are to be issued at the same time.

Commenting on the $5 million Southern Bell Telephone Co. electronic switching systems central office and plant to be constructed on the Jensen Beach Cutoff Road Abernethy said no construction date has been set at this time.

"From the time we begin pushing dirt it will take from 18 months to two years before the plant is ready," Abernethy said. "It will be late 1975 or early 1976 before it will be ready."

At the time Southern Bell received approval for the new electronic switching systems central office and plant from the Martin County Commission last October, Abernethy said work should begin on January.

Abernethy said the target date always had been 1975 but gave no reason why work wouldn't start this month only pointing out the company has not made any firm decision on beginning of the construction.

Fine arts festival is held

PORT ST. LUCIE--The St. Lucie Junior Woman's Club held its regular business meeting Wednesday, Jan. 9 at the Port St. Lucie Marina at 8 p.m.

In addition to general business, a Fine Arts Festival was held. Club members' craft and art entries were judged by Mrs. Carter Brock and Mrs. R. Blaine Gerrish.

Mrs. Barry Vogth took the best of show with her decoupage end table.

Craft division first place winners were Mrs. Barry Vogth, decoupage; Mrs. Robert Satchwill, crochet; Mrs. Martin Fox, crewel; Mrs. Robert Satchwill, knitting; Mrs. David Razey, rug making; Mrs. Donald Horner, macrame; Mrs. Jeffrey Furst, flower arranging and Mrs. Lawrence Gradin, ceramics.

Others included Mrs. Richard Pozmalk, holiday decorations; Mrs. Linda Heckendorn, boutique items; and Mrs. Jeffrey Furst, miscellaneous items.

The art division first place winner was Mrs. Mandley Rust for oil painting.

The winning entries are eligible for the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs District 10 Festival of the Arts to be held in February in North Palm Beach.

The guest speakers for the evening were Mrs. Stanley Bracken and Mrs. Virginia Hilson from the Brachhil Craft Shop. They spoke on the subject of different types of handcraft.

At the business meeting, recognition was given to Mrs. Dale Dlugos, Mrs. Robert Satchwill, Mrs. Richard Pecor, Mrs. Richard Pozmalk, Mrs. Norman Paston and Mrs. Preston Rowlkes for their leadership on Christmas projects.

Future projects for the club are a St. Lucie County directory and a community Valentine contest.

FESTIVAL PREPARATION--Mrs. Robert Satchwill and Mrs. David Razey were busy setting up displays at the Port St. Lucie Marina for the fine arts festival held by the St. Lucie Junior Woman's Club. Ribbons were awarded to the first place winners. Winners of the event are eligible to compete in the Florida Federation of Women's Club District 10 Festival to be held in February.

Soccer open to girls

PORT ST. LUCIE--Girls will be eligible to participate in the Port St. Lucie soccer program for the first time this season, according to an announcement released by the Optimist Club.

Registration will be conducted at the Sportsman's Park on Prima Vista Blvd. Jan. 19 from 9 a.m. till noon. The $5 registration fee will include the insurance coverage for participants.

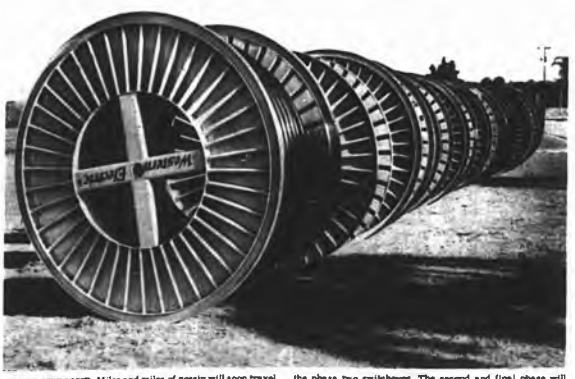
According to Walter Wingberg, coach for the Optimist-sponsored program, registration for soccer will be by weight not age. The two divisions will include 131 to 186 pounds and 130 pounds and under.

Players will be required to provide white shorts and must use either sneakers, football or soccer shoes.

Commander Zamites chosen as delegate

PORT ST. LUCIE--The V.F.W. Post 10130 and its auxiliary will have its regular meeting at the Port St. Lucie Marina, on Thursday, Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Because of Post 10130 has achieved quota buster status prior to Dec. 31, 1973, Commander Peter J. Zamites was chosen as one of the winners to go to the Washington conference March 8 to 12.



MILES OF GOSSIP--Miles and miles of gossip will soon travel through these reels of cable as the Southern Bell Telephone Company nears the anticipated April 28 completion date for the phase two switchover. The second and final phase will include the remainder of Port St. Lucie, River Park and Spanish Lakes in the 878 exchange.

Sheridan is regional manager

PORT ST. LUCIE--John W. Sheridan has been named regional manager community homesite sales, it was announced Tuesday by General Development Corporation officials in Miami.

Sheridan's new duties will also include being responsible for all Florida Home Finders salesmen.

Sheridan has been with GDC for the past eight years, and his latest position was as general manager of Port St. Lucie.

Sheridan joined the corporation in 1964 as sales manager Port Malabar and was promoted to general manager within the year.

He advanced to housing manager in the sales and marketing department in 1966.

Before joining General Development, Sheridan was associated with National Homes Corporation.

He is a native of Worcester Mass. and attended Boston Institute, where he majored in real estate and construction.

GDC directors are appointed

MIAMI--Peter O.R. Huang, board chairman and chief executive officer of General Development Corporation, announced the election of John L. Gibbons, William A. Lyon, Robert M. Morgan and J. Bernard Shumate to the company's board of directors.

Gibbons is a member of the advisory committee to the board of directors and advisor to the fiduciary division of Chemical Bank New York and prior to 1968 was chairman of its trust committee. He is a director and chairman of the executive committee of City Investing Company, a director of First Realty Investment Corporation of Miami, and a trustee of the C.I. Mortgage Group and C.I. Realty Investors.

Prior to 1970, Lyon was board chairman and president of the Drydock Savings Bank in New York. Currently he is a director of Allegheny Power System, Inc., Mortgahela Power Company, West Penn Power Company and the Potomac Edison Company. He is also a director of the Discount Corporation of New York, American Distilling Company and Accumulation Fund Inc., and a trustee of the C.I. Mortgage Group and C.I. Realty Investors. Lyon also is a former superintendent of banking for the State of New York.

Morgan is board chairman of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, a director of the New England Merchants National Bank and the Boston Old Colony Insurance Company. In addition, he is a member of the Government National Association Advisory Board and a member and former president of National Association of Mutual Savings Banks. He is also a trustee of the C.I. Mortgage Group, C.I. Realty Investors, and the Cameron Brown Investment Group.

Mr. Shumate is president of the First National Bank of Miami. He has been an officer of the bank since 1960 and a member of its board of directors since 1969. He was elected president in 1971. He is also a director of Southeast Banking Corporation and American Bankers Life Assurance Co. of Florida.

Presidents' Council meets Thursday

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Presidents' Council of Port St. Lucie will meet at the CESA Building on Thursday, Jan. 17 at 3 p.m.

Matters of importance will be discussed. The nominating committee, consisting of Schuyler Sharpe, David Gessner, and Anita White will report and new officers for the coming year will be elected.

All members are urged to be on hand or to send a representative.

A REAL HAM. The Seminole Indians took time out from their thatching to wave to photographers and onlookers from atop the Outrigger Resort Restaurant. Johnny Tucker, chief of the Seminole tribe, has thatched the restaurant roof since it opened in 1962.

10,500 palm fronds

Indians thatch Outrigger roof

JENSEN BEACH–Sightseers and photographers alike gathered last week to watch the Seminole Indians replace the thatched roof on the Outrigger Restaurant, one of the features making this local resort so unusual.

The shortage of building materials in no way interfered with the construction of the new roof.

By utilizing the natural resources and applying the ancient art of thatching, Johnny Tucker, Chief of the Semipole Indian Tribe, had no trouble in securing the necessary materials.

The 10,500 cabbage palm fronds required to do the job were brought up in nine truckloads from the Seminole Reservation in Dania, Florida.

Since the opening of the Outrigger in 1962, Johnny Tucker has been the man responsible for keeping the thatched roof intact.

Working basically on a three-year rotation system, Tucker and his men completely replace approximately one-third of the huge roof each year and make needed repairs on the remainder.

Within the two or three year period the cabbage palm fronds dry out and become brittle and if not replaced a strong wind could be disastrous.

However, this year was an exception to the rule. Six Indians, working in pairs, spent five days replacing approximately two-thirds of the Outrigger roof.

Chief Johnny Tucker, married and the father of two children, has used the art of thatching to build a thriving business out of roofing with palm fronds.

Although the Seminole Chief works throughout central and south Florida during the winter months, he and his family spend the summer on their ranch in Colorado.

NEW TOPPING FOR OUTRIGGER–A new topping was in store for the Outrigger Resort Restaurant last week as members of the Seminole Indian Tribe from Dania replaced nearly two-thirds of the thatched roof. Chief of the Seminoles, Johnny Tucker, has been responsible for keeping the thatched roof intact since the 1962 opening of the resort restaurant.

ANCIENT ART–Larry Frank, a Seminole from the reservation in Dania, assists members of his tribe in replacing the thatched roof on the Outrigger Restaurant in Jensen Beach last week.

PSL yachters plan party

PORT ST. LUCIE–A Valentine party is being planned by members of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club. The event will be Friday, Feb. 8 at the Stuart Elks Club. Social hour will start at 6 p.m. with dinner served at 7 p.m.

Deadline for obtaining tickets will be Feb. 2. Reservations are for members and their guests and dress is optional, according to committee chairman and Fleet Captain Will Hinchcliffe.

Tickets can be obtained from Hinchcliffe, Bob Grieger, Grace Dewese, Fred Johnston, Alice Goldsmith, John Pugh or Jo Walker.

The party replaces an originally scheduled boat parade because of the fuel shortage.

801 plans derby

JENSEN BEACH–The annual Pinewood Derby of Cub Scout Pack 801 will be held Sunday, Feb. 3. The boys have been given kits at their den meetings and the weight in and impounding of cars will be at the Jensen Beach Community Church Saturday, Feb. 2 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. The derby will be held the next afternoon.

The district Pinewood Derby, sponsored by the Stuart-Jensen Beach Kiwanis will be held at Langford Park on Sunday, Feb. 17.

Homemakers open '74 season

PORT ST. LUCIE–The next regular monthly meeting of the Homemakers Club of Port St. Lucie has been scheduled for February 14, 1 p.m., at the auditorium.

The club resumed its arts and crafts activities Jan. 3. Weekly meetings will continue at the marina every Tuesday between 10 a.m. and 12 noon.

The group held its first monthly meeting of 1974 on Jan. 10.

Mrs. June L. Armstrong of the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio, was the guest speaker.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ray Cottage and committee members Mrs. Eleanor Goring, Mrs. Gatha Hollingshin and Mrs. Anne Marie Conrad.

Dog's best friend

Small hospital opens in Port St. Lucie

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–While the country as a whole is short of veterinarians, Port St. Lucie residents are fortunate in that their pet's best friend just moved into the neighborhood.

One of the newcomers to the area is Denny Passman, doctor of veterinary medicine. One of the more recent additions to the community is the new modern Port St. Lucie Animal Hospital located at 6506 south Federal Highway.

The pride Dr. Passman has in his new clinic is evidenced by his enthusiasm as he shows it to his clients.

"I want my clients to see all of the hospital," he said. "Naturally they are concerned about their pets and where they will be taken care of. They have a right to see it."

Cleanliness is the key word of Dr. Passman.

"This is a hospital and it is every bit as sterile and strict in procedures as any other hospital," he pointed out.

The eleven-room facility is completely equipped with the most modern equipment available or at least soon will be.

Although the clinic was opened for business in mid-December, the dark room and the lead lined x-ray room remain vacant.

The truckers strike has caused a delay in the delivery of the x-ray equipment," the doctor said. "I understand it is now in Fort Lauderdale and delivery and installation is expected within the week."

Planning of the entire facility is indicative of much knowledge and forethought on the part of the doctor, whose youthful appearance belies the fact that he has had eight years formal training plus three years of practice in the Fort Lauderdale area.

Based on the projected growth of the Port St. Lucie area, Dr. Passman has planned his small animal hospital accordingly.

"I have tried to profit by the mistakes of others in this field," he commented.

"It seems to be a common occurence of a facility being set up only to find within a three year period the demands of the area have caused the facility to become outdated and inadequate."

In an effort to give the best possible service to his Dr. Passman has limited his practice to the care and treatment of small animals.

"I don't feel I can handle both the small animals and the larger ones," he said, pointing out the care of larger animals, horses and cattle, require the doctor to spend much time out on the rural areas, thus his clinic is left unattended.

"You can't do justice to both," he added.

Commenting on the nationwide shortage of veterinarians, Dr. Passman offered some enlightening information as to why this condition prevails.

There are only 18 veterinary schools in the United States and Canada and consequently each year hundreds of highly qualified applicants are turned down.

"As an example, the year I entered Iowa state there were 70 enrolled out of 400 applicants," he said. "This is a real shame because we need them."

He also pointed out that because of the special facilities required, it cost more dollars per student per year to educate a veterinarian than it does to educate a medical doctor.

A medical school is affiliated with a university hospital whereby a portion of the expenses are underwritten by this hospital, however, a veterinary school does not have this advantage.

Another interesting point was the fact that few veterinarians actually go into private practice. They are very versatile and go into various other fields such as drug research, industry and government work – meat and food inspectors, state veterinarians, etc.

Be that as it may, meanwhile not only do the residents of Port St. Lucie have a small animal hospital in their area, but in that hospital they are fortunate in having a doctor that loves animals, enjoys his work and above all, a man who possesses a very special quality–compassion.

CHECKUP TIME–This beautiful feline, who underwent tonsil surgery, receives her daily checkup by Dr. Passman and his assistant, Betty horner, at the new Port St. Lucie Animal Hospital. "We have the animals up on their feet within 15 minutes following surgery," the doctor said.

NEW FACILITY–The new Port St. Lucie Animal Hospital located at 6506 South Federal Highway opened Dec. 17. Every effort on the part of Dr. Passman went into the planning of this eleven-room facility to make it as convenient and comfortable as possible for his clients, including the indispensable fire hydrant.

Jaycees set turkey shoot

JENSEN BEACH–The Stuart Jensen Beach Jaycees will hold a two-day turkey shoot on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 19 and 20 from 1 p.m. until dark. The shoot is for shotguns only in 12, 16 and 20 guages, and shells are furnished for a one dollar donation each.

The shoot will be held at the usual location, Savanna Rd. just south of the Jensen Elementary school.

Sharpshooters will take home meat certificates valued at $5 for redeemable at Publix Supermarket in Stuart.

As with all Jaycee turkey shoots, the emphasis will be on safety and all guns on all shotguns must be open.

Show chairmen are named 14

PORT ST. LUCIE–Chairmen for the Pilot Club Home Show which will be March 13-17 at the Fort Pierce National Guard Armory have been announced by show chairman Mrs. Joann Parrish.

The chairmen are Sarah Weathers, prizes; Nina Snellgrove, treasurer; Ann Powell, publicity; Marg Gerrish, contest chairman, and Marion Runle, fashion show.

Cook of the Week

BY RUTH BOWMAN

Never Fail Souffle

JENSEN BEACH–Many cooks and housewives steer away from souffles, having heard stories that they are unpredictable, difficult to make and demanding to serve.

But they are not all unpredictable, difficult and demanding.

I've been using a recipe for many years for a NEVER FAIL CHEESE SOUFFLE which can be partially prepared then combined with beaten egg whites just before baking. It generously serves 4 or 5 and can be stretched to serve 6 if served with stewed tomatoes, French fried potatoes, crusty bread and a salad.

A souffle dish is good to use, but I've never owned one. I use a large pottery casserole which has curved sides, not the "desirable" straight sides. I will admit that a souffle should not have to wait for the diners...the diners should wait for the souffle.

NEVER FAIL SOUFFLE

2 tab. butter
2 tab. flour
¾ cup hot milk
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. cayenne
½ lb. sharp cheese, cut up
4 eggs, separated

Melt sauce of butter, flour, milk, salt and cayenne. Add cut up cheese and stir until melted. Add beaten yolks. Let cool a little then carefully fold in beaten whites. Bake in ungreased tureen (1½ qt.) 325 degrees for 60 to 70 minutes. After pouring the souffle into the baking dish, use a silver knife to mark a circle about 2 inches deep, 2 inches inside the outer rim of the dish. This causes the center of the souffle to rise like a high hat.

EXHIBIT OPENS–Miami artist, Thomas J. Strickland, stands by his large painting entitled, "The Wedding Dress" on display at the Elliott Museum. The artist's exhibit opened Sunday with a champagne cocktail party hosted by the museum. His paintings will be on display until February 14.

Strickland begins exhibit at Elliott

BY DENNIS DOYLE

HUTCHINSON ISLAND–The Elliott Museum hosted the opening art exhibit by artist Thomas J. Strickland of Miami with a champagne cocktail party in the Elliott Gallery Sunday.

Strickland's paintings have a quality very similar to that of the famous French Impressionist, Auguste Renoir. Strickland explained, "My teacher was influenced a lot by Renoir, and this was where my similarity began."

"I like painting human beings," Strickland said, but most of all, women in very feminine settings."

Besides the influence from his teacher, Strickland spent a good amount of time living and painting on the French Riviera, where many other impressionists live and paint.

The forty-one year old artist has been painting for the past twenty years beginning his studies at the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts. He also studied with Robert Philipp at the American Art School and National Academy of Fine Arts in New York.

Born in Key Port, New Jersey, Strickland has won many awards beginning in 1956, when he received the Julius Hallgarten Prize at the National Academy School of Fine Arts in New York.

Recently in 1973, he won the blue ribbon award at the Capeart Annual National Art Show, and also first prize at the Annual Regional Art Show at the Hollywood Art Museum.

Strickland's exhibits have been shown in many major U.S. cities and [illegible]. He has exhibited in New York, Hot Springs, Calif., New Jersey, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Florida, New Mexico and Colorado. The artist has a permanent collection at the St. Vincent College in Latrobe, Penn.

In 1967, Strickland exhibited at the Salon Rouge de Gastine in Dieppe, La. 1966 through 1968 he exhibited at the Exposition Internationale in Monaco, in 1971 at the New York Galaxy Show and at the Grand Prix Internationale Peinture de la ville d'Arts, Cannes.

Strickland has appeared on Miami television on "A M. Miami with Sonia Jessy" and has been named in many publications. Who's Who in American Art—1973-74, Who's Who in the South—1973-74, Artists USA—1974, Who's Who in the South and Southwest [illegible] and Directions Volume I, No. [illegible].

This is the first exhibit in Martin County for Strickland. His [illegible] will be on display at the museum [illegible] through February 14.

SERVICE OFFICER REPORT

Supplemental security income for the aged, blind and disabled, starting Jan. 1974, the social security administration will make monthly cash payments to persons in financial need who are 65 or older, blind, or disabled

The aim of this program is to provide supplemental payments when they are needed, of at least $130 a month for one person, and $195 per month for a married couple The amount will depend on how much other income is available The person can have assets of $1500 single, or married but not living with the spouse) or $2250 for a couple. Normally, the home or personal effects and household goods will not count as assets for this purpose

Persons who have income may still be entitled to this payment based upon income limits on the amount of money that is received during each calendar quarter which begins Jan. 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1. The first $20 per month in income generally will not affect the payment and eligibility may be established, even though employed part time The first $65 in earnings in a month will not count against the security income payment and only half of the rest of any additional earnings will count

Apart from earnings any other income above the first $20 a month generally will reduce the amount of the payment. This includes social security, V.A. payments, workmen's compensation, annuities gifts and other incomes

People already aged 65 that are receiving welfare for blind or disability will automatically be informed. Those not receiving these benefits must apply through their local social security office

As much publicity as possible is given to this benefit because the social security administration is unable to locate those persons who would be eligible and are not receiving state welfare payments

IRCC offering a variety of courses at Roschman Site

STUART—The community services program at Indian River Community College is offering a variety of courses at the Roschman Site of the IRCC, in Stuart.

"Travelog Spanish" will be taught by Senora Amparo Dillon, starting on Tuesday, Jan. 8. The course will be taught on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 2 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Vera Traversa will offer four sewing courses at the site this semester.

Starting on Tuesday, Jan. 15, Mrs. Traversa will offer two intermediate sewing classes, one from 1 to 3:30 in the afternoon and the other from 7 to 9:30 in the evening.

On Thursday, beginning Jan. 17, two courses in introduction to sewing will be offered, one from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon and the other from 7 to 9:30 in the evening.

New oil painting classes will begin with Mrs. Madeline Rebeiser, veteran painting instructor teaching the course.

Classes will be held on Wednesday nights from 7 to 10 p.m. and on Thursday afternoons from 2 to 5 p.m. Students must have their own painting supplies.

Special sewing courses in knit fabrics will be taught by Mrs. Sue Burkett, starting Jan. 14, at 10 a.m. She will teach Sewing Men's Knit Slacks and Sport Shirts On the same day, at 1 p.m., she will begin teaching in Techniques with Knit Fabrics.

All these courses have no fee. Registration is at the time of the classes.

The Roschman Site of Indian River Community College is south of Stuart on the west side of U.S. 1. Phone 283-4550 for further information.

Gilbert Miller, Jr. poems to be published

STUART—Terrance Horrigan, principal of Martin County High School, announced that Gilbert Miller, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Sr. of Hobe Sound, received notification that his poetry manuscript that was submitted, has been accepted for publication.

The eleven poems submitted by Miller will be published in the Annual Anthology of High School Poetry The contest, "Young American Singe", is sponsored by the National Poetry Press of Los Angeles, Calif.

FIT presents Diana Kan

JENSEN BEACH—Kan Mae Shu, Diana Kan, will be presented at Florida Institute of Technology in a free lecture demonstration, Friday, Jan. 18 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium on the Jensen Beach Campus.

Miss Kan, well known in Martin County, is the second living artist and the first woman to be invited to exhibit at the National Historical Museum in Taipei, Tawian, and was commissioned to create a painting for its permanent collection. Dr Lin Yutang, noted author, went to Taipei on that occasion to open the exhibition for his young friend.

Miss Kan represented the Hong Kong Art Colony, at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, and her London exhibition was sponsored by H.R.H. Princess Margaret Rose and the late Sir Winston Churchill. She is a member of the American Watercolor Society. Allied Artists of America (jury of selection) and Pen and Brush (board of directors). Detailed additional information may be found in Who's Who in American Art of at the Elliott Museum.

The Martin County Historical Society owns one prize winning black and white Lotus one landscape in color and was given a flower picture in memory of Mrs. Gertrude E. Hutchinson, mother of Director, Mrs. Janet Hutchinson, a painting representing a segment of life in the lives of the two families.

The Florida Institute of Technology is proud to present this distinguished artist on its schedule of community events.

Navy assigns new recruiter for the Treasure Coast area

FORT PIERCE--The U.S. Navy Recruiting Office in Fort Pierce has announced the arrival of Aviation Machinists Mate First Class, Robert C. Blumer, to the Fort Pierce area.

Petty Officer Blumer will be recruiting in St. Lucie, Indian River and Martin Counties.

Petty Officer Blumer states that the new Navy has many education and employment opportunities with a starting base pay from $288.10 per month, along with travel, adventure and many other fringe benefits. Interested individuals may see Petty Officer Blumer at the Navy Recruiting Office in Fort Pierce at 2801 South U.S.1, The Macon Building, Suite-15, or call him at 464-0228.

CWU will install Eleanor Funk

JENSEN BEACH--Mrs. Eleanor Funk will be installed as president of Church Women United at its annual meeting Friday, Jan. 18, at Trinity United Methodist Church on Arch Street.

Coffee will be served at 9:30 and the service will begin at 10 a.m. All church women are invited.

Mrs. Luella Miner will be installed as vice-president. Mrs. Faye McMasters will give the opening devotions and Donald Carpp will sing a solo. All are members of Jensen Beach Community Church.

Church Aid Circle luncheon, auction

JENSEN BEACH--A covered dish luncheon and white elephant auction will be held at the Wednesday, Jan. 23 meeting of the Church Aid Circle of Jensen Beach Community Church.

Those attending the noon luncheon are asked to bring a favorite dish, table service and a friend or neighbor. The auction will follow.

Course in cash register checking training offered

FORT PIERCE--Registration is open until January 25 for a course in cash register checker training offered at Indian River Community College. Two sections are offered, Tuesday from 5:30 to 9 p.m. and Thursday from 8 to 10:30 p.m. Classes started Jan. 8 and 10.

A course is also being offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays in personal and professional typing. The course is designed to focus attention on individual needs of the students with emphasis placed on typing for beginners and refresher typing for students with previous typing experience. The course meets from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

For additional information on these courses, contact the college at 464-2000.

Port Salerno Bank reports rapid growth

PORT SALERNO--The Port Salerno National Bank held deposits exceeding $5 million at the close of business on December 24. The bank, which was opened July 18, 1973, has experienced rapid growth.

According to Charles Harris, the bank's executive vice president, at least many of Port Salerno National's customers are new residents of the area, individuals who have moved to Port Salerno area condominiums. In addition to these many are businessmen in the Port Salerno area who previously banked elsewhere.

Port Salerno National Bank, an affiliate of Stuart National Bank, was the first bank established as an affiliate by a Martin County bank. The bank is housed in temporary headquarters on A1A in the heart of the Port Salerno business district.

Jack T. Williams, president and chief executive officer of Stuart National Bank, is also president and chief executive officer of Port Salerno National Bank.

GED tests at MCHS week of January 28

Defensive driving course starts

STUART--A course in defensive driving for adults will start at Martin County High School Thursday, Jan. 17 at 7 p.m.

The course, designed by the National Safety Council to help adults become better and safer drivers.

Students who successfully complete the course are given a certificate of completion which may enable the individual to obtain a preferred risk rating for lower car insurance premium.

There is no registration fee for the course which is presented as a community service. There is a $1 charge for textbook.

Registration for the course will be held at Martin County High School at 6:45 p.m. prior to the initial class meeting on Jan. 17. Martin County High School is located on SR 76, Stuart.

International rates to rise

MIAMI--Higher international mail rate has been delayed until March 2, along with rate changes for domestic mail, according to E.H. Daws, district manager-postmaster of Miami. International mail rates are scheduled to rise by an over-all 20 percent and are expected to provide an additional $82 million in fiscal 1975, beginning July 1, 1974, he explained.

Mail rates to Canada and Mexico will be the same as the new higher domestic rates in most categories with first class letters increasing from eight cents to ten cents and airmail from 11 to 13 cents. Surface cards will go from six to eight cents and airmail cards from nine to eleven cents.

The cost to mail a one-ounce international surface letter will rise from 15 to 18 cents. Airmail letter rates to countries in the Western Hemisphere will increase from 17 to 21 cents and to other countries from 21 to 26 cents for each half ounce up to two ounces.

Surface and air parcel rates will increase about 15 percent, Daws added.

Visitor catches snook

JENSEN BEACH--Elmer Horton of Pennsauken, N.J., was a happy man the other day. He caught a 5-lb. 14-oz. snook while fishing in the surf.

Horton and his wife, Dorothy, are spending the month of January at Ebbtide Apartments.

Holiday Out-lines

334-0624

Saturday, Jan. 26 is the day, and 1 p.m. is the hour. The occasion: our first auction sale. It will be held at the rec hall. Please donate whatever items you can spare. Ladies, we are soliciting home-baked goodies to be auctioned also. There should be something for nearly everyone. Come out and make it a fun affair.

Jacqueline Aubin lost her father and has flown home to Canada for his funeral. Our condolences to her and her family.

How is the Change in time affecting you all? I'm told the folks who go to early Mass have to sneak out in the dark these days.

John May has done his usual fine job on the shrubbery around bathhouse number 3. Neighboring lot-owners certainly appreciate his efforts. If more lot-owners had his dedication, our common element shrubbery would be in A-one condition all over the park.

The recreation program is going great guns. Spanish class, headed by a new teacher, Mrs. Amparo Dillon, has been changed to Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Mrs. Lillian Grower's sewing class meets on Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 12 noon also. Craft classes will start Jan. 21 from 3 to 4 p.m., headed by Mrs. Sue Mitchell. The leathercraft class, Fridays, 10 to 12 noon, adds new members each week, and they are making lovely items. This class is headed by Bill Blair and Irving Ringer. Bert Turner's first photography class met Tuesday at 7 p.m. and had a fair turnout. Don't forget to come to the second class. New rec programs will soon be distributed. Get your copy and keep up with the activities going on. Hopefully, the communication system will be working again soon, and the announcements will jog your memories as in other seasons.

Judy and Carl Tyler, 204, are brand new grandparents of Friday, Jan. 11. The young lady's name is Michelle Renee.

The Hawaiian Dance was a huge and colorful success, with one authentic grass skirt in evidence.

The Holiday Out-lookers are growing each meeting. If you play a small instrument, join them on the patio of lot 46 on Wednesdays at 11 a.m. It's all in fun.

Gert and Bob Long brought their son Ron, his wife Eileen and grandsons Timmy and Danny, to the park this past weekend.

Audrey and Mark Bicknell have headed west to Arizona for the rest of the winter.

Charles Ray, lot 138, has been hospitalized with a heart seizure. He is now home, but must remain in bed for two weeks.

Peg and Lloyd Nelson, lot 387, are in from Huntington Hills, Mich. Peg is Vergual Smith's sister.

Mac and Nell McFarland came in Friday morning just in time for the board meeting. They reported driving through bad weather on the way down from Tenn.

Cell and Dave Deutchman are here on lot 11. Cell has been recuperating from an operation, but says she feels much better now. She should pick up quickly here in the sun.

There were seven tables playing bridge on Thursday. Scores were: Winne Pohl, 3770; Dot Tolcher, 3800; and Theo Hall, 3050.

The Storcks, lot 16, have had to return to Ohio to get the children back to school after their holiday vacation.

This Friday, Jan. 18, will be Fun and Frolic Night. Refreshments will be served. Come one, come all, at 8 p.m. in the rec hall.

Edwina Palmer, lot 309, writes that Earle is having therapy sessions for his back problems, but that they still hope to get down by the end of February.

The ballroom dancing class has become so popular that it has become necessary to divide the class in two. The last session fifty-three attended. The class now meets at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Trencouth Adams has one son and his family living in the Adamses trailer in the park, and another son coming in from California with his family to stay with his parents.

Kay Stephenson says "hello" to all her friends, and that he hopes to be in the park shortly with her mother for a visit.

Thelma Gingrich had a patio birthday party for Ike on January 13. Congratulations, Ike; that's one birthday I missed.

Ada Stuart's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Tripp, have come in for a four to six week stay.

Strange things go on when a stage is being readied for a play. The strangest, to date, for Carnival, is the tree being built in the center of the stage. It is about seven or eight feet tall, with a big trunk and long branches. It started out as a chicken wire and wood framework, with newspaper and glue to make the limbs and trunk smooth. It is really a big job to be done by two people. Denise Handy and Nick Plattis are the builders and they have named their tree Oliver.

The following comes under the heading of energy crisis frustration: I have a gas stove and oven. The oven is used very seldom and it hurts my stingy little soul, to have that nice blue flame burning all the time for no purpose. So I called the gas company and asked that they come and turn off the pilot light and when I wanted to use the oven, once every six months, I could light it with a match. No way. There is no method of turning off the pilot light except to make the oven completely inoperative. Just think of the hundreds of thousands of pilot lights burning up all that fuel in such a wasteful manner. It boggles the mind.

Richard Carr, the director of Carnival, needs an accordian player. A good accordian is available--all he needs is someone to punch the keys. Please to call 287-4392.

Are you supporting the prospect of public transportation? Do, indeed.

The Barn... plus

BY BARBARA GATELY

Someone must gather the props to physically create an illusion on the theater stage. For "Carnival!", the job is mine, so I hied myself to the Deggeller Amusement Company and hollered for help.

A gentleman by the name of Jack Ripper (really!) took the time to show me around, up into attics, into storage sheds and circus wagons. He found all kinds of things for us to use: great big circus posters, stuffed animals used as prizes for the games of chance and something called slum. Slum consists of the gimcracks--penny whistles, in all shapes and sizes, fake money, instant flowers and such. These will be used as give aways to the audience to put them in a "Carnival" mood.

On my list was a fake snake. That's right, a fake snake. I was happily looking at everything in all these buildings and there it was, a fake snake 30 or 35 feet long. Only it was a real one. Someone in the carnival had owned this great big boa constrictor and when it died of pneumonia, they had the skin stretched on a long board. A very long board!

The list of active workers and actors gets longer every week. There are three families involved in this production that bear mentioning. The Conants with nine children, the Tschudi's with seventeen children and another family, whose name I do not know, with eight children. If they all came, they would pretty near fill the hall! Over and above the large families, the new additions are Tom and Janet Wise and their three children, a young man named Jim Wheelus and Shields McManus, who is trying to shed his hero image (Streets of New York) by kicking up his heels in the chorus line.

Sailfish Club Winter tournament

STUART--Newest entry in the Stuart Sailfish Club's Winter Tournament was a 7'9" sailfish caught by Thomas Wolf, Catonsville, Md. aboard the Sea Bird with Capt. Ray Parker.

Bingo winners: Edward Kay; Evelyn Grotopp; tie game between Dave Martelle and Marie Bright; a five-way tie between Kathleen Jarrett, Elizabeth O'brien, Evelyn Grotopp, Margo Stisler and Evelyn Sehan; Elizabeth O'Brien; Agnes Wasilik; Hal Abrams; Frank Wahlage; Myrtle Abrams; and the coverall, won by Tillie Thornburgh.

Rev. Neil Gumaliss preached to a good sized congregation at the Pavilion Church Sunday. Pike Stuart and Harold Landis conducted the layman's portions of the service. Norma Quilles sang the anthem, with Linda Hall at the piano. Mark Sumner was in his usual spot as head usher.

Dean Whitfield called to say their visit to the park will be delayed a week because of office problems. They will fly into West Palm Airport on the 27th instead.

Lisbee and Arthur Smith are back from their trip home for the holidays.

Outdoor Resort resident hits bull's eye

JENSEN BEACH—When Outdoor Resorts resident Mrs. Marianne Driver squeezes the trigger of her target rifle she rarely misses bull's eye.

Mrs. Driver has been winning championships and awards in rifle shooting competition for over 20 years and she is still competing against the best men and women.

While Mrs. Driver has been hitting the target's center with her Remington, she calls two school-teaching daughters "THE shooters."

Her oldest daughter, Mrs. Lenore Lamanski, "beat me and her sister last year in competition."

Mrs. Candy Vitito, the younger daughter, both have been Woman's Smallbore Prone champions.

Mrs. Driver, of Allen Park, Mich., who now has a retirement home in Andrews, N.C., and spends winter months at Outdoor Resorts, has a few championships to her credit, also.

A few years ago she became the Western Cartridge Company Woman's Prone champ, and won a National Rifle Association silver plate and plaque.

Also, she won the Ohio State Women's Smallbore Rifle Championship.

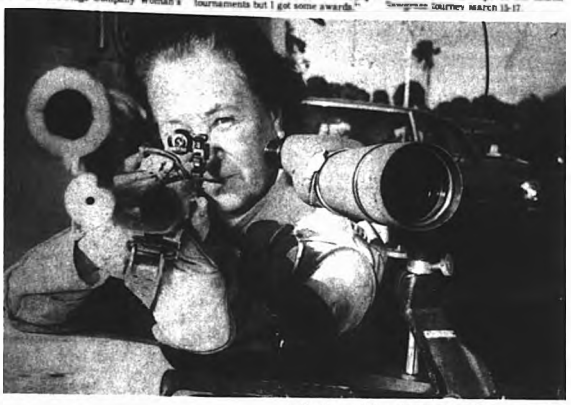
She said that she doesn't have a place to practice at Outdoor Resorts, but she gets her practice shots in at a tourney.

"If you pay to practice you will be a little more careful," she said. "Also, I prefer to shoot with some wind. I can dope the wind better than some of the younger shooters."

Mrs. Driver said that she entered eight tournaments last year. "I didn't win any tournaments but I got some awards."

She explained that some of the best shooters in the military are in the tournaments plus the top flight men competitors.

Mrs. Driver, a National Women's Any Sight champ, will be out to add more trophies to her collection when she takes sight on the bull's eye at the Miami Sunshine Tourney March 15-17.



TAKING AIM—Mrs. Marianne Driver takes dead aim at the bull's eye in her next tournament. The Outdoor Resort resident has racked up championships at a variety of rifle meets over the past 20 years. When she squeezes the trigger on her Remington rifle, she rarely misses the bull's eye.

German-American Club of Stuart announced 1974 officers

STUART—The German-American Club of Stuart elected new officers for 1974 at its annual meeting Friday, Jan. 11.

They are: Chick Reinhart, of Palm City, president; Josef Herber, of Hideaway Isles, vice president; Mrs. Grace A. Warren of Tropical Farms, re-elected secretary; and Mrs. Edna Pierce of Seagate Harbour is the new treasurer.

Although the annual meeting was called for 8 p.m. instead of the customary 7 p.m. start, it has been necessary to continue an extension of the annual meeting into the start of the February meeting to complete the business.

Authorization was voted to publish the constitution and by laws of the club, with a complete membership directory.

The overflow crowd caused the need for bringing extra chairs for the first time in the club's history.

The retiring president, William Koerner presented his year-end report. It was one of growth and secure finances.

All new committees will be announced at the February meeting.

Water fight is renewed

WEST PALM BEACH—A three-judge Fourth District Court of Appeals panel is considering an appeal of a temporary injunction as the City of Stuart resumes its legal battle over extension of a water line to Beach Club Colony on Hutchinson Island in St. Lucie County.

The temporary injunction was granted over two years ago by Circuit Court Judge D.C. Smith when he ordered the city to turn the water back on to the development.

The city claimed that the Southern Gulf Utilities had violated its contract by extending the water line to the development.

Water is provided to the company which in turn provides water to island customers.

An appellate court hearing on the issue had been delayed due to the bankruptcy proceedings by Southern Gulf, which was formerly known as Ecological Utilities.

Bill Weiss speaks at Rainbow Wheel meeting

JENSEN BEACH—William Weiss of the Jensen Beach Lions Club will speak about the eye bank at the Jan. 23 meeting of the Rainbow Wheel Club of the Martin County Welcome Wagon.

The luncheon and meeting will be at the Captain's Quarters of Holiday Inn in Stuart, starting with a social hour at 11:30 a.m.

Hospital ball chairmen

STUART—Co-chairmen of the ninth annual Martin Memorial Hospital ball to be Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schock of Stuart, according to William E. Owens, president of the board of directors of the hospital.

The ball, one of the major social and charitable functions of the year for Martin county, will be held March 23 in the grand ballroom of the St. Lucie Inn, Port St. Lucie.

Mrs. Schock said that Miss Patricia Murphy will once again set the theme and decor for the ball which has highlighted the social season since its inception in 1964.

Owens said that Mr. and Mrs. Schock will announce detailed plans for the ball as they develop.

"One thing is certain," Owens said, "we are all pointing toward the most beautiful and enjoyable ball ever."

JBW A fashion show, ard party set for Jan. 28

JENSEN BEACH—A luncheon card party and fashion show will be held by Jensen Beach Women's Association on Monday, Jan. 28 at 12 noon at the club house on Indian Hill Road. Members will serve as models.

There will be door prizes and table prizes and reservations should be made in advance by calling Mrs. Regina Justi, 334-2498 or Mrs. Mildred Greenland, 334-2498. The public is invited.

The regular meeting was held Monday with 67 members and six guests attending.

The special prizes were won by Mrs. Gene Hodgkins and Mrs. Grace Walker. Refreshments were served by Mesdames Kay Burmester, Olive Binns, Diana Stoll, Betty Diehl and Betty Kupp.

DONATION—Ozzie Hulse, mayor of the Town of Ocean Breeze Park, hands Ken Ferguson a $361 donation to the Martin County United Fund to help the drive along toward its goal this year of $95,000.

Meetings held

Rio is included in proposed Jensen charter

JENSEN BEACH—Revisions in the proposed incorporation charter—which includes Rio—were hammered out Monday morning at a meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee.

"Next Monday we hope to finalize the charter, have committee reports and talk money," Chairman Art Hansen said.

The committee voted to change the southern boundaries to include Rio, taking the action after petitions were circulated in that community favoring joining in the incorporated area.

The Rio Civic Club also voted last week to join in incorporation charter, and club president Joseph Forsberg told the Incorporation Committee at the Langford Park public hearings that "I was amazed that we were left out."

The four days of public hearings conducted by the committee were attended by more than 170 persons.

"We had a very good turnout," Hansen said. "People asked searching questions, and most of the people wanted to know about the proposed millage and police and fire protection.

"People don't come to public hearings unless they are interested," Hansen observed.

Former county commissioner Frank Wacha noted at the public hearings that "we want to draft the best possible charter so we can have something people can vote on."

Wacha noted the possibility that Port St. Lucie might annex the land south of the St. Lucie County, which General Development Corp owns. He pointed out that it is possible to annex across county lines.

When residents of Northwood Subdivision asked to be excluded from the incorporation charter area, pointing out that "we are satisfied with what we've got," Wacha reminded the residents that the area is growing and changes are going to be made.

Chick Reinhart, of the Martin County Freeholders Association, wanted to know if real estate interests are pushing for annexation.

Wacha introduced members of the committee noting not one member was connected with real estate but were either retired or businessmen.

At the Monday committee session, it was decided after much discussion to raise the amount from $25,000 to $100,000 the amount of money the council could borrow, issue bonds pledging revenues, etc., during a fiscal year.

It was noted that $25,000 was not sufficient funds for operations.

A comprehensive zoning code, patterned after the county charter will be added to the charter.

Hansen said that members of the committee will have reports on various areas of government for next week's meeting including:

Ernie Baker, fire protection; Don Wilkie, recreation and parks; Rick Tenbroeck, public works; Wacha, finances and Hansen, police.

The final charter draft will be presented to the Legislative Delegation hearing Feb. 15. A decision on inclusion of the three mill cap is expected to be decided at that time.

Zoning change is okayed

STUART—A zoning change for River Run development just south of Britt Road was approved Tuesday by Martin County Commission.

The change for the 336-unit development is from R-2 single family to R-3 multi-family for the purpose of a planned unit development (PUD).

At Tuesday's council meeting, Port St. Lucie councilmen gave preliminary approval of the plan providing that there is competent leadership.

Councilman Lawrence Kimmel is expected to meet with Commissioner Powers to discuss the plan.

Because of the conflict in meetings, Powers has not been able to meet with the Port St. Lucie Council nor the St. Lucie County Commission.

EXPLAINS BOUNDARY—Frank Wacha, advisor to the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee, explains the boundaries of the proposed charter for the City of Jensen Beach.

Two areas want out of incorporation

JENSEN BEACH—Two areas, Northwood Subdivision and Seahorse Drive, have asked the Jensen Beach Oncorporation Committee to be left out of the incorporation charter.

A petition containing 101 names, 95 percent of the residents according to one petitioner are opposed to being included in the incorporated area.

The petition was presented to the committee Friday night at the Langford Park Fieldhouse where the public hearings were held for four nights.

Five residents along Seahorse Drive, including Martin County School Supt. James Navitsky, sent the committee a letter stating:

"Residents living on the St. Lucie River southeast of Seahorse Lodge known as Seahorse Drive wish to have our area excluded."

Other residents of the drive signing the letter include George Kaufman, Harry Corbin, Joseph G. Jarrell and Herbert Foehr.

The areas, however, will not be excluded from the proposed incorporation boundaries and in fact, the boundaries have been extended to include Rio.

At a Monday morning meeting, the Incorporation Committee voted to include the Rio area. Rio Civic Club voted last week to include the Rio area. Rio Civic Club voted last week to be included and petitions circulated in the community contained 170 signatures favoring inclusion in the incorporation area.

Committee chairman Art Hansen pointed out that the areas wanting to be excluded will have an opportunity to express their opposition when the issue is voted on.

Also, Hansen said that the areas will receive benefits from the city if it is incorporated.

Northwood resident Raymond Frey pointed out Friday night that the subdivision residents were mainly retired persons and "We are satisfied with what we have."

Committee advisor Frank Wacha replied that the area is growing and there will be changes in the future.

Minibus service is discussed

STUART—A minibus system for Martin County was outlined to county commissioners and staffers by representatives of Skillcraft Industries Inc. of Venice, Fla., at a Thursday session.

About 12 to 14 minibuses costing about $10,000 each would be needed to provide a public transportation for the county, according to Lee Huston, president of the company.

"Because of the energy crisis, public transportation is making a comeback," Huston said.

Skillcraft specializes in selling and organizing a minibus system, and converts van-type vehicles into 13 passenger buses.

Huston said the St. Petersburg system uses 13 buses and last month transported 4,700 passengers. Fares there are 35 cents if the bus is called in hours in advance and 50 cents for "instant" service.

He said his company would do a feasibility study for the county for a fee and also provide management services.

He said that the type of bus service which would attract the most riders would be a demand service designed to pick up riders at their homes and take them to their destinations and back.

Commissioner Ed Gluckler noted that federal funds are available for a bus system, and he pointed out that the bus system will not be self-supporting.

Huston pointed out that the bus system would not be a profit maker. Anybody who tell you it's going to make money or break even is kidding you."

The minibus system is designed to pick up passengers at their doorsteps within 15 minutes of the time requested and deliver them to their destinations.

Huston said the county could be in the public transportation business within six months with minibuses.

COG gets another endorsement

STUART—The Council of Government (COG) plan is moving ahead and Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers said Tuesday he is confident the organization will be in operation in February.

Fort Pierce City Commission Monday night voted to join cog, becoming the third governmental agency in Martin and St. Lucie to endorse the plan that is being pushed by Commissioner Powers.

Commissioner Powers first presented the COG idea at the Martin County Commission meeting and immediately won the commission's approval.

The Stuart City Council backed the plan and then Monday night Ft. Pierce councilmen backed the plan.

Powers has pointed out at each meeting that COG would provide a forum to allow the representatives of the two county governmental agencies "to communicate on a regular and certainly a high level."

Under Powers' plan, COG would be composed of mayors or their representatives of Ft. Pierce, Port St. Lucie and Stuart, and Martin and St. Lucie county commission chairmen or their representatives.

Powers said that the council would cost each member $200 per year.

The veteran Martin County commissioner said the council would have no real powers but would be a "tool." The council would discuss common problems and try to coordinate actions so one government's movement didn't impede another's.

Joe's Point is toured

JENSEN BEACH—Joe's Point, a 22-acre unspoiled beauty spot on Hutchinson Island, was toured last Thursday by Martin County commissioners and staff advisers and developer Raymond Hurley plans to build a $14 million condominium complex.

"It is the best boating land I've seen that is west of A1A," Commissioner Ross Philbrick said.

Commissioner Ed Gluckler noted that it is a "shame to develop the land. Ecologically speaking, it is real fragile."

Joe's Point is just south of the Jensen Beach Causeway, and is south of where Gordon Mark plans 36 units to be known as Ocean View. Both developments front on the Indian River.

Hurley, of Boca Raton, noting the many different kinds of trees on the property, observed, "We won't move a tree."

Hurley said the apartments will face Indian River, and that 185 units are planned on the property.

County planner Tom Leonard estimated that about 28 acres of the property is developable.

Roy Cowell, who developed the county's comprehensive plan, has been retained by Hurley as the development planner.

The development will include lakes, clubhouses, tennis courts and other recreational facilities.

A review of the development plans was held at Tuesday's commission meeting.

JOE'S POINT—A tour of Joe's Point on Hutchinson Island was taken last Thursday, Jan. 17, by county officials, reporters, county staffers and the developer of the proposed condominium complex. Checking over plans on the 28-acre site are planner Roy Cowell, left, and developer Raymond Hurley of Boca Raton.

Jensen Beach plans outdoor art festival

JENSEN BEACH—Plans are already under way and applications are being taken for the eighth annual Jensen Beach Outdoor Art Festival, sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce.

The two-day event will be March 2 and 3 from 9 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. at Langford Park.

All artists, amateur and professional, may exhibit, according to chairman J. Ernest Baker. Applications may be obtained from him or by writing Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, Inc., P.O. Box 878, Jensen Beach and enclosing a check or money order (no cash) for two dollars entry fee.

Deadline for entries is Feb. 22.

Auxiliary card party was Jan. 10

JENSEN BEACH—The auxiliary of Lloyd Barracks 854, Jensen Beach, held a dessert card party at Langford Park Hall on Jan. 10. The chairman was Mary Kerner.

The special prizes were won by Catherine Allee and Kate Cortez. Door prizes were won by Beth Raillie, Geneva Gilbert, Clara Vaught, Marija Pina and Rita Cortez.

Ed Menninger to speak at Center

JENSEN BEACH—There will be a meeting on Thursday, Jan. 24, at 7:30 p.m., at the Jensen Beach Environmental Center.

The discussion will be on trees and plants of south Florida. The speaker will be well known author Edwin Menninger.

PARKING AREA—An area on the north side of Ricou Street was cleared last week, paving the way for employees of the Jensen Beach Bank. The additional parking spaces for bank employees will allow more customer parking at the bank site, bank officials said.

SIDEWALK—There is 136 feet more sidewalk on the south side of Commercial Street in downtown Jensen Beach. Concrete was poured Monday morning for the sidewalk which extends west from the present walkway.

S. Welcome Wagon plans party, auction

STuart—South Welcome Wagon club of Martin County dessert card party and silent auction will be held Valentine's Day, Feb. 14 at 1 p.m. in the Stuart Civic Center.

Donation will be accepted to benefit Pioneer Occupational Center. Public is invited. For reservations call Lida Savage 283-6452.

Activities offered by Jensen Community Church

JENSEN BEACH—Activities from church meetings to gourmet cooking and square dancing instruction are being offered to the public at Jensen Beach Community Church.

Youth meetings are on Thursday night from 6 to 9:30 p.m. The youth choir practices Thursdays from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m.

The February meeting of the Men's Brotherhood will be a Sweethearts Night, with ladies invited.

Gourmet cooking classes by Chef Andre Gerard are held at 2 p.m. each Tuesday and will continue through May. One does not have to be a member of the church to attend.

Square dances are held Mondays in Fellowship Hall. Dale McClary is caller and a workshop starts at 7 p.m.; regular program starts at 8 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Wilder Weeks and Mr. and Mrs. Pfeifield may be contacted for more information. A fee is charged per couple. The church does not sponsor this activity but makes the space available.

Personal comments of county attorney on county charter

Section 1.03 A stylistic suggestion: Change last two lines to read as follows: "or transfer by majority vote plus one of the governing body of such municipality or other public agency."

Section 2.01 A A stylistic suggestion: Should be "County Commissioner Districts" instead of "County Commission Districts."

Section 3.01 in general: A stylistic suggestion: Be consistent and call a county commissioner a county commissioner throughout. Don't call him a commission member.

Section 3.01 F I question charter's power to take away governor's power to fill vacancies. Stylistically, the reference to the constitution and Laws of Florida would be better to the state constitution and general laws.

Section 3.03 A stylistic suggestion: "Laws of Florida should read general or special laws. "Laws of Florida" in its strict sense means the book published after each legislative session.

Section 3.03 (3) A section similar to this should be added relating to County Attorney. Other provisions of charter say that county administrator can't hire or fire county attorney but fails to say who can. Also provision should be made perhaps in Section 4.03) that any assistant county attorney or a deputy county attorney. There's a difference between assistant and deputy. A deputy is a higher position than an assistant and there is usually only one deputy while there might be several assistants) are to be hired, fired, etc. by the county commission upon the recommendation of the county attorney.

Section 3.01 E Expense of our county commissioners are not provided for by a population act which was converted to a county ordinance by the legislature when it repealed all population acts. There is no general law on expenses.

This section should state that compensation will be as set by general state law stylistically this is better than reference to Florida Statutes and reference to amendments from time to time is unnecessary) and that reasonable expenses shall be reimbursed or paid pursuant to policies established by ordinance.

Section 3.03 (14) Fees should be set by ordinance. An annual omnibus ordinance on fees would be appropriate.

Section 3.02 (16) Since general law does not allow this why not leave it out? Then if the general law is changed to allow it, the county would be able to do it under Section 3.01. General Powers.

Section 3.04 B In order to be consistent the Clerk of the Commission should be called "County Clerk" throughout. It might be less confusing with the clerk of the courts office to call him the "County Secretary". Is the journal the same as "minutes"? If so, one term should be used throughout Charter. See Section 2.10.

Section 3.08 This section should specifically state that it is in lieu of Section 2.07.

Section 3.09 The phrase "which shall comply with state law as amended from time to time" is ambiguous as well as unnecessary and should be deleted. I interpret it as saying that such an ordinance has to comply with state law which is necessarily so.

Section 3.10 H Constitutional provisions have no place in our code. Code should include:

1. Charter
2. Special laws relative to Martin County
3. All ordinances
4. Resolutions having force and effect of law.

Section 3.11 State law should read general law.

Section 4.01 A better name for department would be Department of Legal Matters.

Section 4.06 This should be called Department of Court Administration and should be headed by the "Clerk of the Courts of Martin County."

Section 5.01 Personnel rules should be adopted by majority vote of county commission and elected charter officers each one having one vote.

Section 5.02 Conflict of Interest. This is a general section and doesn't belong in the Article on finances. It should be in Section 8.01.

Section 8.04 This section should be rewarded in one of three ways:

1. By spelling out exactly in which the county ordinances are to be repealed and in which they are not.

2. By saying that municipal ordinances will be superior within a particular municipality.

3. County ordinance will be superior unless municipality elects by ordinance to remove itself from operation of county ordinance.

Personally I feel that municipalities must be allowed to exercise planning, zoning, subdivision, platting and building powers. Only exception would be if municipality failed to have any regulations. They county could step in after giving municipality a reasonable time to adopt its own regulations.

On a voluntary basis county and municipalities might share advisory boards or staff services in these areas.

This section as presently written differs too radically from existing state of affairs and should therefore be eliminated.

Section 8.07 This section should say that the county, its departments and its officers including elected ones, shall sue and be sued as "Martin County, a chartered political subdivision of the State of Florida."

This section should specify that the exclusive method of obtaining service of process on the county shall be by service of process on the County Attorney, an assistant or deputy county attorney. In the absence of all of these from the county, service shall be on the County Administrator, and in his absence on the County Clerk (or Secretary).

In the event of absence of all of these persons from the county at one time, the county commission shall by resolution designate an agent for service of process which agent can be a county commissioner, an elected county department head, or any county employee who is a resident of Martin County. A certified copy of such resolution shall be hand delivered to the Sheriff before becoming effective.

This section should provide that pending litigation in which the county or any officer were involved would not abate but that new charter government would automatically assume position either as Plaintiff or Defendant as the case may be.

Section 6.02. Since this is not presently allowed by general law why not leave it out. If and when the general law is amended county will come under it.

There should be a Council of Elected Officials consisting of county commissioners and elected department heads. This council should adopt personnel and purchasing rules, etc. Having this council would protect elected department heads and give them voice in adoption of these rules.

In summary, emphasis in charter should be in simplifying and streamlining existing county government with as little change as possible, rather than attempting to get into county-city conflicts.

The real need for a charter is to eliminate need for special acts in most areas. While the county has home rule power now, it is limited to the unincorporated areas. The county cannot now adopt a county-wide ordinance on a county matter such as the jury commission, the county library system, the county law library. It should have powers to do so.

The process for getting a special act adopted is too cumbersome to be of any real use to the county at the present time, except as a last resort.

A charter will not solve any earth-shaking problems of Martin County. The real effect of the charter will be a better operating county government in which the people have a greater part rather than the legislature.

For this reason, I think that consideration should be made for referendum and initiative proceedings.

The Barn... plus

BY BARBARA GATELY

The opening of 'Carnival' is approaching very rapidly and I hope you are all ready, with telephone in hand, ready to call Conant Photo at 287-0078 for your opening night reservations. The night is Thursday, Jan. 31. Tickets will be on sale very shortly in the usual places Conant Photo on Colorado Ave., Valentine's on E. Ocean Blvd., Jensen Beach Travel and Gail Carr's Thimble in the Ocean East Mall. Our advertiser for the production is the Stuart National Bank. We and they expect standing room only, every night. Come on, all you appreciators of The Barn and it's players, let's make this the best showing yet.

Tom Sloan is one of the younger hard working members of The Barn. Tom is seventeen or so, he works after a full session of school, has a Saturday job and still he managed to paint the on-the-road-sign that draws your attention to The barn's newest presentation.

Over four hundred facinated, intent people watched the diminutive Chinese lady, Diana Kan, at F.I.T. ON Friday 1 shall not tell you her background and reputation, but I assure the impressions I got from the audience. One could almost feel them sitting on the edge of their chairs, their concentration was so complete. With all those people, there wasn't a cough or a shuffled chair or the barely erceptible aggravating murmer usually present at any public function.

Miss Kan explained a tiny part of the science of calligraphy and demonstrated same. She told about 300 year old sticks of ink more precious, by far, than gold and about 300 year old brushes passed on from teacher to pupil, again and again. 200 year old brushes that received a ceremonial burial when their usefulness was finished. Diana Kan painted two pictures; one took five minutes and the other considerably less. Both were sold promptly at the end of the demonstration. People were literally standing in line, checkbooks in hand. We were so lucky to have been present at such a dramatic performance.

Eighth annual Jensen Beach Outdoor Art Festival comes to Langford Park on Saturday and Sunday, March 2 and 3. Get ready, all you painters...only fine arts; crafts are not acceptable in this show.

Well, I've finally gone and done it. It will really happen on the 31st of January. I am about to meet myself both coming and going. The Barn opens with 'Carnival' that night, but I am also a Soroptimist and we are throwing a big bash to benefit the Community Pool Fund. The fashion show will be at the Woman's Club with all those pretty clothes from Loretta's and The Thimble plus the raffling of the Owl painting by Jean McClung. The Soroptimist ladies will serve their famous Silver Tea and I'll be in trouble no matter which I attend!

William Connolly, vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan invited all those who were awarded ribbons at the Art-O-Rama to exhibit their creations in the lobby of the First of Jensen Beach until the first of February.

Back to the Art-O-Rama...It was really one of the best art shows...a hundred times better than last year. There were some 78 exhibitors and they all brought only their very best. Rules for the next year show will, again, be more ridig to produce the best quality and quantity in the area.

Osceola Street Art Show is this coming week-end. Come one, come all...each will find something to enchant you. Saturday and Sunday in the street, the block on Osceola where Huston's, Arbogast, Kermit's and Western Auto are located.

Added note to the Soroptimist Fashion Show. Tickets for the show are available from club members and also from the Kiwanis members who are getting out to help. Raffle tickets on the painting are available only through Soroptimist members.

How come President Nixon hasn't been blamed for the failure of the comet Kohoutek?" He gets blamed for other things as far-fetched.

South America, the northwest corner of it, will be the subject for the next Camera Club meeting Thursday, Jan. 24. The Ernie Curweens had such a delightful adventure through Central America that they wanted more, so off to South America they went. Now they can show their friends at the Camera Club how ugly a Galapagos Island iguana can get, how very colonial it is in Quito, Ecuador, some of the Incs sanctuaries in the sky-high Andes at Mucho-Picchu, Indians demonstrating their blow-gun skill down in the jungles of the Amazon, some fantastic solid gold artifacts in museums and that enormous shanty town that surrounds Caracas and Ernie'll tell it like it was."

Many of the Camera Club members and their families will remember Cape Cod, New England, through the slides and even of Ruth Moore as she told them interesting things about that area last year. Well she is going to do it again Thursday, the 31st at 8 p.m. Ruth Moore will take the club members and their friends to New England again, this time in the northern states of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. This is a good one not to miss.

A very successful Tag and Bake sale was held in the club house Sunday afternoon Jan 20. Hilda Giblin and Ethel Jones were wonderful managers. So many workers both at collecting and baking as well as selling and buying, that I hesitate to name the sellers for fear of unintentionally leaving someone out. I saw at the Food and Bake Goods table Jean Jewsbury, Katy Newman, Jean Tomaszewski, Kitty Wyatt, Evelyn Walquist, and Marguerite Diahman. Fishing supplies, Babe Newman, and Jim Nixon, appliances, George Reeves and Fred Kolb; kitchenware, Marion Curwin, Dot Beck, Opal Hall and Veronice Snyder. Bedding, rugs, etc Cathy Cumpaty and Lucille Fulton, clothing, Freda Peterkin, and Ellen Nixon, jewelry, Bee Tourville and Bernie Taylor, books, George Wyatt and Earl Ridgewell, misc., Ella Lee, Margaret Thompson, Jean Timmons, Ellen Failing and Ruth Phelps. Trudy Chibaar sold chances on a lovely cape made by Sadie Thomas and a ceramic clock made by Mr Henderson. The cape was won by Fred Kalb. Ruth Hoke was wonderful coordinating. The results of the sale were terrific. The bake goods table was loaded with delicious food. The committee is most grateful to the Ocean Breeters that so graciously donated and bought, which made this such a success. Sunday afternoon proceeds were $1142.94 for the ambulance fund.

"We left some real cold weather behind us, plus snow and ice. It was the first snow I had seen in 20 years. I saw my childhood sled still hanging in the garage but I did not bother to take it down and out. It did, however, do a bit of snow shoveling; we just had to clear the driveway to get the car out. A little of that kind of work is fun, besides I wanted to see if I could still do it."

Annual meet held

Ken Ferguson was elected Martin Resources president

THE PLAQUE--Incoming president Ken Ferguson presented a plaque for three years service as president to outgoing president Dick Campbell in the annual business meeting of the Martin County Resources Development Board last Wednesday night at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant.

JENSEN BEACH--Ken Ferguson, active civic leader, was elected president of the Martin County Resources Development Board last Wesnesday night at the annual meeting of the board at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant.

Ferguson replaces Richard E. Campbell, who has served three years as president of the group.

Elected vice president was Jack Robinson, general manager of the Indiantown Company. The secretary is Gene Van Curen, district manager of Florida Power and Light Company, and treasurer is Dale Hudson, senior vice-president of First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart.

Campbell was presented with a plaque denoting his service as president by Ferguson at the conclusion of the short meeting.

The meeting and cocktail party was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evinrude and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lawrence, and was attended by 65 members, their wives, and public officials.

In his year-end report, released at the close of the evening, Campbell cited the accomplishments of the board in the past year, with internal reorganization, establishment of new bylaws, and a testimonial dinner for Ross Philbrick, who had to leave the board upon being elected a county commissioner.

He told of the position papers issued on the route of I-95, the diversion of interstate funds to urban mass transit, the effort to seek a spring training site for the Milwaukee Brewers, work bringing together dissident elements in the conservation-contractor feud, review and updating of industrial sites and zoning and growth of Hutchinson Island.

Campbell urged the county commission to use the board "for the good of Martin County".

COMPLAINTS AIRED--Port St. Lucie resident Schuyler Sharpe discusses the unkempt canals in the area with Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh following Tuesday's meeting of the city council.

Clogged canals concern council

PORT ST. LUCIE--The problem of unkempt, undredged canals in the Port St. Lucie area was once again aired by local residents before last Tuesday's meeting of the city council.

Schuyler Sharpe, of 647 Harborview Drive, brought the subject up again following 'a year of no action' on the part of General Development Corporation.

"Pipes are still draining into the canals, and when the tide is low, boats rest on a sand bottom," Sharpe said. "This is a situation which certainly should be corrected before the proposed two new canals are even dredged," he went on.

Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh agreed with the guest in that the repair work and the correction of the present waterways and canals should be done before hand.

The mayor did, however, point out that the new canals being proposed was not in operation at all.

"So far it is nothing but talk, and, therefore, the city of Port St. Lucie has not taken any action on the matter at all," the mayor said.

Kavanaugh assured the residents he would again contact GDC and have another survey made as soon as possible.

"Sooner or later," the mayor continued, "the City of Port St. Lucie will be expected to take these canals over from GDC and provide the maintenance. This may be well and good, but, I want to make it clear we do not intend to have to clean them up at that time. This work should have been kept up by GDC."

According to the mayor there is no good reason for the delay.

"The dredging and cleaning of these waterways can be done without state permits," he added. "The only time these things come under state jurisdiction is when what we do causes a silt problem where the canal enters the river or navigable waterway."

This, according to Kavanaugh, presents no problem.

"It is a simple matter to block the canal at the entrance, do the repair work and dredging, then clean out the silt which has accumulated at the entrance and remove the block," he said.

At this point Sharpe said that surveys have been made for over a year, without any further action taken.

"How many surveys so they need to make since the situation is getting progressively worse, not better?" Sharpe concluded.

The two new paper work canals would be situated north and west of the C-24 canal on the east side of the Florida Turnpike in the area tentatively pinpointed between Oakridge Road and Eagle Road.

PSL Anglers Club installs officers

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Hilltop House Restaurant in Ft. Pierce was the setting for the installation dinner of the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club held recently.

Bob Brunton was installed as president of the club.

Other officers installed included Dorothy Brunton, secretary; Bob Gordon, treasurer; Schuyler Sharpe, vice president; and Roy Greenwold, Don Peterson and Spencer Eddy, directors.

George Lindberg was the installing officer and Carl Herzog was the master of ceremonies for the evening affair.

Guest speaker was Dick Lundin.

According to the new president, Bob Brunton, over one hundred members and guests attended the installation dinner.

President's Council elects '74 officers

PORT ST. LUCIE--Cedric Benz was re-elected president of the Port St. Lucie President's Council last Thursday during the monthly meeting at the CESA building.

Other officers elected included Bob Brunton, vice president, and Anita White, secretary.

The council is an organization comprised of the presidents of all the clubs and organizations operating in the Port St. Lucie-River Park area.

'Name the Cook Book' contest is announced

PORT ST. LUCIE--A $25 cash prize will be awarded to the winner of the 'Name the CESA Recipe Book' contest being sponsored by the Volunteers for CESA Club of Port St. Lucie.

Mrs. Olga Arkins, representing the Volunteers, made the announcement to members of the President's Council last week.

"The support of your clubs and organizations is needed to make this project a success," Mrs. Atkins said, urging the community leaders to assist in promoting the project.

All proceeds from the book will be donated to the CESA building fund.

Residents are asked to donate their favorite recipe to the project, including their name, the number the recipe serves, and a few words explaining why it is their favorite recipe.

Those wishing to enter the 'Name the Recipe Book' contest and compete for the $25 cash prize, are to place their title suggestion in the boxes provided at both the CESA Building and the Port St. Lucie Marina. Entries may also be mailed to the Recipe Chairman, CESA Building, Prima Vista Blvd., Port St. Lucie.

Deadline date for the recipes and contest entries will be Feb. 28, according to Mrs. Atkins.

COG gets endorsement

STUART--The Council of Government (COG) plan is moving ahead and Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers said Tuesday he is confident the organization will be in operation in February.

Fort Pierce City Commission Monday night voted to join cog, becoming the third governmental agency in Martin and St. Lucie to endorse the plan that is being pushed by Commissioner Powers.

At Tuesday's council meeting, Port St. Lucie councilmen gave preliminary approval of the plan, providing that there is competent leadership.

Councilman Lawrence Kimmel is expected to meet with Commissioner Powers to discuss the plan.

Because of the conflict in meetings, Powers has not been able to meet with the Port St. Lucie Council nor the St. Lucie County Commission.

Commissioner Powers first presented the COG idea at the Martin County Commission meeting and immediately won the commission's approval.

The Stuart City Council backed the plan and then Monday night Ft. Pierce councilmen backed the plan.

Powers has pointed out at each meeting that COG would provide a forum to allow the representatives of the two county governmental agencies "to communicate on a regular and certainly a high level."

Under Powers' plan, COG would be composed of mayors or their representatives of Ft. Pierce, Port St. Lucie and Stuart, and Martin and St. Lucie county commission chairmen or their representatives.

Powers said that the council would cost each member $200 per year.

The veteran Martin County commissioner said the council would have no real powers but would be a "tool." The council would discuss common problems and try to coordinate actions so one government's movement didn't impede another's.

ONE WAY TRAFFIC--It was a lucky motorist who was not in a hurry last week while traveling Prima Vista Boulevard in Port St. Lucie. One lane traffic prevailed as GDC resurfaced a portion of Prima Vista just east of the Port St. Lucie Marina.

Local dealers push for LP gas sales

PORT ST. LUCIE--Area residents questioned members of the city council whether or not there was any provision in the franchise with General Development Utilities to prohibit the purchase of bottle gas from local dealers.

Residents were inquiring about the outside purchases to provide heat for their swimming pools.

Mayor Eugene Kavanaugh said there was nothing in the ordinance to prohibit such purchase as long as GDU can't provide it.

At the same time however he said 'consumption is the key to increased allocations.'

"These local dealers can't promis you anything for the future," Kavanaugh said. "Right now they are stocked because they can't sell it, but when his regular customers return you will be the first ones cut from their list."

"For the time being they are trying to push their bottle gas in the Port St. Lucie area in an effort to build up their allocations," the mayor added.

Homeowners to meet Thursday

PORT ST. LUCIE--The installation of officers will highlight the agenda when the Port St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Association hold their annual meeting at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 24 in the CESA building.

Officers will be elected to the positions of president, first vice president and secretary.

Also up for election at this time will be the directors of the even numbered units, according to Mary Rosenberger, secretary.

Members will hear a report on the annexation survey which was conducted by the Homeowners group recently.

Rio Lindo Club meet

PORT ST. LUCIE--The next regular monthly meeting of the Rio Lindo Garden Club will be held Monday, Jan. 28 at the CESA building.

A dessert luncheon will be served at 1 p.m., according to club president, Mrs. Clyde Edwards.

Guest speaker for the afternoon will be a member of the forest rangers.

The meeting will be open to the public.

ncrease asked

Council questions gas

PORT ST. LUCIE--Members of the rt St. Lucie City Council viewed a oposed application for a gas rate stment Tuesday.

Robert Seeley, general manager of rt St. Lucie, submitted the request to council for their support in the ter.

This is being submitted in hopes for increase in the rates charged for ural petroleum gas within the ncased area," Seeley said.

He also asked that the franchise uance be amended to provide for tallation of gas rates in the area.

Although the matter has been duled for public hearing Feb. 12 at 8 p.m. in the city hall, both Mayor ge Kavanaugh and Councilman rence Kimmel seized the opportun- to lash out against both GDC and Kimmel told Seeley he had made eral informal surveys and found in ny instance the cities or communities in their files drawings of mission and distribution systems plete with the size and length of the es.

This gives the city a means whereby ir figures can be checked," Kimmel

We have asked repeatedly during the to be provided with such rmation and all we've received is ise upon promise. We still do not e them," he added.

"In this proposal which you have submitted, GDU has listed a figure under transmission and distribution in the amount of $217,000." To have arrived at such a figure, they would have had to had such drawings Kimmel said.

"Under the circumstances, Mr. Seeley, I will have to take the stand that I do not believe this figure. I need a complete underground inventory which can only come from the drawings," Kimmel added.

Rate increases were indicated as follows: $3.30 per month minimum for the first 200 cubic feet would be upped to $3.96; the next 800 cubic feet would increase from .82 per 100 to $1.43 per 100 cubic feet. Over 1,000 cubic feet used would jump from .71 to $1.38 per 100 cubic feet.

Mayor Kavanaugh, who was in agreement with Kimmel, went even further to criticize General Development for their lack of cooperation.

"What has happened to all the good coordination that used to exist?" Kavanaugh asked Seeley. "I want some form of cooperation brought back, and I intend to see that it is. This is not a threat, it is a fact."

"Whoever it is with GDC that assumes the City of Port St. Lucie is only an accessory after the fact, and not before, is completely wrong," the mayor added.

"We used to be provided with GDC's plans first and then they would proceed to apply for state permits. Now they get the various permits to carry out their plans and we are the last to be informed," Kavanaugh said.

Blood Bank open to members

PORT ST. LUCIE--Area residents would be wise to give serious consideration to a membership in the Port St. Lucie Blood Bank.

The fee is trivial, but the benefits can be life saving.

Requirements for membership are simply that the prospective member by a bonifide resident of Port St. Lucie-River Park area. A $1 registration fee is required and it is not necessary to donate blood.

The blood bank will pay for or replace the blood used by it's members, not only locally, but anyplace in the United States.

"For example, blood in the Ft. Pierce Memorial Hospital cost the recipient $35 per pint," said Cedric Benz, president of the local blood bank. "If any member of our bank needs blood, the bank will either replace it, or pay the $35 per pint."

The member will then be billed $10 per pint for the blood used.

A very successful Tag and Bake sale was held in the club house Sunday afternoon Jan 20. Hilda Giblin and Ethel Jones were wonderful managers. So many workers both at collecting and baking as well as selling and buying, that I hesitate to name the sellers for fear of unintentionally leaving someone out. I saw at the Food and Bake Goods table Jean Jewsbury, Katy Newman, Jean Tomaszewski, Kitty Wyatt, Evelyn Walquist, and Marguerite Dishman. Fishing supplies, Babe Newman and Jim Nixon; appliances, George Reeves and Fred Kolb; kitchenware, Marion Curwin, Dot Beck, Opal Hall and Veronice Snyder. Bedding, rugs, etc. Cathy Cumpsty and Lucille Fulton; clothing, Freda Peterson and Ellen Nixon; jewelry, Bee Tourville and Bernie Taylor; books George Wyatt and Earl Ridgewell; misc. Ella Lee Margaret Thompson, Jean Timmons, Eilen Failing and Ruth Phelps. Trudy Chibaar sold chances on a lovely cape made by Sadie Thomas and a ceramic clock made by Mr. Henderson. The cape was won by Fred Kalb. Ruth Hoke was running hither and yon doing some wonderful coordinating. The results of the sale were terrific. The bake goods table was loaded with delicious food. The committee is most grateful to the Ocean Breezers that so graciously donated and bought, which made this such a success. Sunday afternoon proceeds were $1142.94 for the ambulance fund.

Nettie Christie has finally made an appearance in O.B.P. after having spent seven months at the home of her sister Mabel Swanson in Muskegon, Mich. The two sisters arrived on Monday in W. Palm Beach, where Mary and Ray Stiles their good neighbors, met them at the airport. Nettie feels that her sister needs a good dose of our Florida sunshine. "We left some real cold weather behind us plus snow and ice. It was the first snow I had seen in 20 years. I saw my childhood sled still hanging in the garage but I did not bother to take it down and out. It did, however, do a bit of snow shoveling we just had to clear the driveway to get the car out. A little of that kind of work is fun, besides I wanted to see if I could still do it.

NEW PRESIDENT–Dr. Thomas Cockerill presented the gavel to Dick Little following the annual election of officers for the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association last Thursday night in Walton. Little, left, defeated Dr. Cockerill by more than a 5-to-1 vote of the membership.

'74 election, clean sweep

Indian River Drive residents will view charter Thursday

BY ALICE HICKEY

WALTON–Accusations were flying when 175 members of the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association gathered at the Walton Community Center last Thursday to take part in the two major issues to be presented, the election of officers and a discussion on incorporation.

The election was an overall landslide as Dr. Thomas Cockerill was defeated as president by Dick Little in a 5-to-1 vote.

George Carnahan, incumbant vice president was also defeated by an even larger majority of 113 to 13 by Rollin Ankeny.

Mrs. Jacon Van Hoek beat Bill White 92 to 56 for the position of secretary.

The narrowest voting margin was for the office of treasurer where George Pecham defeated Mrs. Grace Corvo, 81 to 70.

New directors elected were Mrs. James Plowaty and Phillip Thibedeau Jr.

The three directors reelected were Don Root, who received the highest number of votes for any candidate - 138, Charles Pope and John Hand.

Dr. Thomas Cockerill lost all potential support when drive residents accused him of "selling out" the drive area to Robert Amann, area coordinator for Universal Adams, Inc.

Cockerill admitted he was in favor of the alternate proposal presented by Universal Adams. It was the decision of he and the directors that the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association would no longer oppose the development.

"After all the alternate proposal by Universal Adams calls for a 3.2 density on the 80 acre tract adjacent to the drive," Cockerill said. "It was the opinion of the board of directors this was the best we would ever get on this piece of property and therefore we resolved not to pursue the matter any further."

Cockerill went on to say that Universal Adams would not let this piece of property sit there forever, and if the drive residents didn't go along with the alternate proposal, UA would sell out to a Ft. Lauderdale developer who would develop the land to the fullest extent, or 15 units per acre.

"That is the maximum the present zoning calls for," Cockerill said. "You understand that to oppose the original design of UA which had a density of ten, and to oppose the density of 3.1, is a completely different proposition. If UA had persisted in its pursuit of ten units per acre, then we would not have passed such a resolution," he added.

"I would like to know how you could possibly construe your position as officers and board members to over-ride a mandate by vote?" Phil Thibedeau asked.

Continuing this attack, Thibedeau went on to say, "Then you are suggesting, Dr. Cockerill, that Amann distorted you into taking this position."

Dr. Cockerill agreed that was a correct statement.

"What you have said in effect is that there might have been a possibility that Amann could not have overcome this opposition. That would have been the logical proposition which would have caused him to sell out to a Ft. Lauderdale firm," Thibedeau said. "And if that was the case then there was a possibility and the general mandate gave you charge to do just that, but instead you chose not to pursue what you were charged to do."

"Such a move, Dr. Cockerill, constitutes malfeasance," Thibedeau added.

Robert Amann, attending the meeting with his wife, was also the subject of attack by several drive residents. He was accused by several members of the association of allegedly conspiring with local real estate brokers to spread false information about houses and property being for sale.

One resident accused Amann of contacting her son in Cocoa and reporting to him that since her property was for sale, the developer was willing to negotiate to buy it.

Amann denied the charges and offered a public apology to the woman.

Mrs. Amann defended her husband saying he has never been anything but honest with everyone concerned.

"I knew if I had the choice of condominiums with ten percent buildings and 90 percent greenery, or whatever the statistics are, or some of the run down houses on the drive, I would take the condominiums," Mrs. Amann said as her voice broke with emotion.

Another drive resident, Joseph Avigne, spoke out in opposition to the access road on to Indian River Drive.

"This is going to create one hell of a slaughter street," he said.

Aside from Phil Thibedeau briefly outlining the working charter for incorporation of the Indian River Drive area, this matter was scheduled to be heard and discussed during a special meeting Jan. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Walton Community Center.

Thibedeau, who headed the committee responsible for drafting the charter, assured residents they would have a copy of the charter by the weekend. This would give the people a chance to go over it and make notes of any changes they might wish to discuss.

"I would not attempt to enlighten you in five minutes on the advantages and disadvantages of incorporation," Thibedeau said.

"I will say simply this: we believe in incorporation or we would not have gone to the trouble of preparing the charter but this is your government, or no government if you choose," he said.

"If we are to maintain the integrity of zoning, we should govern our own zoning. Incorporation will give us that opportunity. We will not leave it to the pressure of developers and governments who can annex property holders. We are not happy with the idea of encroachment of communities that will push a totally new concept of building on us," Thibedeau added.

He went on to point out that the majority of the residents on the drive are content with the police protection, the zoning, the fire department and with the various services that they receive.

It is the hope of the incorporation committee that on Feb. 21 the charter will be submitted to the legislative delegation.

"At that time we would move for the successful adoption in the legislature of an act creating our right to form a city," Thibedeau said.

He made it clear that such act would grant the "right" to form a city, not to form a city, but only the right to.

Following the legislative action, the charter would be returned to the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association.

"This act shall become ratified when approved by a majority of those electors voting from within the territory to be incorporated," according to Thibedeau.

The general area to be included in the incorporation extends from the south city limits of Ft. Pierce down the inland waterway to the north Martin County line, then west where it would intersect with the city limits of Port St. Lucie and north just west of the FEC tracks.

Dick Little, the newly elected president of the Freeholders Association, said he is 100 percent in favor of incorporation.

"The drive residents do not want this area to become another Miami Beach or Ft. Lauderdale with one hotel on top of another and I support that view," he said.

Little urged everybody who lives between Ft. Pierce and Jensen Beach on the drive to attend the Jan. 24 meeting at the Walton Community Center, 7:30 p.m.

Temporary rates

Professional help for garbage

STUART–Martin County commission envisions going to seek professional help in solving the county's garbage collection problems and they hope to have the answers in 90 days.

A temporary collection rate was established Tuesday at a standing room only public hearing on the proposed operation of garbage and waste franchises.

"The committee didn't have professional help," Commissioner Tiner Powers said in reference to the committee which has been studying collection rates and exclusive franchises for haulers.

Commissioners voted to employ the firm of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell and Co., the firm which did the Hutchinson Island study, to assist the committee in coming up with some cost figures.

Powers and Commissioner Ed Gluckler observed that other cities and counties charged lower rates than the ones established Tuesday - $3.50 for curbside service and $5.50 for backdoor pickup.

A spokesman for one hauler said that his company lost $70,000 last year.

This prompted Powers to observe, "If you are losing $70,000 you should your commercial rates."

While commissioners set a temporary ceiling on collection rates plus private citizens may dump two cans of garbage at the landfill free, exclusive franchises were not granted to haulers.

However, if it is proved by the professional study, commissioners may set exclusive franchise areas.

It was evident at the meeting that the people wanted to keep their present haulers.

Commissioner Gluckler said that some haulers are overcharging and that one hauler has been caught dumping in the swamps.

"The committee hasn't solved the problem," Gluckler said.

With professional help, commissioners hope to have a break down of operation costs from each franchised hauler which would be reported during the 90-day study period.

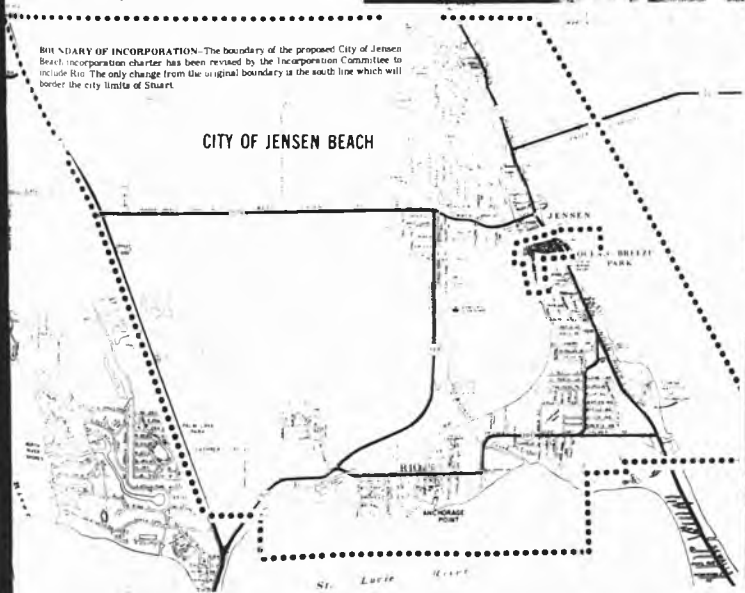
PSL can not join Indian River Drive

WALTON–The newly elected president of the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association let it be known that Port St. Lucie could not qualify to become a part of the drive area.

"They think feel we have substandard roads and run down houses, but it is my opinion the whole concept of the City of Port St. Lucie is substandard," Little said.

Little pointed out Drive residents would meet at the Walton Community Center Jan. 24 to discuss incorporation.

FULL HOUSE–Members of the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association packed the Walton Community Center last Thursday night. Two major issues, the election of new officers and the incorporation study, brought residents out in numbers.



BOUNDARY OF INCORPORATION–The boundary of the proposed City of Jensen Beach incorporation charter has been revised by the Incorporation Committee to include Rio. The only change from the original boundary is the south line which will border the city limits of Stuart.

ROYAL POINCIANA–Dr. Edwin A. Menninger is offering to send seeds with planting instruction to persons willing to plant the Royal Poinciana. Dr. Menninger asks that the interested person send a dime to cover mailing expense. His address is P.O. Box 107, Stuart, 33494.

Garden Club has 23rd anniversary

JENSEN BEACH--The 23rd anniversary of the Jensen Beach Garden Club was celebrated Jan. 16 in Fellowship Hall of Jensen Beach Community Church. A social period, with an anniversary cake being served, followed a program by Mrs. Ella Clark, a teacher of the Environmental Studies Center, telling of the work of children in grades one through eight.

Mrs. Lyall Bowen was accepted into membership. There were 43 members and two guests, Mrs. Grace Hammond and Mrs. Adele Jaycox, present.

Hostesses were Mrs. August Burmester, Mrs. Clyde Hanson, Mrs. John Hosier and Mrs. Carl Houg, president. Mrs. Clyde LeMessurier reviewed the accomplishments of the club since its formation in 1950, including each of the past presidents that were present: Mrs. John Barnwell, Mrs. William Weiss, Mrs. Arthur Mills and Mrs. Fred Morris.

There were five charter members present: Mrs. Jack Best, Mrs. Carl Houg, Mrs. Holger Kristoffersen, Mrs. Fred Peterkin and Mrs. William Vaught.

Auctioneers, Mrs. E.J. Curtis and Mrs. George Sommer conducted a white elephant sale.

The Flower Show will be Feb. 28 in the fellowship hall. Jensen Beach Community Church from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. This will be open to the public both for their possible award winning plants and the viewing of this showing.

Ways and means chairman, Mrs. Cyrus Stoll, announced the club will hold a desert-card party, March 6, in the Jensen Beach Women's Clubhouse at 12:30 p.m. Reservations may be made with her at 334-3223.

Gourmet cooking at Middle School

STUART--Gourmet Chef Andre' Gerard will teach a class in the art of gourmet cooking at Stuart Middle School Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m. The course started Tuesday, Jan. 22.

The ten-week course, sponsored by the Adult Education Department, Martin County Public Schools, features the preparation and serving of foods including party sandwiches, hord d'oeuvres, cake and pastry decorating and garnishes using vegetables and fruits.

The selection, buying and preparation of meats, poultry and fish are emphasized so that families and their guests may eat better for less.

A manual of instructions, written by Chef Gerard, is presented to adults who enroll in his classes.

Class registration is limited to 30 members. Other classes can be set up during the day for any group of 15 or more adults who can furnish cooking facilities.

Should a sufficient number of interest adults wish to form a Gourmet Supper Club, arrangements will be made to meet for a late afternoon class.

Initial meeting and registration for the Gourmet Cooking Class will take place at Stuart Middle School Special Education Building, 400 E. Ocean Blvd.

A registration fee will be charged. A small fee to cover the cost of staples and food prepared and consumed by class members will be required at the time of registration.

For information about this and other adult education classes, call the Adult Education Department weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. at 287-6400.

Cook of the Week

BY RUTH BOWMAN

Brandied Fruit Topping

JENSEN BEACH–Friend-cook Louise Christee knows I am always on the lookout for new and interesting recipes. She has come up with one sent by her daughter, for a fruit mixture to which additional fruit is added from time to time.

The concoction is a luscious topping for ice cream, puddings and cake desserts. Mighty good over broiled grapefruit, too, and it keeps indefinitely. Any kind of brandy can be used, but Apple Brandy is especially good, I hear.

BRANDIED FRUIT

1 cup chunk pineapple
1 cup sliced canned peaches
1 cup sliced canned apricots
1 cup sliced cherries, canned or fresh
1 cup sugar
Brandy to suit the individual

Drain juice. Mix fruits with sugar and any amount of brandy. One cup is suggested. Keep covered at room temperature. Stir twice each week. Every three weeks add 1 cup sugar plus 1 cup of any of the fruits above. Always keep a minimum of 1 cup of mixture to build upon.

This makes an attractive gift, especially when put in apothecary glasses.

We also have a recipe for Curried Fruit to serve as an accompaniment to meats. And at another time we'll print a Hot Fruit Dish which can be fixed the day before, refrigerated, then baked just before serving to 10 or 12 with chicken or ham.

CURRIED FRUIT

1 No. 2 can pineapple slices
1 No. 303 can peach halves
1 No. 303 can pear halves
1 No. 303 can apricot halves
Small bottle maraschino cherries
One-third cup butter
¼ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
3 tsp. curry powder

Drain fruit and dry on paper towels. Melt butter, add sugar and curry. Arrange fruit attractively in a large, shallow glass baking dish. Pour curry mixture over fruit and bake uncovered 1 to 1½ hours at 325 degrees. Serves 8 to 10. Fruit may be cut up, if desired.

If you have a recipe you would like to share, please call me at the office 334-4333 or at my home, 334-4502.

Pet show is Jan. 26

STUART–Children and young people of school age are invited to start grooming their pets for the pet show to be held Saturday, Jan. 26 in Memorial Park on East Ocean Blvd.

The show will be sponsored by the Stuart Recreation Department and there will be no entry fee charged. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded in the following categories: cats, dogs, marine, reptiles, rodents, horses and ponies, and miscellaneous. No poisonous reptiles will be permitted.

According to Jim McMahon, superintendent of recreation, it is hoped this will be an annual event. Categories judged will be further divided as follows:

Dogs – shaggiest, best performed, saddest look, smallest, largest, best dressed, laziest. Cats–sleakest, biggest, smallest, most meowows, longest fur, best dressed and prettiest. Reptiles – meanest, most scales, biggest (volume), smallest, longest and biggest teeth. Marine – Most colorful, biggest, smallest, oddest, rarest. Rodents – twitches nose, prettiest, largest, smallest.

Horses and ponies – best performer, prettiest, most whinnies. Misc – strangest, rarest and funniest.

Persons of all ages are invited to visit the park and view the pet show which is free to the public. It will begin at 10:30 a.m. Those entering their pets should come to the park between 9:45 and 10 a.m. to begin registration. In the event of rain it will be held Sunday, Jan. 27 at 2:30 p.m. with registration beginning at 1:45.

In the mobile home loan program changes acceptability of lot owned by veteran not within a park or subdivision. V.A. regulation 4208 (B) provides that no mobile home purchased with a guaranteed loan may be placed on a lot owned by an eligible veteran unless the lot on need is determined by the V.A. to be an acceptable home site, effective immediately the V.A. WILL ACCEPT AS A SUITABLE MOBILE HOME SITE ANY LOT OWNED BY A VETERAN WHICH IS NOT WITHIN A PARK OR SUBDIVISION, ON WHICH HE PROPOSES TO PLACE A MOBILE HOME.

This is only possible providing 1. no part of the loan proceeds will go into the lot, 2. the lender submits to the V.A. the same certification of the dealer and veteran in respect to such lot as is required by V.A. regulation 4208 (A) 2 (B) in respect to a rental site not within a park or subdivision.

Venture Out News Notes

By Willard Auch

Well, if you missed some of our good reporters reports last week. It was because we had so much news, there just wasn't room for it. We hope to get up to date this week.

We miss Mate Grealing, who does the reporting on the fine finder. For the past week Mate and Bill have been on a cruise on the good ship Tirane, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Olsen, over in the Gulf of Mexico. We are sure they are having a wonderful time.

The Boyd Kitts have returned to V.O to spend the winter months and from the weather reports from the north we are sure all of our regular visitors are glad to be here.

May we suggest again, it is our desire to report all of the news and events in the park and all of our good reporters will appreciate your individual help in gathering and reporting same to them. It takes many hands to get a job done well.

Harry and Betty Sarners got a big welcome on their return for the season. They'll be on Melva and Joe Goodwin's corner lot until Goodwin's return.

Dr. George Gleason together with Vickki and Kevin flew back to Hobart, Ind., Saturday leaving mother Elaine to enjoy V.O. until spring vacation, alone.

Thirty five eager Venture Outers boarded the chartered Greyhound at 5 Thursday to enjoy Joe Lal at West Palm. At 1:30 a.m. on return there seemed much of their pep had ebbed. Heard of no big winners except the bus driver but we were happy for him.

Good to see the park filling up and to know that the gas shortage didn't scare too many.

The John Campbell's returned this week after spending the Holidays in Hobart.

Mary Ellen Meachum reports a little more news to add to the rescue of the cocker spaniel that was reported last week. "Sterling Silver" is owned by Kelly Kyle and just recently won first place at the International Dog Show in Chicago. Kelly is the granddaughter of Mary Ellen Meachum. The whole family wishes to thank Mr. and Mrs. Miller Chveja for the spectacular rescue of the pet.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Worsnop were called home to Long Island for an emergency, but will return this week.

Wilda Wilson reports - Mr. and Mrs. Lund, their son and Mr. Lund's mother arrived on their lot to enjoy our sun for a month.

The Richdale's had to return to their New Jersey home but will be back on the 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith from Myrtle Beach have arrived on their lot. Their daughter and grandson are with them.

George and Emma Carpenter arrived on their lot and expect to spend the rest of the winter here.

Wilda Wilson's brother Leonard Pfabe and his wife Lee have returned after going home for the holidays.

Wilda Wilson reports Mr. and Mrs. Lund, their son and Mr. Lund's mother arrived on their lot to enjoy our sun for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith from Myrtle Beach have arrived on their lot. Their daughter and grandson are with them.

George and Emma Carpenter arrived on their lot and expect to spend the rest of the winter here.

Wilda Wilson's brother Leonard Pfabe and his wife Lee have returned after going home for the holidays.

Millie Middleton reports Gil and Grace Hicks made a trip to the west coast at Ft. Myers to visit Grace's parents. On their return they were pleasantly suprised to find their friends Dot and Joe McNamara and daughter from Massapequa Park. The McNamara's and the Hick's belong to the mid-Hudson Winnie's of New York State as the Hick's were owners of a Winnebago last year. Across from the McNamara's is Helen and Tom Naylor from Pennsylvania, a member of the Keystone Winnie's who know the mid-Hudson Winnie's as the "Crazy Bunch". They had put on a skit that was a real hit in Pennsylvania at their North Eastern Rally. As a result the mid-Hudson Winnie's were invited to rallies in New Jersey and Maryland and are known as the "Crazy Bunch".

Greetings and welcome back to Marty and Phil Cormican from cold Minnesota. They have Marty's mother and stepdad Kelly and Lil Sahl with them enjoying our beautiful weather.

It is nice to have Kay and Jim Gibson with us from Arlington, Va. Their pretty aqua Florida Room looks lovely on Sailfish Drive.

Greetings to Ralph and Margaret Van Vollenburg from Grand Haven, Mich. It was 9 degrees below zero in Mich. when they left there last Monday.

We are happy to have some visitors from Barrie, Ontario. They are Verna and Bruce Sarjeant. They are renting the Cherry lot on Sailfish Drive.

It is nice to have Lani and Ed Weimer down for the winter season.

A memorial service for Bill Ostertag was conducted recently at the Jensen Beach Community Church. Four generations of the Ostertag family were present. Bobbie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith, Bill and Bobbie's children, Gail and Mike Corcoran, and Bonnie and Danny Juettner with their son, five-year-old Timothy. Many close friends also attended the beautiful service.

The words spoken by the minister, Rev. Johnson, and by the Ostertag's close friend, Mrs. Paul Drinkard, truly captured the unique quality of Bill, his marvelous relationships with others and his joy of life. Betty Drinkard's loving recollections of Bill vividly expressed the happy memories his family and friends will always treasure. They emphasized the many ways Bill's dynamic life touched and enriched so many other lives. It was a profoundly moving memorial service, a true tribute to Bill and his example of good cheer, warm friendships and love.

Betty Drinkard and neighbors prepared refreshments for those who had attended the service, which were served in Betty and Paul Drinkards home.

We had a good turnout at bingo Wednesday night, first coverall was won by Jessie Shaver, who also won the champagne. Fran Tener won the second coverall.

Louise Sheppard has returned from her trip, it was shorter than planned but haven't gotten the details as yet.

Hilda and Larry Atkins said good bye to their daughter and son in law this week.

Kay and Bob Smythe said goodbye to their house guests as did Dot and Sam Tucker.

Bobbie Ostertag's grandson Timmy had his sixth birthday while visiting here. Timmy's mother, Bonnie, took up eggueering and decorated an egg in just a few hours. She is a very apt pupil and I enjoyed working with her.

We had a visit from Andy and Dottie Gerard, we sure did enjoy seeing them, they both looked good although they are working very hard to get their new home looking the way they wanted it.

IRCC adds course

FORT PIERCE—A new course, "front office procedure" has been added to the schedule of evening classes conducted on the Indian River Community College Campus. The class is a vital part of the hotel-motel program and provides an overview of the operation of the front office including orientation to the posting machine.

The instructor is Chris Cargin of Outdoor Resorts of America. The class meets on Tuesdays at 8 p.m. in room B-104. The course may be taken at a cost of $8.

For further information and registration details contact the college guidance department.

Osceola Street festival is this weekend

STUART—The second annual Osceola Street art festival will be held this Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 26, and 27 on Osceola St., sponsored by the Downtown Merchants Association. The show will be from 12 to 5 p.m. each day.

All artists and craftsmen are invited to exhibit. Entry blanks are available at the Lyric Theatre Jan. 23 through 25 from 1 to 4 p.m. This will be a judged show and ribbons will be awarded in oil, watercolor, acrylic, graphic-drawing, crafts sculpture and photography.

Kermit Tucker is chairman, Jeanine McClung is co-chairman, assisted by Virginia Spencer, Pauline Goodrich and Arlene Mason.

CKET COOKIES—Girl Scout Junior Troop 137 members Monday started their nual cookie sale and will be offering their $1 boxes of crunchy wafers to the public until Feb 4. These two Scouts, Penny Hostetter, left, and Laurie Hurecke, set up shop at the entrance to the Jensen Beach Bank and later made the rounds of Commercial Street businesses.

Two mills charter is 99 percent ready

JENSEN BEACH—After proposing a millage reduction at Monday's meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee, members reported that the proposed incorporation charter is "99 percent ready."

The committee will meet again Friday, Feb 1, to take a last look at the document before submitting it to the legislative delegation.

Committee chairman Art Hansen proposed that the millage rate be lowered from the original proposed three mills to two mills.

"I think we can get by on two mills," Hansen said, and committee members present agreed.

"I think we have enough equivalence to make up to three mills," he added.

To qualify for state and federal revenue sharing, a city must levy three mills or its equivalence—occupational franchise licenses, building fees, etc.

A legal description of the proposed City of Jensen Beach boundaries is expected to be ready for Friday's session, along with any other additions or deletions.

The committee decided that any emergency ordinance passed by the council would be in effect for only 60 days.

Several updated sections to the charter were considered at Monday's session, points that were suggested at the Jan 21 committee meeting or at the public hearings.

Various points considered include the inclusion of Rio in the boundaries, a letter to the legislative delegation authorizing the millage to be ten mills as required by the constitution. The millage change, if any, would be by the delegation and not the committee.

Also the comprehensive zoning code was included in the charter.

The legislative delegation is scheduled to consider the proposed incorporation charter Feb 15 along with other proposed local bills.

Baseball registration is scheduled

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH—Registration for Junior Baseball League teams will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Feb 2 and Feb 9 at Langford Park fieldhouse.

The first meeting of league officials was held last Thursday night at the fieldhouse to discuss the re-uniting of the Martin County baseball.

Various officials entered the discussion on how to get the teams back together, including Jim McMahon, head of activities at the Stuart Recreation Center.

McMahon, a representative of the Martin County League, said that if any effort could be made toward getting the kids back together it would be worth it.

"It would be good for the boys," McMahon said.

BASEBALL DISCUSSION—The first meeting of the Junior Baseball officials met last Thursday night at Langford Fieldhouse. Registration will be held at the fieldhouse from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Feb. 2 to Feb. 9. Jim McMahon, at the head of the table, of the Stuart Recreation Center, and other officials discussed re-uniting the county baseball.

Hansen carries city to Kiwanis meeting

JENSEN BEACH—Explanation of the responsibilities and advantages of incorporation was taken to the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club Monday as Art Hansen, chairman of the incorporation committee, was guest speaker.

Citing the growth of 30 percent in population from November, 1973 to December, 1974, Hansen used Florida Power and Light Company and Jensen Beach Post Office statistics to make the point that the community of 8,500 people needed self determination by local people elected by residents of the community.

"Now we have one commissioner out of five representing us, and he doesn't even live in our community," Hansen said. "County Commissioner Ross Philbrick represents the first district, and lives on Hutchinson Island, not included in the incorporation effort."

"People say that they want to keep this a small town. There is no way you can keep this a small town. It is already the largest town in the county, but we are not a city.

"Without incorporation we won't have much say over how the area grows. We can't talk with local people in our own community. They will be more responsive," he said.

Hansen, who was chairman of the Chamber of Commerce traffic committee for several years, said that the traffic problems of Jensen Beach are an example of problems not getting solved. The county has been studying and procrastinating on solutions for traffic problems.

"We don't get it done. It's not the commissioner who represents us. It's the system. This is a big county and there are lots of demands. The squeaky wheel gets the grease, but I guess we don't squeak too loud."

Hansen said that the cost of government would depend on the people and "what they want."

"Concern over water and sewage and the cost of municipal plants could be offset. Hansen said, "where our health is affected. Everyone will want it then."

He added that being a city or not won't make any difference except as a city we will have a chance on how and who will do the plans.

Hansen explained that he estimated the city receiving about $35,000 in taxes on the 65 percent of $45 million assessment from district one from the county. That money already paid in 2 mills taxes by residents of the county is used for street lighting, parks and volunteer fire department.

To that, Hansen added $46,000 from state and $10,000 from the federal governments on revenue sharing, and with cigarette taxes, franchise fees and occupational licenses, he expected the city to receive a total of $250,000 for operations.

He listed expected expenses of about $200,000 with $25,000 for fire protection in Jensen and Rio departments, $17,000 for parks, $25,000 for street lighting, $12,000 for a city clerk, $5,000 for contracted streets and road repairs, and an estimated $80,000 for police protection subcontracted from the sheriff's department.

Hall [illegible] that the delegation might remove the three mill cap from the charter in process, as the legislature has indicated that all municipal charters should have the full ten mills allowed by law, but he added that the intent is for the three mill cap, and the elected officials would be asked to pledge that they would observe it.

Harper's timetable would be that the legislative delegation would receive the charter by Feb. 10 for the hearing on Feb. 15. Then, when the legislature passes the charter, a referendum would be held on July 16, with absentee ballots available for those out of town.

The reasoning behind the July 16 date is that the city would need the time between then and the fall tax assessments to qualify to receive budget funding from the tax collector.

Hansen added that he hoped that a two mill tax would be levied in the first year of the city.

Lost report

Minibus survey is planned

JENSEN BEACH—Plans for a minibus mobility survey is in the works and a report on the cost of the study will be made at the Martin County Commission meeting Feb. 12, Commissioner Ed Gluckler said.

Paul Marwick and Mitchell, the firm to make the Hutchinson Island study, will make a garbage pickup study for the county, will make the survey.

"I have given the firm all the information I have on the minibus," Gluckler said.

Commissioner Gluckler has spearheaded a drive to get a transportation system for the county.

He said that the Tampa firm is on the state approved list for the survey. "I see no reason why we cannot receive state aid for the survey."

It was pointed out by Gluckler that a study is needed before state and federal funds become available for a local transportation service.

If the survey shows there is a need for the service, the federal government will pay 80 percent of the cost and the state ten percent and the county ten percent.

If the survey shows there is just need for a minibus for the elderly we will go that route, the commissioner said.

A county wide service will be installed if the survey shows that it is needed, he added.

A Venice, Fla., firm which makes small buses has offered to sell the county minibuses at $10,000 each.

At a meeting two weeks ago with Skillcraft Industries, Inc. of Venice, commissioners were told that about 12 to 14 minibuses would be needed to provide public transportation for the county.

Because of the energy crunch, public transportation is making a comeback," Lee Huston, president of the Venice firm told commissioners.

The energy crisis prompted the commission several weeks ago to look into the possibility of establishing a minibus service.

Commissioner Ed Gluckler has headed a three-man committee of Commissioners Ross Philbrick and John Kiernan, which is studying the problem.

Last week Gluckler conferred by phone with David A. Duffy, administrator in the operations management section of the Division of Mass Transport in the State Department of Transportation.

Gluckler said that Duffy indicated that the consulting firm of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell survey would meet government requirements.

Begins next week

100,000 Sears Classic is attracting top golfers

PORT ST. LUCIE—Qualifying for the [illegible] starting positions in next [illegible] $100,000 Sears Women's Golf [illegible] at St. Lucie will begin next Monday, February 5.

A field of some 30 pro golfers are expected for the 18 hole qualifying round on the St. Lucie Hilton Country Club [illegible] 6,367 yard Sinners Course.

The Sears Classic, Friday through Sunday, February 8-10, is the only event on the pro golf tours which features two rounds of match play with the remaining 54 holders competing in one round of stroke play for the winner's purse.

Fifty-five LPGA golfers headed by last year's leading money winners Kathy Whitworth and defending champion Carol Mann already have qualified.

Final pairing for open round matches will be completed after qualifying.

In addition to Miss Whitworth, who won five tournaments in 1972, other top seeded golfers are No. 2 Judy Rankin; No. 3 Sandra Palmer, No. 4 Betty Burfeindt and No. 5 Miss Haynie.

This year's qualifying round marks a "switch" for 12 professionals. Five golfers, including Shirley Englehorn, Lesley Holbert, DeDe Owens, Joyce Ann Jackson, Peggy Wilson and Sharron Moran, were seeded in last year's event. This year each must qualify.

On the other side, six golfers who were forced to play in a qualifying round last year will be seeded in this weekend's opening round. They include Mary Horner, Robyn Dummett, Mardell Wilkins, Mary Lou Crocker, Roberta Albers and JoAnn Washam. Only Horner, Dummett and Wilkins qualified last year.

'74 Fishing Guide arrives

JENSEN BEACH—The colorful 1974 Resort and Fishing Guide, which is bigger, better and more beautiful than any previous guides, arrived at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Monday morning, Jan. 28.

"We received 25,000 copies," Mrs. Helen Richardson, executive director, said.

"The guides are available to everybody," she said.

The 63-page guide has information about the area, including a map, pictures, stories about the turtles that lay some 600,000 eggs on Hutchinson Island near Jensen Beach.

Joseph T. "Buck" Mauldin, immediate past-president of the Chamber of Commerce, has a welcome message to visitors.

Mauldin points out, "On the pages of this 1974 resort and fishing guide, you will find lists of visitor accommodations, restaurants and merchants."

The 1974 guide, from its beautiful front cover of a typical Jensen scene, to its colored-aerial shot of the area on page 63, provides interesting and informative reading.

IT rezoning request is delayed by county

STUART—A rezoning request by [illegible] Institute of Technology was [illegible] by Martin County Commission [illegible] week.

[illegible]-Forrest Tealey told commission[illegible] that the Jensen Beach school is [illegible] for several types of [illegible]ance, and proper zoning of school [illegible] is a prerequisit for all of them.

[illegible]-acre school site is zoned for [illegible], but FIT is a privately owned [illegible]. The school is seeking zoning [illegible] allows multiple family and [illegible] uses. Most of the property [illegible] immediate vicinity is already [illegible] for this use.

[illegible] County planning staff recommended [illegible] zoning change, but the commission [illegible] to see when the commissioners [illegible] the school sold a 300-foot strip along Indian River to the L. and E. Corporation.

Dean Tealey said failure to win the grants would not mean the school would have to close its doors, but it would have an adverse affect on the programs offered at the school.

Evinrudes again head United Fund of Martin

JENSEN BEACH—For the second year in a row, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evinrude have accepted the positions as honorary chairmen of the United Fund of Martin County.

In announcing their acceptance of the co-chairmanship, Ken Ferguson, president of the UF, said: "We are extremely pleased to have the endorsement again of Mr. and Mrs. Evinrude for the United Fund of Martin County. As leading citizens of our community, we greatly appreciate their interest and cooperation in our fund raising efforts. We are, of course, also extremely grateful for the very substantial contribution they have made to help us reach our goal of $95,000."

The Evinrudes contribution, shares of Outboard Marine Corporation stock, is estimated to have a cash value of close to $5,000. Evinrude is chairman of the board of Outboard Marine Corporation, and Mrs. Evinrude is the former Frances Langford.

Bike trails get support

JENSEN BEACH–Bike routes in the area have the overwhelming endorsement of Jensen Beach Elementary School parents, a survey shows.

"The response was terrific," Principal Dale Clark said Tuesday.

Clark referred to the response to letters sent to parents of the school children.

"We had about 150 replies and most parents thought the bike routes were a great idea," Clark added.

Several days ago the school sent a letter to parents, delivered by their children, with a map of the area showing possible bike routes along the major highways.

Noting the energy crisis, and safety of children as a major concern, the letter to parents stated:

"If ever there was a time–we can look forward to and the speedy construction of many miles of bicycle trails in our county.

"Our map shows some possible bike routes that could serve our schools provide safe access to stores and other businesses, and probably save the need for a bus or two in our area alone.

"If you care to be involved in this project please return the bottom of this page to the Jensen Beach School. Your comments and ideas are most welcome."

"The interest is here," Clark said as he looked through some of the comments by parents.

Clark said that County Engineer Ken Ferrari has a copy of the map which outlines possible routes through Rio, along Indian River Drive, Savanna Road and other roads.

Clark said he hopes that a committee of interested parents and citizens will be organized to move forward with a bike trail project.

JENSEN BEACH–Saturday, Feb. 2 will be steak night at the Anchor Lupe Yacht Club in Rio. Happy hour will start at 5:30 p.m. and dinner will be served from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

The event will be limited to 110 persons, members only.

A board meeting will be held Feb. 14.

First Federal announces promotion

STUART–First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County promotions were announced by Paul Hennings, president, last week.

Hennings said that Harry E. Ennis has been elected vice president and treasurer. He has been treasurer of the association since March of 1973.

Also, Joseph T. Mauldin, Anna M. Larson and Jeanne B. Conrad have been elected assistant vice presidents, and Jane Roberts has been named acting branch manager of the association's Hobe Sound office.

Ennis, a native of Daytona Beach, came to First Federal from Coral gables Federal Savings and Loan Association where he was vice president. At Coral Gables, he specialized in systems work and guided the institution in its conversion to computer operations, according to Hennings.

Mauldin has been branch manager of the association's Jensen Beach office since 1969 and was named assistant treasurer in 1970. He came to First Federal from the First National Bank of Stuart.

A native of Fort Pierce, Mauldin has lived in Martin County since the age of six and graduated from local schools. He attended Gordon Military College in 1966 and 1967. He is a member of the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club, a director of the local Red Cross Chapter and immediate past president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Conrad is mortgage loan closing officer and is in charge of First Federal's loan servicing department. She joined the association in 1963, was named assistant treasurer in 1967 and assistant secretary in 1969.

Mrs. Larson is mortgage loan processing officer and assistant to the loan department manager. She joined First Federal in 1968 and was elected assistant secretary in 1971 after serving as secretary to the managing officer.

Prior to being named acting branch manager in Hobe Sound, Mrs. Roberts was head teller in the the association's main office in Stuart.

First Federal has assets of $72,176,032 as of Dec. 31, 1973. Chartered in 1955, it now is the largest Martin County based depository of savings with $61,165,184 in savings accounts, according to Hennings.

It serves about 12,000 savings customers from three offices in Jensen Beach, Stuart and Hobe Sound.

lliance charter study

January meeting the Conservation Alliance established a committee to the proposed Martin County Charter and promote public interest in the er hearings. The committee has prepared the following questions and answers the layman understand his charter. The charter is still open to amendment interested citizens should make their views known at the public hearing nday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 in the Martin County Courthouse.

Why do we need a charter?
To get a maximum amount of home rule for Martin County.

How does a charter give the county home rule?
With a charter the state legislature cannot pass special acts for Martin County ut a countywide vote.

How is a special act different from other state laws?
"general" laws are for the whole state and cannot be contradicted by a
ter. A special act is a state law that applies to local matters in only one county

How a special act prevail over county ordinances?
sed in counties that don't have a charter. An example is Rotunda's attempt years ago to escape county regulation by getting a special act giving ial powers to their drainage district. The special act was defeated by ng lobbyist to a hearing in Tallahassee. Such local issues should be decided in county, not in Tallahassee.

How long has the Charter Board been working on the charter?
two years.

How did they come up with a proposed charter?
They interviewed county officials and made an extensive study of our present rnment. They compiled all the special acts of the legislature relating to Martin nty and studied relevant state laws and the state constitution. The Charter ard made considerable use of the Model County Charter prepared by the National nicipal League. This model was drawn by the best legal and governmental talent the country, after years of experience. The Board also studied charters from all er the state of Florida.

Did the Charter Board have any expert help?
Yes. The National Municipal League supplied a consultant who has had considerable experience in county government in Florida. The final draft of the rter was reviewed by a lawyer who specializes in county government.

Why do we need to change county government?
The Charter Board made very few changes in county government except to codify ability to make it stronger in relation to state government. The Board felt that rtin County now has a good government. Like a constitution, the charter sets in writing the checks and balances which help keep good government. The rter will also require the county to have a written administrative code which sets n county agencies, their lines of responsibility, and their rules and regulations.

Does the county commission stay the same?
Yes. There will be five county commissioners who serve staggered terms of four ars.

How are they elected?
Each commissioner must be a resident of his district, but commissioners are cted countywide. That means that all the people in the county vote for all five unty commissioners.

Why not elect commissioners by district?
The commission will be dealing with countywide problems and should be sponsible to all the voters.

How are vacancies filled?
Presently the governor appoints a county commissioner if there is a vacancy.
Under the charter vacancies would be filled by the remaining members of the commission.

Does the charter provide for a strong county manager?
While the charter divides the responsibilities of policy and administration, it is not classic strong manager form of government because the administrator must have the approval of the county commission to hire department heads. The county commission will set policy and the administrator will execute it.

Is the administrator responsible for all county departments?
No. Elected officials will not be subject to the supervision of the county administrator. The County attorney will be directly responsible to the County Commission.

Are elected officials abolished?
No. The state offices of sheriff, clerk of the courts, tax assessor, tax collector, and supervisor of elections become county offices under the charter. Each of these officials will be an independent elected department head. Their elected status and independence is protected by the charter and could be changed only by an amendment with a countywide referendum.

Will this cost the county more money?
No. Though they are now state offices, all of their cost are born by the county.

Is the county clerk the same as the clerk of the court?
No. The county clerk will keep minutes for the county commission and will be appointed by the county administrator. The clerk of the court will be an independent elected official handling all the duties of Martin County courts.

Are there tax advantages to the charter?
Streamlining of government and requiring purchasing rules should bring some savings.

Does the charter affect how county laws are passed?
Basic ordinance procedure is set by state general law. However, the charter has filled out the procedure and added extra safeguards. Under the charter no ordinance can be passed without being heard at two separate meetings.

Why are emergency ordinances automatically repealed after 61 days?
Since the county needs the power to meet real emergencies, the emergency ordinance provision should not be used to escape public hearings. If the county does need to keep an emergency ordinance in effect after the initial emergency, it must pass it as a regular ordinance.

Does the charter give the county the right to levy an impact fee?
No impact fee can be levied unless state law is changed. If a proposed state law dealing with impact fees is passed, the charter will allow the county to levy an impact fee.

Does the charter change the county's financial procedures?
It adds some requirements to the present state law. The charter will require a long term capital budget and a yearly independent audit of county finances.

Does the charter give the public the right to recall commissioners?
No. The Board feared that constant harassment by recall petitions from small minorities could paralyze county government.

Does the charter affect annexation by cities?
Not now. The subject of annexation is presently pre-empted by state general law.
If state law changes, charter counties may be allowed to control annexation within their boundaries rather than having it decided by a committee in Tallahassee.

Will the charter keep Jensen Beach from incorporating?
No. The section on incorporation is being rewritten to allow incorporation only if there is a referendum. Jensen Beach plans to have a referendum.

Will the charter allow the county commission to pass countywide ordinances?
Yes. Presently the county can pass ordinances only for the unincorporated area.
In order to pass laws about the public library or the hospital, the county must now get special acts of the legislature.

Will this negate all present city laws?
No. The provision will have no immediate effect on any city laws.

What will happen if the county passes a countywide ordinance which conflicts with a city ordinance?
The most restrictive ordinance will rule.

Is this legal?
Yes. The state constitution mandates that: "The charter shall provide which shall prevail in the event of conflict between county and municipal ordinances."

Will this allow the county to take away Sewall's Point restrictive zoning?
No. Where the county and city ordinance conflict, the stricter ordinance will prevail.

Will this provision allow the county to take over city services?
No. The charter provides in an earlier section that the county can only assume city functions if the city council supports the transfer by a majority vote plus one.

What effect does this provision for countywide ordinances have on annexation?
While the charter cannot directly affect annexation, the practical result will be to discourage any city from annexing property at a developer's request merely to get out from under strict county laws.

How can the charter be amended?
There are three ways to amend the charter.
A. A public petition of 15 percent of the electorate could require the county commission to appoint a charter board to frame charter amendments.
B. The county commission could, on its own initiative, appoint a charter commission to frame charter amendments.
C. The county commission may propose amendments by ordinance.
In all cases amendments must be voted on countywide before becoming part of the charter.

How can I change the charter now?
By appearing at the last public hearing on Wednesday, Feb. 6 at 7:30 in the county courthouse and making comments and criticisms on the proposed charter.

What happens after the last charter hearing on Feb. 6?
At the last hearing the Charter Board must make any amendments and vote on the final form of the charter. The charter then goes to the county commission which sets the date for a special election.

Can the county commission change the charter?
Only by appearing at public hearings. After the last public hearing state law mandates that the commission can only receive the charter and set the election date.

When will the election be?
Sometime in early April.

PUBLIC HEARING—Phillip Thibedeau, far left, listens to a question from Indian River Drive resident, Joe Conville last Thursday night during the first incorporation hearing for Indian River Drive residents. The proposed charter drawn up by the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association, will be presented to the legislative delegation February 21 if approved by residents. The second public hearing will be this Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. at the Walton Community Center.

Second hearing Thursday

Indian River Drive residents hold incorporation hearings

BY DENNIS DOYLE

WALTON—Residents of this quiet riverside community are expected to turn out in full force Thursday night for the second public hearing on incorporation of their seventy year old residential area.

The proposed charter, drawn up by the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association, gathered mixed emotions from residents attending the first hearing last Thursday in Walton Community Center.

Recent zoning changes from nearby communities has made residents more aware of incorporation as a self defense measure to protect the "integrity" of the community.

Phillip Thibedeau, heading the five man incorporation committee, said, "Incorporation will let us govern zoning and not leave it to the pressure of developers and governments who can annex property holders.

"We don't want the encroachment of communities that will push a totally new building concept on us," he said.

Many residents attending last weeks meeting voiced objections in adopting a charter the same as a large municipality. The questions centered around high taxes.

"Where would the money come from to provide police and fire protection and pay a board of commissioners" one resident asked.

Thibdeau explained those would not be added because everyone was receiving adequate services from the county. The commissioners would be unsalaried and the revenue needed to run a city would come from a half-mil tax for the first year.

"What we want is the right to form a city. All we need is a minumal government with minimal services and minimal taxes," Thibedeau said.

Speaking in support of incorporation, Robert Thurston said, "When I first heard about incorporation I was skeptical. Since then I've talked with a man who lives in Sewall's Point. This man tried unsuccessfully years ago to incorporate Hutchinson Island. Look at Hutchinson Island now. If we don't incorporate we'll be in the same mess as the island," he said.

His comment brought applause from the audience.

Other residents who expressed no real support or opposition wanted to know the pros and cons of incorporation.

Thibedeau answered: "We're not here to sell this or push this on you. We want suggestions so we can make this charter agreeable to everyone."

One suggestion came from Bill Adair. He wanted to know why the charter didn't include a referendum when a zoning change is requested. The committee agreed the zoning change in the charter should read: no change can be made without a referendum and majority vote from the residents.

State representative Chuck Nergard, who attended the meeting, advised residents that the legislative delegation would want a certified land survey indicating the boundaries to be incorporated.

Nergard said, "I will be happy to check into it for you."

Heart forum at Lyric on Thursday

STUART—The area's first public forum on heart disease will be presented Thursday, Jan. 31, at 7:30 p.m. at the Lyric Theatre. It will last about an hour and a half.

Dr. Richard Q. Penick of Jensen Beach will moderate the forum, which is presented by the Heart Association of Martin and Palm Beach Counties and Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Featured speakers will be Dr. Ronald Allison, Dr. Lester Archer, Dr. John F. Powers, all local physicians, and Mrs. Marian Wilkie, R.N., in charge of coronary care at the hospital.

'Fishing in Savannas' is Anglers' program

JENSEN BEACH—Martin County Anglers' Club members will see slides and hear comment on fishing in the Savannas by Dr. Walter Stokes at the Monday, Feb. 4 meeting. The 7:30 p.m. meeting is held in the Harris Hole Room of First Federal Savings and Loan Association on Commercial Street.

New officers are now serving. Jack Klett is president, Walt Bowman, first vice president, Lee Schurr, second vice, Rev. Frank Alvarez, secretary, and Ray Owen, treasurer. Board of director members are Bob Crane, John Crawford, Dr. Jim Hanman, Jay Jarrett, Dr. Fred Krauskopf, Bill Newsome, Louise Shepard and Dr. Walter Stokes.

President Klett has appointed committee chairmen: membership, Lee Schurr, nominating, Russ Bolton, program, Al Berninger, publicity, Dan Schmidt III, savannas, Dr. Stokes.

FIRST FISH—State organizers are scheduled to attend the Feb. 2 luncheon of the League of Women Voters of St. Lucie County.

Slated to attend the Holiday Inn luncheon are Sens. Russell Stokes and Phil Lewis and Rep. Charles Nergard.

Ocean Breeze News Notes

BY LETA KEITH
6 Vista Drive

Many of the park residents will remember Harry's little dog Lil Bit as the two were inseparable. Lil Bit would have been 14 years old April 1 but old age caught up with her and she died very peacefully Mon., Jan. 21. Lil Bit was more than just a "little dog". She was Harry's constant companion and gave him lots of comfort during Guenna's long illness.

Let's cooperate and attend the Costume Balls either Tuesday, Feb. 5 or Sat., Feb. 9. There will be prizes for the most original and the funniest each night, refreshments (probably one of Harry's round sandwiches with a round hole in the middle) and skits. Y'all come!

Three of our OBP stage artists, Ruby Wren, Vanita Schneider and Becky Woodruff, performed at the variety show at the Lyric Theatre Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights to a capacity crowd. A variety of talents joined together to give this superb performance for the benefit of the Martin County Association for Retarded Children. Many Ocean Breezers attended and enjoyed every minute of the excellent performance.

Bob Robinson managed the "any doubles" shuffle tournament that was played Thursday and Friday Jan. 24 and 25. In the main flight, winners were, first, Syl Garing and P. Mathy, second, Earl Burbank and Frank McClain; third, Lyal Hall and Ruth Phelps and fourth, Ellen and Fred Failing. Consolation prizes, first, C. Stevens and Vera Falk, second, L. and Lillian Leyshon, third, William Jones and F. Geernickyz and fourth, Ray Reid and C.V. Donnell.

It is not often you find a silver anniverary couple who also spent their honeymoon here.

George and Jane Phillips, married at Malverne, Pa., on Jan. 22, 1949, did just that. They have spent the winters here each year since that time.

Anne Buck and Bessie Theilig were co-hostesses for a party honoring the Phillips. More than 50 neighbors and friends attended this joyous event Jan. 22, from 2-4 p.m. Then, Anne, Bessie and Karl Theilig took George and Jane to the Crow's Nest for dinner that evening.

On Jan. 24, Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips Jr. came from Daytona Beach to help George Sr. celebrate his birthday by taking George and Jane out to the Outrigger for lunch.

Shuffle folks

by Lillian Leyshon

From early morning till late each night, at O.B. shuffle courts a pleasing sight. They push the blocks red, yellow and black, some with a gentle motion, others with a hard whack. With excuses and alibies from gals and gents, about the way, this or that block went.

If you lose on black, the court was red. I'm telling you I should have stayed in bed. In doubles, your partners are always to blame. Why can't we be good sports? It's only a game. You'll meet nice people so very sweet. Folks here, you'll find, are hard to beat.

The tournaments are really great. For those the players can hardly wait. They play to win but all are good skates. Win or lose, all have tricks and tatts. To get you off guard is what they'll try. You do same thing, let them wonder why. Don't be in a hurry and shoot too quick. You can lose out quick as a wink. Have fun at Ocean Breeze Park, you all. Try it, you'll like it, and have a ball.

The annual block party, game and fun time of the Oak Street Gang was once again a successful event. It was an outdoor affair with games at a penny each. There were doughnuts, coffee and home made cookies for sale. With beautiful weather the attendance was great and resulted with $80, mostly in pennies, to be turned over to the Good Samaritan Ambulance Fund.

Maggie Kramer, 94, passed away Friday, Jan. 25, at Springlake Nursing Home, Hobe Sound. She had been a winter visitor here in our park for 18 years. She is survived by her husband, John J. Kramer of 16 Bay Drive, two sons and three daughters, one of the latter being Mrs. Pearl Utter of Stuart.

Funeral services and entombment were in Monroe, Mich.

Frank and Laura McNamara of Buffalo, N.Y. and her sister Marian Hoepflinger of Hamburg, N.Y., are living in Betty Peterson's place on Vista Drive. They have spent other winters in Jensen Beach but this is their first year in Ocean Breeze and they love it.

Nancy White of Missoula, Mont., has been visiting her mother, Arlene Woodruff. Becky and Bob of Hibiscus for ten days.

Irma and Charles Fair have had as guests Deloris and Jerry Knepper formerly of South Bend, Ind. They stopped on their way north. They will be returning to Panama City, Panama Canal Zone, March 1, where Jerry will be manager analyst of computer department for U.S. Govt.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor (Betty) Haughey of Camden, Mich., are spending a couple of weeks with her parents Leland and Mable Waanick of Fourth St.

Mrs. Arthur MacLennon, sister of Freed Tyler, of Vista Drive, had a pleasant flight home to California.

Jacque and Edna Beerott of Pinchney, Mich., called his mother, Gladys, Sunday and said that they arrived home safely Friday night. Sat. night a bad windstorm blew their t.v. antenna and water pump shed over. They began to think that their mobile home was going over too.

It's a boy! After six granddaughters, Howard and Evelyn Hocking of 16 South Fifth are rejoicing because a little grandson arrived in Albion, Ill., to live with their daughter, Mrs. Ed (Lila Mae) Fewell and family. Vince Edwin weighed 8 lb., 3 oz. and has three sisters, Vanessa Ellen, Victoria Eileen and Valerie Elaine.

Louise Fuscon of Fourth St. underwent bone surgery at Martin Memorial Hospital Thursday, Jan. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnie Laich entertained Sunday evening with cocktails and buffet dinner for several couples in honor of their daughter Margie and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Deermount. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Russ Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Johnson, Mr. Bonnie Osler, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Osler and Miss Revis Kavanaugh. The Deermounts and their two children, Cory and Kathy, are from Florham Park, N.J. and are spending their vacation with Margie's parents, Arnie and Edie Laich of Vista Drive.

Rene and Rena Daoust of Spencer, Mass., arrived at their home on Vista Drive, Wed. Jan. 23. The week before they came they had two snowstorms with one foot of snow accumulating. Then followed a freezing rain on top of which made the trees and shrubs look like beautiful crystal but not too pleasant to walk around on nor in.

"Mike" Noel of Pepper has been visiting her sister-in-law and husband, Mrs. Garrett Swaim/mine in Dania, for two weeks. She went across on Alligator Alley and visited a nieve in Naples for two days also.

Fourth 'First Wednesday' program at Jensen

JENSEN BEACH--"Shelter for the Human Animal" is the title of a presentation by local architect Peter Jefferson scheduled for 8 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 6 at the Environmental Studies Center, 306 S. Indian River Dr.

The program is the fourth in the "First Wednesday" series which has been drawing near capacity crowds, according to Jay Jarrett, director of the facility. Jefferson, an environmental planner has received national recognition for his promotion of alternatives to the typical residential and community designs which have been prevalent for decades.

Earlier an associate of noted Miami architect Alfred Parker, he is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He is a registered architect in both Florida an New Jersey and is a member of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards.

Utilizing color slides to illustrate his points, Jefferson will discuss man's psychological as well as physical needs in shelter design. He specializes in what he terms "indigenous Florida architecture" in designing homes to conform to the local climatic conditions.

His approach is exemplified by several Hutchinson Island oceanfront residences and by his "Common Place" business community in Palm City. Composed entirely of "recycled" frame buildings dating back to 1895, "Common Place" will, upon completion, offer two dozen shops, offices and professional buildings arranged around a "commons" or open space. Streets are held to a minimum, and foot paths lead from one structure to another.

The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Outdoor art show at Elliott Museum Sunday

JENSEN BEACH--An outdoor art show will be held Sunday, Feb. 3, on the grounds of Elliott Museum, Hutchinson Island, from 12 noon until 5 p.m.

The exhibit is for students of Mrs. Madelene Rehesser, art instructor for the community services program of Indian River Community College. It is a judged show.

The public is invited.

This is a brief of one of the most facinating and interesting people I've ever had the pleasure of meeting. He is another Will Rogers. Slow and easy going. He's Mr. Hee Haw himself, Archie Campbell. Archie isn't only a humanist, but a humanist in the most admirable sense. He gives more of himself to philanthropy that anyone else. He has just a deep understanding and love for his fellowman. He could be the world's greatest psychiatrist if he so desired. That's also why he's such a great golfer. Archie has all kinds of awards for his multi-talents. Everyone remembers how cleverly he comes across with that hilarious "Rindercella". He writes all of his material, including the love ballads, the religious and moral recitations. He is ready at the drop of a hat, to perform for any cause and people far and near love and adore this gentleman. We are fortunate enough to have his talented son Phil and his beautiful wife, Mary Lynn, here. Phil has the trio that plays so well for us on Thurs., Fri., and Sat. nights at the clubhouse. Come and join in the fun at 8 p.m. Its different and unusual. Archie will return from Texas Feb. 15 where he went to compete on the golf course.

Congratulations goes to one dear little girl, Tracey. Fred Hallett gets a lot of the credit too. Fred has a pet racoon and Tracey entered it in a pet show in Stuart. She won three of the top awards, first for most unusual pet, second for most mischievous, and third for cutest. We had to put a weight on Tracey to hold her down, but Fred was popping the buttons right off his shirt.

The beauty shop will be more private now ladies since Carolyn put up some new curtains.

We can really thank Al Ganz. He is putting in a lot of his time getting ready for Feb. 8 and 9 Minstrel Show. We have a true friend in Mr. Show Business himself, Lenny Ledon. We gave him a phone call needing a few things, he loaned us everything and more himself. We are so lucky to have such a talented person in our midst.

Our barber shop will be opening soon, getting in all the furniture and equipment.

The bridge is going great, thanks to Bill Williams. He works for ORA about 12 hours a day and never says a word. He runs to the bridge to see how things are going then you might catch him going down the highway to check on the telephone men. He's also responsible for those beautiful offices up front, with the white paneling and that deep plush mint carpet. Fine job, Mr. Williams.

Mrs. Florine Magness informed us she will be making a movie with Burt Reynolds. We wish her the very best.

As everyone knows, we had a packed house and standing room only Jan. 19. We were honored with the presence of our own Charles McMahan, Bill Claypool, Randall Henderson, and Jimmy Lineburger. We have some good people on the board of directors. Bill Creighton was elected president, Jim Erskine, Charles Ludwig, Norman Sands, Idel Leger, Randall Henderson, Matt Vogel and Harry Pippner. Here's hoping we get the ball rolling in the right direction.

I met the most wonderful people from Minn. Bernice and Bert Quinn recently returned from a Caribbean cruise and flew to London. Toured England, went to Scotland, and flew to Belfast, Ireland. Went to a lot of interesting places in Ireland by bus. They adored the friendly people in Ireland. It was a 15 day Shriners tour. The men played golf in Scotland. Bernice brought a gold charm from Westminster Abby in England and in Ireland she bought a heavy Irish knit sweater. Wedgewood also. Her hobby is needlepoint and sewing. Bert plays the organ, and loves to fish and hunt. They love our island and are lot owners. They have their daughter Joan and her two children here, Lisa and Susie. Their father, Jack Wallrich, had to stay home in the snow and 20 degree below weather. The Quinn's have a nice son Bob, and he and his two sons will fly down in March. The first time for the grandsons to fly alone. Chip and Danny. Bob plays the drums in a band. Bert Quinn retired from the hardware business.

Russell and Jessie Hass left for their home in Palatine, Ill. the home town of Dowie and Joe Fischer. They are very good friends. Russell and Jessie will be gone for two or three weeks. He is the plumbing inspector for the village, that's why he had to leave here. However they will return to spend another month with us. They have a daughter, Mary, and four grandchildren.

Elmer Bruns had a heart attack and was rushed to Ft. Pierce, but he is home now and recuperating nicely with the help of his wife and wonderful daughter Pammie. We also wish him a speedy recovery.

Yours truly has been running to and fro all the way to Hobe Sound looking at trailers. Holiday Ramblers, air Streams and the like. Let me hear from one and all. Betty Maxwell, Larry and Connie, Gene Waits and Lale at the Port Salerno Country Club. I'd like to thank Mary Jane Brustol for leading the Slim and Trim class for me.

Helen and Elmer Hagen have had three enjoyable weeks with their lovely daughter Corinne Sellow and De Vere and children from the cold country for a visit. All the way from West Ellis, Wisc. They visited Disney World and had a ball. They adore it here. The grandson stayed for another week and Elmer and Kent went deep sea fishing. Kent caught a 39 lb. wahoo, while Elmer a 32 lb. wahoo. Kent was proud as punch and rightfully so. Helen is so proud and happy her very dear friend from West ellis has visited her for a week. Mona Barcome.

We want to welcome back to our circle, Vivian and John Olson. Also Russell and Hazel Seeley. they've been to Hawaii, and I'll go over and visit and let all of you know about their trip in next week's column.

Went to visit Carolyn and Clark at the beauty shop and Carolyn's daughter Tracey's horse died. The only thing they can think happened is that a rattlesnake got to it. Tracey has had this horse since she was seven. it was a gift from her grandparents, Cleo and Bill Pendergast. Needless to say, Tracey is broken-hearted.

We are so independent now in our fabulous resort. We have L.P. Gas and you may drop off you bottles and pick them up later. Isn't it nice to be able to get gasoline on Sunday? How can we be so lucky?

61 percent oppose

River Park annexation issue is laid to rest

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST LUCIE—The River Park annexation issue was laid to rest for the second time in as many years, as the results of a house-to-house survey were compiled.

Fred Johnston, chairman of the annexation committee, reported the findings of the survey to the members of the Port St Lucie-River Park Homeowners Association last Thursday evening at the CESA building.

"Of the residents polled in the River Park area, 60 percent were opposed to annexation while 39 percent were in favor," Johnston said.

"It was a very good representation," Johnston added. "I would say the survey included over 75 percent of the people who live here."

Several members of the association, speaking from the floor, said they had not been contacted and given the opportunity to express their views.

Johnston made it clear at this point, it was evident the residents were not interested in annexation at this time. Even though the survey was not completed, and some residents were not contacted, the majority was opposed to the issue.

"If all those not included in the survey were to favor annexation, there would still not be a sufficient majority to carry this issue to the Port St. Lucie City Council," Johnston added.

"The additional taxes, 3.1 mills, which the people would have to pay was the major reason for the opposition," he continued. "There is not other disadvantage in going into the city."

When the committee prepared to conduct the house to house survey last November, Johnston said at that time it would take a healthy majority favoring annexation before Port St. Lucie Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh would even consider the possibility.

The annexation appeal brought mixed views when it was first aired in mid-1972. At that time, one hundred and thirty eight Port St. Lucie property owners signed a petition for annexation at a meeting of the Port St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Association, kicking off the first public step toward an eventual referendum on the subject.

Mayor Kavanaugh insisted there would be no attempt to annex the unincorporated area until such a referendum was held.

At that time, the unincorporated homes and residents outnumbered the residents and homes of the incorporated area by almost three to one.

This was due to the fact that the River Park area was the first "home area" built when the Gardner (Cowles) Interests established River Park. Later the Mackle Company controlled Port St Lucie and built a "home area" west of River Park and west of the St Lucie River.

The two areas were not included in the original "paper incorporation" of the City of Port St. Lucie.

As the country club community of South Port grew, the city was eventually taken over by that area with most of the residents there.

Now, the City of Port St. Lucie covers the major portion of General Development Corporation property excluding the River Park area. The city virtually surrounds the North Port area with large holdings to the north, west and to the south.

Since that time, the land area has been pretty well filled up by homes, with over 2,500 River Park property owners frozen in by the city.

River Park is governed by St. Lucie County.

Babe Ruth registration Saturday

PORT ST. LUCIE—Registration for the Junior Babe Ruth Baseball League will be held Feb. 2 and 4th at Sportsman's Park on West Prima Vista Blvd.

Registration will be for boys in St. Lucie County who reside south of Midway Road on Saturday, Feb. 2, at 9 a.m. and again on Monday, Feb. 4, at 6 p.m. at the park.

Boys must bring their birth certificates and be accompanied by a parent, whose signature will be required on the application form provided.

To be eligible for participations in the Junior Babe Ruth League, boys must be 13 to 15 years of age, born prior to July 31, 1961, 13 years of age, prior to July 31, 1960, 14 years of age and those born prior to July 31, 1959, 15 years of age.

Although there will be a $15 registration fee, it will not be accepted at the time of registration, but will be handled by the team managers.

Snead to defend title

PORT ST. LUCIE—The biggest golfing event of the four-week Professional Golfers Association session at Port St. Lucie begins Thursday, Jan. 30, when Sam Snead begins defending his PGA Seniors Championship.

The Seniors tourney is 72 holes, and the 61-year old Snead will be defending his title against some top flight players.

Joe Data, a 28-year old assistant golf pro from Deepwater, N.J., won the PGA Match Play championship just concluded at the St. Lucie Country Club. He scored a 4 and 3 victory over Dennis Tiziani in the 36 hole final and won $1,900 for his triumph.

Data birdied the first hole in the morning round and never trailed during the match.

PGA's winter program was the first at St. Lucie Country Club since 1961. The program included educational programs and a merchandise show along with the tournaments which got underway Jan. 9-10.

Golf winners

PORT ST. LUCIE—The St. Lucie Country Club Men's Golf Association held a drop three best holes, apply 5-6 handicap, individual effort tournament on Thursday, Jan. 17.

Winners in Class A were Jim Johnson, Paul Baron, Leroy Culpepper, Paul Lavallee, and Barnes Mingee and Bill Flanagan tied for fifth.

Class B winners A. Bishop, Don Estes, Len Appel, Hons competition Dean Millard and Rudy Boudreault.

Class C winners were Angie Hopper, Ed Spear, John Carroll, Jim Bonnington, Ray Kennedy and Graydon Smith.

Place was by match of cards and 106 players participated.

Not final word

Mayor Kavanaugh disturbed by reverse in fire board decision

PORT ST. LUCIE— The reverse action on the part of the fire board, which obviously put a damper on the proposed new fire station in Port St. Lucie, drew fire from Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh last week.

"Take it as I will never like it and it can be boiled down to one fact, I don't like people to make agreements with me and then start reneging on them," the mayor said.

The chairman of the fire board, George Price, last week claimed the fire board couldn't afford to put a new Port St. Lucie fire station in operation before the 1975 to 1976 fiscal year. He said that because the fire department could not afford to put the new station in operation, it may idle a year, if built now.

"We do not intend to quit cold because of what Price said something," Kavanaugh said. "After all this man has agreed with all the way through from the very beginning. I want more definite information and a more definite decision on the matter. I don't think he had a good reason for reversing the decision."

During the meeting of the fire board, Price produced no budget figures to justify his claims or those of the fire board.

Price said Port St. Lucie had "jumped the gun" when they said the fire station they would build under a lease purchase agreement with the fire board would be ready for the start of the fiscal year this October.

"I think he wanted a station up in his area of the county, Lakewood Park, where he evidently has a lot of interest," Kavanaugh said.

"We told the fire board when we first went to them about a fire station, we didn't come up to argue about White City, Lakewood Park or any other area. We merely told them we needed and wanted a fire station in our area and asked them what we do to get it," the mayor said.

Kavanaugh went on to say the City of Port St. Lucie made them a fine offer as they could ever get anywhere. The city agreed to loan the money to construct the station, give them a 150 x 150 foot piece of land (more if they needed it), loan them the money to construct the station, handle all the bids eliminating the middle man profits, build the station to the specifications provided by the fire board, and also furnish a new, completely equipped rescue unit. The money for the construction was to be repaid by the fire board in three annual payments, interest free, commencing one year after the station was in operation.

"What more could anyone or any group do to encourage it and also produce at the same time the least amount of expense over any one year period to them," Kavanaugh said.

We were also going to look at the building for possible additional space so we could put an ambulance in there," he said.

Kavanaugh went on the say that the statement of Price saying the fire board might not approve of what we would have in the way of plans for the building was ridiculous.

"We were using their plans or would use them, if they would give them to us," he said.

"I am disturbed about this latest decision. We are now taking two or three other avenues, which we are not ready to discuss openly at this time. We are going to have a fire station in our area whether we get it from them or not," Kavanaugh said.

"I don't like people to renig on agreements they make. I don't care whether they like me personally or they don't, when you make agreements you usually try to live with them," the mayor added.

Kavanaugh said he felt this was settled last year and the money for financing the station was supposedly included in their budget. This was the sum and substance of all they needed he said.

The mayor went on to point out there is a $74 million assessed valuation in the south county community which must be protected.

"The whole southern part of the county needs a station, not only us, but surrounding areas down here. It would be a big benefit for everyone and would have helped considerably in fire insurance rates," he concluded.

Lucky Charms choose skit participants

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Lucky Charms 4-H Club chose five girls to be in a skit which will be entered in the county 4-H talent show. They are Jill Padelford, Monica Nilson, Debbie Wagner, Jill Andrews and Kristy Williams. Also selected were Beth Martin, pianist; Caroline Chauvin, narrator; Sandra Householder, costumes; Jane Wood, craft make-up; and Lori Ann Householder, props.

Their selections were made following their club meeting on Jan. 24. During their club meeting Monica Nilson reported on the county club meeting she attended. She announced that Jill Padelford was chosen to represent the Fred Kahoe at the 4-H camp in Gainesville.

The president, Caroline Chauvin, appointed Kristy Williams to serve on the telephone committee.

The following girls gave the program on "Treat 4 - Caroline Chauvin, Beth Martin, Jill Andrews, Lori Ann Householder and Monica Nilson.

Lorann and Sandra Householder were hostesses for the meeting at their home.

Sears Classic attracts top golfers

PORT ST. LUCIE—Qualifying for the nine remaining starting positions in next weekend's $100,000 Sears Women's Golf Classic at St. Lucie will begin next Tuesday, February 5.

A field of some 30 pro golfers are expected for the 18-hole qualifying round on the St. Lucie Hilton Country Club Resort's 6,347 yard Sinners Course.

The Sears Classic, Friday through Sunday, February 8-10, is the only event on the pro golf tours which features two rounds of match play with the remaining 16 finalists competing in one round of stroke play for the winner's purse.

Fifty-five LPGA golfers, headed by last year's leading money winners Kathy Whitworth and defending champion Carol Mann, already have qualified.

Final pairing for open round matches will be completed after qualifying.

In addition to Miss Whitworth, who won five tournaments in 1972, other top seeded golfers are No. 2 Judy Rankin, No. 3 Sandra Palmer, No. 4 Betty Burfeindt and No. 5 Miss Haynie.

This year's qualifying round marks a switch for 12 professionals. Five golfers, including Shirley Englehorn, Leslies Hulbert, Debbie Meagle, Joyce Ann Jackson, Peggy Wilson and Sharron Moran, were seeded in last year's event. This year each must qualify.

On the other side six golfers who were forced to play in a qualifying round last year will be seeded in this weekend's opening round. They include Mary Horner, Robyn Dunnigan, Mardell Adkins, Mary Lou Crocker, Roberta Albers and JoAnn Washam. Only Horner, Dunnigan and Wilkins qualified last year.

Harper edges Snead

PORT ST. LUCIE—Veteran Chandler Harper knocked in six birdie putts to take first prize in the PGA Quarter Century Club championship Sunday on the Sinner's Course at Port St. Lucie.

Harper posted a 5-under 67 Sunday and coupled with his 71 Saturday gave him a 36-hole 138, six strokes under par and two strokes ahead of Sam Snead at 140 and three ahead of Ed Furgal of Miami Shores at 141.

Defending champion Sam Snead came through the turn Sunday with a hot 31 and needed only one more birdie over the last nine holes to tie and two to win.

He never got that birdie, and in fact, lost a stroke with a bogey at No. 14 to finish two behind Harper.

DISCUSSION—St. Lucie County Commissioner Ed Enns, right, discusses the proposed extension of 25th Street in Fort Pierce with Airoso Blvd. in Port St. Lucie which will, when completed, provide another outlet for the area west of the St. Lucie River with Bob Brunton. Enns was the guest speaker at the Port St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Association meeting held last Thursday at the CESA building.

Art course starts at Stuart Middle School

STUART—A class in the fundamentals of art will be offered at Stuart Middle School at 7 p.m. Thursdays starting Feb. 7. Gary Osborne will be the instructor.

The course, sponsored by Adult Education Department, Martin County Public Schools, will begin with a film presentation "Art: What Is It? Why Is It?" by John Canady, noted art historian and critic.

The first half of the 16-week course will deal with basic drawing, perspective, figure drawing, portraiture, still life, and with the use of color.

Individualized instruction in the areas of special interest (drawing, painting or sculpture, will be available during the remainder of the course.

The initial meeting and registration will take place in Art Room 50, Stuart Middle School, High School Ave., next to the Instructional Center on Thursday, Feb. 7.

Students are required to furnish their own materials, and a registration fee of $3 is payable at registration.

For information about this or other adult education classes, call 287-4400 weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

FPL to hold public hearings

JENSEN BEACH--A public hearing will be held by Florida Power and Light Co. at 10 a.m., Feb. 6, to discuss plans for an emergency cooling system at its Hutchinson Island nuclear plant.

The meeting will be held at the First Federal Savings and Loan building in Jensen Beach in the Harry H. Hoke community room.

FPL manager Gene L. Van Curen has invited Martin County commissioners and four environmental organizations.

The company plans to dredge a 700-foot canal from Big Mud Creek, a tributary of the Indian River, to the St. Lucie Nuclear Power Plant to provide cooling water for more than 30 days to permit and maintain safe shutdown.

The primary source of cooling water is the Atlantic Ocean by way of the circulating water intake. The river intake system would be used only if the regular ocean cooling water intake system was blocked or destroyed, according to Van Curen.

Martin County and St. Lucie County conservationists voted to demand a public hearing on the plans FPL recently asked the Federal Environmental Protection Agency and Department of the Interior to delay public hearings on the project until it had the opportunity to meet with the two county organizations and commissioners.

$5.5 million suit is dropped

STUART--Beachwood Villas dropped its $5.5 million damage suit against Martin County, but the way was left open for refiling of the suit.

Beachwood had sued county officials for alleged delays in approval of an 80-unit Hutchinson Island condominium project.

The suit was dropped without prejudice as a result of issuance of building permits.

Dropping the suit without prejudice leaves the door open for another suit on the issue.

Although the suit was filed in June, the issue of the alleged delays never reached trial. Instead, all court action revolved around Florida's Government in the Sunshine Law, which says all meetings of public bodies must be open to the public.

Attorney Hubert Lindsey was hired by the county to defend the officials, and his challenge of the sunshine law was unsuccessful in courts. Martin County taxpayers have spent about $8,000 for Lindsey's challenge of the sunshine law.

Cook of the Week

BY RUTH BOWMAN

Hot Fruit Dish

JENSEN BEACH–Last week we didn't have room in the column to include a recipe for HOT FRUIT DISH. So we'll offer it now to go along with last week's BRANDIED FRUIT AND CURRIED FRUIT recipes.

This can be fixed the day before, refrigerated, then heated just before serving. It serves 10 to 12 persons and is good with ham or chicken.

HOT FRUIT DISH

1 1-lb. can sliced or chunk pineapple, drained
1 1-lb. can pears, drained
1 1-lb. can peaches, drained
1 1-lb. can apricots, drained
1 1-lb. jar spiced apple rings, drained
1 can seedless grapes, drained
1 stick margarine
½ cup sugar
2 tbsp. flour
1 cup sherry

Melt margarine in saucepan. Add sugar, flour, sherry. Stir constantly over very low heat until thick, about five minutes. Arrange drained fruit in a 2-qt. casserole. Pour sauce over fruit. Heat in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Serve at once. Raisins can be added, too, if we can find them!

Pension payments for non service connected veterans are based on the principle that they have made sacrifices in the national interest above and beyond those required of citizens who did not serve in the armed forces and that the service performed by such veterans entitles them to financial aid in the event they become disabled and in need. The pension program is kept current by Congress adjusting upwards veterans pension payments and income limitation when social security payments are increased.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars recommends that Congress in addition to approving a cost of living increase in the rates and income limitations, liberalize the pension program to assure that no veteran's pension payments will be decreased or stopped because of social security increases or income of spouse.

Being a Navy man, I checked up and found, as many may have already known, the birthplace of the American Navy was in Beverly, Mass., Sept. 5, 1775. A schooner named "Hannah" sailed from this port on that date.

Beverly was the only town outside Boston and its suburb where George Washington established an army post during the Revolutionary War.

The oldest house built in America in 1638 was the Balch House in Beverly. The Cabot House also in Beverly, President Adams honored this town in 1798 by naming as the first Secretary of the Navy George Cabot.

George Washington made a visit to the first cotton mill in America on October 30, 1789 at Beverly.

Auxiliary donates $30,000

STUART–The Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary recently provided the hospital with a new surgical unit which includes several lasting materials for possible use in future surgical units.

Mrs. Catherine Nix, auxiliary president said that a new maching for administering anesthesia arrived this week and is in operation. This was a special donation from the auxiliary to complete the new surgical suite.

The auxiliary also voted at their last meeting to donate $30,000 for the badly needed pediatrics wing for the hospital. Work on this unit will begin in the immediate future.

Mrs. Marti Bryant, awards chairman, presented Mrs. Grace Lewis with a 3,000 hour service pin and reported that 330 volunteers had worked a total of 5,380 hours during the month of December.

The Feb. general meeting of the auxiliary will be held at the First National Bank of Stuart in the community room on Feb. 4 at 1:30 p.m. Guest speaker will be Dean Ernest Tealey of Florida Institute of Technology. His subject will be colleges in relation to the community.

Mrs. Eleanor Haggenson and Mrs. Esther Tiffin will serve as hostesses for the meeting.

Friends of the Hospital Auxiliary Opportunity Shop are asked for donations of salable items. The chairman of the shop said that bric-a-brac and jewelry are especially needed at this time.

Lake Manor News Notes

BY SYLVIA SIMAN
334-4782

Shuffle three time winners were Jack Bell and Harry Beemer last Monday.

Mrs Don Carp was the week's instructor at sewing class. She brought many samples of work part done which was very informative. Many were cutting out at this meeting and so progress is on the way. We are falling short of the required number and so to you who signed up - Where are you ladies?

Wednesday hobby class had 13 in attendance with Sylvia Siman serving refreshments.

Wednesday evening square dancing continues to progress with onlookers enjoying as well as the dancers.

Thursday afternoon bridge had two tables, the usual.

Bingo was called by Al Pieroni and Pat Scriven with a fair amount turning out.

Mil Mullons art class got off to a good start with five attending every Friday at 1 p.m.

Gene Krakaur informs me he and Dick Bradley will canvass the park for the United Fund.

The Warrens will now be renting the Greer mobile, for a stay of another two months.

It is good to see Herb and Clara Burmeister looking so tan after their trip to Key West. They visited several state parks in that area and enjoyed it immensely.

Bill Eastman and Gene Krakaur attended last weeks meeting regarding the J.B. charter and Gene told me it was a fine meeting.

Andy and Ethel Bullock were pleased to have their friends of long time standing visiting with them for several days. Mr and Mrs. James Thompson worked in the same office with Andy when he lived in Scotland. They are from near Pontiac, Mich.

Friends of Bernie and Ken Dubucque, Mr and Mrs. Herwood Prevost from Champlain, N.Y. have rented a cottage for a month on Indian River, so they will be visiting together here at Lake Manor.

We are happy to have Liz Krakaur back from the hospital, also Marion Burke who has just been in for a second time.

All Saints' meeting

JENSEN BEACH—A pot luck dinner was held for 100 parishioners and friends following the service of Holy Eucharist at All Saints' Episcopal Church on Jan. 23. Arrangements for the dinner were made by St. Ann's and All Saints' Guilds.

Fr. Frank Alvarez presided at the annual business meeting following the dinner, and a financial report was made by Ralph Schaalman, treasurer.

Five vestrymen were elected: George Craign, Grace Hansen, Melvin Swensen and Irene Stewart, to serve for three years; Roscoe Philbrick, one-year term. Installation was Jan. 27.

Sunday School superintendent Ben Fulton reported on the excellent growth of the Sunday School and paid tribute to the very fine teachers in charge.

Delegates to serve at the 1974 Diocesan Convention are Melvin Swensen and Irene Stewart, with Wally Fletcher and Art Hansen as alternates. Fletcher was appointed senior warden, Lloyd Chase was elected junior warden.

Fr. Alvarez presented awards for outstanding work within the church during 1973 to Mrs. Paul Tyree, woman's work; Chuck Fulton, youth work to acolyte. Sunday School work to Ben Fulton, and a special award to Rev. Lepore, Deacon of the parish for over a year, giving his time and talent with no remuneration.

Rev. Lepore will continue his studies and will be ordained into the priesthood next year.

Fr. Alvarez also made special mention of the red-robed acolytes who serve with him each Sunday.

Stamp to salute Expo '74

MIAMI—A new 10-cent postage stamp designed by Peter Max will salute the Expo 74 World's Fair and its "preserve the environment" theme. The colorful stamp will be issued April 18 at Spokane, Washington, where Expo '74 opens on May 4 and will run until Nov. 4, according to E.R. Daws, district manager-postmaster of Miami. This is the first World's Fair with an official theme, he said.

Stamp designed Peter Max is the artist who captivated the advertising world in the late 1960s and has since become one of the worlds best known poster artists and designers. This is the first design he has done for the United States Postal Service, Daws said.

Central figure in the design is a male figure Max calls a "Cosmic Jumper", one of the artist's favorite figures in his cosmic period. The figure is shown running through the Max Universe which features animals and other figures representative of the environment. To the right of the "Cosmic Jumper" is a woman's head in profile which Max calls a "Smiling Sage". Centered and separated by a dot beneath the horizon are the words "Expo '74" and "us 10 cents". Across the bottom of the stamp is the message "Preserve the Environment".

The semi-jumbo stamp, printed by the gravure method on the Andreotti press, will be yellow, blue, purple, green and black.

Party, auction set by Wagon

STUART—A dessert card party and silent auction are planned by South Welcome Wagon Club of Martin County for Feb. 1st at Stuart Civic Center.

Garden Club of Stuart plans for flower show, Feb. 23-24

STUART–Mrs. Robert Fenton presented ideas on grooming plants at the Jan. 14 meeting of the Garden Club of Stuart. The Flower Show will be Feb. 23-24 at First Methodist Church, open to members and non-members. Mrs. R. Cecil Johns, chairman of horticulture, will accept entries on Friday, Feb. 22.

President Mrs. James A. Saxton announced that an honorary membership in the local club has been presented to Mrs. Howard Neall of Stuart, for her devotion to the club.

Mrs. Saxton also told of the recent gifts of five hundred dollars each to the Garden Club and to the Audubon Society of Martin County for the benefit of the Possum Long Nature Center.

The Girl Scout Cadet Troop 82 planted seedlings at Pelham Long last week. These will be used at the plant sale in conjunction with the flower show.

Anyone willing to assist these young people may contact Mrs. Jack Hesken, chairman of Junior Gardening.

Mrs. John W. Hussey, chairman of Landscape Design, is also chairman of the plant sale at the flower show. Mrs. Hussey made a request for volunteer help, and for contributions of plants for the sale.

Mrs. C.H. Prescott, chairman of Ways and Means, reported the sale of the several paintings donated by artist Lois Connolly, for the benefit of the club. She also reported a sell-out of the bunches of eucalyptus donated by Mrs. Ing.

Mrs. E.B. Ing, second vice president, introduced the following new members: Mrs. Malcolm N. Crabtree, Mrs. Frederick Lord, Mrs. W.M. Meginniss, Mrs. Webster Rooks and Mrs. Richard Woodruff. Tea hostesses were Mrs. Robert Desmond, chairman; Mrs. Edwin H. Freihofer, Jr., Mrs. Varence T. Penn, Mrs. Max Schoenbrun, Mrs. Allen G. Thomas and Mrs. John S. Wise.

Among the guests present at the meeting were the presidents of three neighboring Garden Clubs: Mrs. Thomas S. Wold, Palm City Garden Club; Mrs. Clyde Le Measurier, Jensen Beach Garden Club and Mrs. G. Lawrence Ashe, Jupiter Island Garden Club.

SPORTS

BY DONNIE WILKIE

The Martin County Tigers survived two big scares but then the odds found them. In winning two out of three last week, the Tigers increased their record to a .667 mark, 14-7.

Gerald Preston had an astonishing performance to the Tigers' win over Twin Lakes High School on Tuesday. Preston, who scored 56 points during the course of the week, highlighted the Tiger win with 32 points.

Al Sutton led all scorers in the game with Leonard. But on neither occasion could the opposition put enough points in the peachbasket to pull an upset.

However, the Pahokee Devils lived up to their name. In jumping to a 47-34 lead, the Devils had built a lead that proved to be insurmountable. Although Martin County outscored the Devils in the third period by a margin of 13 points, Pahokee held on for the victory.

Walter Campbell seems almost 100 percent now, as he is playing normally but is still a little rusty from the off-and-on layoff.

In another top game in the area, Vero Beach, 16-2, edged Fort Pierce Central in a non-conference affair. The game had an overabundance of turnovers and fouls, but it was still a rather smooth contest. In the end, it was a brilliant overall performance by the Indians of Vero Beach which helped them to a 69-61 win. The victory gives Vero a new winning streak of two games. After losing their first game, they ran up 14 straight victories and a tenth place ranking in the state. The streak included an 87-83 double overtime win over Martin County on Dec. 8. But then on Jan. 19, in a return match, MCHS evened the score.

Also, the Martin County Junior Varsity ran up its 34th and 35th wins in succession, but then fell to the Pahokee JV's 71-69 in a thriller. The Baby Tigers have won 130 of their last 133 games.

New entries in Sailfish Tourney

STUART–A 46-lb. white marlin, caught by Jessee C. Taylor, Jr. of Lakeland, is one of the most recent entries in the Stuart Sailfish Club's winter tournament. The fish was caught aboard the Mar-Har II with Capt. Steve Hicks.

A 7-ft. 11-in. sailfish has been entered in the men's division. It was caught by Donald Cox of Woodsport, N.Y. while fishing aboard the Tena Bon with Capt. Jack Bonert.

Gasoline crisis hits Jensen

JENSEN BEACH–The gasoline crisis in Jensen Beach is very real, a check of service stations Monday showed.

Most stations closed its pumps by 10:45 a.m. out of its daily allotment, other stations had "no gas" signs posted before that time.

Of the stations where the daily allotment was gone, a number of motorists were turned away.

Art Riles of Jensen Texaco said, "We closed our pumps down at 10:45 a.m. We're limiting down my pumps." Riles said his February allotment is gone in five days a week," he said.

At Hobe Sound the lines were long and the pumps were pumping 2,500 gallons an hour.

"I've been told what our allotment will be," Butch Arnold said.

Arnold was in line last Friday at 1:45 p.m. and Thursday we were out of gasoline.

Arnold said at the Snook Nook Restaurant, "I'm watching down his pumps at Hobe Sound to know what is going to happen," he said.

Arnold said, "We are getting one load a day," Arnold said. The Standard Service Station said, "The 3,000 gallons lasts five to six hours."

"No gas" signs were at Gold Coast Tire Center, and there may not be any February allotment for the Tenneco station.

"My February allotment is based on February sales of 1972 and I wasn't open that year," Clarence Rydell said.

"The station at Hobe Sound may share its allotment with me," Rydell said.

"It could man that there will be 63,000 gallons less gasoline for Martin Countians. "I just don't know what is going to happen," Rydell said.

On the county scene, the Martin County Sheriff's Department received 6,700 additional gallons of gasoline for it's February supply according to purchasing agent Paul Penrod.

Penrod said that the original allotment was 3,335 gallons and the original allotment was based on 1972 figures.

"The 1972 figure is alright if you are standing still, but for an area that is growing like we are you can really get hurt," Penrod observed.

Penrod said that county has adequate amount of gasoline for its vehicles.

"If we are careful we can get by," Commissioner Ed Gluckler said.

LINE–Jensen Beach motorists were lined up to get gasoline at service stations placed a "no gas sign, after pumping their daily allotment. Butch Arnold was one of many service station employees that stayed busy at the gas pumps on Monday, after motorists suffered a long, gasless weekend.

UF campaign over $25,000

JENSEN BEACH–More than $25,000 has been collected in the annual Martin County United Fund campaign, UF President Ken Ferguson said Tuesday.

"We have $22,500 in interest-bearing banking accounts and by Friday we will deposit more money in an account to collect interest," Ferguson said.

"The response we've had in letters returned to us so far has been good," he added.

"Monday's mail produced more than $2,000."

Because of a computer failure, only 300 business letters have been mailed, according to Ferguson.

"By the end of the week we hope to have 3,000 business letters in the mail," he said.

This year's goal is $95,000 and Ferguson is confident that the goal will be reached without any extension of the deadline which is two weeks away.

The United Fund campaign will benefit 12 agencies.

ARCHITECT'S PLANS–This is architect Bill Vaughn's sketch of the basement and two-level new Jensen Beach Bank, and construction on the ultra-banking facility is expected to start shortly.

Architects drawing

Jensen Beach Bank plans are announced

JENSEN BEACH–Plans for an ultra-modern banking facility were announced by the Jensen Beach Bank Tuesday, and turning of the first spade of dirt getting construction under way is expected in about three months.

The 21,000 sq. ft. structure with a basement and two levels will be located on the south side of Commercial Street just west of Florida East Coast Railroad tracks.

"We will have two lobbies and the basement will be a working area," Jack Davis, bank vice president, said.

The building will be designed for future expansion, and the new bank will give us five times more area than we presently have," Davis said.

"We will have ample parking space plus drive up and walk up windows and have entrances on Skyline Drive and Commercial Street."

Davis pointed out that the location is a high point in the area a beautiful location for the facility, and the glassed-in east side will over look the Indian River.

Bill Vaught is the architect and Davis pointed out that he designed the Boca Raton bank, a multi-level facility.

"We will have a facility to serve the people and it will be an asset to the community," Davis added.

The bank won rezoning of the 6.9 acres last May from B-1 business and R-3A residential to HB-1 limited business at a Planning Board hearing.

Bank officials presented the plans including traffic flow and proposed green areas to the County Commission May 16.

The county recommended Skyline Drive entrances as well as the Commercial Street entrance and the bank offered to donate a strip of land of some 25 feet for another traffic lane on Commercial Street. That offer was made to the commissioners at the May meeting when traffic plans for the area were discussed.

Indian River Drive incorporation issue stalled

BY BUCE HICKEY

[illegible] snags, and the funds [illegible] them out, ended the [illegible] the incorporation [illegible] Indian River Drive [illegible] ation last week when [illegible] decided to postpone the [illegible] the charter to the [illegible] session until next year.

[illegible] was made by [illegible] president of the [illegible] Drive residents, who [illegible] Walton Community [illegible] for the second public [illegible] proposed incorporation [illegible].

[illegible] there was less than two [illegible] before the St. Lucie [illegible] delegation would [illegible]. This does not allow [illegible] time to have this charter [illegible] presentation."

"As of today," Little continued, "the committee has been unable to locate an attorney who will take this charter clean it up by verifying the legal points, and have it ready by the deadline date of Feb. 7."

"Secondly, to meet the guidelines set forth by the state, a registered engineer must certify the survey of the area to be incorporated. This," Little said, "is almost physically impossible to do in a week and a half."

Phil Thibedeau, who headed the incorporation committee told residents the committee had gone as far as they could without responsible legal opinions.

"These legal services will cost money, money which the association does not have at this time," he said, explaining the committee members had borne all the expenses incurred thus far.

"We feel we have reached the point of no return, but rather that then ask you to donate money to proceed under this deadline stage, we would prefer confirmation that incorporation is what you would like to pursue for the next legislative session," Thibedeau said. "Should this be your desire we will take the remainder of this year to prepare a model charter."

Rep. Charles Nergard and the delegation has furnished us with additional material which will enable us to proceed with sharpening up the charter whereby it may be more in line with what you desire," he said.

"I have no doubt we can raise the money and arrange for the legal services and the survey, but it can not be done within two weeks. The one-year delay in submitting the charter will give us this opportunity," he added.

By the same token the delay will also give the drive residents time to study the pros and cons of the incorporation issue more thoroughly.

A show of hands by members of the association indicated their desire for the committee to pursue the charter work and to obtain the legal opinions necessary to smooth out the wrinkles in the working model.

One of the major legal points to be clarified at this time is the actual boundaries of the incorporated area, particularly in regards to what will constitute a contiguous area whether it is, or is not, down along the river extending out to the intracoastal waterway.

Although the treasurer's report revealed a balance of $822.40, the incorporation committee did not feel this money should be used to pursue the project at this time.

Following a motion from the floor, and seconded, that the legal services and a survey could be paid for through donations by the members, Ruth Kramer donated $50 and agreed to serve as acting treasurer of the special fund.

Before the meeting was adjourned, approximately $600 was donated to defray the cost of a survey and obtain legal services.

Rep. Nergard advised the committee to "shop around" for these services and offered his help in any way he could be of assistance.

As one resident put it, "How can we possible make an intelligent decision on incorporation until we know exactly what and who is to be incorporated?"

Another resident, Ralph Houston, also spoke out in favor of pursuing the legal aspects, although at the same time he felt he had not been brought in enough on the discussion of incorporation to really make up his mind. He said that many of the Drive residents were gone when this issue started.

"I am not unconcerned about encroachment of other incorporations on this part of the Drive," he said, "but I am not convinced that incorporation is the way to proceed. I can see large expenses involved in increased taxation as well as other troublesome matters. Perhaps within the next year I can be convinced, and I am willing to be convinced," he concluded.

The incorporation issue was sparked last year following the annexation of 178 acres, located in the heart of the Indian River Drive community, by the City of Port St. Lucie. The annexation was by the request of the property owner Universal Adams, Inc., in an effort to side step local zoning.

Following this action, a five man committee was appointed by the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association, to look into the possibilities of incorporating the drive area to prevent further additional encroachment of their 70 year-old residential community by developers certain to follow.

Members of the drive were given a working copy of the incorporation charter to study at the first public hearing held at the community center two weeks ago. It was originally intended this charter, if approved by the residents would be submitted to the St. Lucie County legislative body when they meet Feb. 7 for review.

State law requires that submission of a charter be accomplished prior to incorporation vote and the legislative delegation meets just once a year.

Approval by the legislature would have given the drive residents the "right" to form a city. The charter would then be returned to the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association.

The act would be ratified only when approved by a majority of those electors voting from within the territory to be incorporated, according to Thibedeau.

The Universal Adams development was stopped last November by the Florida Department of Pollution Control after beginning construction on a wide causeway across some of the savannas wetlands, lands which they had previously agreed to bridge in earlier sessions with the Port St. Lucie City Council.

DEEP THOUGHT–These two members of the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association seem to be engaged in deep thought following the public hearing last Monday on incorporation of the drive community. Pictured above, left, Phil Thibedeau who headed the five-man incorporation committee, and wayne Arnold, a resident of the drive.

64 in match

The one to beat is defending champ Mann

PORT ST. LUCIE–Defending champion Carol Mann is favored to retain her title in this weekend's $100,000 Sears Women's Golf Classic.

Miss Mann will join 63 other LPGA golfers in the first of two rounds of match play Friday, Feb. 8, on the St. Lucie Country Club Resort's 6,347-yard Sinners Course. Sunday, 16 match play survivors will compete in one round of stroke play for more than $66,000 in purses.

Starting times Friday, 8:30 a.m. Saturday, 10:30 a.m. Sunday, 11:30 a.m. A $30,000 satellite for those professional eliminated in match play will begin Sunday at 8 a.m.

Miss Mann won last year's event with a course record of 68. She finished third in 1972 and fourth in 1971.

Fifth-five golfers were seeded in the tournament based upon the LPGA's official earnings list of last year. The remaining nine starting positions were earned through a qualifying round earlier this week.

Open ceremonies for the fourth annual event will begin tomorrow at 8 a.m.

Previous winners include Miss Mann, Betsy Cullen in 1972, and Miss Ruth Jessen in 1971. Miss Jessen was named golf's "Come Back Golfer of the Year" for her victory.

Beach strip dedication Friday

JENSEN BEACH–Another public access strip to the ocean on Hutchinson Island will be dedicated at 4 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8, according to Scott Fletcher.

Fletcher, who was active in the campaign which raised more than $200,000 said the strip will be named in honor of Mrs. Virginia Forrest, a well-known conservationist.

The strip, one of eight will be purchased on the island, is one mile north of the Stuart Public Beach.

Sewall's Point bank granted approval

SEWALL'S POINT–Preliminary approval has been granted to organize a Nation Bank at Sewall's Point under the title of Sewall's Point National Bank, according to a recent announcement by the Comptroller of Currency.

The new facility will be located at the northwest corner of the intersection of Sewall's Point Road and State Road A-1-A. No further announcements were made.

Louise Bruce leads qualifiers in Classic

PORT ST. LUCIE–Louise Bruce of La Mesa, Cal. shot an even par 73 Tuesday to lead all qualifiers for this weekend's $100,000 Sears Golf Classic.

Nine members of the Ladies' Professional Golf Association qualified for the 64-woman field. The top 56 money winners from last year already were seeded in the event, which features two rounds of match play and an 18-hole stroke play final.

Miss Bruce lost a place in the Sears Classic field last year when she was eliminated in a play-off during the qualifying round.

Failing to qualify for the second consecutive year was Patty Berg of Ft. Myers, Fla., the LPGA Hall of Fame member registered a 78 over the windy 6,347-yard St. Lucie Country Club's Sinners' Course.

Louise Bruce's front and back nine were 36 and 38 for a total of 73.

Other qualifiers were Peggy Wilson, who shot a 38-38 for a 76; Gerilyn Britz, shooting a 37-38 for a 75; Kathy McMullen, 38-40 for a 78; Noni Snyder, 39-37 for 76; Cindy Walker, 38-38 for a 76; Maria Astrologes, 38-40 for a 78; and Jan Thomas, shooting a 37-39 for a 76.

Mary Stevens leads high singles with a 683 handicap series in 1972. High game was bowled by Virginia Davenport in 1973 a 225.

There are 40 teams entered for the tournament this year also 64 doubles, 128 singles, 36 scratch all events and 114 handicap all events.

The public is invited to attend.

Coot Bay project denied

STUART—The Martin County Water Management Advisory Board will review the 1,500 unit Coot Bay development on Hutchinson Island.

At a public hearing Tuesday, Jan. 29, the County Commission denied approval of the proposed complex planned for the island near the Elliott Museum.

Commissioners declined to approve either a density for the project on 203 acres or a definite number of dwelling units.

Developers want to build 1,500 dwelling units and a 150-unit hotel plus a shopping center.

Availability of water is expected to determine the size of the development.

"There is no assurance you'll get water," Commissioner Timer Powers told representatives of the development.

Because of its size, the project will have a regional impact and because of that was reviewed by the South Florida Regional Planning Council.

Chamber plans art festival

JENSEN BEACH—Applications are already being received for the eighth annual Outdoor Art Festival sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

The two day event will be March 2 and 3 at Langford Park. It is open to all artists (no crafts), according to chairman J. Ernest Baker.

Deadline for applications is Feb. 22. They can be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce office on Commercial Street.

University Women to meet

JENSEN BEACH—The American Association of University Women will meet at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 11, at the First National Bank of Stuart, and speakers will be Ronald Beckey and Tom Weber.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

SR 707, Tallahassee--HELP!

What prompts public officials to shirk their duties once elected? I've possibly asked myself this question hundreds of times and never really come up with an answer. If I were employed, in private industry, for a certain job and failed to do it, I'd be fired.

This does not seem to be the standards public officials live by. Once in office they forget the promises and duties the office demands. My point in view is the county commissioners whose duties to the public are very diversified.

This brings me to the specific reason for writing this letter. We have a State Road 707 also known as the Old Dixie Highway serving our area, in fact its the only north-south road that serves Rio. As such we are very much concerned with the present, not to mention the future, plight of this road. We have complained time and again of the inadequacy of this road, especially with the influx of tourists to our area. Beacon 21 we are told will have a potential of 1500 people when completed. River Bay, at present, has the potential is unknown. At present there is a Chinese Wall being constructed on the River Bay project. I have been approached by concerned residents, suddenly realizing the closed in condition they find themselves in. Many think they are encroaching on the right of way itself. This is not so, as they are building on their property border.

Had the state, urged by the county, recognized the inevitable widening of the road, set back lines could have been established to the full knowledge of the property owners. Construction could have been avoided with a sizeable saving to the taxpayers. Now it will cost them tenfold to condemn this same property.

Why haven't our commissioners learned this lesson from areas that have experienced this growth? Their answer to this specific road, namely SR 707, is that it is a state road and the county has no jurisdiction. Granted this is so, we feel sure the state would listen if circumstances were spelled out. In our area it is the only road we have, we have no other choice. At one time we were told that the county owned property skirting the railroad tracks for a short distance and was to be used at some time as an alternate to SR 707. I challenge this assertion as construction has already been done on this supposed right of way.

I doubt is any action will be taken by the state, and surely, without the urging of the county commissioners. The county commission is too involved with new developers, especially on Hutchinson Island and forgetting there are people who have lived here for years and paid taxes. To have overlooked services performed by their elected commissioners who now find themselves too busy.

To name a few other bad and dangerous intersections in our area which are being ignored:

1. Causeway traffic at Poor Bob's Restaurant.
2. Commercial Street.
3. Intersection SR 707 & 723 widening of old portion of 723.
4. Intersection SR 707 and Indian River Drive.

There seem to be a feeling of complacency that these conditions will blow away. I appeal to the residents of Jensen Beach-Rio area to lend your voice to these important matters.

Joseph D. Forsberg

To the Editor:

Congratulations to Ken Ferguson to be elected new president of the Martin County Resources Development Board. What Mr. Campbell said in The Mirror January 23, 1974 us true. It's not the same county it used to be three years ago the six years ago for some. Or twelve. The people are pouring in. And in. And are being stacked up in condos all along that always very attractive water. There is not a lot of space between U.S. 1 and the big water. But there are coming to be a lot of people. It doesn't look like it at all stacked up in layers like that. But it does on the stories when you always have to stand in a line to pay for your purchases. I think I'd feel a lot more comfortable if Martin County had left the Development out of their Resources Board.

I'm not against people making a living selling real estate. I wasn't born in Jensen Beach. But like a lot of others, I came here to get away from the city and the crowds and the noise and the dirt and the wall to wall humanity promenking in the park on Sunday. The thing I don't understand is why, if you want to live in a city, you don't move to a city instead of moving to a quiet little spot away from cities and building a city. Well, money I understand. But what about the people who don't want a city. Do they have any rights? What can they do? Martin County doesn't have an Environmental Protection Department as far as I can see. Who is looking out for the quality of life while the hit and run developers, land speculators and hangers on are trying to multiply the quantity of life. Not to mention multiplying the quantity of their wallet stuffings at the expense of the people who came here to get away from it all.

Frankly, I'm worried about Ken Ferguson, no matter what Dick Campbell thinks. Mr. Ferguson is Chamber of Commerce stuff. That means build. Businesses, homes, roads. Expand. Develop. At least it usually does. Maybe Mr. Ferguson is rare. Maybe he realizes Martin County has almost one of the last of its kind of environments in Florida. Maybe he won't just try to copy Miami, Orlando or Tampa. Build his own city. Maybe We'll see.

Yours truly,
Marvin Miller

JBWA hosted 170 at luncheon fashion show

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Women's Association held a luncheon-fashion show at its club house Monday, with 170 members and guests attending. Mrs. Marie Miller was coordinator, assisted by Mrs. Lois Artons, and members of the club served as models.

Prior to the fashion show a specialty number was presented by "Miss Mae West" portrayed by Mrs. Irene Hunter, dressed in wig and all the spangles and feathers. Mrs. Hunter also served as accompanist for the fashion show.

Models were Mesdames Gene Hodges, Eva McCartney, Josephine Bowen, Mildred Jones, Valyn Wells, Elizabeth Mittersbach, Louise Steward, Edna Bennett, Faye Gay, Florence Combe, Eileen McBriar and Lois Frey.

Mrs. Alice Matas was the recipient of the special prize. Door prizes went to Mesdames Hulda Tyler, Amanda McGuire and Gladys Dury.

Corbas and Mrs. Agnes Bond were door hostesses. Mrs. Regina Justi was chairman of the luncheon, assisted by Mesdames Esther Yost, Margaret Barnhardt, Johanne Bruning, Margaret Thompson, Edith Beck, Olive Donaldson, Ethel Kolman, Genevieve Hesaley, Doris Taylor, Marian Hill, Doris Anderson, Mary Hughes, Elizabeth Duffield, Eileen McBriar, Ver Ellis, Mina Wenzl, Madalynne Lillie, Fadina Price and Eva McCartney.

Jensen Beach Women's Association will hold its executive board meeting at 11 a.m. Monday, February 4, followed at 1 p.m. by the regular first monthly meeting.

The group will hold its third annual bazaar, the Valentine Bazaar, at the club house on Sugar Hill Road Friday, Feb. 8, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be many booths offering a variety of handmade items, homemade food and featuring a "flea market". Sandwiches, donuts and coffee will be available.

Part of the proceeds will go to Martin Memorial Hospital for equipment.

Craft classes for East Stuart

STUART–The Indian River Community College and the Stuart Recreation Department are in hopes of forming an arts and crafts program in the East Stuart area. The program will be for all interested adults and classes will be held at the Housing Authority meeting room located on Church Street.

According to Jim McMahon, Supt. of Recreation, Mayor Robert Hall is in hopes of providing some leisure time activities for adults and retired persons during the daytime. Through the cooperation of the college and recreation department classes will be offered free of charge but students may have to provide some of their own materials.

Various craft items such as ceramics, wall plaques, bead work and decorative pieces, will be among some of the items offered. Instructor will be Mrs. Dorothy Kalin, who is presently conducting similar classes in the area.

It was pointed out by McMagon the program is creative and recreational in nature and no grading will take place. Students with all levels of ability will receive individual instruction and attendance is not mandatory. Each person may attend whatever sessions they have time for. In order to form the classes and announce a starting date, 15 students are needed.

All persons interested are urged to register as soon as possible or if further information concerning this program is desired, phone 287-2550. If you are unable to phone, please contact with of the two community leaders assisting with the project, Mrs. Arnold or Mrs. Allen.

Sprague completes recruit training

JENSEN BEACH–Navy Seaman recruit Wayne E. Sprague, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Sprague, 210 Hilltop Court, has graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center at Orlando.

A 1973 graduate of Martin County High School, he is scheduled to report to Hull Maintenance Technician School in Philadelphia.

COFFEE BAR–Crut McKinley, of Granta Furniture, installed the new coffee bar in the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce building. The coffee bar was created by McKinley, and donated by Granta.

Bridge players meet

STUART–wednesday night's Stuart Duplicate session was attended by 44 players. First place North-South went to Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Fergus with 128 points, second were Frank Percuoco and Lucille Stassel with 120, third Lee and Morris Berg with 116½, and fourth a tie between Jack Siegman and Lou Rosse and Ed Sakasaan and Z. Lucas.

East-West winners were Mary Boyd and C. Kennedy with 125, second, Sara Timon and Roger White with 123, third place Ben and Sonia Libson and fourth Bee and Bill Snelling with 119.

Game time is 7:30 P.M. every Wednesday at the Stuart Youth Center. All are invited and a partner is guaranteed.

SPORTS

BY DONNIE WILKIE

Stuart—The common phrase in Stuart nowadays must be "Ho, hum, the Tigers upset another three state ranked team."

That's exactly what happened last week. The circumstances, the entire surroundings, everything indicated that it was the biggest week in Tigers regular season basketball history. "All of the situations probably could never happen again," remarked Tiger Head Coach Don Wallen after his team had made it three straight for the week with a 39-37 win over Pahokee.

In winning the three biggest games of the season, the Martin County Tigers increased their record to 17-7 with four games left. They were to meet Forest Hill on Tuesday night at Forest Hill, and then they will go on to meet Boca Raton in their final regular season home game Friday night. "We've done an awful lot of work to get ourselves in position to share the conference championship, and we don't want to see anything happen to that," Wallen commented when asked about his seemingly easier games this week.

In the game with Lake Worth on Tuesday night, five men scored in double figures for the Trojans, but a late rally by Martin County handed the visitors their first conference loss of the season.

Lake Worth tied the score at 49 with 5:44 left in the heavily contested affair, but from then on the Tigers controlled everything that had to do with the game.

Gerald Preston converted a pair of freethrows, and Tim Howard, Mike White and Russell Holloway added baskets after turnovers, and the Tigers now owned a 57-39 hold on the lead. "This was the turning point," said Wallen. "They never did quite recover."

Leading the Tigers' performance was Russel Holloway, who lead the game's well balanced scoring with 15 points. Right behind him on the scoring block was Tim Howard, who tallied 14.

Then, on Friday night, the Tigers faced one of their state rivals, North Shore, who was in MCHS's conference until the Tigers went 4A.

Despite spotting the Mustangs a 29-14 lead, the Tigers came from behind to upset the number two ranked 3A team, 74-67. After the Mustangs jumped to that 15 point lead, the Tigers got back in the game with a nine point advance before the halp, at which time they trailed 37-31.

With 56 seconds remaining in the third quarter, Tim Howard meshed a field hoal to put the Tigers ahead for good, 51-49.

Pacing the game's scoring was Gerald Preston, who netted a total of 22. Mike White scored 19, while Howard added 16.

Then, on Saturday night past, the Pahokee Blue Devils invaded Stuart, still aky-high after upsetting the Tigers a week before, 89-85, in a run-and-shoot type of basketball game. This game was to be probably the most unique in Martin County history.

The game opened without a mid-court tip off. One of Florida's most promising high school prospects, 6-4 Andre Jones, dunked the basketball during the pre-game warmups, thus bringing on a technical foul before a second ticked off the clock.

A slow first quarter followed, as both teams seemed reluctant to play run and shoot. But what happened in the second quarter, with the score 11-8 was almost unbelievable.

At the outset of the quarter, Martin County controlled the ball, and finally scored to make the score 11-10, still in favor of Pahokee. But then Pahokee stalled. Not an ordinary stall, but an eight minute stall! At the end of the half they made a move to the basket and scored to make it 13-10 at halftime.

"A game like this one is bad for basketball," stated Wallen. "There's a pretty good situation for a riot. If the Pahokee coach (Paul Haiger) can honestly say that he thought that was the only way he could win the game, then he would be justified in doing so. But, I can't see how he could come to that kind of decision. As a member of the State Basketball Committee, we will use this game as an example to others who don't quite agree with us that there is a place for the 30 second clock requiring the team in control of the ball to shoot at least once every 30 seconds each time they gain possession of the ball or else give up possession.

In the third quarter, the Tigers forced Pahokee to play basketball. But until the last 30 seconds of the game, they outplayed the Tigers. With 34 seconds to go, the Tigers trailed by seven. But preasure payed off. With two seconds left in regulation, Tim Howard sunk a pair of free throws to tie the score at 37 all.

For two overtime periods the Tigers held the ball for one shot. In the first one, they failed, but Tim Howard hit from 22 feet in the second overtime period to give the Tigers a 39-37 win.

Poppy Days to be discussed at Legion Post 126

JENSEN BEACH—Plans for Poppy Days, Feb. 15 and 16, will be discussed at the business meeting of American Legion Post 126 and Auxiliary on Monday, Feb. 11. The 8 p.m. meeting will be in the post home. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Those wishing to help with Poppy Days are asked to call chairman Diane Stoll, 334-3223.

The regular covered dish dinner will be held Feb. 25 at 6 p.m. in the post home. The membership chairman will present the program and membership year pins will be presented to members of five years or over.

The post and auxiliary will furnish turkeys, potatoes, gravy, rolls and butter. Members are asked to bring a covered dish, salads and desserts.

County problem

PSL mayor shuns hike in ambulance fees

PORT ST LUCIE—The financial problems of Universal Ambulance Inc are not those of the City of Port St. Lucie, according to the mayor of this south county community.

While Universal officials are to meet with St Lucie County and the City of Ft. Pierce officials this week to seek financial increases for ambulance services Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh takes a firm stand, offering only his sympathy.

"We pay taxes the same as everyone else in St. Lucie County and a great lot of the tax money is going to pay for the ambulance they've got up there," Kavanaugh said. Aside from that, the City of Port St. Lucie guarantees payment for every run they make into the city. Therefore, under these circumstances I feel we are doing our fair share, particularly since we have little direct need for the services," he added.

The mayor went on to say that the City of Port St. Lucie had offered Universal the same agreement for ambulance service we have with the City of Stuart but recently as last October Universal refused the offer.

The agreement with Stuart is that the City of Port St. Lucie pays a flat rate of $1 per month for the right to call on Stuart and also guarantees payment for all runs made into the Port St Lucie area.

According to the most recent figures Mayor Kavanaugh has had access to, it is indicated that close to fifty percent of the runs made by Universal are for indigents living in the City of Ft. Pierce and the county area around the city.

"Each of the county tax money goes for ambulance services and hospitalization for those indigents of those municipalities," the mayor said. "If not very indigent cases in our city, they would be our responsibility, and, we will assume that responsibility. Therefore, it is my opinion the City of Ft. Pierce and the county should do the same," the mayor concluded.

Universal is requesting a $9,000 addition to its $43,800 contract with the county and City of Ft. Pierce, which will expire in October.

County Commission Chairman Willie McCain said that since the city can't afford to pay more for ambulance service, according to Mayor Chuck Padrick the county may be left holding the bag.

At that time, McCain said Port St. Lucie and St. Lucie Village, located north of the City of Ft. Pierce, should pay their fair share.

St. Lucie Village Mayor J. P. Bercome said that less than one percent of Universal's calls are from their area. Therefore we would go along with paying a proportionate share of the increase, one percent, or $80.

Daily first in Derby

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Indianapolis 500 has never mustered up more enthusiasm among race drivers than did the pinewood derby race held last week at St. Andrews Lutheran Church in Port St. Lucie.

Before a packed house, twenty-eight cubs from Pack 499 participated in the annual derby race, which was held in conjunction with the January pack meeting. Cubmaster Tom Hillegas presided over the evenings activities.

Jeff Daily was the first place winner, followed by Billy Moore, second, and Mark Vallejo in third place.

Car kits were purchased and designed by the boys and their fathers. Prior to race time each car was weighed in and checked to see it met all entry requirements.

Daily will receive the first place trophy and ribbons will go to the second and third place winners during the Blue and Gold Banquet to be held at the church on Feb. 23.

$66,350 at stake for 16 finalists

PORT ST. LUCIE—The 16 finalists in this year's Sears Classic will divide $66,350 in winnings.

The 1974 champion will earn $15,000, the same as last year, while the 16th finisher will take home $1,400.

The top finisher in Sunday's satellite will earn $1,150. Also, each golfer who lost her match on Saturday will receive an additional $200. The minimum purse will be $400 for any professional.

In addition to the professional rounds members of the winning pro-am team will split $800.

Gallery will sit on some holes

PORT ST. LUCIE—Four bleachers will be available this weekend for spectators of the Sears Golf Classic of St. Lucie.

The bleachers will be located on the first tee as well as on the 16th, 17th and 18th greens.

As in past years, the 175-yard 16th hole will feature a $10,000 hole-in-one prize as well as three closest-to-the-pin prizes.

64 in match

The one to beat is defending champ Mann

PORT ST. LUCIE—Defending champion Carol Mann is favored to retain her title in this weekend's $100,000 Sears Women's Golf Classic.

Miss Mann will join 63 other LPGA golfers in the first of two rounds of match play Friday, Feb. 8, on the St. Lucie Country Club Resorts's 6,347 yard Sinners Course. Sunday 16 match-play survivors will compete in one round of stroke play for more than $66,000 in purses.

Starting times Friday: 8:30 a.m., Saturday 10:30 a.m., Sunday 11:30 a.m. A $20,000 satellite for those professional eliminated in match play will begin Sunday at 8 a.m.

Miss Mann won last year's event with a course record of 68. She finished third in 1972 and fourth in 1971.

Fifth five golfers were seeded in the tournament based upon the LPGA's official earnings list of last year. The remaining nine starting positions were earned through a qualifying round earlier this week.

Open ceremonies for the fourth annual event will begin tomorrow at 8 a.m.

Previous winners include Miss Mann, Betsy Cullen in 1972, and Miss Hulh Jensen in 1971. Miss Jensen was named golf's "Come Back Golfer of the Year" for her victory.

Ten top winners will play in Classic

PORT ST. LUCIE—All ten of the all-time LPGA official money winners will be playing in this weekend's Sears Classic.

Heading the list is Kathy Whitworth with $488,319. Miss Whitworth, with the addition of $3,750 she won last week in the Burdine's Invitational, can top the $500,000 mark by finishing either first ($15,000) or second ($10,000) this weekend.

Not in the top ten list for the first time is Patty Berg who has earned $187,142 on the tour - mostly during years when the LPGA was playing for smaller purses. Miss Berg is currently listed in the No. 12 position.

All time LPGA Money Winners: 1. Kathy Whitworth (since 1958) $488,319. 2. Mickey Wright (1954) $327,863. 3. Sandra Haynie (1960) $312,828. 4. Carol Mann (1960) $300,853. 5. Betsy Rawls (1951) $290,406. 6. Marlene Hagge (1956) $277,543. 7. Marilyn Smith (1949) $268,319. 8. Judy Rankin (1962) $231,108. 9. Sandra Palmer (1964) $200,044. and 10. Joanne Prentice (1956) $198,741.

Louise Bruce leads qualifiers in Classic

PORT ST. LUCIE—Louise Bruce of LaMesa, Cal. shot an even par 72 Tuesday to lead all qualifiers for this weekend's $100,000 Sears Golf Classic.

Nine members of the Ladies Professional Golf Association qualified for the 64-woman field. The top 55 money winners from last year already were seeded in the event, which features two rounds of match play and an 18-hole stroke play final.

Miss Bruce lost a place in the Sears Classic field last year when she was eliminated in a play-off during the qualifying round.

Failing to qualify for the second consecutive year was Patty Berg of Ft. Myers, Fla. the LPGA Hall of Fame member registered a 78 over the windy 6,347 yard St. Lucie Country Club's Sinners Course.

Louise Bruce's front and back nine were 34 and 38 for a total of 72.

Other qualifiers were Peggy Wilson who shot a 79-35 for a 74, Gerdon Britz shooting a 37-38 for a 75, Kathy McMullen, 36-40 for a 76, Susie Snyder 39-37 for 76, Cindy Walker 38-38 for a 76, Marci Arbuckles 36-40 for a 76, and Jan Thom [illegible]

Drive incorporation issue stalled

BY ALICE HICKEY

BALMS—Legal snags, and the funds needed to smooth them out, ended the organizational time for the incorporation committee of the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association last week when it was decided to postpone the formation of the charter to the legislative delegation until next year.

The announcement was made by Richard Little, president of the association before Drive residents, who had gathered at the Walton Community Center last week for the second public meeting on the proposed incorporation charter.

Opening our there was less than two years remaining before the St. Lucie County legislative delegation would meet, Little said. This does not allow enough time to have this charter ready for presentation."

"As of today," Little continued, "the committee has been unable to locate an attorney who will take this charter, and it up to identifying the legal points, and have it ready by the deadline date of Feb. 1."

"Secondly, to meet the guidelines set forth by the state, a registered engineer must survey the area to be incorporated. This," Little said, "is almost physically impossible to do in a week and a half."

Phil Thibedeau, who headed the incorporation committee told residents the committee had gone as far as they could without responsible legal opinions.

"These legal services will cost money, money which the association does not have at this time," he said, explaining the committee members had borne all the expenses incurred thus far.

"We feel we have reached the point of no return, but rather that then ask you to donate money to proceed under this deadline stage, we would prefer confirmation that incorporation is what you would like to pursue for the next legislative session," Thibedeau said. "Should this be your desire, we will take the remainder of this year to prepare a model charter."

"Rep. Charles Nergard and the delegation has furnished us with additional material which will enable us to proceed with sharpening up the charter whereby it may be more in line with what you desire," he said.

"I have no doubt we can raise this money and arrange for the legal services and the survey, but it can not be done within two weeks. The one-year delay in submitting the charter will give us this opportunity," he added.

By the same token the delay will also give the drive residents time to study the pros and cons of the incorporation issue more thoroughly.

A show of hands by members of the association indicated their desire for the committee to pursue the charter work and to obtain the legal opinions necessary to smooth out the wrinkles in the working model.

One of the major legal points to be clarified at this time is the actual boundaries of the incorporated area, particularly in regards to what will constitute a contiguous area whether it is or is not, down along the river extending out to the intracoastal waterway.

Although the treasurer's report revealed a balance of $822.40, the incorporation committee did not feel this money should be used to pursue the project at this time.

Following a motion from the floor and seconded, that the legal services and a survey could be paid for through donations by the members, Ruth Kramer donated $50 and agreed to serve as acting treasurer of the special fund.

Before the meeting was adjourned, approximately $600 was donated to defray the cost of a survey and obtain legal services.

Rep. Nergard advised the committee to "shop around" for these services and offered his help in any way he could be of assistance.

As one resident put it, "How can we possible make an intelligent decision on incorporation until we know exactly what and who is to be incorporated."

Another resident, Ralph Houston, also spoke out in favor of pursuing the legal aspects, although at the same time he felt he had not been brought in enough on the discussion of incorporation to really make up his mind. He said that many of the Drive residents were gone when this issue started.

"I am not unconcerned about encroachment of other incorporations on this part of the Drive," he said, "but I am not convinced that incorporation is the way to proceed. I can see large expenses involved in increased taxation as well as other troublesome matters. Perhaps within the next year I can be convinced," and I am willing to be convinced," he concluded.

The incorporation issue was sparked last year following the annexation of 178 acres, located in the heart of the Indian River Drive community, by the City of Port St. Lucie. The annexation was by the request of the property owner, Universal Adams, Inc., in an effort to side step local zoning.

Following this action, a five man committee was appointed by the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association, to look into the possibilities of incorporating the drive area to prevent further additional encroachment of their 70 year old residential community by developers certain to follow.

Members of the drive were given a working copy of the incorporation charter to study at the first public hearing held at the community center two weeks ago. It was originally intended that charter, if approved by the residents, would be submitted to the St. Lucie County legislative body when they meet Feb. 7 for review.

State law requires that submission of a charter be accomplished prior to incorporation vote, and the legislative delegation meets just once a year.

Approval by the legislature would have given the drive residents the "right" to form a city. The charter would then be returned to the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association.

The act would be ratified only when approved by a majority of those electors voting from within the territory to be incorporated, according to Thibedeau.

The Universal Adams development was stopped last November by the Florida Department of Pollution Control after beginning construction on a wide causeway across some of the savannas wetlands, lands which they had previously agreed to bridge in earlier sessions with the Port St. Lucie City Council.

Dedication ceremonies planned for Baptist Church Sunday

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Port St. Lucie First Baptist Church at 113 NE Salida Dr. will celebrate its first anniversary Sunday, Feb. 10, 1974.

There will be Bible Teaching at 9:45 a.m., worship at 11, dinner on the grounds at 1, dedication service 2:30, open-house 4-6, church training 6 and evening service at 7 p.m. Revival services will start on Monday, Feb. 11 thru 17. 7:30 each evening with Rev. Jack Nightingale as Evangelist.

In Feb. 1973 the First Baptist Chapel of Port St. Lucie was constituted as an autonomous, independent, Southern Baptist Church. For the past several years the Chapel was under the sponsorship of the Parkview Baptist Church, Ft. Pierce.

The Rev. Ted Place, executive director of Greater Miami Youth for Christ, will speak during the morning worship service. Rev. Place, a native of N.J., is a college and seminary graduate with degrees of A.B. and Th. B. from Eastern Seminary in Philadelphia. He formulated the nationally known Kids' Klub. Ted was pastor of the First Church of Hillside, N.J., for three years, and later served as youth director and sunday school administrator for one of Detroit's leading churches. He is now in his 11th year as executive director of the Greater Miami Youth for Christ.

A basket dinner will be served following the morning worship.

The dedication service will be at 2:30 p.m. Rev. Murray McCullough, Associate, Cooperative Missions Department of the Florida Baptist Convention, will bring the Dedicatory message. There will be open-house from 4 to 6 p.m.

The session for church training will start at 6 p.m., followed by the evening service at 7 p.m. Kin Alsop, coach and athletic director of Westminster Christian High School, Miami, will be the guest speaker. There will be special music by Mr. and Mrs. Rich Surface, Tim Burleson, Ed Tobin and Rich Dixon.

Following the evening service the young people will have a get-together in the youth building.

Feb. 10 will be the introduction to our revival. Rev. Jack Nightingale, pastor of the Inman Park Baptist Church, Winter Haven, will be our evangelist Feb. 11 thru 17. Nightingale was pastor of Westside Baptist Church in Ft. Pierce for eight years and is well known in this area for his preaching and singing ability.

COG proposal is endorsed by mayor

PORT ST. LUCIE--The proposed Council of Governments (COG) moved another step closer to becoming a reality this week with the endorsement of Eugene P. Kavanaugh, mayor of the City of Port St. Lucie.

"I am perfectly happy and willing to combine or coordinate with anybody whose area is contiguous to our city and whose problem might be common to both of us," Kavanaugh said.

The COG was proposed by former Martin County Commission Chairman Tymer Powers.

If accepted, COG would bring together representatives of two counties, St. Lucie and Martin, and the cities of Port St. Lucie, Stuart and Fort Pierce. He cited the need for cooperation in planning for development of North Martin and South St. Lucie Counties and the coordinated planning for the entire length of Hutchinson Island. The four points of immediate concern were outlined as population density, water and sewage, roads and inter-governmental communications.

The COG proposal was discussed briefly last week between Powers and Mayor Kavanaugh. As a result of this meeting, Powers will appear before the Port St. Lucie City Council on Feb. 12 to give a short summary on the proposal.

Although the COG in general received the endorsement of Mayor Kavanaugh, there were several stipulations attached.

"I don't want to dictate to anybody else as to what they can do in their own area, and I don't want anybody trying to dictate to me," Kavanaugh said. "I don't mind combining efforts where combined effort is required or needed. However, when you come within the boundaries of my city where it doesn't overflow into anybody else's territory, then I don't want anyone but our city making decisions on what we do or do not do," he said.

If we find we can set up a criteria and outline the area in which this group can work, making certain its representatives don't go astray by getting involved into other unrelated problems, then I can go along with the idea," Kavanaugh concluded.

Traffic signal cost stops plan

JENSEN BEACH--Traffic signals [illegible] much higher than had been anticipated, have put the brakes on implementing the downtown Jensen Beach traffic plan, County Commissioner Ross Philbrick said.

Estimated cost of signals for four intersections is $25,000," Philbrick said. "That is a lot higher than I had expected," he added.

Signal Company Construction of Jupiter, the firm that supplies traffic signals in this area, made the estimate, according to Philbrick.

"I had hoped to provide traffic signal from Taxing District A (Jensen Beach) but we don't have that kind of money in the district fund," he said.

Because the money will apparently come from the county's Road and Bridge Fund, Philbrick said, "but it is questionable if getting other commissioners to go along with the expenditure."

Plans for intersection traffic signals including moving the present signal at Commercial Street and Indian River Drive to Ricou Street and Indian River Drive intersection. A flashing red light would be placed at Commercial and Indian River Drive.

Philbrick said that flashing red signals bouncing red ball lights would be placed at Ricou and Palmetto Streets and at Commercial Street just west of the railroad tracks.

The plan was to have the bouncing ball lights controlled at the fire station when there is an emergency call.

Philbrick said that it was estimated by the Jupiter firm that it would cost $15,000 to place a signal at the Savanna Road and Commercial Street at the shopping center intersection.

Last November Philbrick along with county engineer Ken Ferrari and Don Copeland, president of the Jupiter company, toured the downtown area and shortly after Jan. 1 submitted estimated signal costs to the county.

About two years ago the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce recommended, after a committee study, a traffic plan that included one way traffic on Commercial and Ricou Streets.

Last year, a county staff study recommended that same plan with one minor change--making two lanes of traffic west and one lane east bound on Ricou Street.

Charter is ready

JENSEN BEACH--After a week of public hearings and at least 12 committee meetings, the proposed incorporation charter for the City of Jensen Beach is ready to be presented to the Legislative Delegation, Chairman Carl Hansen said Monday.

"We are still waiting a survey of the boundaries and a final decision on the tax millage," Hansen said.

"I think we have a charter that hasn't taxed the powers of the council, but it will give the public a voice in the affairs of their government," Hansen observed.

Hansen noted that only a few minor changes have been made in the final draft.

It was pointed out that the power to levy no money issue bonds, etc. was raised from $25,000 to $100,000 during a study year, and that the city planning powers were included in the charter.

Another section was added which points out municipal planning powers for the purpose of promoting the public health and safety and welfare of the community.

One of the main revisions in the proposed charter was the inclusion of a clause. That action by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee came immediately after the public hearings.

Miss Dollard of Rio met with the committee last week, and Hansen pointed out that the committee will be contacted at a later date.

"After Feb. 15 we will do everything we can to inform the people about the charter prior to the referendum on July 1," Hansen said.

"We want to tell the people the costs as will be involved, and the services that can be anticipated. We want to go into some detail about the various advantages of a city," Hansen said.

"We will expand the committee so that we can research the advantages of a city," he continued.

"The various sources of revenue will be researched," he added, "such as franchise taxes, cigarette taxes, building permits and occupational taxes plus federal and state aid."

"We want to get a feeling of the community as to what they want in a city," he said.

More than 150 persons attended the public hearings at Langford Park Elementary, according to Hansen.

"We want to draft the best possible charter so we can have something people can vote on," former county commissioner Frank Wachs observed at the public sessions.

Pat Bradley joins golfing pro ranks

PORT ST. LUCIE--Pat Bradley, who starred in last year's Sears Classic all amateur event, was missing from the amateur field this week for an excellent reason--she qualified for a place in this year's $100,000 professional field.

Miss Bradley won the Championship Flight of last year's all amateur event with a 72 round last year she also was a member of the All American College Golf Team, representing Florida International University.

Two weeks ago Miss Bradley earned her LPGA player's card as she led 38 professional candidates in the organization's qualifying school. Her 54 hole total was 76-78-72--226.

In her first tournament start, she finished 23rd in last week's Burdine's Invitational.

DeVicenzo wins PGA seniors

PORT ST. LUCIE--Playing in his first PGA Seniors Golf Championship, Roberto DeVicenzo fired a six under par 66 Sunday at St. Lucie Country Club to win the title.

The 50 year old native of Argentina, eligible for this tournament for the first time, overtook Julius Boros in the final round to win the title by three shots with a 72 hole total of 13 under par 271.

Boros, who started the final round with a three stroke lead over DeVicenzo, Sam Snead, Pete Cooper and Art Wall, fell to a 72 and shared a second place with Wall at 276.

The victory was the 154th championship for DeVicenzo in a long career that has centered mainly on international competition.

Four birdies on the first six holes of the back nine enabled DeVicenzo to pass Boros and win the $4,000 first prize and the use of a car for one year. Defending champion Snead led after the first round, with a 67.

He lost all hopes of winning his seventh title on the 9th card with by driving into some palmetto trees and took a double bogey six. His 72 gave him a 279 total for fourth place and $1,600.

PSL GOP to elect

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie Republican Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Feb. 7 at 1 p.m.

The club will celebrate its tenth anniversary at this meeting with refreshments of ice cream and cake to be served by Wilda Albert and her committee. The cake will be donated by Frances Lee and the ice cream will be donated by the out going president, Helen Spillar.

The annual election of officers will take place at the meeting with Dr. Claude F. Arrington named the nominated as president of the organization for 1974.

Beautiful Waters plan fashion show

PORT ST. LUCIE--The regular meeting of the Beautiful Waters Homemakers Club will be on St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14 at the CESA building at 1 p.m.

A fashion show of the original styles created by the members will be shown. Mrs. Agnes Bates will moderate and explain the methods, patterns and cost of each garment made by these talented ladies.

Deible wins bird at Gang

PORT ST. LUCIE--Natalie Deible was the winner of the turkey, the main prize at the session of the Friday Nite Gang last week.

A special prize in a box of citrus donated by George Pelton was won by Margi Crisp.

The Gang Snapper had a busy night in registering visitors and first timers.

Visitors recorded were Lee and Eleanor Matson and Ray and Helen Myles of Grand Rapids, Mich. and Grover and Vida Miller from Racine, Wisc., all visiting the Walter Manrows, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anastasi and children from Rochester, N.Y. visiting the Amelius Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin V. Dawidewski from Tewksberry, Mass., visiting the Bill Pratts.

Visiting the Gang for the first time were Jeanne Walters, originally from Hollywood and Cas Moncure, from Bethesda, Md.

WINNERS--Billy Moore, left, and Mark Vallejo were the second and third place winners of the Pinewood Derby races held by Port St. Lucie Cub Scout Pack 488 at St. Andrews Lutheran Church last week. Moore will be presented with a second place ribbon and Vallejo a third place during the annual Blue and Gold Banquet which will be held Feb. 23.

Yacht Club re-elected Johnston

PORT ST. LUCIE--Fred Johnston was re-elected commodore, Grace Cousino secretary, Alice Goldsmith treasurer and Walt Walker board member at the Jan. 22 meeting of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club.

Mike Reeb was elected vice commodore and Jack LaFrance, John Schwartz, Bill Flanagan and Mike Grossman new board members. The slate of 1974 officers was presented by Bill Holzapfel and was unanimously elected by the members. Past commodore John Pugh served as election chairman. The new officers will be installed at the Commodore's Ball April 13 at the St. Lucie Convention Hall.

The installation will be preceded by happy hour from 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7:30, followed by dancing to the 18-piece Joe Moniz band. The dinner menu will feature prime rib of beef.

Tickets are limited to 300 members and guests and may be obtained from Joe and Jen Cornwell, Tony and Caroline De Santis, Ward and Nita Davis, Art and Marge Gerhardt, Mike and Lee Reeb, Fred and June Johnston and the chairman, Nelson and Joanna Howery.

Stuart boys register for baseball

STUART—Boys in the Stuart area who are interested in playing boys baseball should register at the Stuart Sailfish Ball Park Saturday, Feb. 9 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Boys who will be at least eight years old but not 17 by August 1, 1974, are eligible to participate in the program.

If you have not registered and played ball in Stuart before you must have a copy of your birth certificate. Persons who are interested in playing but unable to register on Saturdays may stop at the Stuart Youth Center Tuesday through Saturdays from 3 to 5 p.m. It is emphasized, though, the main registration will be at the Ball Park.

According to Jim McMahon, Supt. of Recreation, all supervision of this program is done by volunteers and many workers are needed. Anyone interested in assisting as a coach, umpire, scorekeeper, working in the concession stand or any other phase of the program are urged to contact Mr. Blake at 287-6738, Mrs. Johnson at 287-7796 or the Recreation Dept. at 287-2550. It was pointed out the group welcomes all help and suggestions anyone might have to offer. Registration fee for the program is $6 per boy.

Plans for the annual Hobby Show to be held in our recreation hall Feb. 26 are almost completed, and all the committees are working hard to make it a success. Nettie Keefer is still asking everybody to search around and find white elephants to give her for the show. All residents in our park can contribute.

At the meeting on Jan. 28, Flora Whitwald, sponsored by the Indian River Community College, Community Services, continued instruction in the use of weaving materials, including pine needles, and we are looking forward to seeing an exhibit of this work at the hobby show. Ironcreuse, knitting, bead work, you name it — we have it.

Nettie Keefer and Helen Krantz were hostesses at this meeting, and the first meeting in Feb. will be hosted by Mary Pyles and Isabel Ware.

Many of our residents continue to gather in our recreation hall every week to play bingo. Nettie Keefer and Nonie Dwyer do the calling and recording, and some people wouldn't miss it for anything.

The first Wednesday in Feb. — the 8th today — is the date for the next pot luck supper which is such a popular event. Joanita Brouillette has promised a movie to be shown after supper, and this will be an added attraction.

Members of the federation of mobile home owners will meet in our recreation hall Feb. 11, and the speaker will be Richard Scoville, president of unit 4.

Ray Barr is home again, and it's a pleasure to see him out strolling.

Alfred Ramsey is back from the hospital but requires treatment.

Al Jay Arndol is presently in the hospital in Vero Beach where he has been joined by John Wild. We look forward to seeing both these men at home again soon.

Joanita Brouillette, our resident instructor is anticipating an art show this year that will be bigger and better than that of last year. She has more students, which means more paintings on display, and from the amount of enthusiasm shown she will get her wish.

The members of Pounds Off meet at 9 a.m. Tuesday and Friday mornings in the recreation hall to discuss diets, and do exercise to music before going for a long walk. Measurements and weights are recorded and losses noted proudly. Every evening at 6:30 they repeat the long walk, and without fail, they are joined by others in our park.

Arts, crafts program

STUART—Local residents and visitors are reminded that the arts and crafts class at Stuart Youth Center is now in session from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Instructor is Dorothy Kalm, a teacher for about 25 years. Her specialty is ceramics, but other crafts may be taught students.

The program, co-sponsored by Indian River Community College and Stuart Recreation Department, is free, but students may have to provide some of their own work materials.

For further information call 287-2550.

IRCC honor students listed

FORT PIERCE—Eight Martin County students at Indian River Community College have been placed on the dean's list for the fall semester.

The honor students include Ronald A. Cirillo, Vincent F. Balardi, Nancy Ann Antonio Lascio Jr., Mitchelle Alexander, Diane M. Kurigin, Dominic Sabino and Leona Nelson.

Woodworking for adults offered at MCHS

STUART—Would you like to build a bookcase? A desk? Or repair an antique chair? Or learn how to use power and handtools safely and correctly? Would you like to learn how to design and plan a project requiring the use of wood?

A course in general woodworking is available for adults at Martin County High School each Monday at 7 p.m.

Emphasis is on project planning, design, and completion of the plan. During the construction phase of the project, instruction is given on the correct and safe use of both hand and power tools. An appreciation for wood and its varied uses is developed.

The course, offered by the Adult Education Department, Martin County Public Schools, is taught by Lawrence Booth, a certified instructor.

Registration fee for the course is $2. Information about this and other adult offerings may be had by calling 287-6400 weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

DAR meeting is scheduled

STUART—The Halpatokee Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet at 11 a.m. Feb. 8 at the Holiday Inn in Stuart.

Mrs. Paul Bryant will be the speaker. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Bill Lear or Mrs. R.W. Martin.

Second exercise class starts

STUART—The Stuart Youth Center will be the scene for a new exercise class to be held each Thursday morning beginning Jan. 31 from 9 to 11 a.m. The program is sponsored by Indian River Community College and Stuart Recreation Department.

The classes will be less strenuous than those held Wednesday mornings, according to Jim McMahon, superintendent of recreation. The Wednesday class will continue as scheduled from 10 to 11 a.m.

Instructor for the class will be Bess Wilson, who has taught for about five years. There is no fee, but ladies are asked to bring a piece of matting or rug as they will have to sit on the floor.

For further information call 287-2550.

Lab program is scheduled

FORT PIERCE—Applications for admission to the Medical Laboratory Technician program at Indian River Community College are now being accepted. This two-year, associated in science degree program prepares men and women to perform the laboratory tests that assist the physician in diagnosis. In addition to lectures and labs at the college, students also attend lab sessions at the area hospitals throughout the semester. Graduates are eligible to take the national American Society of Clinical Pathology Registry exam for MLT's.

For further information, contact MLT coordinator Mrs. Darlene Severson at the college.

The Barn... plus

BY BARBARA GATELY

A very nive lady has been working with 'Carnival' working as costumer, stage hand, wardrobe mistress, props getter, shoulder weeper-on... take your choice. She came in at the very beginning of the tryouts and sat quietly in the back, not saying much of anything

The first gesture was the gift of a box of odds and ends of costumes... the rose to go on the shoulder, the wisp of veiling to be tucked into a bodice, tinsely doodads and more. She accepted the job of wardrobe mistress and she helped make costumes out of the contents of our wardrobe room; told the girls how to walk; bought trimmings to complete costumes others made and, in general, got everything squared away in the clothes department.

I got to talking with her one night and found that Mrs D (she asked me not to use her name) had been in the chorus in the Keith Circuit. Now, how many of you can remember that? Anyway, she went from the Circuit to real honest-to-Pete carnival - and stayed in show business all of her life.

Last night when I tried to find her to get more information about the theatrical background, she had gone home because the doctor had told her to stay on her back for fourteen hours or he would put her in a body cast. People who had talked much more with her told me she had broken her back and had worked too hard on the show and now had to pay for it. How can we possible thank people like that?

Four nice people have volunteered to write my column while I go traipsing around the country. This will be for the duration of the next play. See how They Run. One of the gals said she would like to do interviews of some of the theatre people, which might be fun.

The actors in 'Carnival', at the Barn, heard two of the sweetest sounds possible... enthusiastic applause and the voices of the ushers saying "Sorry, but we have standing room only."

This was Saturday night, the first week-end of 'Carnival', and by the looks of things, the second week-end will be the same. The response to this gay rollicking, sad-happy show has been just great. We aim to please and apparently we have done so. Even if you can't carry a tune in the proverbial bucket, you will still leave the Barn humming "Love Makes the World Go Round" or one of the other songs. 'Carnival' has something for everyone... fun, laughs, smiles, tears, suspense, great singing and lots of downright pleasure for the whole audience. Come see 'Carnival' this week-end, but make sure to make a reservation. Call 287-0878 and avoid sitting on those hard folding chairs for the late comers. Tickets available at Conant Photo, Jensen Beach Travel, Gail Carr's Thimble and Valentine's Try-outs for 'See How They Run' will be held at the Barn on Monday and Tuesday nights, the 11th and 12th at 7:30. June Henderson will direct this very funny comedy. The script calls for three women and six men. Come one, come all - how about some new faces? Lots of jobs, acting and non-acting, and some very juicy parts in this next-to-last play of our season at the Barn.

We are so very proud. In a few, short years, the Barn group, through hard work and help from all kinds of people, have managed to put themselves in the position of being able to burn our mortgage. All of the actors, stage hands, painters and just plain grunts will be notified and invited to our Burn-the-Mortgage-Celebration. More on the date later.

Madeleine Rebeiser had a very good turn out for displaying the works of her students on the lawn of the Elliott Museum. Now, Mrs Rebeiser is about to turn the tables and she is having a one woman show of her own paintings on Sunday, Feb 17, in the same location. You have seen the pupils, now come and admire the works of the teacher.

VFW Post 10066 News

BY GEORGE M. HODGE
SERVICE OFFICER

In the past several years almost $500 million was added to the VA Hospital and Medical Care budgets despite VA opposition to these additional funds. Without this extra money, approved by Congress at the insistance of the V.F.W., the VA hospital system now would be in dire straits. The V.F.W. therefore reaffirms its total support of adequate funding and staffing for the comprehensive VA hospital and medical system, without which veterans disabled in Vietnam and previous wars will not obtain the highest quality medical care Congress intends and veterans deserve, for this reason veterans programs being an extension of the costs of war, should not be subjected to arbitrary across-the-board budgetary and personnel limitations. The V.F.W. will continue its all-out effort for necessary funding for the VA to carry out fully its mission, stop annual cuts in veteran's hospital and medical care, acquire additional hospitals and modernize existing ones where needed.

The V.F.W. is mindful of the statement made by the president when he dedicated the VA hospital at Columbia, Mo. in 1972, which states in part:

"Fulfilling the nation's obligation to its veterans is a matter of justice and national honor. Meeting their medical needs is one of our highest national priorities. To insure that they are met, I intend to maintain and reinforce the independent system of VA health care facilities when and as required."

The V.F.W. is extremely hopeful that the president will live up to this statement and summarily reject any and all proposals of his health planners which would result in ending the VA hospital system.

Americanism vs. Communism

STUART–A course in Americanism v. Communism is the newest offering of the Adult Education Department, Martin County Public Schools, according to Henry A. Childers, director. Taught by Mrs Wanda Yarboro, chairman of the social studies department, MCHS, the course will cover an in-depth study of American and Communist forms of government.

The class meets Wednesdays at 7 p.m. at the high school, SR 76.

The origin and development of Marxism, Leninism, and present-day Communism, together with the interpretations of Mao Tse Tung, will be discussed. The revolutions of Russia, China, and Cuba will be covered.

Several sessions will be devoted to the study of Chinese Communism and its effects on the Chinese culture. The effect of the works and ideas of the writer Sha lonstin on the Communist system in Russia will be studied, and present day affairs which influence and affect our American system of government will also be discussed.

Film strips and 16 mm films will be shown.

Registration free for the course is $5. Adults may register for this and other adult classes at Martin County High School, Monday through Thursday at 6:45 p.m.

For information, call 287-6400 week-days between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

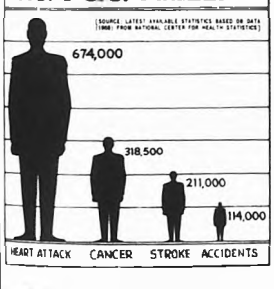
HEART ATTACK -- NO. 1 U.S. KILLER



Dear friends in the Jensen, Port St. Lucie area:

If the above statistics don't convince you to give generously when the Heart Volunteer comes by, then maybe I can.

The reason I am alive today is because the Heart Association supported research which led to the development of the pacemaker.

One out of every two people in the United States will die of a disease of the heart and blood vessels unless more research is done to find causes and cures.

By giving to the Heart Fund, you may very well help save the life of a loved one.

Please give generously to the Heart Fund.

Sincerely,
Al Benninger

Benninger's Heart Doesn't Miss a Beat Thanks to Plutonium-238

Al Benninger is one of the first fifteen patients in the world to receive a Nuclear Powered Pacemaker made by ARCO Nuclear Company and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Last April 9th and 10th, Al became the second man in the world to receive the nuclear powered device. It took the place of the last of four conventional battery-powered pacemakers that had to be replaced every 18 months.

Powered by Plutonium-238, the nuclear pacemaker is expected to last at least 10 years and perhaps up to 20 years.

If my money is as safe in an insured Savings and Loan Association as it is in a bank and earns more money, why go to a bank?

Good question. Best answer is to look at the hundreds of people who have made that decision and then do business where you get the highest return on your money with comparable security.

A wise investor logically invests where he gets the highest return. Do you?

Save where you live.

Beau Rivage learns about emergencies

JENSEN BEACH–The members of Beau Rivage East Association held their monthly meeting on Jan. 28. Sid Gelb, coordinator for the adult division of the Board of Education of Martin County and Civilian Defense, presented a lecture and a movie.

The movie, entitled "How to Save Your Life in an Emergency" showed methods that any can take to save a life. Included was a new treatment for burns, submergence in cold water or application of ice cubes to the burn.

In his talk he urged members to subscribe to either the 12 or 16 hour course which is offered free to a group of fifteen or more people.

Mrs. Goulding gave a report on her attendance at the Conservation Alliance meeting.

A social hour followed the meeting.

SALES DIRECTOR–Wilhelmina Landman has been appointed sales director of Green Turtle Cove, the new Hutchinson Island condominium apartment complex. Green Turtle Cove is just south of the Jensen Beach Causeway on A1A.

PRE-RUMMAGE TEA–An invitational pre-rummage sale tea will be held Feb. 21 at the High Point home of Mrs. Norman Warren for the Pine School rummage sale. The annual sale will be March 3 at the Pine School in Stuart with Mrs. Barbara Meader as chairman. Above, committee members are pictured wearing clothes that will be donated to the sale. From left are Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Reason Lazars, Mrs. Frederick Stein, Mrs. Moreene DePort, and Mrs. Werner Bols. Mrs. Lloyd Dutcher, chairman of the tea, is mailing brown paper bag invitations. The bags are to be filled with rummage and returned at the tea Feb. 21.

JBWA met on Monday

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Women's Association held its February executive board meeting at the club house Monday, Feb. 4, followed by the regular meeting at 1 p.m. There were 91 members and two guests present and the door prize was won by Mrs. Sylvia Rand and Mrs. Marian Hill.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Florence Tyree, Lucille Tyree, Ruth Troger, Dee Lawson, Hazel Standish, Fern Austin and guest Ann Hegna.

Homemakers visit child care center

PORT ST. LUCIE–Members of the Beautiful Waters Homemakers Club of Port St. Lucie visited the Jaycee Child Care Center in Fort Pierce last week.

At that time, Mrs. Herbert Bowen, president of the club, Mrs. William Armet and Mrs. Mathias Helbach presented the center with toys, diaper liners and underwear.

The group also measured the lounge for drapes and shades. These items will be donated at a later date in an effort to beautify the center, according to Mrs. Bowen.

Pinochle off to 'successful start'

PORT ST. LUCIE–Pinochle arrived in Port St. Lucie with a "bang" last Sunday evening at CESA. Walking off with the high score of 452 for the single deck players was Dick Landin. CESA's prexy. A high score of 825 enabled Charles Friedl to carry off the honors for the double deckers.

President Fred Siddons said that a misunderstanding as to the starting time has been corrected. Play will begin promptly at 7 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. each Sunday, and efforts are being continued to obtain Friday evening as an alternate date for play.

Siddons also noted that provision has been made to instruct beginners and those who wish to "brush up."

Garden Club of Stuart to hear flower show

STUART–The executive board of the Garden Club of Stuart will meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday, Feb. 8 in the Community Room of the First National Bank.

The general meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 11, and guests will be Mrs. William J. Cobb and Mrs. Ray H. Friel. Three members, Mrs. Joseph C. Bevis, Mrs. Ed Kirkhart and Mrs. Fred D. Morris, will give their "Interpretation of the Flower Show Schedule."

Bauhinia Circle will meet Feb. 13 at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Frank Reynolds, 133 Pine Lake Dr. There will be a demonstration of flower arrangements and table settings.

Century Plant Circle will not hold a meeting this month, but the members of Jacaranda Circle will meet Feb. 21 at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Gordon Young. Ixora Circle will meet Feb. 14 at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Don O'Kelly on Archipelago. Robert Witty, Martin County Agriculture Dept. gave a talk.

What's Most Important To You?

You & Your Family's Safety or Saving a Little Gasoline?

After studying 162,000 accidents, the University of North Caroline Highway Research Center found, "that the risk of severe injury or death is twice as great when two smaller cars crash than when two larger cars crash."

Ford Motor Company builds more small cars than anyone else in the world and they build them bett[illegible] smaller car, we have them, but we feel that when [illegible] the small savings in fuel against the safety and comfort of our Ford Galaxie and LTD, you'll probably choose the large FORD.

Large used cars are starting to sell at the used car auctions which is a good indication that the market has firmed up. We have practically emptied our used car lot so NOW will be a good time for you to trade your car. Driven properly, our Ford and LTD give amazing economy and they're selling for less than some small cars.

Faced rejection

Rezoning requests withdrawn

STUART–Faced with rejection of their rezoning requests by Martin County Commission Tuesday, representatives of two developments withdrew their petitions.

If the petitions had not been withdrawn, it would have been two years before the developments could have been presented again.

Commissioners gave representatives of Forest River Gardens and Country Pines Estates the choice of rejection or withdrawal. In both instances the development representatives withdrew their petitions.

In the morning session of the commission, commissioners also tabled a rezoning request for a duplex subdivision near Fisherman's Haven on SR 707 in Jensen Beach.

Commissioners gave developers of Brentwood Estates two months to "work out their water and sewer problem."

Brentwood Estates adjacent to the Fisherman's Haven, was seeking rezoning from R-2 and R-3A to R-2A for the purpose of building 64 duplex units.

Commissioner Ross Philbrick said he had received 16 letters from residents in the area, opposing the rezoning.

Commissioners expressed concern about drainage in the proposed developments and the government not ready to provide services.

Brentwood Estates, a proposed 249 single family homes on 123 acres, is south of Cove Road and east of Poulson Road and Kvana Crary Jr. attorney, representing the developer said that "if a person desires to live away from the central service area, that should be their decision and not the government."

The project, according to Crary, is designed for the "young, professional people," and he said that it wasn't fair to compare vehicle traffic to a 249 single family complex to East Ocean Blvd.

WAITING AT THE STATION. Waiting at the service station for gasoline can cause all kinds of problems. You can spend half a day there, run out of gasoline while waiting for a couple of bucks worth of the precious stuff or your battery goes dead. In this case the battery went dead and a worker at Skyline Drive Service Station had to recharge the battery of the man's car.

It had been estimated that the complex would generate 4,000 vehicles per day, and that E. Ocean Blvd generates 5,000 vehicles per day.

In objection the Forest River Gardens rezoning, agriculture to R-3, residential for the purpose of a planned unit development (PUD), commissioners expressed concern about service to the area near the South Fork of the St. Lucie River off SR 76.

While there was some objections by area residents to the proposed 128 apartment complex on 20 acres because of the possible flooding of low land, Levi Johnson, former county agent and resident near the property in question, said he favored the development.

It is time that some condominium apartments move into the area," Johnson said.

Also, commissioners denied a request to vacate a portion of right-of-way near St. Lucie Farms.

County Attorney Steve Calvery advised the commissioners against giving up any right-of-way in the area because of the need for roads in the area and more rights of way will be needed.

Delegation to get Charter

JENSEN BEACH–The proposed incorporation charter for the City of Jensen Beach is ready for presentation to the Legislative Delegation Friday, Chairman Art Hansen said.

Hansen, chairman of the Incorporation Committee of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, said his group held one last session last friday, Feb 8.

"The committee decided to start with a three-mil cap," Hansen said. "And candidates for the council should campaign themselves on a three mil cap."

Hansen pointed out that the three mills would qualify the city for state aid, and estimated that amount of aid at $40,000.

The Incorporation Committee has held several meetings to work out the charter meeting prior and after a week ago, public hearings at the Langford Park Penthouse.

While Rio was not included in the original boundaries the community was included after residents signed petitions asking it be included.

The community Northwood, signed a petition and presented it to the committee at a public hearing asking that its subdivision be excluded.

Hansen pointed out that, "After the Feb 15 hearing, we will do everything we can to inform the people about the charter prior to the referendum on July 15."

BUMPER-TO-BUMPER–Bumper-to-bumper lines of cars are at most of the county's service stations as motorists wait in long lines to get their tank of gas before the station's run out of their daily allotment. This line of cars is on Commercial Street, waiting their trun at the Skyline Drive station.

Donations needed for new fire truck

JENSEN BEACH–Jensen Beach Fire Chief R.B. Spinney is urging Jensen Beach residents for more donations to the department to help pay for a new truck which is expected to be delivered in March.

"We are between $2,000 and $3,000 short of the needed funds to pay for the new truck," Chief Spinney said.

He reminded residents that the department's equipment is paid for by donations. Several weeks ago the chief mailed his annual letters to Jensen Beach residents seeking their annual donations to the department.

ON RIGHT-OF-WAY–The gasoline situation in Jensen Beach and all over the nation hasn't improved and there isn't much hope for immediate relief. This is a line of cars on the west side of the "hill" on Commercial Street.

Bike trail meeting is set

JENSEN BEACH–A Dutch-treat luncheon to drum up support for bike trails in Jensen Beach will be held Wednesday, Feb. 23 at the Jensen Beach Elementary school, school officials announced.

About 30 persons representing local clubs, organizations and mobile home communities will be invited to attend the information meeting.

Last month the school sent out questionaires to parents of school children seeking their comments on the need for bike trails along main roads in the Jensen Beach area.

[illegible] parents responded to the school letters.

A steering committee is expected to be appointed at the Feb. 23 meeting which would inform the public and various communities and organizations that bike trails are needed.

The school sent a map to parents along with their letter showing some possible bike routes that could serve the school, provide safe access to stores and other businesses.

After reviewing the parents letters, Clark said, "The interest is here."

Clark said that he hopes that a committee of interested residents and parents will organize to move forward with a bike trail project.

FP&L tells plans for cooling system

JENSEN BEACH–A Florida Power and Light co. official assured persons at a public hearing last week that water from Big Mud Creek would be used only in an emergency at its Hutchinson Island nuclear plant.

FP&L environmental officer W.J. Borrow of Miami made that assurance at a meeting held at the Jensen Beach branch of First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Some residents of Martin and St. Lucie counties have opposed the plan and at the wednesday session Dr. Walter Adkins of the Martin County Conservation Alliance said the club would consider the issue at its March meeting. Dr. Adkins said that many of his doubts about the proposal had been resolved.

However, Alliance member John Rood said he would like to see a limit placed on the length of time FP&L could pump water from Big Mud Creek, a tributary of Indian River.

FP&L called the meeting as a prelude for a formal public hearing before the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The company will use ocean water for cooling purposes but an Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) 1972 regulation requires for a supplemental water supply for emergencies.

Borrow said that engineers believe ocean water always will be available but the river water would be used to cool two heat exchangers and would use about 29,000 gallons of water per minute.

The FP&L representative pointed out that the river canal wouldn't be large enough to supply all of the water the plant needed for cooling purposes under normal circumstances.

The company first planned to use the Indian River to operate the plant, but conservationists strongly opposed the plan, and the company had to switch to ocean water for cooling its nuclear plant.

Borrow pointed out to the conservationists that he doubted that the regular ocean intake system would completely fail, and assured the group that the emergency intake could not possibly be used as a source of cooling water for normal operations.

Also, AEC requires that the cooling system be tested twice a year, and Borrow said that the company is working on a test procedure that would reduce the amount of water needed to test the emergency facilities from 500,000 to 100,000 gallons per tests.

Martin Heuvelmans, a critic of the corps, said that the canal should never become the source of cooling water for normal plant operations. He pointed out, however, that FP&L gave assurance that the emergency system wouldn't be used for normal use, "then we should give them the green light."

The company hopes that conservation uts will drop their requests for a formal hearing on its applications for the emergency cooling system so they can proceed with the work.

Completion of the plant is set for 1975.

Powers near his COG

PORT ST. LUCIE–It's three down and one to go for Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers in his campaign to get his Council of Government (COG) plan accepted and working.

Taking a short break from his commission meeting Tuesday Commissioner Powers went to the Port St. Lucie Council meeting to explain the COG plan.

The Council raised no objections to COG and is expected to give its endorsement at its next meeting.

Under Powers' plan, COG would be composed of mayors or their representatives of Ft. Pierce, Stuart, Port St. Lucie and Martin and St. Lucie county commission chairmen or their representatives.

Martin County Commission, Stuart City Commission and Ft. Pierce Commission have approved the plan.

Powers said that he would contact St. Lucie County Commission Chairman W.R. McCain today, Wednesday, and set up a meeting with McCain's board.

The veteran Martin County commissioner said he hopes to have an informal meeting of COG representatives March 7 and hopes to have the first formal meeting in April.

Each member of the council would pay $200 a year, and the money would be used for expenses.

"I feel that the benefits to the members will by far exceed any expenses we might have," Powers said.

Powers said that the council would not have any real powers but be a means of communication between the governments of the two counties.

"This council would discuss common problems and try to coordinate actions so one government's movement didn't impede another's."

Powers first proposed COG at the Martin County Commission last December and won immediate endorsement. Since that time he has been meeting with other governmental agencies in the two counties, seeking their backing.

OLD DAYS–Fifth and sixth grade students at Jensen Beach Elementary School had fun this past week remembering and writing about their experiences in kindergarten. The students enjoyed reading the compositions of their classmates. Looking over some of the papers of their classmates are fifth grade students Lamesa Jones and Jeff Claus.

Art Festival accepting applications

JENSEN BEACH–Apparently the fuel shortage is affecting the upcoming Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Outdoor Art Festival.

"Applications are coming in, but mostly local," said J. Ernest Baker, chairman. Usually artists from Miami to Melbourne plus many from out-of-state, register early for the two-day event.

The eighth annual event open to all artists will be Saturday and Sunday, March 2 and 3 at Langford Park. It will run from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. each day.

Applications must be in by Feb. 22. They can be obtained from the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce office on Commercial Street. Entry fee is $2 per artist.

Gab 'N Eatas plan

PORT ST. LUCIE–A Valentine coffee is planned by the Gab 'N Eatas, a social club of Ft. Pierce and Port St. Lucie. The coffee will be Thursday, Feb. 14, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Arthur Coulon, Naranja Ave.

Thirty-six members and four guests attended the recent luncheon at the Sheraton Hutchinson Island. Mrs. Mary Frances Pickerton of Smyrna, Tenn., was a guest of Mrs. George Moor. Mrs. Jane Heard of Syracuse, N.Y., guest of Mrs. Kolleen Andrews; Mrs. Armand Tomlinson of Canada, guest of Mrs. Russell Andrews, and Mrs. Evelyn Nelson of Port St. Lucie.

MCHB COMMITTEE WOMEN–Plans for the ninth annual Martin County Hospital Ball were discussed at a recent meeting held at the home of Mrs. Fred Schock, chairman of the ball which will be held March 23 at the St. Lucie Hilton. Attending the meeting were, from left, Mrs. James Rowe, contributions; Mrs. Baird Tewsburg, treasurer; Mrs. Dennis Hudson, publicity; Mrs. Fred Stein, program; Mrs. Charles Adair, co-chairman of Port Sewall area, and Mrs. William Owens, Indiantown and Stuart areas.

STUART–Deadline for reservations for the Feb. 19 fashion show and buffet luncheon sponsored by Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary is Feb. 16. Reservations should be made by that date with Mrs. Kitty Granger, 283-2860.

HOBBY ARTICLES–The Riverside Village on Indian River Drive in Jensen Beach held its annual Hobby Show Monday, Feb. 11, and a large crowd attended the show and viewed a variety of handmade articles. Hostess for the show was Mrs. Mai Engerud, right, and Mrs. Fray Johnson hobby show chairman.

Savannas, Island development discussed

JENSEN BEACH–Want to find out how Florida's new Land, Water and Wetlands Act affects the Savannas and Hutchinson Island development?

The Florida Institute of Technology F.I.T., Jensen Beach, will play host to the Martin County Conservation Alliance at 2 p.m. Sat. Feb. 16 in the F.I.T. auditorium, as the Conservation Alliance presents the opportunity for area residents to hear and question one of the State's leading environmental attorneys, Barry Lesainger of Florida's Division of State Planning.

Tentatively scheduled to appear with Lesainger is Bernie Hyde of the State Land Planning Department.

The public is invited. The county attorneys, commissioners and members of the planning and zoning boards from Indian River, St. Lucie and Martin Counties have also been invited to attend Saturday's meeting.

Exceptional dog resides in PSL

PORT ST. LUCIE–There is a dog living in north Port St. Lucie that is so smart he not only opens the door, but he can also lock it, leaving the house anytime of the day or night to roam the neighborhood.

This, at least, was the explanation the owner offered to Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh after she received a subpoena to appear before the city council.

the subpoena was served following months of complaints by area residents stating the dog was tearing up their property and destroying plants.

Mayor Kavanaugh issued a final warning and stressed that further complaints by residents will involve a fine being imposed.

The warning apparently has gone unheeded, since two residents, Edwin Faulkner and Ralph Workman, appeared at the city hall with the same complaint during last Tuesday's session.

Charter changes listed by chamber committee

JENSEN BEACH–Changes made in the Jensen Beach city charter were listed this week by Art Hanaen, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee.

The changes, relating to section and number are listed below. They can be compared to the charter recently published in The Mirror.

1.01 The name of the municipality shall be Jensen Beach.

2.01 Boundaries include Rio.

3.05 Omit "The Council may levy a tax of not more than three (3) mills, etc. Note: Per legislative ruling.

3.06 Change $25,000 to $100,000 during any fiscal year wherein ad valorem taxes are pledged.

4.01 Omit "Who registers for city elections as provided by ordinance."

4.02 Change "the second following Tuesday" to "the third following Tuesday. Note: For runoff elections."

5.06 Change to read: Salaries. "The council shall set the salaries of the mayor and councilmen by ordinance. The council shall set the salaries of the city attorney and city clerk. No salary shall be paid elected city officers during the first year of after the adoption of this charter. City employees who handle and deal in monies shall be bonded."

5.06 "... regular meetings of the council at least once a month." Also (12) hours notice of special meetings to the media.

7.01 Add Municipal Planning Powers. For the purpose of promoting the public health, safety and welfare and of guiding and accomplishing coordinated, adjusted and harmonious development in accordance with existing and future needs and consistent with the need to protect the environment, the city council shall have all such powers and authority necessary to the preparation and enforcement of comprehensive plans for the development of the city. This power and authority shall include, but shall not be limited to, the power to:

A. Adopt by ordinance, by reference or in full, building, housing, electrical, plumbing and related technical codes and regulations.

B. Adopt by ordinance and to keep current, a master plan for the future development, redevelopment and growth of the city.

C. Adopt by ordinance and enforce zoning regulations.

D. Adopt by ordinance and enforce subdivision and other land development regulations.

E. Adopt by ordinance an official map of the city.

F. Obtain and utilize consultant, engineering, architectural, planning, zoning or other professional or technical services necessary and proper in the exercise of powers under this article, and

G. Create by ordinance, specifying the powers, duties and membership thereof, such permanent adjustment, regulatory and advisory boards as it finds necessary.

8.04 becomes 9.04.

Proposed ordinances must be read in full at least at two separate meetings. Newspapers shall publish the proposed ordinance in full. 8.05 becomes 9.05.

Media must also have six hours notice of meetings held for the purpose of enacting an emergency ordinance. Emergency ordinances must be published in the local newspaper. Also all emergency ordinances and amendments shall automatically stand repealed as of the 60th day following adoption.

8.06 becomes 9.06.

"All ordinances shall be posted for 30 days after adoption" in a place for public inspection and advertised in a local newspaper.

8.08 becomes 9.08.

Leave out "unless vetoed by the mayor."

8.10 becomes 9.10.

Provides every ordinance and resolution must be recorded in a "public" book.

9.03 becomes 10.03.

"The council shall provide by ordinance for public notice and public hearing on the adoption of the budget. Adequate copies of the budget and message shall be available in public places for inspection by the public."

10.03 becomes 11.03.

The last paragraph changes 30 days to 60 days that referendum petitions must be filed.

10.04 becomes 11.04.

Reference to registered mail includes "return receipt requested."

12.02 Omit this paragraph referring to county ordinances remaining in effect.

Minibus, gas considered

STUART–With the gasoline crisis continuing and the line of cars at service stations getting longer, Martin County Commission Tuesday talked of gas rationing and a minibus system.

Commissioner Ed Gluckler said that he didn't think the gasoline situation will improve, and he said that minibus and gas rationing are being considered.

A gas rationing program, with assistance from local dealers, would follow the Oregon plan, with odd and even numbered gas allocation days and colored flags for preferred customers.

A three-man committee has been studying a minibus system for the county, and Gluckler said that a survey for the needs of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell would cost $8,700 for a first phase study.

Gluckler said that the firm, which studied Hutchinson Island development, would survey the county to determine how many people would ride buses and how large a system would be needed.

Scottish Society to meet Friday

PORT ST. LUCIE–The St. Andrew Society of Florida, Inc., will hold their regular monthly meeting, Friday, Feb. 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank of Stuart Community Room.

A discussion of revisions to the constitution and by laws and reports on the year's activities is scheduled. The public is invited.

Call Jean Kenny, 287-6184 or 461-1444 for information.

ENGAGED–Mr and Mrs. John Hughes of Sewall's Point announce the engagement of Tina Novoa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jorge Novoa of Trujillo, Peru, to David A. Ault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Ault Sr. of Stuart. The wedding will be Arpil 6 at First Baptist Church, West Palm Beach. Miss Novoa is a Caracas, Venezuela, high school graduate, attended St. Joseph Academy in St. Augustine, graduated from St. Joseph College in Jensen Beach, and is now graduating from Palm Beach Atlantic College with a B.S. degree. The groom-to-be is a Martin County High School graduate attended Palm Beach Atlantic College and is now employed at Ault's Appliances in Stuart.

Valentine's Bazaar was a success

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Women's Association held its annual bazaar, "Valentine Bazaar", at its clubhouse on Sugar Hill Road, last Friday and Saturday. There were many booths and the club house was decorated in a valentine motif. Two plaques on the wall indicated the names of merchants and individuals who made donations.

Winners were Florence Combs; Mrs. Cecilia Noon, a handmade shirt made by Mrs. Maddie Lillie; Mrs. Ruth Glass, a $25 savings bond; Mrs. Bess Parker, the basket of cheer and Carl Arenz won 100 gallons of gasoline.

The booths were handled by Mrs. Mary Villano, chairman of flowers, assisted by Sylvia Rand, Trudy Chichez and Elsa Rohrdanz. Boutique, Maddie Lillie and Grace Lewis, chairmen assisted by Geneva Siebert, Frances Avigne and Eleanor Rus. Flea market, Florence Combs, chairman, assisted by Olive Binns, Kay Burmester, Ruth Houg. Sewing, Louise Sheward, chairman, assisted by Dottie Weiss and Frances Weidner. Jams and jellies Regina Justi and Lois Artons, chairmen assisted by Mona Wendy and Eileen McBrine.

Pies, cakes, Marian Hill chairman, assisted by Winnie Dahl, Mildred Jones, Ethel Koman and Lois Frey. Jewelry, Bess Parker, chairman, assisted by Jo Bowen, Weather Yost, Marie Miller. Stationery, cards, Ellen Failing, chairman, assisted by Em Miller, Jo Eisenbarth, Ivy Wahl and Florence Klose.

The snack bar was under the chairmanship of Edna Bassett, with Diana Stoll, Jo Suterius, Edith Beck, Freda Schlimm, Margaret Barnhart, Elizabeth Duffield, Elizabeth Muttersbach and Doris Taylor. Tickets were handled by Eva McCartney, assisted by Catherine Cordes and Mike Fredricks. Solicitations were handled by Mary Hughes, assisted by Mildred Skinner and Diana Stoll. A portion of the proceeds of the bazaar will be given to the Martin Memorial Hospital for some equipment.

Stuart Middle School will meet on Monday

STUART–Stuart Middle School PTA meeting will be Monday, Feb. 18 at 7:30 p.m. to observe Founder's Day.

There will be a short film entitled, "What PTA is all About", and a musical program will be presented by the Middle School band.

Parents and friends are invited.

Obituaries

TIMOTHY JOHN NUNN

JENSEN BEACH–Timothy John Nunn, 12, of 329 Silver Maple Street, died Sunday, Feb. 10, at Martin Memorial Hospital. He was a native of Yale, Mich. and had been a resident here for six years. He was a student at Stuart Middle School, member of Boy Scout Troop 811, and an acolyte at Jensen Beach Community Church.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nunn; three brothers, Robert, David and Richard; one sister, Linda; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Nunn, all of Jensen Beach; maternal grandfather, Lavern Turner of Detroit, Mich. and his great-grandmother, Mrs. Grace Buell of Jensen Beach.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Jensen Beach Community Church with the Rev. Donale E. Johnson officiating. Interment will be in All Saints Cemetery.

Aycock Funeral Home, Jensen Beach was in charge of arrangements.

Environmental seminars this summer

JENSEN BEACH–Dean Ernest E. Titus of Florida Institute of Technology has announced that it will hold two five-week seminars on the Central Rockies, Colorado, from June 22 to August 31.

The seminars will be jointly sponsored by F.I.T. and Al McClelland of Rocky Mountain Expeditions. The Ponderosa Guest Ranch, located near Salida, will house the students during the seminars.

Twelve college credit hours will be offered in Environmental Photography, Geomorphology, Biology and Nature Field Studies. Included in the five week session will be a ten day backpacking trip.

Each seminar is limited to twenty students and it is expected that students from colleges throughout the United States and Canada will participate. The seminars are scheduled for June 22 through July 27, and July 27 through August 31. Anyone interested in attending may write to Robert Reynolds, Florida Institute of Technology, 720 S. Indian River Dr., Jensen Beach, 33457.

Florida Institute of Technology is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. It is primarily a marine-technological college, but is expanding to include all phases of the environment, of which the Colorado seminars are a pilot program. It is expected to become an annual event.

'Caribbean' is World Around Us

STUART–another illustrated lecture of The World Around Us series will be presented this Wednesday, Feb. 20, tonight, by the Martin County Library Association.

"Caribbean Ports-of-Call" with lecturer Dwight Nichols will be presented at 8 p.m. at the Lyric Theatre.

In Martin County...
We're helping it happen!

Our business is not just money, it's also service. When Martin Memorial Hospital needed underwriting of its bond issue to enlarge its facilities, First National was there with the human resources and expertise ... plus the desire ... to be of assistance.

Fine medical facilities are essential to the well-being of a community. In Martin County we are fortunate to have an excellent one in Martin Memorial Hospital. But, as our area grows – so must the hospital. All the skills of the dedicated surgeons, nurses and technicians are not enough if the physical plant itself is not adequate to handle the increasing work load.

New equipment and physical expansion do not just happen. It takes money, lots of it. A completely equipped new operating room costs $80,000. The current expansion will cost approximately $7.5 million when completed. By furnishing the financial expertise of our Trust Department, Martin Memorial Hospital was able to obtain a high, favorable rating for the hospital's bonds. By helping to keep the cost of money at low as possible, we've helped Martin Memorial Hospital make the money raised by the bonds to go further.

For those projects that make a positive contribution, First National is always anxious to be of assistance. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you and our community.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "the bank that grew up with Martin County." We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of "helping it happen" for Martin County's future. You can help it happen too, by attending the Martin Memorial Hospital Ball March 23rd.

Jim and Kay Gibson spent several months on their lot. They have many friends in the area and are well liked in the park.

Wilda Wilson reports her sister Millie Perkowski and husband, Mike, with their friends Mr. and Mrs. Roskowski, arrived from Twin Lakes, Ohio. Wilda's brother Leonard Plabe, and wife Lee, came back here after going home for Christmas. So with her other brother, Edsel and wife on their lot 700, they make a good family group.

Mrs. Nelson Christensen has been called home due to serious illness in the family.

Guy Richdale has had to go back north on business but said he would be hurrying back in a week.

Mary Ellyn Michaum and Toni Weimer report a progressive dinner party was held Sat., Feb. 2. The event was under the auspices of Ed and Toni Weimer. One hundred sixteen people in groups of six and eight couples progressed from one trailer to another for cocktails, appetizers, salads and entrees. Later the groups all met at the recreational hall with their desserts for coffee.

A social evening followed with games and prizes. Ed Weimer played the piano for a song fest and dancing. Sam and Barbara Clark's anniversary was celebrated as well as Amy Freitag's birthday. Derwood Dickinson entertained the group singing "Good-bye Ma, Goodbye Pa" and of course Jake Davis gave us his rendition of "Back Home in Indiana."

As the evening progressed talents poured forth. Stan Spector recited a few poems that he had written which added much success to the evening.

A gag trophy was presented to George Carpenter for getting a hole in one last week at the Holiday County Club. Merci Whitney donated all the hot beverages and the rec. dept. provided set ups. At this time the Weimers would like to thank all the gals and guys that helped clean up before and after the event.

Betty Tailor reports Randall and Betty White from St. Albans, W. Va., friends of Jim and Marie Williams, will be visiting in the park for some time. We hope we have some more of that wonderful weather to greet them.

Mate Greuling reports Toad Bowling and Bob Mowry returned from a fishing trip in Capt. Ben's boat with quite a story to tell. In the way in to the inlet they lost a propellor. Another fishing boat came along and started to tow them in. After attaching the lines Capt. Ben was asked how much gas he would give for the towing service and when he answered two gallons the man cut the lines leaving them to wallow around until another passing boat towed them in. Several tubs of fish were caught and resulted in a late fish fry.

The Ward Irwins invited a few friends to a Bon Voyage party for Kathy Parmenger. She left Wednesday with the Robert Ludwigs for a two weeks vacation to Costa Rica.

Vocational Ed. Council to conduct seminar

FORT PIERCE–The Coordinating Council for Vocational Education of the Indian River District has completed its plans to conduct a Management Education Seminar. This program will be conducted by Indian River Community College and will enlist the services of Louis A. Allen Associates, Inc., of New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. Twenty-five educations and educational administrators were recommended and registered by their superintendent or college president. This is one of the outstanding accomplishments of the council since its inception in 1971.

The Coordinating Councils were created by the Florida legislature in 1970. The law requires that its membership be made up of the district school superintendents and the president of the community college serving the counties concerned. Also members are the vocational director from each district and the dean of vocational education from the community college. Persons serving on the community college and vocational education of the Indian River District are: Herman A. Heise, president of Indian River Community College; Burgess A. Meadows, associate of instruction of Indian River Community College; William McClure, superintendent of Indian River County schools; L.V. Patterson, director of vocational education of Indian River County schools; V. James Navitsky, superintendent of Martin County schools; Joseph A. McCoy, director of vocational education of Martin County schools; W. Ralph Diggs, superintendent of Okeechobee County schools; Tom Mix, vocational and adult education supervisor of Okeechobee County; D.R. Seelinger, superintendent of St. Lucie County schools; and Robert Satchwill, director of vocational education of St. Lucie County school.

The first chairman of the Coordinating Council was superintendent Walter Hebb, followed in the second year by president Herman A. Heise as chairman, and currently superintendent James Navitsky serves as chairman. Burgess Meadows serves as secretary.

The purpose of the organization is to solve mutual problems concerned with vocational education. Our local organization has worked on and solved many problems. Some of the areas discussed have been special funding, articulation, in-service training, duplication of effort, prestige and growth of career education and many others.

COUNCIL MEMBERS–The Coordinating Council for vocational education of the Indian River District has completed plans for a management education seminar. Council members at the session are, from left, William McClure, superintendent of Indian River County schools; V. James Navitsky, superintendent of Martin County schools; Burgess Meadows, associate dean of instruction at Indian River Community College; Ray Isenburg, chairman of mid-management at the college and Dr. John W. Muir, dean of instruction at the college.

Beautification is under way in Stuart

STUART–The beautification committee of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce held its first organizational meeting recently.

The first project to be completed within two weeks will be the beautification of the recently acquired property near Confusion Corner," said George Cochran, committee chairman.

The committee plans to choose areas one at a time to work on.

Other committee members present were Manford Willich, John Wolf, Bob Whitty, Kermit Tucker and Ed Glassacock.

CONDOS Q's & A's

DEAR T. L.,

Money is my problem. Keeping up the yard has finally taken it's toll. I'm ready to buy a condominium and take it easy. However, there has been so much talk about the scarcity of mortgage money that I'm afraid to even look at condominiums. Is financing really a problem?

Money Minded

DEAR MONEY MINDED,

Many condominium buyers report increased difficulty arranging financing. The problem centers more around the time needed to assess applications than the availability of money.

Some condominiums have reacted to the problem in a positive way. Twin Lakes of Stuart is a good example. If you decide to buy at Twin Lakes you have several options. They will finance your purchase up to one year while you make long term arrangements, or, you can lease for up to one year with the option to buy. If you decide to buy, a portion of your lease payments will be applied against the purchase price. Either way, it's a lot of service for a condominium still priced in the 20's.

For straight answers to your Condominium Questions, write Dear T.L., Post Office Box 2353, Stuart, Florida 33494, or for free personal consultation, come to Twin Lakes on U.S. No. 1, one mile south of Cove Road Stuart, any day 10 a.m. until dark. No appointment necessary.

'Cry Dawn' is youth program

JENSEN BEACH--A serious pre-Easter drama will be presented by the youth of Jensen Beach Community Church on Sunday, March 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Sanctuary. "Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon" is the program on which the youth group has worked over 100 hours.

Tickets will not be sold, but a free-will offering will be taken. The money will be used for the youths' summer conference expenses.

Starting March 10 and continuing each Sunday evening during Lent, a sharing, growth-involved activity will be held. The meetings will be held throught the fifth Sunday of Lent when the Community Choir will present its program in the Sanctuary.

The Church aid Circle meets the fourth Wednesday of the month with Mrs. Dottie Kalb as president. The group is saving all types of coupons.

Mrs. Lolita Kehrli is president of the Friendship Circle. Mrs. Helen Richardson is vice president, Ilamay Nunn, secretary and Loretta Wilcox, treasurer.

The church is collecting spools of thread, needles and good-size pieces of material to send to the Indians for Easter.

An expanded Christian Ed-you-cation committee is being formed. Call 334-2244 if interested in this project.

Jill Padelford is winner

PORT ST. LUCIE--A member of the newly formed Lucky Charms 4-H Club of Port St. Lucie was a first place winner in the annual St. Lucie County 4-H Citrus Carnival held Jan. 28 in Ft. Pierce.

Jill Padelford was awarded a blue ribbon for her exhibit and demonstration on fruit kabobs. Miss Padelford will represent St. Lucie County, for her age group, at the district events day to be held in West Palm Beach on May 11.

The Lucky Charms Club met last Thursday at the home of Caroline Cleaves, president.

Kristi Cordaro spoke to the group on the subject of buying eggs, while Beth Martin chose, 'How to make Exhibits' as her topic for discussion.

June Woodward made the refreshments for the group from food items brought to the meeting by various members of the club.

Following the refreshments, the group participated in recreational activities.

Inside Outdoor Resorts

BY CONNIE JONES

We are still growing by leaps and bounds. Our beautiful new barber shop has opened. The owner and operator is Jim Bell - fine gentleman, soft and gentle.

Ever so happy to welcome back my dear friends Herb and Margaret Smith from Pa. They had a family reunion after ten years and also their youngest son was married and went to the Pocono's - that's getting to be like Niagara Falls used to be. So thankful Margaret dropped by because I was really one sick little lady. I had food poisoning and on Monday I was eating baby food, apple sance and bananas. What a fantastic group of people we have living here. Joe Fischer and Margaret drove me to the hospital and right behind us was sweet little Anntie Murphy. Ann got Thelma Beedell, an R.N. here in the resort and she suggested I go to the hospital. While in the hospital, my good neighbor, Bessie Roe from across the street, came to visit me. She was on duty in other parts of the hospital, but visited to see if I was o.k. They my dear friend Etta Creighton came over. Thank God for friends.

Joe Fischer is putting together a fine program.

Don't forget to welcome our vice president from KOA, Don Ryan. He's from the cold country, Mont. Greet him with a smile and a big handshake because I'm fully convinced he will show us the way to bigger and better things. He will be with us for two months.

We are almost full and what beautiful sunsets we are having at our functions - like our little church. So nice to see newcomers take a few moments out to count their blessins. And then bingo, what can I say." We were limited to only three cards. Some folks were playing with only one and we were sitting on the floor on the edge of the fireplace - any place there was enough space to set and people were actually standing up. Bingo is the main thing around here. And then those pot lucks - with Bill and Etta Creighton providing the entertainment how can it be any other way but a huge success.

Pete and Marge Parra were dinner and show guests of Bobby Vinton and his father, Stan Vinton. Bobby was appearing at the Bachelor III in Ft. Lauderdale. Bobby's father is from the Parra home town, Canonsburg, Pa. After the show, they went back stage to Bobby's dressing room and had a nice visit. Bobby just finished making a movie with John Wayne. It's called "Train Robbery." Margie even got a kiss from this handsome man and an autographed picture for her daughter Denise.

Two weeks ago Pete Parra went to Pittsburg, Pa., on a business trip and the hotel were he was staying caught on fire. Pete was trapped on the balcony of the sixth floor for over an hour in two degree below zero weather and would you believe, all he had on was his underwear. He was trying to get the attention of the firemen. When Pete went outside the doors locked on him and there he was, no clothes on and freezing to death while inside, everything was hot. But he got back inside and everything was okay. Bet he'll remember Pittsburg, Pa., for a long spell.

Happy to see Idel and Val Leger made it back safe and sound from their rally over in Sarasota. These two never let any grass grow under their feet - always busy.

Nice to see Bob Maxwell back from N.Y. where he went on a business trip. Betty had a ball. Went to Disney world and all over the place.

Have some mighty fine folks here from Toledo, Ohio. Nina and Harold Leonard's son Jim and his lovely wife Charlene. They simply fell in love with the area and don't care if they never go back north again.

Missed my brother-in-law and his lovely wife, perhaps they had finally taken that long planned trip and sure enough, they had. Lyle and Evelyn Jones flew to Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 24, arrived in Palma, Majorca the 25th. They visited a large ranch, the northern part of the island, and a leather factory. They toured the eastern part of the island, that included a visit to the caves of Drach at Porto Cristo, and visited the famous Majorcan pearl factory. They flew to Tangier in North Africa. After a sightseeing tour they were taken through the Casbah and the Great Market. A small group decided to make a trip of their own, they boarded an electric train and rode for 40 miles to the northern part of the island through the mountains. At the end of the line was a picturesque village of Soller and another port with many small ships at anchor. They explored the many shops in Palma and left Majorca, stopped at Gandee, Newfoundland, then back to Pittsburg, and then to Florida.

Had a beautiful and colorful card from another best friend of mine, Marianna Driver. She went to Australia and I'll tell you more about it later.

We had a complete sell out both nights for our Minstrel Jubilee, thanks to Jim Erskine and others. Scott Henderson, 14, played the organ. His father teaches at F.I.T. we said anytime he wanted to play the organ for us to go right ahead...he can get more music out of that little box...it sounded so professional.

What can I say--what can anyone say about the Minstrel and Al Gans except Fantastic and Great!" Others taking part were: Grace Mckee, Charles Ludwig, George and Betty Wing, Harold and Nina Leonard, Mildred Coyle, Alice W. Simulated disaster set for March 6

STUART--A simulated local disaster is scheduled for Wednesday, March 6, according to an announcement by the Martin County Department of Civil Defense and Disaster Control.

The "disaster" is planned by Martin Memorial Hospital officials, county and city department representatives. The purpose is to assist the hospital's accreditation and test the county's natural disaster plan.

The locality, type and time of exercise are confidential.

A meeting will be held Wednesday, Feb. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in classroom 30 at Martin County High School. Personnel expected to attend include all fire chiefs, engineering, health, law enforcement, hospital and civil defense officials.

LETTER T--These Outdoor Resort men are doing the letter "T" during their morning exercise class at the Recreation Hall under the supervision of Connie Jones. As many as 80 men and women take part in the 30-minute program.

WARMUP--Connie Jones leads "her buddies" at Outdoor Resorts through 15 sets of different positions during the 30 minute exercise class at the Recreation Hall. The correspondent for the Jensen Mirror said that "we do a wrinkle-free" exercise.

MY VALENTINE--It is a certain thing that Michael Gradin will receive many offers in the years to come. Michael spent last monday morning at the Port St Lucie Marina helping his mother set up the display of valentines for the St. Lucie Jr Women's Club contest. Michael is the five month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gradin, 340 Marinaill St., Port St. Lucie. Everyone would like to have Michael for a Valentine.

State, local contractors on energy

PORT ST. LUCIE--The energy crisis and its impact on Florida will be discussed by state and federal government officials, headed by U.S. Senator Lawton C. Chiles, at the annual convention of the Florida State Chapters of the Associated General Contractors of America, this Friday and Saturday, Feb. 15, and 16 at the St. Lucie Hilton Country Club.

Joining Senator Chiles in outlining the problems created by the energy crisis and offering solutions during the meeting will be Nello L. Teer, Jr., National President of the AGC of America.

George T. Elmore, president of the Florida East Coast Chapter said experts from private industry will join with the governmental representatives in discussing problems and solutions to the energy crisis. The convention will concern itself with panel discussions on ecology and the environment, safety, self insurance and workmen's compensation, education and legislation on the state and federal level.

UMW will meet

PORT ST. LUCIE--The United Methodist Women of the Port St. Lucie United Methodist Church will meet at 1 p.m. Wed., Feb. 20 in the fellowship hall on Prima Vista Blvd.

The program will be the annual pledge service, according to Mrs. Eurelta White, program chairman.

Increase requested

Council will decide LPG increase Tuesday

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie City Council postponed any approval of the LP Gas rate increase requested by General Development Utilities (GDU) until next Tuesday, allowing council members sufficient time to study the proposal.

The rate case was presented to the council at a public hearing last Tuesday by Wayne Allen, attorney for GDU, and D.H. Curtis, chief accountant for the firm.

In his presentation, Curtis painted a down hill picture all the way for GDU following a lengthy recitation of consumer rates, supplier costs, net profits and losses, pointing out the firm has been on the losing end in the Port St. Lucie area for the past ten years.

"If we are to assume these figures are correct," said Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh "then where in the world have your accountants been all these years?" According to this presentation you've lost money every year and if that be the case, your firm is in trouble," the mayor concluded.

The Utilities is asking an overall increase in rates to the consumer just short of a fifty percent figure.

Individual consumer rates, should the increase be approved next week by the council, would jump from $3.30 to $3.95 per month minimum for the first 200 cubic feet, from .82 to $1.43 per 100 for the next 800 cubic feet, and from .71 to $1.38 per 100 for the next 1,000 cubic feet. Also under the new proposed rates over 2,000 cubic feet consumed would cost the consumer $1.33 per 100 cubic feet.

Robert Seeley, general manager of Port St. Lucie originally submitted the application for the rate increase to the council Jan. 23 on behalf of GDU.

At that time, Councilman Lawrence Kimmel took the stand he could not approve such increases until such time as the city was provided with complete drawings and maps of the transmission and distribution systems including the size and length of the pipes.

"This is the only means by which these figures can be checked," Kimmel said.

These maps were provided by the GDU officials last Tuesday and include the underground layout for sewers, gas and water.

Now that we have this information in hand, a decision will probably be rendered by the council by next Tuesday," Kavanaugh said.

Speaking from the floor one Port St. Lucie resident requested permission to purchase LP gas from outside dealers.

"It just burns me to think that I can get the gas to heat my swimming pool from another source and I am refused the right to do so because of the franchise GDU has with the City of Port St. Lucie," he said.

In seeking this permission, he made it clear that as soon as gdu can provide the gas, he will return to them for such service.

At this point Mayor Kavanaugh asked Allen, the GDU attorney, to look into the possibility of GDU purchasing gas from some of the local dealers and servicing the pools.

Allen said it was perhaps a possibility but he feared the cost of such a transaction would be exorbitant to the consumer.

The president made it perfectly clear that he was not concerned with the cost

CONGRATS CHAMP--William McCurdy vice president of public relations for Sears and the originator of the Sears Women's Classic congratulates Gail Denenberg after her victory Sunday at the St. Lucie Country Club. Miss Denenberg posted a one-under-par 71 to win the Classic.

First victory

Gail Denenberg wins Classic

PORT ST. LUCIE--Firing a two-under par 71 in the final round of the $100,000 Sears Women's Classic at St. Lucie Country Club, Gail Denenberg won her first tournament on the Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour.

Miss Denenberg, a treasurer of LPGA, has been on the tour for six years, and Sunday she headed a field of 16 players who advanced to the final round in the tournament which combined two rounds of match play and a final medal play round.

The 27-year old Miss Denenberg gained her biggest check in her career $15,000, and almost equalled her total earnings last year $19,399.

Runnerup Sunday with a 73 was Jane Blalock of Highland Beach. She earned $10,000.

Miss Denenberg overcame the pressure of a hybrid match-medal format and shot a sub par round on the Sinners Course.

"Winning the tournament means more to me than the $15,000 does. A couple of times previously I'd been in position where I could win, but I always gave it the royal choke," the University of Miami graduate said.

Miss Blalock finished one shot ahead of Sandra Palmer, Joann Prentice, Susie Maxwell, Betsy Cullen and Murle Breer who all shot one-over-par 74's.

Miss Denenberg whose best previous finish was a second place at Sacramento last year took the lead when Miss Blalock bogeyed the 11th and 12th holes.

"I didn't know I was leading until the 18th hole when a gentleman walked up and told me I was the only one under par," Miss Denenberg said.

"I was a little suprised because I thought it would take a round of three-under to win."

Miss Denenberg from Middletown, N.Y., spent the winter in Lauderdale Lakes where she spent a great portion of time playing golf. She credited that practice and some advice from her uncle, Abraham Weissman, the district attorney of Orange County, N.Y., for the victory.

"My uncle started me on the tour and has been like my dad for 28 years," she said.

After tentatively known as "Super Jew," Miss Denenberg is victory boosted her into the top position on the LPGA money list.

The LPGA, wants you to know, LPGA president Ayako Okamoto said. That she is the greatest Jew since Sammy Davis and Sandy Koufax.

GREEN JACKET--The championship green jacket is placed on the shoulders of Gail Denenberg by Carol Mann, president of the Ladies Professional Golfers Association and last year's Sears Women's Classic winner last Sunday at the St. Lucie Country Club. It was the first championship for Miss Denenberg, a University of Miami graduate.

Powers near his COG goal

PORT ST. LUCIE--It's three down and one to go for Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers in his campaign to get his Council of Government (COG) plan accepted and working.

Taking a short break from his commission meeting Tuesday, Commissioner Powers went to the Port St. Lucie City Council meeting to explain the COG plan.

The Council raised no objections to the COG and is expected to give its endorsement at its next meeting.

Under Powers plan, COG would be composed of mayors or their representatives of Ft. Pierce, Stuart, Port St. Lucie and Martin and St. Lucie county commission chairmen or their representatives.

Martin County Commission, Stuart City Commission and Ft. Pierce Commission have approved the plan.

Powers said that he would contact St. Lucie County Commission Chairman W.R. McCain today, Wednesday, and set up a meeting with McCain's board.

The veteran Martin County commissioner said he hopes to have an informal meeting of COG representatives March 7, and hopes to have the first formal meeting in April.

Each member of the council would pay $200 a year, and the money would be used for expenses such as taking of minutes.

"I feel that the benefits to the members will by far exceed any expenses we might have," Powers said.

Powers said that the council would not have any real powers but be a means of communication between the governments of the two counties.

"This council would discuss common problems and try to coordinate actions so one government's movement didn't impede another's."

Powers first proposed COG at the Martin County Commission last December and won immediate endorsement. Since that time he has been meeting with other governmental agencies in the two counties seeking their backing.

The CESA building is located at 200 W. Prima Vista Blvd., in Port St. Lucie.

Happy birthday

PORT ST. LUCIE--Miss Freeda Cook and Mrs. Lil Sjostrom, both of Port St. Lucie, celebrated their birthdays last Monday, Feb. 11.

Although Miss Cook spent the morning judging the valentine contest sponsored by the St. Lucie Junior Woman's Club at the marina, she was busy making plans for an evening celebration with her friend and neighbor Mrs. Sjostrom.

PRESENTATION--Ken Mauger accepts a plaque on behalf of the Martin County High School Band from Jack Sheridan, regional manager, community homesite division of General Development Corp. The plaque was awarded by the Sales and Marketing Division of GDC for the bands outstanding performance during the GDC Convention held at the St. Lucie Hilton last month.

UF of St. Lucie meeting Feb. 21

PORT ST. LUCIE--The United Fund of St. Lucie County is having their annual meeting Feb. 21 at noon. This year the meeting will be in the form of a dutch treat luncheon at Tradewinds Cafeteria, Searstown. All volunteers and United Fund supporters are invited to attend.

The meeting will include election of new board members and such other business as needed. There will be a short board of directors meeting following the annual meeting for the purpose of electing the new officers of the United Fund.

This year the awards banquet will be held at a later date.

Landscaping fund needed

PORT ST. LUCIE--Although the plans for the CYSA landscaping project have been completed and approved, the funds needed to do the job are lagging.

The September committee of the Rio Garden Club drew up the plans for the landscaping last November. At the meeting the club donated $50 to get the project.

It was emphasis on trees, the estimated cost of the landscaping project was set at $500.

According to Mrs. Clyde Edwards, club president, letters have been sent to the various organizations and businesses in the Port St. Lucie area seeking support to see this project through.

There were 63 members, 18 guests and one new member present for the January meeting of the club. Prior to the regular meeting, a dessert luncheon was served by Mrs. Walter Stauber and her committee.

Program for the afternoon was presented by Dale Patchett, urban forester for Indian River County, assisted by Roy Hopke. Hopke is the urban forester for St. Lucie County.

According to Patchett, forestry is almost non-existant in South Florida due to the increase in building.

"Foresters are trying to work with zoning boards and development planners in an effort to save for trees and vegetation," Patchett said. "Without it, wild life just disappears," he added.

Mrs. Byron Mingus distributed literature on sea oats to members, pointing out that picking these flowers or seeds was prohibited by law.

Mrs. Judd Reading gave some gardening tips and reminded club members of the annual horticulture show to be held in April.

Mrs. Edwards appointed the following members to the nominating committee: Mrs. Donald Porter, chairman; Mrs. Lawrence Heu and Mrs. Carl Hoffman.

Mrs. James Howell, president of the St. Lucie Federation of Garden Clubs gave a brief resume of her program on terrariums, which she will present at the next meeting.

Inside Outdoor Resorts

We are still growing by leaps and bounds. Our beautiful new barber shop is completed. The owner and operator is Bill Bell - fine gentleman, soft and gracious.

Ever so happy to welcome back my dear friends Herb and Margaret Smith from Pa. They had a family reunion after ten years and also their youngest son was married and went to the Poconos - that's getting to be like Niagara Falls used to be. So thankful Margaret dropped by because I was really one sick little lady. I had food poisoning and on Monday I was eating that food, apple sance and bananas - what a fantastic group of people we have here. Joe Fischer and Margaret drove me to the hospital and right behind us was sweet little Annie Murphy Ann and Thelma Beedell an R.N. here in the resort and she suggested I go to the hospital. While in the hospital, my good neighbor, Bessie Roe from across the street came to visit me. She was on duty in other parts of the hospital, but visited me all I was o.k. Then my dear friend Ella Creighton came over. Thank God for friends.

Joe Fischer is putting together a fine program.

Don't forget to welcome our vice president from KOA, Don Ryan. He is from the cold country. Mont Greet him with a smile and a big handshake because I'm really convinced he will show us the way to bigger and better things and will be with us for two months.

We are almost full and what beautiful friends we are having at our functions - like our little church. So nice to see newcomers take a few moments out to share their blessins. And then bingo. What can I say? We were limited to only 10 cards. Some folks were playing with only one and we were sitting on the very edge of the fireplace - any more there was enough space to set and we were actually standing up. Bingo is the main thing around here. And then those pot lucks - with Bill and Etta Creighton providing the entertainment how can it be any other way but a huge success.

Pete and Marge Parris were dinner and show guests of Bobby Vinton and his father, Stan Vinton. Bobby was appearing at the Bachelor III in Ft. Lauderdale. Bobby's father is from the Parris home town, Canonsburg, Pa. After the show, they went back stage to Bobby's dressing room and had a nice visit. Bobby just finished making a movie with John Wayne. It's called "Train Robbery." Marge even got a kiss from this handsome man and an autographed picture for her daughter Denise.

Two weeks ago Pete Parris went to Pittsburg, Pa., on a business trip and the hotel were he was staying caught on fire. Pete was trapped on the balcony of the sixth floor for over an hour in two degree below zero weather and would you believe, all he had on was his underwear. He was trying to get the attention of the firemen. When Pete went outside the doors locked on him and there he was, no clothes on and freezing to death while inside, everything was hot. But he got back inside and everything was okay. Bet he'll remember Pittsburg, Pa. for a long spell.

Happy to see Ide and Val Leger made it back safe and sound from their rally over in Sarasota. These two never let any grass grow under their feet - always busy.

Nice to see Bob Maxwell back from N.Y. where he went on a business trip. Betty had a ball. Went to Disney world and all over the place.

Have some mighty fine folks here from Toledo, Ohio. Nina and Harold Leonard's son Jim and his lovely wife Charlene. They simply fell in love with the area and don't care if they never go back north again.

Missed my brother-in-law and his lovely wife, perhaps they had finally taken that long planned trip and sure enough, they had. Lyle and Evelyn Jones flew to Pittsburg, Pa. Jan 24, arrived in Palma, Majorca the 25th. They visited a large ranch, the northern part of the island, and a leather factory. They toured the eastern part of the island, that included a visit to the caves of Drach at Porto Cristo, and visited the famous Majorcan pearl factory. They flew to Tangier in North Africa. After a sightseeing tour they were taken through the Casbah and the Great Market. A small group decided to make a trip of their own - they boarded an electric train and rode for 46 miles to the northern part of the island through the mountains. At the end of the line was a picturesque village of Soller and another port with many small ships at anchor. They explored the many shops in Palma and left Majorca, stopped at Gandee, Newfoundland, then back to Pittsburg, and then to Florida.

Had a beautiful and colorful card from another best friend of mine, Marianna Driver. She went to Australia and I'll tell you more about it later.

We had a complete sell out both nights for our Minstrel Jubilee, thanks to Jim Erskine and others. Scott Henderson, 14, played the organ. His father teaches at F.I.T. we said anytime he wanted to play the organ for us to go right ahead...he can get more music out of that little box - it sounded so professional.

Personalities glittered at LPGA formal

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE—The St. Lucie Hilton Convention Hall was the setting for a formal reception and black tie dinner hosted by Sears Roebuck and Co., for the participants of the Sears Women's Classic and the panelists conducting a four-day seminar.

The occasion provided an evening of relaxation and socializing for the famed panelists and the professional golfers.

While the golfers prepared to wind up for the Friday morning opening of the Fourth Annual Sears Women's Classic at St. Lucie, the nationally known conference participants would down as the four-day seminar drew to an end.

Panelists addressing the seminar included such well known personalities as U.S. Senator Walter Mondale, Vance Packard, Vincent Price, Arlene Dahl, Joyce Brothers, Jody Greenwald, Sene Harger, Ethel D. Kahn, Emily Mallino, Paolo Solert, and Carol Fallon.

The family and home brings expert views

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE—Nationally known authorities gathered at the St. Lucie Hilton this week to participate in a seminar on the subject of family living.

The seminar conference entitled "The Family and Home in Crisis" for newspaper and television personnel from throughout the nation, in conjunction with the golf classic at the St. Lucie Hilton Resort.

Dr. Brothers, addressing the conference members on Wednesday, Dr. Joyce Brothers, psychologist and author, focused on one of the most frequently asked questions, "Are marriage and the family on the way out?"

People are concerned, she said. They feel that the rising divorce rate and the growing number of young people living together outside marriage is undermining the institution.

Strangely, concern about the survival of the family is not new," Dr. Brothers said. "Doubts that the family would survive have been expressed for two thousand years. During that time the family has survived even attempts of governments and religions to supplant it."

"Despite this, the family remains today the basic social unit in primitive cultures as well as advanced countries," she added. "So I would safely hazard a guess that it may be around for a good while longer."

Dr. Brothers went on to point out that the woman's new financial independence made it possible for either spouse to afford divorce if the marriage wasn't satisfactory. The divorce rate began to rise, particularly among those who married while still in their teens.

One positive result of women's new freedom is that they are less apt to marry for the wrong reasons when they do marry, and therefore the marriages that do take place should be happier and more rewarding for both the husband and wife. The result of more compatible marriages should be better adjusted children even though there are apt to be fewer children, she said.

"Whatever your moral judgement on the present practice of young couples living together without benefit of matrimony it will probably, eventually, cut down on the divorce rate," she said.

"Eventually, ways may be found to give some kind of legitimacy to these 'trial' relationships, but, in the meantime, growing numbers of young people are waiting to contract a lifetime union," she added.

The most popular alternative to the family has been the commune, in which adults and children live together as one extended family.

Dr. Brothers does not see the commune as the form our most intimate relationships will take in the future.

Not everyone is adapted to communal living," she said. "Moreover, the commune has serious limitations for the children brought up within it. Though they are spared many of the emotional conflicts they experience in the nuclear family, they become very dependent on their peers and on the communal way of life."

According to Dr. Brothers, the cluster community is probably the extended family of the future. In the cluster community the family would keep its identity but would live closely with other families of many different kinds. The cluster group might share a large house, a group of cottages or homes around a courtyard. In such sharing, independence would not be sacrificed to interdependence as it is in the commune. But neither would family units be isolated and alone, as they are in a society of nuclear families, she pointed out.

Along the same vein, Italian-born architect and urban planner, Paolo Soleri discussed pollution solution with panel members. He envisions compact cities suspended in air, afloat at sea, compressed into single structures, some a mile in height. These cities would move up, not out, reserving the countryside for farming, recreation and conservation.

"The man-made world and the natural world must build a mutual understanding in order to avoid self-suffocation in a polluted environment."

His answer to pollution problem number one would be the elimination of the automobile. People would move through these vertical cities to their destinations by way of bicycle, escalator, elevator, moving walkways and the good, old-fashioned method - by foot. Airplanes would land on the city's outer rim, permitting people to quickly reach their homes and offices.

With living, working and playing facilities under one roof, energy needs, Soleri points out, would be concentrated rather than scattered over the earth. Living facilities would be maintained at the top levels of the various sized vertical cities, businesses, schools and entertainment areas would be at the middle strata, with heavy industry relegated underground. A solution to pollution problem number two.

The vision of the 54-year-old architect-ecologist is not a far-fetched pipe dream. With optimistic support from business, industry and government, which has funded several of his exhibitions, Soleri has taken his plan off the drawing board and into the Arizona desert.

Other panelists addressing the seminar included such well known personalities as U.S. Sen. Walter Mondale, Vance Packard, Vincent Price and Arlene Dahl.

Nurse's night

FORT PIERCE--An "international nurses night" will be held in the Koblegard Student Union of Indian River Community College on Feb 23 at 7:30 p.m., sponsored by Districts No 12, 34 and 43 of the Florida Nurses Association.

Nursing representatives from five foreign countries -- Philippines, Iran, Ireland, England and Scotland -- will be presenting a program that should be both informative as well as entertaining. The program will consist of information about nursing care and health care in the represented countries. On addition, the program participants will present a fashion show and folk dances. Refreshments will be served following the program.

These will provide a selection of delecacies from all countries represented (even America). All nurses and other interested in health care delivery are invited to attend and bring a guest. Admission is free.

Library Association has 'Furnishing Fund'

STUART--the Library Association of Martin County Public Library is receiving donations to it's "Furnishing Fund" to provide furnishings and equipment up to $70,000 for the proposed expansion of the library.

Plans for the expansion have been approved by the Martin County Board of County Commissioners. Costs of construction will be borne by the county, and the Library Association has assumed the responsibility of providing furnishings and equipment for the building up to $70,000.

Book sales during 1973 netted over $500 for the fund. Another book sale will be held in July.

The World Around Us travel series is being presented by the Association at the Lyric Theatre this season. The next show will be Feb. 20. "Caribbean Ports-of-Call". "Hurrah for Holland" will be March 14, and "Hawaii" on April 3. Starting time is 8 p.m. and tickets are available at the door.

Newly elected directors serving until Jan., 1977 are Mrs. Leslie Bartlett, Mrs. Helen Bradley, Mrs. Richard Peter, Fred Schroeder, John Spencer, Frank Foster and Robert H. Gibbs. Ron Hunter was elected to serve until Jan., 1976.

Officers are Fred Schroeder, president; Mrs. Hugh Hassen, first vice-president; Mrs. L.N. Merrill, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Bradley, secretary and Mrs. Richard Peter, corresponding secretary.

Volunteers have contributed over 2200 hours of work in assisting the library staff and patrons.

IRCC offers employee course

FORT PIERCE--A 10-hour employee certificate course will be held at Indian River Community College on Tuesday and Thursdays Feb. 19, 21, 26 and 28 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the science lecture hall.

The course will include occupational safety and health act education and was developed by the U.S. Department of Labor.

Instructor for the course will be Frank Hillyer Cochran, director of the Palm Beach County Carpenters Joint Apprenticeship and Training Committee.

Holiday Out-lines

BY BETTY TAYLOR
334-6824

Here it is February already and the winter season half over. The weather has been a bit chilly the past couple of days, and in fact, our general manager has received many complaints for personal attention to the matter. He has promised to attend church and take it up with the Big General Manager". OK folks! You can't do better than that!

Jacqueline Aubin wishes to extend her thanks for sympathy expressed to her on the death of her father recently.

Dick and Dot Clark celebrated their 30th anniversary on Sat., Feb. 9. They received many congratulations.

Geneva Ramsey is trundling around the park on her new three-wheeler, a birthday present from husband, Averil.

Mrs. Gail Landis, mother of Millie Grist is back in town visiting her daughter. Since Millie and Gene moved to Pine Lakes Village, we will miss seeing this avid fisherwoman at her piers.

The Valentine's Day dance was a huge success. One hundred thirteen people attended and enjoyed themselves to the hilt. However from now on, no more tickets will be sold at the door. It makes it much too difficult for the dance chairman to prepare for their guests. Remember from now on, buy your tickets in advance when they are on sale at the rec hall.

Mac McPherson is a bit downcast. He thinks everyone comes to bridge class to hear his jokes instead of learning their lessons.

Save your white elephants for the sale table at the Hobby Show on March 18. There will also be a baked goods table. This was most popular last year, and promises will be again this year. Please take us anything your little heart desires. The money made goes to a good cause.

The Davises, lot 104, are looking forward to the visit of their two daughters and grandkids, also Marcia and Everett, the cruising Capris are off again with Marcia's brother on his fishing boat. They had marvelous luck last time with their fishing. Hope they are as lucky this trip.

George and Virginia Bulbs, Memphis, Tenn. friends of Carl and Hazel Edmondson, are using his lot for a week or so, enjoying our park before moving on.

The church news was inadvertently omitted last week for which I apologize. This week's congregation was a very large one and one which was thrilled to hear the voice of Rosalie Bryson in the anthem. Sally Fix and George Bares shared the piano and organ chores again this week. Pike Stuart and Bernie Landis carried the layman's portion of the service. Rev. Gunsalus gave his usual inspirational sermon. Ensemble then closed the service with a benediction. "For You I Am Praying", accompanied by Grace Thau. Mark Skinner was head usher.

Maxine and Bing Crosby took their annual cruise on a shakedown cruise to a country dance affair over near Sebring. They report it was very comfortable, and warm, too, in spite of the cold snap.

A lamp was purchased for the piano from the recreation fund. Now our play area won't have to strain their eyes in the evenings.

Bridge scores: Arbor Clark 4065; Lorraine Storch 4020; Mercy Whitney 3880 and Helen Judycki 3660.

Helen and George Walking, Ashland, Ohio, came over from the Avien Rendezvous for a two day stay. They also spent Christmas in the park this year, and plan to return next season.

The communications amplifier has been repaired and as you all have been, we are now back on the air (for better or worse, depending on your opinion!) If you have any announcements, call be at the number at the head of the column, or leave it at the rec hall.

Everyone is becoming excited at the prospect of another Variety Show. It will be held Feb. 28 and March 1. Keep one of those dates open, or you'll be sorry!

Jerry and Evelyn Titherington are back for another visit. Jerry can only stay for ten days, but his wife will be here a month or two, with some of their children expected in to keep her company later on.

Gamin Vansant was the victim of a dastardly and unexpected attack the other night. He was unhurt physically, except for the loss of a mouthful of fur, but his dignity was bruised, since his attacker was a much smaller dog.

Bingo: Violette Webb, Kay Hamann, Ernest Dewhurst, Lillian Brookhart, tie game between Irene Brown and Ellen Armstrong; Hazel Kolbe. Good neighbor game was won by Bob Armstrong, with left neighbor Ellen Armstrong and right, Muriel Doody. Coverall was won by Marion Sheldon. The special coverall goes to 57 numbers next week.

Ruth and Hubert Elsey, Charlston, S.C., have been here for a week. They are old friends of Ruth and Earl Bowen, who started trailering with them thirty years ago.

Mac McCabe's sister Marian and her husband, Charles Honeycutt, Wilson, S.C., were in the park for several days.

Duplicate Bridge

JENSEN BEACH–The Community Duplicate Bridge Club met on Friday, Feb. 4, with 19 tables in play. The game was divided into two sections. Both sections had an average of 108 for both directions. Section A winners were, first, with 130, Georgene Rotzell; second, with 124, Ida and Greg Hawkins; and third, with 122, Dwight and Katherine Kelly for North and South.

east-west winners were, first, 134, Caroline Prodo and Lucille Holloway; second, with 123, Mr. and Mrs. Snelling and third, with 117½, Dorothy Rumbold and Helen Poffinberger.

Section B winners were North-South, with 134, Flora Raffee and Polly Schinzman; second, with 129½, Fran Tuse and Harold Seegle and third, with 115, Dr. and Mrs. Martin Quirk. East-west winnners were Sara Granno and Hildreth Noland, second, tied, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Mark and Owena McClellan and Rosetta Cayll.

On Friday, Feb. 1, with eight tables in play and an average of 84 in both directions, North-South winners were, first, with 98, Olga Robinson and Lucille Stessel; second with 91, Evelyn Kloby and Jean Marulla; and third, with 90½, Grant Sheffer and Dr. Albert Wiegand. East-West winners were, with 98, Caroline Prodo and Charles Decker; second, with 97, Alma and Earl Wagner and third, with 93½, Jack Alger and Polly MacDonald.

Game time is 1 p.m. Mondays and Fridays in the Harry Hoke Room at First Federal Savings and Loan in Jensen Beach. All area bridge players are welcome. A partner is assured.

On Tuesday, Feb. 5, with six tables in play a Howell movement was used at the Lighthouse Duplicate Bridge Club. The average was 67½. Winners were Arthue Sockol and Fred Pamterbagen with 83; second, with 80, Mary Boyd and Fran Wilson; third, with 78, Evelyn Kloby and Al Butler and fourth, with 76½, Betty Northcross and Ola Wright.

Riverside Village News

BY VIRGINIA DRYER
FOR HELEN M. GITHENS

Heart program at college

FORT PIERCE–Indian River Community College is the first two-year college in Florida to make risk factor screening for heart disease an integral part of its nursing training curriculum, according to a joint announcement by the college and the St. Lucie Heart Association.

As a result of the new training a community screening program is expected to benefit residents by finding incipient problems, hopefully before they reach a serious or critical stage. Risk factor screening is not a complete physical examination. It includes urinalysis, height and weight, blood pressure, an electrocardiogram, and the individual's medical history. If results of the tests indicate the possibility of a problem, the individual is referred to his or her family physician.

Nursing students at Indian River Community College plan a campus screening program for students and faculty members, which is expected to take about two days. Later in the month they will conduct the program at various Ft. Pierce locations during the annual Heart Month Campaign.

A group of Ft. Pierce Central High School students who are volunteer Heart Association workers, have also been undergoing risk factor screening training and will be able to conduct such programs when Indian River Community College students are not available.

THANK YOU

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for their cards, flowers and kindnesses shown us during our recent bereavement. We thank friends of Riverside Village and the personnel of Martin Memorial Hospital.

Vote July 16

Incorporation proposal gets delegation okay

JENSEN BEACH—the proposed incorporation charter for the City of Jensen Beach received unanimous approval by the state legislative delegation at last Friday's public meeting at the courthouse.

Presentation of the charter by Art Hansen, chairman of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee, and Frank Wacha, committee advance, took less than ten minutes.

"We were very pleased that we received no opposition," Hansen said.

Voters in the proposed charter area will vote on incorporation July 16 if the full state legislature approves.

Hansen said Monday that he will have a committee meeting shortly "to make plans to communicate with the public."

Between now and July 16, Hansen said, "will be a period of education. We want to give the people the advantages and disadvantages of incorporation.

"We want to organize a speakers bureau and have people to speak to organizations in the community," Hansen said.

Hansen said that he hopes the people will ask questions about the charter. "We want the people to be informed when the go to the polls."

Wacha, former Martin County commissioner, pointed out to the delegation that the charter proposal had been widely publicized and that public hearings had been held.

Pointing to a map of the proposed incorporation area, Wacha said that Rio had petitioned to be included in the incorporated area, and he noted that a small section (Northwood) had petitioned to be excluded.

Hansen noted that the area included between 8,000 and 8,500 residents U.S. 1 and Indian River and the St. Lucie County line south to Sewall's Point.

Delegation member Sen. Phil Lewis briefly questioned the proposed three-mill cap provided in the charter, and it was explained that the millage would be needed during the transition period.

If the charter is approved, a council would be elected in September and the city charter taking effect Oct. 1.

Present millage for the Jensen Beach area (Taxing District A, as it and it would be replaced by the three-mill cap.

The Incorporation Committee recommended that candidates for the council and mayor commit themselves to a three-mill cap.

Three mills will qualify the city for state aid, and it has been estimated by the committee that said money would be about $40,000.

An incorporation committee was formed several months ago after petitions were circulated in the community favoring incorporation. More than 1,000 signatures were on the petitions.

Wacha pointed out to the legislative delegation that attempts have been made in the past to incorporate Jensen Beach but that the question never has come to a vote.

LINCOLN DAY—Mrs. Ron Ewing and Fred Fairlie, co-chairmen, discuss plans for the Lincoln Day dinner to be held at Holiday Inn, Stuart, on March 2. Nat Reed, Assistant Secretary of the Interior will be the principal speaker. The dinner is sponsored by the Republican Executive Committee of Martin County.

Reed to speak on Lincoln Day

STUART—Nat Reed, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, and the National Park System, will be the principal speaker at the Lincoln Day Dinner on March 2.

The dinner will be held at the Holiday Inn on U.S. 1 in Stuart and is sponsored by the Republican Executive Committee of Martin County. The hospitality hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the dinner scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Ron Ewing and Fred Fairlie. Reservations are required and may be made by calling Mrs. Ewing at 287-5181.

CHECK—David Irons, left, president of First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart, presents a $1,000 check to Ken Ferguson, president of the Martin County United Fund.

Long line, no gas

Gas plan doesn't help stations

BY CHARLES CATES

JENSEN BEACH—Martin County's voluntary gas rationing plan hasn't helped Jensen Beach area service stations mainly because they haven't got any gas to ration.

I had a long line of cars this morning, but no gas," Art Riley of Jensen Texaco said Tuesday.

Riley said he wasn't observing the plan. "I'm pumping 1,300 gallons daily. I expect to get about 7,400 gallons this month."

Riley said he expects to be closed four or five days this month.

State officials last Friday said that more gasoline will be sent to Martin County, about 45,200 gallons, but area service stations said they haven't received any more.

The gas rationing plan hasn't helped. Carl Sovine of Sovine's Gulf Station said:

Sovine said that most motorists Tuesday had odd number tags as recommended under the "Oregon Plan" adopted by the Martin County Commission.

A sheriff's deputy kept things moving, according to Sovine, but the plan hasn't helped the first two days.

He said he is pumping 1,500 gallons daily, and that he was out of gas at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The plan doesn't effect me," Clarence Rydell of Tennessee Service Station said.

Rydell pointed out that since he wasn't open in 1972, the year that allotments are based on, he won't have a gas allotment for the next three months.

"I got about 14,000 gallons from Hobe Sound station," Rydell said. "I will be open about two days a week and pump gas for about three hours.

"I don't want to say what days I'll be open," he added.

The gas pumps at Skyline Standard Service has been closed for the past few days so larger tanks can be installed.

"I won't get any more gas," Bill Crooks said. "I'll just be able to store more at the station."

At last week's legislative delegation meeting, County Commission Chairman Dr. Edward Geary told delegation members that "the gasoline shortage is getting very critical."

He said traffic that ordinarily uses Florida's Turnpike has swung over to U.S. 1, using gas local residents ordinarily would get.

If there is any way you can help us out we would appreciate it. We have had a tremendous growth in the county," he said.

Last week the commission adopted the Oregon plan for voluntary gas rationing. Gas is to be sold to drivers of cars with plates ending in even numbers of the letters A through M and cars with numbers and letters N through Z on odd number of days.

Minibus study gets okay

STUART—A minibus feasibility survey will be made in Martin County by Peat, Marwick and Mitchell shows a bus system would be practical, another study, costing $8,000, would be made which would show what equipment should be bought and the firm would give a cost analysis and advise how the system should be run.

If the survey shows there is a need for the service the federal government will pay 80 percent of the cost, the state ten percent and the county ten percent, according to Gluckler.

If the study by Peat, Marwick and Mitchell shows a bus system would be practical another study costing $8,000 would be made which would show what equipment should be bought and the firm would give a cost analysis and advise how the system should be run.

The firm, which made the Hutchinson Island study will do the brief preliminary work, such as checking into the non-existent information on public transit, interviewing health and welfare people as required and making a survey of needs and attitudes, Commissioner Ed Gluckler said.

He said that during the first phase an attempt will be made by the firm to obtain some assistance funds for payment of the study.

Gluckler was a member of a three commission committee which looked into the possibility of establishing a minibus service in the county.

A Venice, Fla. firm which makes small buses offered to sell the county minibuses at $10,000 each.

Construction is off to slow start in '74

STUART—Construction in Martin County in 1974 got off to a slow start with January permits about half of the same month for 1973, figures at the building inspector's office shows.

In January of 1974, 193 building permits were issued for an estimated value of $2,208,900 compared to 258 permits for an estimated value of $3,951,374 in January of 1973.

The big reduction in construction was in multi-dwelling permits with only two permits issued last month for an estimated value of $1.5 million.

In January of 1973, 13 multi-dwelling permits were issued for an estimated value of $3.4 million, and in 1973 there were 11 duplex permits valued at $255,000 compared to last month's total of three duplex permits for a value of $81,000.

Forty residential permits were issued last month for an estimated value of $1.3 million compared to the 1973 total of 69 permits for a total value of $1.7 million.

Two-pole limit gets approval

STUART—Tentative approval for a limit of two poles for surf fishermen on Martin County beaches was given by the legislative delegation at a public hearing last Friday.

Legislators said they wanted comment from the Town of Jupiter Island before they adopt the measure which was proposed by the Martin County Anglers Club.

About half of the oceanfront in Martin County is within the Town of Jupiter Island.

Some residents claim sports fishermen were catching large amounts of fish and selling them in competition with commercial fishermen. Also, it was noted that with the county's rapid growth the beach space should be conserved.

The delegation also gave conditional approval to a proposal that county assessors and tax collectors be empowered to collect special assessments. Sen. Phil Lewis said he thinks they now have that power. Martin County plans assessments for at least one road building project.

According to Peter Navaretta, Dean of Student Affairs at FIT, the college enrolls three to four students annually as a result of the Normandy High School visit. FIT has participated in the high school program for the past four years.

UF drive is over $40,000

JENSEN BEACH—More than $40,000 has been collected in the Martin County United Fund campaign, UF president Ken Ferguson said Tuesday.

"We hope to complete the campaign by the last of February," Ferguson said.

"All the letters have been mailed," he said, "but anybody who has not received a letter should contact us or voluntarily mail in their contributions."

This year's goal is $96,000.

Sewall's Point candidates are unopposed for election

SEWALL'S POINT—The Town of Sewall's Point will hold an election March 5, but the three candidates for the three commission seats are unopposed.

Mayor Harry Sisson and Commissioner Daniel Morrell are not seeking reelection and Commissioner Robert Wilson resigned last January.

The only candidate who qualified for a seat on the commission are John Rossiter, 52 S. Sewall's Point Rd. Roger G. Morgan, 21 Ridgeview Rd., Homewood subdivision and William Sowden, 12 Copaire Rd.

Rossiter and Morgan are seeking the two expired four-year terms of Mayor Sisson and Commissioner Morrell while Sowden is seeking to fill the unexpired two-year term of Wilson.

The three new commissioners will be accompanied on the board by Francis E. Clarke, who was appointed last June to fill the unexpired term of William H. Cobb who resigned, and Clay Lambeth.

AEC seeks comments on No. 2

JENSEN BEACH—The Atomic Energy Commission is issuing for comment a draft environmental statement for the St. Lucie Unit No. 2 nuclear plant proposed by Florida Power and Light Company for construction in St. Lucie County.

Unit 2, which would use a pressurized water type reactor would have an electrical generating capacity of approximately 850,000 kilowatts. The St. Lucie site is located approximately midway between Ft. Pierce and Jensen Beach.

The commission is seeking comments on the draft statement from federal and state agencies as well as interested members of the public. After consideration of the comments, a final environmental statement will be issued by the AEC Regulatory Staff which will contain a conclusion as to whether, from the standpoint of environmental effects, a construction permit will be issued. The final statement will be part of the Regulatory Staff evidence at the public hearing which will be held before a determination on the construction permit is made.

Comments should be sent by April 1, 1974, to the Deputy Director for Reactor Projects, Directorate of Licensing, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545.

Extended school year is taxpayers' subject

STUART—George M. Jensen, of Horse Shoe, N.C., president of the National Council on Year-round Education and chairman of the National School Calendar Study Committee, will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Martin County Taxpayer's Association.

The meeting will be held at the Stuart Woman's Club building, E. Ocean Blvd. at 8 p.m., Friday.

The public is invited. Invitations have also been sent to the Martin County Education Association, the various Parent-Teachers Associations throughout Martin County, the School Board and the lay committee on Extended School Year.

The Taxpayers Association funded the ESY committee, which was headed by Dr. James E. Harrell. Three of the association's directors served on that committee.

Jensen, a retired industrialist and mechanical engineer, former president of TEMTROL Corp. of Minneapolis, Minn., was organizer and is present chairman of the National School Calendar Study Committee, a non-profit organization created in 1966 to encourage nationwide investigation and discussion of the present but obsolete school calendar.

Jensen headed the Minneapolis School Board for five terms and is a former member of the Minnesota Governor's Commission on School Aids and Formulas.

He served in many honorary positions in Minnesota. He is the parent of five children, is a writer, lecturer and consultant to many school districts and state departments of education on the subject of year-round education.

Jensen devotes full time to year-round education although he retired to his current residence at Luck 'Ht Lodge, Horse Shoe, N.C., some years ago.

He will be introduced by Edison D. Curtis, a director of the Taxpayers Association, who was one of the three directors to serve with Dr. Harrell on the Extended School Year Study Committee. Also serving from the board on that committee were Dawson Zaug and Jack A. Robinson.

The Taxpayers Association first became interested in ESY over two years ago, and has continued to study it and its possible application to Martin County Schools where the financial crunch of twelve state classroom construction funds and the refusal of local voters to approve a construction bond issue has made the greater use of the school plant in some manner a probability.

Jensen is expected to answer questions at the close of his talk.

E.C. Wareheim, president of the Taxpayers Association will open the meeting and report on the year's accomplishments. There will be a brief business meeting and election of directors before Jensen is introduced.

AT FIRST NATIONAL—Florida Citrus Week, Feb. 15 through 23, is being promoted by the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart. The bank will have the above fruit stand displayed in its lobby and each day at 2 p.m. a drawing will take place. Winners will receive a gift-wrapped box of citrus. Tickets may be obtained from any of the bank's tellers free; then can be deposited in a container at the bank's information desk.

Nuke fight is off

STUART—Martin County Commissioners have decided not to continue their fight to block the emergency cooling facilities at the nuclear plant of Florida Power and Light Co.

Last year the commission had asked the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to hold a public hearing on plans for using Indian River water to cool the plant's nuclear reactor in case of emergency.

Commissioners had expressed concern about effects of the emergency cooling operations on the river's ecology. They are still concerned, but decided that a public hearing and expression of further objection would be a waste of time.

FP&L held an informal hearing several days ago with conservationists of Martin and St. Lucie Counties.

100 PER CENT—Ken Ferguson, right, president of the Martin County United Fund, receives a $125 check from J.M. Brown, executive vice president and managing officer of American Security Bank. The check represents 100 per cent participation by bank employees.

Three-lane A1A is considered

STUART—A third lane may be added to A1A on Hutchinson Island, giving left turning motorists a center lane to help ease traffic congestion.

Cost of the additional lane will be paid for by developers who are now being required by Martin County to add six feet of pavement to each side of the highway.

The new plan of a three-lane road in the heavily developed area of the island is a change from previous policy which required developers to build seven-foot and deceleration lanes at their developments.

A county engineer said developers he has contacted have agreed to the new plan.

Bafalis nominates two youths

STUART—U.S. Rep. L.A. Skip Bafalis has nominated two Stuart youths as candidates for admission for the Military Academy.

They are Philip Stancil, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Stancil, 206 Washington Ave., Stuart, and Donald White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald White, MacArthur Blvd., Stuart.

They will compete for four 19th congressional vacancies, one each at the Naval Academy, Military Academy, Air Force Academy and the Merchant Marine Academy.

Island condos get approval

STUART—Site and construction plans for Suntide, an 80-unit Hutchinson Island condominium apartment, were approved by Martin County Commission last week.

Also, commissioners approved a sketch plan and part of the site plan for a 73-unit condominium complex on the island known as The Maritimes.

Under the commission's policy, the two projects may lost their housing ration if they don't move ahead rapidly with construction.

Commissioner Turner Powers noted that the commission has about 2,000 housing units to allot in developers in the next few years.

Planning consultant Robert Doyle has advised the commission that the two bridges serving the island at present can't serve more than about 2,000 new units.

Powers said that if developers who have been given their allotments do not use their housing units promptly, the units should be assigned to somebody else who will use them.

Suntide, a project of Deal Development is expected to start construction as soon as building permits are received. Eight oceanfront units have been allotted to Suntide which is about half nine north of Stuart public beach.

Attorney Michael Duren for Maritimes, a 73-unit complex between Stuart and Jensen Beach, objected to the January deadline. He said construction is expected to be started within two years but not completed.

The Maritimes project extends from the ocean to the Indian River.

In other action on condominiums commissioners approved a site plan for a 378-unit condominium apartment complex which is adjacent to Halpatiokee Country Club north of Stuart.

PLAQUE—Ray Brogan, left, public relations officer for the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Stuart, presents the outstanding citizens award plaque to David Latham who organized the Cathy Mraws Fund, raising $30,000 to purchase a kidney machine for the young lady.

In Martin County...

We're helping it happen!

Our business is not just money, it's also service. When Martin Memorial Hospital needed underwriting of its bond issue to enlarge its facilities, First National was there with the human resources and expertise... plus the desire... to be of assistance.

Fine medical facilities are essential to the well-being of a community. In Martin County we are fortunate to have an excellent one in Martin Memorial Hospital. But, as our area grows — so must the hospital. All the skills of the dedicated surgeons, nurses and technicians are not enough if the physical plant itself is not adequate to handle the increasing work load.

New equipment and physical expansion do not just happen. It takes money, lots of it. A completely equipped new operating room costs $80,000. The current expansion will cost approximately $7.5 million when completed. By furnishing the financial expertise of our Trust Department, Martin Memorial Hospital was able to obtain a highly favorable rating for the hospital's bonds. By helping to keep the cost of money as low as possible, we've helped Martin Memorial Hospital make the money raised by the bonds to go further.

For those projects that make a positive contribution, First National is always anxious to be of assistance. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you and our community.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "the bank that grew up with Martin County." We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of "helping it happen" for Martin County's future. You can help it happen too by attending the Martin Memorial Hospital Ball March 23rd.

Anchor Line Yacht Club installs new officers

BY LESTER C. WEH

The Anchor Line Yacht Club held its annual Commodore's Ball at their Yacht Club on S R 707 in Rio on Saturday, Feb 9 with more than 120 members in attendance. The event climaxed a year of great club activity and monthly boat-a-cades, under the direction of outgoing Commodore, John Santarsiero, Sr.

The evening started with a dinner catered and served by Frank and Velma's Crow's Nest, after which the officers and directors-elect were installed by Master of Ceremonies Richard Campbell.

Officers installed were Fred Stein, Jr., Commodore; Dillard Collier, Vice Commodore; Lon Wear, Rear Commodore; Merle Phillips, secretary; Dauson MacCullum, treasurer; and Frank Robertson, fleet captain.

The new directors are William Heger, John Marshall, Robert Conkling, Rae Carroll and John Jenkins. The following directors have one more year to complete their term: Catherine Nix, William Gass and Lester Weh.

Retiring directors, after completing two-year terms were Gordon Beans, Ione Gerrie, Ira Henderson and Allen Moore. Also retiring is fleet captain Wayne Leland, and Walter Sutorius, treasurer, who completed four years of service.

Music for the ball was played by "The Smoothies". The Club was decorated in the club colors, blue and white. The committee, chaired by Pat and Bob Conkling, included Marion and Allen Moore, Marjorie and Roy Bishop and Gertrude and Les Weh.

Prizes won at card party

JENSEN BEACH--Marcella Deina was chairman of the card party given Feb. 14 at Langford Park by the Auxiliary of Barracks 854, VFW.

Special prizes were won by Minnie Wendell and Addie Farwell.

Table prizes went to Helga Spetz, Eleanor Diffendal, Aurelia Hamil, Addie Farwell, Lora Logenquist and Germaine Dhauyvetter.

Adults invited to 'Animal Farms' show

STUART--The movie "Animal Farms," based on George Orwell's novel of the same name, will be shown in room 58 Martin County High School at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 27.

"Animal Farms" satirizes communism, depicting through the eyes of animal characters the dehumanizing aspects of life in a communist state.

A critique of the film with analysis of the characters and group discussion will follow the film. Presentation will be by Mrs. Wanda Yarboro, chairman of social studies at the high school.

Adults are invited to view the film and participate in the discussion. There is no charge for admission.

For further information call 287-6400 extension 52.

Rainbow Wheel to see slides

JENSEN BEACH--Mrs. Helen Engebretsen of Jensen Beach Travel, will show colored slides at the next meeting of the Rainbow Wheel Club.

The meeting and luncheon will be held at the Crow's Nest on Tuesday, Feb. 26. All members are invited to attend.

NEW COMMODORE--Fred Stein Jr., center, was installed as commodore of the Anchor Line Yacht Club last Saturday night, Feb. 16 at the annual commodore's ball. Stein replaced John Santarsiero Sr., left. Richard Campbell was master of ceremonies and installing officer.

Duplicate Bridge

JENSEN BEACH--The Community Duplicate Bridge Club of Jensen Beach-Stuart held its regular session on Feb. 11 with 22 tables in play. The game was divided into two sections with 11 tables in each and an average of 108 in both directions. Section A winners were North-South: first with 170, Dr. and Mrs. F. Hendrickson; second with 127, Grant Shaffer and Morris Berg; and third with 124, Margie McKay and Helen Seeglitzer.

East-West winners were: first with 127, Ernest White and Steve Stanton; second with 125, Earl and Ozelle Barnes and third with 122, Doris Nelson and Ellie Smothers.

...ontractors hear Sen. Chiles

PORT ST. LUCIE—U.S. Sen. Lawton ...Chiles told state contractors at a ...meeting here Saturday night that he ...introduced a bill to amend the ...Occupational Safety and Health Act ...which many contractors oppose the ...most.

...Chiles said the most important ...item in the act with his amendment ...would be that federal inspectors would ...only make "inspections" without issuing ...any fines for violations on the ...spot.

...The senator said that has amendment ...would force publication of how much it ...will cost to institute safety and ...health measures that OSHA in-...spectors are pushing.

...Keynote convention speaker, State ...Sen. $200,000 expansion approved

PORT ST. LUCIE—The second phase of the Cultural, Educational and Social Association (CESA) complex moved another step closer to becoming a reality following the approval of the latest sketches of the proposed expansion by the CESA board of directors last Tuesday.

The proposed $200,000 addition to the complex, which is part of a long range plan for the one million cultural center, will include the construction of classrooms and an assembly hall.

The sketches, as submitted by George Asklof, the architect, included a 500 seat assembly hall with portable stage, two classrooms, one for ceramics and the other for art classes, 25 by 30' and a shop 25' by 50'.

When completed the complex will serve as a crafts and arts building for Indian River Community College and become an off campus facility. The college will completely equip the building and in addition will pay CESA $300 per month rent.

The college now pays CESA $200 per month for the use of the community center.

The board also approved 5,000 brochures to be printed by IRCC to be used by the finance committee.

Mel Brown, chairman of the finance committee, will begin the fund raising drive the first of March.

The CESA board approved the striping of the parking lot—54 spaces. In an effort to discourage vandalism, they are checking into installing night lighting.

In other action the board:

APPROVED service in cooperation with St. Pierre Hospital of providing a blood pressure machine with R.N. to handle it. Ruth McDonnell will be chairman and details will be announced later.

WILL DISTRIBUTE copies of a questionaire the educational committee worked up asking what kind of courses people are interested in, who teach and who can assist in teaching the classes, and asking for suggestions as to how CESA can be of service.

Jr. Woman's poster winners announced

PORT ST. LUCIE The St. Lucie Junior Woman's Club announced the winners in their Children's Valentine making contest.

In kindergarten winners were Suzie See for the prettiest, Bill Martin, most original, Cindy Moore, second, and Michael McNeill, third place. Honorable mentions went to Stephanie Lopez, Robert Gryden, Lisa Shatto, Eric Moses, Margaret Holland and Cynthia Lamphere.

In grades 1-3, winners were Candi Varnes, prettiest, Beth Martin, most original, Beth Barrow, second place, and Mary Satchwell, third. Honorable mentions went to Norman Hamilton, Steve Mathis, Jamie Vincent, Richard Thompson, Phillip Mathews, and Billy Moore.

In grades 4-5, winners were Staci Nix for the prettiest, John Pankray, most original, Virginia Newton, second, and John Baron, third. Honorable mentions went to Lisa Sessman, Karen Haskew, Teresa Prussing, Pam Flippen, Eliza Beth Jones, and James Elliott.

Miss Frieda Cook, Mrs. Eleanor Goring, and Mrs. Thelma Campbell of the Port St. Lucie Homemakers Club selected the winners. Their task was difficult, because of all the Valentines submitted.

...Groundbreaking Friday

Construction starts on school

PORT ST. LUCIE Groundbreaking ceremonies for the Port St. Lucie Elementary School will be held at 10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 22 at the 15 acre school site just north of the baseball field on Prima Vista Boulevard, St. Lucie County School Superintendent D.R. Seelinger announced Tuesday.

Seelinger said a $300,000 contract for the first phase of construction has been awarded to Richard Davis Construction of Fort Pierce.

"I feel like we are ahead of schedule," Seelinger said, "but I don't know if we will be ready for a September opening."

"But I'm going to push hard to get the school open by September," the superintendent added. "We will move as quickly as possible."

Seelinger has been pushing hard for the south county school ever since he took office, and he noted that "I walked construction plans for the building through the State Department of Education in Tallahassee."

The estimated cost of the 24 room building for grades kindergarten through grade five is $1.3 million. Seelinger said this includes land, building and equipment.

When Davis Construction completes its work steel, roof and walls, the next contractor will be under cover," he said.

The land was purchased from General Development Corp. (GDC) for $3,000 per acre.

GDC sold at prime land and have cooperated with all the way, Seelinger said.

The construction of the Port St. Lucie school is the fulfillment of a campaign promise to south county residents, made during the 1972 general election.

Faced with a possible construction material shortage, Seelinger steadfastly maintained during the past few months that the school would be open in September.

...PSL youth is nominated

PORT ST. LUCIE—U.S. Rep. L.A. (Skip) Bafalis has nominated a Port St. Lucie youth to the Naval Academy.

The youth is Daniel Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Peters, 234 Reynolds Ave., Port St. Lucie.

He will compete for four 10th congressional vacancies in the Naval Academy, Military Academy, Air Force Academy, and the Merchant Marine Academy.

Riverside Village News

BY VIRGINIA DRYER
FOR HELEN M. GITHENS

You will be pleased to hear that the father of your regular reporter, Helen M. Githens, has improved sufficiently to allow Helen to return to the park. The column will again next week, be in her own style.

Over 300 people attended the Riverside Village Hobby Show in the recreation hall last Monday. There was a fine display of items made by the people of the park, many of which were on sale. The weather was a little cool and coffee was consumed by the gallons and cookies by the dozens. The cars were parked by Clifford Smith and guests were registered by Vi Gale. Irene Bigham was in charge of the white elephant sale. Sue O'Rourke, Orpha Woodring and Theresa Hothy handled the general sales with Toby DeVlieghe and Henry Johnson in the men's corner. Mae Engurud served as hostess. Serving refreshments were Elaine Ireland, Hazel Brown, Gertie Hume, Edith Rouna, Katie Siegel, Elsie DeVlieghe, Alma Grunwold and Ava Wellington with Virginia Dryer as chairman.

Clyde and Virginia Dryer have returned to the park after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Tift of Oklawaha, Fla. Both couples are summer residents of Reading, Mich.

Former park residents, Virgil and Elizabeth Hartley were overnight guests of the Ed Ingrues Monday night. They are presently residents of Lakeland. On Tuesday evening the Ingrues and their guests called on Leonard Koehler at the D & M Mobile Home park.

Many Riverside Village people enjoyed the senior citizens Valentine party Wednesday evening held at the Jensen Beach Community Church.

Over fifty park residents were treated to a Valentine Bingo party Thursday p.m. It was hosted by the people on Fourth Street. Much fun and pretty packages of sweets daintily wrapped in hearts and flowers. Grand prize winner was Hayward Runou.

Sunday evening guests in the home of Ed and Dolsy Ingrue were Lucille McElfresh and Eunice Hamilton of Jensen Beach.

Kenneth and Irene Bigham have as guests for the week their son and daughter in-laws from North Tonawanda, N.Y. On Monday evening, on the way back from the West Palm Beach airport they visited with aunts and uncles of Kenneth Jr. at Lake Worth and Lantana. Ken's wife's name is Marilyn.

At this time Marcella McGinley is in the Martin County Memorial Hospital annex and is recuperating nicely. She would appreciate receiving cards from her friends. Her room number is 114.

On Sunday evening as John Phillipi was parking his car, preparatory to leaving for his home in Philadelphia, Pa. the trunk lid fell on his head. He was taken to the hospital by Kenneth Bigham where several stitches were required to close the wound. Although the doctor advised against traveling, John and Mary left for home at 7 a.m. Monday morning.

Betty Preisach and Margarete Daube of Corfu, N.Y. were overnight guests of Gert Hume. From Monday to Wednesday Gert had as houseguests Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Humphrey of Silver Springs, N.Y.

Virgil and Ruth Robinson, along with two couples visiting them from Iowa, left on a cruise to Bermuda.

Our park manager, Mrs. Alice DeBarge, has returned home from a stay at the Martin County Memorial hospital. She is much improved but has to take it very easy with no excitement.

Mr. and Mrs. Galen Shaffer from Mishawa, Ind. are visiting their parents, the Remi Hothy's of Third Street. The Shaffers are staying at the new Howard Johnson Motor Inn in Stuart.

Ruth and Kenny Bieging from Stillwater, Minn. visited Ray and Muriel Freebury of Fourth Street. The Biegings are staying at Venture Out. Other guests in the Freebury home were Lee and Judy Clemence of W. Palm Beach.

Forty people attended the carry-in dinner held at the recreation hall Wednesday night.

Bill Warsop on Second Street spent a few days last week with friends from N.Y. at their winter home in Melbourne.

Several people have received cards from Slim Shelburne who is touring Central America. He reports that he has found good hotels and good food but there are too many cars and too many poor drivers.

Marion and Orpha Woodring are enjoying a visit from their grandson from Toledo, Ohio. They packed him up at the W. Palm Beach airport on Friday.

Gang has Mardi Gras

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Friday Nite Gang really "hung one on" at its Mardi Gras session at the Port St. Lucie Marina last Friday night.

The Marina was taxed to the limit. Every table and chair was put to use and 3 special prizes were given away.

The gang snooper was kept busy registering visitors and first timers. Visitors were Elsie Silpetz from Chicago and Mary Katyluk from Dudburg, Ontario visiting the Ohewchicks. Mr. and Mrs. John Fodor and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Levett from Wyoming, Mich., visiting the Wally Manorows. Catherine Schabber from Morristown, N.J. visiting the Campaglios. Joseph Panzer from Newark, N.J. visiting the Radices. Mary Barrett from Kearney, N.J. and Jack Kwalick from Harrison, N.J., visiting Judy and Fred Kiesel.

Attending the gang for the first time were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hollidge, Robert K. Moncure, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nielson and Mrs. Nirld and Sherry.

The gang snooper came up with two birthdays, Wally Manrow and Earl Campbell. A special quarterette of select females rendered the usual birthday song and bussed the birthday boys. Also during the intermission the gang enjoyed homemade cookies with their coffee, furnished by the wives of the birthday boys.

Three special prizes were given away during the night's play and a special prize of a box of citrus donated by George Petrie was won by Betty deHenne while the main prize of a merchandise certificate was won by Natalie Deible.

At last week's meeting of the gang, the main prize was won by Dorothy Jenkins.

VOLUNTEER: Mrs. Edith Lepore has been awarded a certificate for 15 years' service as a volunteer with the American Cancer Society. The certificate was awarded through the Union County Chapter in New Jersey. Mrs. Lepore, a member of the PSL area, has given untold hours during her fifteen years to many projects for the American Cancer Society. Mrs. Lepore is interested in continuing her work here and is anxious to become a member of the local chapter. Mrs. Lepore resides at 150 N. Arbor Drive, Port St. Lucie.

Name the book for CESA

PORT ST. LUCIE--The CESA Volunteers are editing recipes for the CESA recipe book, which is one of their many money-making efforts for the expansion of buildings and programs in the CESA region.

The Recipe Book needs a name and a prize of $25 will be awarded to the person who suggests the judges as having the best name. More recipes are also needed in all categories.

Deposit boxes are located at the CESA building and at the North Port St. Lucie Marina or you can mail entries to CESA, 2000 W. Prima Vista Blvd. The deadline is Feb. 28.

Pinochle Club offers instruction

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie Pinochle Club has begun instruction for those who desire to learn the game or who wish to brush-up on their play after a long absence from the tables.

All area players are welcome to take part in the play which is from 7 to 9:30 p.m. each Sunday in the CESA building on W. Prima Vista Blvd.

Pitt have visitors

PORT ST. LUCIE--Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Palmer are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fritz of Port St. Lucie. Mr. Palmer attended the quilling exhibition of the Beautiful Waters Homemakers Club on Tuesday where he learned this new art to take back to Cincinnati, Ohio, to her hospital and Homemakers groups.

Family night planned for Catholic parish

STUART--Excitement and fun begins at 6 p.m. next Monday at the Stuart Youth Center, Flagler Drive as Father Michael Sullivan entertains entire families of his new Jensen Beach Catholic Parish.

A generous gesture by Jim McMahon, Recreational Director of Stuart will make the entire facilities of Youth Center available to St. Martin Parish on Monday, the 25th, said Father Sullivan, administrator of the parish.

The extensive facilities of the Center affords us the first opportunity we have had to invite all members of the parish to bring out their families for an evening of pleasure and Kathy Klett, general chairman of the supper, is preparing an interesting program for the occasion concluded Father Michael.

The doors of Youth Center will be opened at 6 p.m. Picnic box dinners brought by each family will be seated at tables in the main recreation hall. Coffee will be free and soft drinks will cost 25 cents.

Dinners will listen to tape music of Bob Kutschner who played at the Knights of Columbus New Year's Party during the dessert period.

The games room will then be opened. Pool tables, ping pong table, shuffle board, knick knacks and various games will be available.

When the participioners have finished dinner, Father Sullivan will address them on church matters.

Joseph D. Forsberg and his Swinging Seniors Band will play following Father Michael's address. The program will include the Baptist College Quartet, soloists, specialty numbers and a sing-along of all time hit songs both old and new. Separate rock and roll dance music will be played for the teenagers on the second floor of the games room.

Ladies will be in attendance to assist with children if needed.

The evening will come to a close at approximately 9 p.m. Parishioners requiring further information may telephone Kathy Klett, chairman at [illegible].

PSL Homemakers Club held monthly meeting

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie Homemakers Club held its monthly meeting at the marina on Valentine's Day. Red cupids and red hearts decorated each table. Home-baked cakes and cookies decorated in the day's theme were served by Ros Chatlage and her committee. Celia Kuchinski, Bea Poverumo and Gladys Schneider.

Gourmet chef Walter Wingberg was the special guest. He prepared Chicken Sauté Marengo from an old Italian recipe, combining chicken, tiny onions, wine, Italian tomatoes, mushrooms and pitted olives. He placed the chicken on heart-shaped toasts and decorated it with large shrimps, tomatoes and chopped parsley. During the preparation Wingberg told the members that this dish was served for the first time to Napoleon Bonaparte at Marengo, Italy in 1[illegible].

Youth group will have pancake supper

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Youth Group of the Holy Faith Episcopal Church I. S. 1 Port St. Lucie, will sponsor a Pancake Supper on Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 26, from 5 to 7 p.m. in the Parish Hall.

Defensive driving course is slated

STUART–A defensive driving course, sponsored by the Adult Education Department of Martin County Schools, will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 21, at Martin County High School.

"Our defensive driving course gives drivers a system of spotting hazards and reacting to them before they become accidents," Henry Childers said.

Childers, director of the adult education program, said the class will meet for four sessions, and said there is no registration fee.

Trinity United Methodist women were pleased at the twenty nine ladies from Lake Manor who attended the luncheon on Feb. 13. In turn our ladies were pleased with the delicious chicken meal they so graciously served and also how lovely the tables looked with the beautiful hibiscus.

Our men's coffee again had a good turnout with around twenty attending. Max Berdine and Bill Eastman served. Next coffee is March 2.

Shuffler three time winners were Jack Bell and lee Tucker, with two full courts.

A new sink is being installed in our laundry room by several willing men. To date, I have seen Ed Stuart and Ken Dubuque at this job; no doubt there are more.

This will be a big asset to us, especially on pot luck nights and so all our ladies are very grateful for this project being completed.

A very large group turned out for bingo on the 22nd and all seemed to have a great deal of fun. Glenn Oakes was our very good caller.

Two circles of square dancers enjoyed themselves again on Wed. night with interested onlookers also.

Dottie Beamer feels a deep need to be with her mother who is ill and so will be leaving for N.J. on Sat., the 23rd. Harry will be batching it.

On Sunday, Feb. 17, a reception was given by Ethel and Clair Brewer in their home, former residents of Lake Manor, for Doris and Lee Tucker in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary.

About sixty guests attended the party for the Tuckers, including thirteen from Va. and N.C.

Grandaughters pouring punch and coffee were Eileen Brooks, Tallahassee, Anne Hill, Durham, N.C., Pamela Hill, U. of Va., Charlottsville, Birth Hill, Va. Beach, Va. Guest book recorder, Jeffrey Milligan, Univ. Park, Md.

Other out of town guests were Mrs. C.B. Brooks, Ft. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Brooks Jr., Ft. Pierce; Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Brooks III, Tallahassee; Lt. Com. and Mrs. J.D. Hill, Va. Beach, Va.; Alice Hill, Va. Beach, Va.; Ginny Lou Hill, Va. Beach, Va.; Betsy and Riley Bennett, Ft. Pierce; Lt. Col. and Mrs. R.F. Milligan, Scott Milligan, Michelle Milligan, all from University Park, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayland W. Whittemore, McLean, Va., and Deerfield Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gunter, Deerfield Beach; Mrs. June Carleton, Deerfield Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Heath Ruvell from Stuart.

Also some friends from Lake Manor. A beautiful table was set up and pretty dainty sandwiches and cookies served.

A dinner party was given the Tuckers by their family at the Sheraton Hotel on the beach and all the above attended, including Ethel and Clair Brewer. It was a lovely day for all.

Reminders: pot luck on Thursday, 6 p.m.; reception on Sunday the 24th from 3 to 5 p.m. for the 50th anniversary of Elma and Howard French, Karl and Margaret Rosengarth and Doris and Lee Tucker.

Cook of the Week

BY RUTH BOWMAN

Strawberry Fluff

JENSEN BEACH–I bought three boxes of strawberries the other day. The top ones were big, beautiful and ripe. The second layers were not as big or as ripe, and the bottom strawberries were "strawberries".

We used the goodies of cereal and on ice cream for as long as they lasted, and I made my SWEET STRAWBERRY FLUFF with the smaller ones. I use the fluff with a simply made sheet cake but it can be used over any type of cake, pudding or ice cream.

SWEET STRAWBERRY CAKE

2 cups flour
½ cup sugar
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt

Sift dry ingredients, rub or cut in a piece of butter (about 2 tablespoons). Drop in 1½ eggs (save second white for the Fluff). Add ¾ cups milk and 1 tsp. vanilla. Beat 2 minutes.

Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees in an oblong pan. Top with white of egg

STRAWBERRY FLUFF

pinch of cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
1 cup crushed berries

Beat egg white, tartar and sugar together until very stiff. Beat in strawberries, saving a few pieces of ripe ones to garnish the dessert. I use my electric mixer to beat this, then toss the whole strawberries one by one into the mixer blades. This cuts them in pieces. Serve on the cake.

Bank sign tells time

STUART–As part of the recent expansion program, Stuart National Bank has added a new electronic sign. Located on East Ocean Boulevard, the sign contains 448 electric lights, 2,400 solid state components and 9,000 feet of wire.

Jack T. Williams, bank president, said the sign exhibits the time and temperature in addition to promotional messages for the bank and public service announcements.

Williams said that the electronic sign is the first of its type in the southeast.

Diabetes group meets in Ft. Pierce

FT. PIERCE–The next meeting of the Indian River Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation will be Monday, Feb. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ft. Pierce Library. All diabetics are invited to attend.

For the first time, an insurance company has offered life insurance for diabetics and their families at standard rates. More information may be obtained at this Feb. meeting, according to Renee M. Marsteller, secretary.

Church Aid Circle meets February 27th

JENSEN BEACH–Members and friends of the Church Aid Circle, Jensen Beach Community Church, are reminded of the Feb. 27 meeting. The executive board will meet at 11 a.m. and the regular meeting is at 1 p.m.

Tickets for the March 19 style show will be available.

The program will be a speaker from the Social Security office.

Car pools will be formed for a visit to the Pioneer Center on Tuesday, March 5.

The park is rejoicing at the election returns from the annual meeting. All the resolutions were carried. The returns are as follows: Resolution No. 1, Yes, 69, No. 25; No. 2, Y-441, N-7; No. 3 Y-442, N-4; No. 4, Y-441, N-8; No. 5, Y-423, N-25; No. 6 Y-423, N-23; No. 7, Y-439, N-9; No. 8, Y-412, N-35. Returns for Board of Directors follow: Richard Clark, 285; Willard McCabe, 346; Palma Smaniotto, 264; Vergual Smith, 143; Bertram Turner, 236; and a write-in vote of 60 for Ruth Bowes. The Sunday edition of the B. F. Pierce paper carried a featyre article on our park and its progress toward total self-government in the past four years.

The Loren Updikes have had Loren's brother sisters visiting them during the past two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tilfam, Lake Worth, drove up and spent three days here. They had just left when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Albright, Jonesville, Wisc., and Mrs. Velma Hacker Wesauwega, Wisc., arrived in their camper to spend five days here before leaving for Lake Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olson, Jonesville, Wisc., arrived a few days later in their camper for an overnight stay, but will be back on the 23rd to stay for two weeks here, after a reunion at Lake Worth. The Olsons spent several days here last year and could hardly wait to get back.

Dorothy Zlatykanics, Mary Lou Lupke, and Betty Shelly have been here for two weeks, and just were joined by Mary Lou's husband, Dick Lupke and their daughters, Chrissie and Sandy, who will stay until the 28th before heading back to Michigan. The Lupkes and Mrs. Shelly are children of Bea and Oscar Lupke, lot 48, who are here for the entire winter each year.

Lisette and George Labbe came in from chilly Quebec to attend the annual meeting and stay for some sunshine and suntan.

Bill and Kathryn Smith are in for their winter stay with us, joined this year by several of their children and their youngsters. There has been a good deal of coming and going, but the Smiths are happy to be with their family.

One of our young visitors lost her wallet during the week but counts herself fortunate that it was returned to the rec hall.

Charles and "Chum" Abel are back for a long winter vacation. Their next door neighbor here in the park, Sandy and Betty Crawford, are also here to soak up the sunshine. Both couples are from Ontario, Canada.

Bob and Gert Long used their motorhome to carry eleven friends to the Grant Seafood Festival on Sunday, where all enjoyed the meal and entertainment. With the Longs were Gladys and Howard Kirkpatrick, Lillian and George Bares, Donna and Bob Cooke, Marvin and Evie Smith, Averil and Geneva Ramsey and Betty Taylor.

Roger and Joan Bryne, W. Palm Beach, accompanied by Leslie and Danny, were at the park over the long weekend.

Nelson Beatty caught a beauty of a black drum off one of the bridges last week. It weighed an even nine pounds.

The Carl May family has reluctantly left for home in Sparta, Mich. They will return next year.

Pat and Marian Kime are expecting Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Walterick and daughter in for a two week stay. Mrs. Walterick is the Kime's daughter.

The Schultzes, lot 145, are entertaining their son Chick, his wife Sue, and their sons Bobby and Matt.

Jean and Ed Modesitt, Rockville, Md., Peggy and John Fleming and Jean and Mac McCabe, went to the Grant Seafood Festival on Saturday. It rained and everyone got wet, but the food was still good and they enjoyed their trip. (Should have waited till Sunday, it was sunny!)

Billie and Ted Killough, Chattanooga, Tenn., stayed with us for several days on lot 206. This is their fifth year at the park.

Bingo: Celia Deutchman, Evelyn Lang, Mildred Stall, Helen Naylor, Ernest Dewhurst, tie game between mary Kubiak and Mildred Stall, M. Brookhart, Eleanor Prew, George Trumbull, Georgeanna Mohr, Kay Hamann and George Bares tied for the final coverall. The good neighbor game was a three way tie. Winner, Evelyn Adams, L., Thomas Naylor, R., Dot Walling, Winner, Bea Lupke, L. Mary Lupke, R., Betty Shelly, Winner, Ed Storck, L., E L. Storck, R., E. Moriarty. Ruth Bowes says thanks to the friends who stepped in to help when Earl was too ill to be there.

Jay and Sylvia Posthumus left Friday for Clearwater, then home to Michigan. They raved about our wonderful park.

Donna and Robert Cooke, Anthony, W.Va., came in Saturday evening to spend their honeymoon in the park. The young Cookes are friends of the Marvin Smiths and the Averil Ramseys.

Our own Carrie is gone for a trip to Panama with her grandchild to visit a nephew who is chief pilot on the Panama Canal. Charley says "Peace, it's wonderful", but we know kidding when we hear it. The park is too quiet without her.

Judy and Carl Tyler came in from Lansing, Mich., on Saturday evening with their new 29' Vega. Carl will be here for only two weeks, but Judy will stay for two months. Good to see them back.

Church attendance Sunday was close to 130. Sally Fix on piano and George Bares on organ played for hymns and during the services. Soloist was Rosalie Bryson, accompanied by Grace Thau. The service was excellent as usual.

Happy birthday to Betty Nagy, Feb. 19; Earl Bowes on Feb. 23. Anniversary congratulations to Olive and George Taylor, Feb. 14, Jack and Evie Faust, 44 years on Feb. 18.

DEAR T. L.,
Recently I saw an ad that compared a certain condominium to a bungalow. It sounds charming. What is the definition of bungalow"?
Inquisitive

DEAR INQUISITIVE,
Bungalow is derived from a Hindu word meaning thatched house". Today bungalow refers more to a small, one story house or cottage. I agree, the idea behind bungalow is charming. The ad you mention is for Twin Lakes of Stuart, whose one story design and low density create a striking likeness to a community of bungalows.
The idea to advertise the condominiums as looking like bungalows came from comments made by prospective buyers as they browsed through the five different models. Twin Lakes' clubhouse, which is about 5000 sq. ft. features the same charming architecture. Twin Lakes offers a lot of pleasant living and is priced in the 20's.
Send your straight answers to your Condominium Questions. Write Dear T.L. Post Office Box 2753, Stuart, Florida 33494 or for free personal consultation come to Twin Lakes on U.S. No. 1 one mile south of Cove Road Stuart any day 10 a.m. until dark. No appointment necessary.

Oh! I don't take chances any more!
Now even my pin money makes money! The days when I hid money all over the house are gone.
I found it more beneficial to save money where it can earn more for me. I was constantly worried each time I left my house that it would be robbed or that after awhile I would forget where I hid my money. Now it's convenient and safe in my 5.1-4% passbook savings account at Community Federal Savings & Loan Association. I can get it out any time I please and the interest is compounded daily. There are few investments to compare with a savings account at Community Federal for versatility and return on your money. And all I have to remember now is where I left my passbook!

About 20 people, including myself, graduated from Civil Defense, Monday ..... Had two in the class with perfect scores. Hazel Seely and Mr. Upton. We were served coffee and cake by Mrs. Etta Creighton. Last Friday the class actually saw a natural childbirth and the balance of the week was spent learning how to apply splints and tie knots and stop bleeding along with other life saving methods. Sid Gelb was the instructor. At graduation the Civil Defense Director, Bryon E. Tredray, handed out our papers. Last Wednesday morning we had a doctor friend of Al Ganz to give us a talk. It's really been a most enjoyable week. Many thanks go to Joe Fischer and Andy DeFrank for putting this whole thing together.

So sorry to say goodbye to Doris and Joe Fischer, but Joe says they'll return as soon as possible.

Had a beautiful dance Saturday night, with Carl Greco and his band. Everyone loves the dances and we have so much fun. One fellow even danced on the table top.

Bob and Betty Sweeney have lots of company. Bob's parents and also her sister and her husband.

My company went home Thursday after having five beautiful days at the Sheraton Inn. They plan on buying a lot and a Tara and living here permanently.

Dr. Joe Kpscha from Gary, Ind., a former professional football player with the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions, is a new resident on our island. He's married and has four children, two sons and two daughters. Dr. Joe has a son that plays professional basketball. He plays for Florida Central. Michele is in school at Purdue for two years and Joe and Muriel are the other children. Welcome aboard.

Ruth Collins put on a Valentine Fashion Luncheon, all the tables were decorated beautifully and the food was very appropriate for Valentine's Day. Other helpers included Mrs. Hazel Ludwig, Marge Sivits, Etta Creighton, and Irma Vandergraaf. All the ladies that sew in our resort made something and modeled it. Many attended the event.

These tennis buffs and shuffleboard bums will play off on a Tuesday morning, more info next week.

We are mighty proud of Russell Crawford, our security police officer. On Jan. 30 he saved a life. Elmer Bruns had a heart attack and when Crawford got to his trailer he was lying on the floor. Crawford gave him mouth to mouth resuscitation until the ambulance arrived and they administered oxygen and took him to Ft. Pierce Memorial Hospital. He is recovering nicely. We think Crawford should be given a medal or some kind of recognition for his life-saving. He's been on our force since New Year's Eve.

'Penguin Summer'

STUART—Five species of penguins are the stars of the next Audubon Wildlife film scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday, March 1 at the Woman's Club on E. Ocean Blvd.

Filmed at the Falkland Islands by Dr. Olin Sewall Pettingill, Jr., "Another Penguin Summer" also stars other rare and colorful birds found on these islands, located 300 miles east of the southern tip of South America.

Dr. Pettingill is the director of the Laboratory of Ornithology at Cornell University, and is author of several books. He is also a contributing editor for the Audubon magazine and has just concluded sixteen years' service as a director of the National Audubon Society.

Dr. and Mrs. Pettingill first photographed the Falkland Island penguins in 1954-55 for Walt Disney, and later produced a film depicting the penguin's life cycle for Audubon.

Tickets for the film may be purchased at the door at 7:30 p.m. on the night of performance. All proceeds beyond costs support the Martin County Audubon Society's series of free school matinees.

Firestone's Carolyn Ryan has the experience to talk tire terminology

In December 1973 Carolyn Ryan of Stuart took on the title of Assistant Manager at Firestone of Stuart. Having been with Firestone since June 1972 she now handles the front office with the cool meticulous attention to detail of a Marine Corps precision drill Sgt.(ret) sergeant.

Born in Montreal Canada attractive 30 year old Carolyn seems to enjoy her new responsibilities and her life here in general. When asked she says she has no desire to return to her mother country.

Only one problem seems to prevail in Miss Ryan's life that of being confused with her sister Miss Jeannine brietzke employed at Stuart National Bank.

When buying tires don't be afraid to talk tire terminology. She'll make your head spin with sizes, brand names, statistics and prices. Belted, non belted, radial tubulers, 2 ply, 4 ply, she'll give you an answer to every one of them.

And since Firestone of Stuart also handles brakes, shocks, tune ups and a whole world of service categories Carolyn is familiar with them all. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bird of North River Shores. Miss Ryan is a graduate of Martin County High school.

Congratulations Miss Ryan and lots of luck

Ray Cooke instrumental in septic tank breakthrough

Early in June 1970 Ray Cooke introduced to this area an experimental device called a Septic Solids Retainer SSR.

It was installed in a few systems in the county and watched closely. Some of the systems chosen to participate were known to Cooke to be problem areas where service was needed at least once a year. To this date none of these systems have even needed a normal pump out.

The SSR Cooke says has been proven to be very successful. A regular septic tank pump out costs around $45.00. The cost of the SSR is $15.00 to $20.00.

The device was invented by J. Kenneth Quina and introduced to Cooke by the distributor Richard E. Harris.

The SSR not much bigger than a football, prevents undigested and septic solids from nearing the tank outlet and from leaving the tank with the normal liquid effluent thus causing stoppage of the drainfield.

While talking with the real General of the business Annette Wilken I found out that Cooke and his general manager Sam Banks share pretty much the same schedule as doctors, only they do make house calls at night. With phones in the office their cars and at home they're on call 24 hours a day.

SSR. Sam Banks, left, and Ray Cooke proudly display the latest innovation in their field, the Septic Solids Retainer, SSR. It is inexpensive and easily installed in any system.

Bronco League adds one team, drafts players

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH-The 1974 Jensen Beach Junior Baseball draft was held here last Friday evening, as the Bronco and Pony League coaches drafted their players for the coming season tentatively scheduled to begin on April 8th.

In the Bronco League, an expansion team, sponsored by the Jensen Beach Bank was added. Last year the bank sponsored the team that went on to capture the league championship in a 17-11 thriller. Typical of the league's excitement against OPF of Port Salerno. The returning players will be on the team sponsored by Coy and Degeller the new Bronco sponsor.

A list of the 1974 Bronco League rosters follows:

VFW	RIO CIVIC	JR BANK	COY & DEGGELLER
Darrell Delaney	Ken Suiter	Pat Downs	Kelly Greene
Pop Delaney	Scott Heggie	Steve Scott	Gil Oelschlager

Tigers go to 4-A tourney with tie

BY DONNIE WILKIE

The Martin County Tigers proved last week that they don't choke under pressure once again.

Under tremendous pressure from almost everybody the Tigers clinched a tie for the Suncoast Conference Eastern Division championship. They won their final seven games including a pair of victories last week.

On Tuesday night the Tigers got past Palm Beach Gardens 63-62 for the junior varsity, which has lost no more than one game in a season since Terry Moore took over as coach got clobbered by the PB Gardens junior varsity.

Gerald Preston inesbed 25 points and led the varsity Tigers to their 20th victory of the year. It was close all the way and had there been more time, PB Gardens might have pulled it out.

Then on Friday night the Tigers gave close all season long. Melbourne Twin Lakes, in the process of completing the Tigers efforts was Preston once again. But this time the scoring was well balanced. Behind Preston was Mike White who tallied 15. Walter Campbell got 12 in a winning cause for the Tigers who won the ball game 63-51.

So Martin County, which finished 21-2 on the regular season, will travel to Vero Beach to play in the District AAAA tournament tonight and Thursday. They along with host Vero Beach are the co-favorites. It must also be pointed out that in the past the Tigers have had considerable trouble in winning games on Vero Beach to the district tournament title will be a tremendous challenge for the two-time defending State AAA champions.

School food criteria

STUART-Mrs. Natalie A. Prentice, supervisor of Martin County School Food Service has announced a new reduced price meal policy for school children unable to pay the full price of meals served in schools under the National School Lunch Program.

The School Board of Martin County has adopted the following family [illegible] criteria for use in determining eligibility.

Family Size	New reduced price
1	$2,191 - 3,434
2	2,892 - 3,986
3	3,574 - 4,538
4	4,256 - 5,438
5	4,881 - 6,340
6	5,513 - 6,943
7	6,086 - 10,646
8	6,654 - 11,626
9	7,175 - 12,519
10	7,681 - 13,440
11	8,191 - 14,332
12	8,700 - 15,225

Children from families whose income is at or below these schools are eligible for meals free or at reduced prices. In addition, families not meeting this criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

[illegible] fill in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are [illegible] school. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications [illegible] are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has such children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, they should contact the school.

In the operation of child feeding programs no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy, the principal of the school that each child attends will review applications and determine eligibility.

If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official he may make a request either orally or in writing to Jack Simonse, assistant superintendent, 500 E. Ocean Boulevard, Stuart, for a hearing to appeal the decision. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the offices of the assistant superintendent at the Instructional Center and the superintendent at the Courthouse where it may be reviewed by any interested party.

If a child is already receiving a free or reduced price lunch, no action is necessary.

Section 9.01 Ethics

The Code of Ethics as provided by state general law shall apply to all employees and office holders of the Charter Government.

Any county official or employee of the County who has a substantial financial interest, direct or indirect, in any action by the County Commission shall make known that interest and shall refrain from voting upon or otherwise participating in such action. Violation of this section shall constitute a malfeasance in office and shall render the transaction voidable by the County Commission.

Section 9.02 Amendment of the Charter

A. In the manner provided by Law for the framing, proposal and submission of new Charters, a Charter Commission appointed by the County Commission may frame and propose amendments to this Charter, and shall submit any such amendment to the voters of the County.

B. The County Commission may by ordinance propose amendments to this Charter. Every such ordinance shall contain the full text of the Charter amendment. Elections on Charter amendments shall be held at a general election if a general election falls within six months of the effective date of the ordinance. If not, the election shall be held not more than 90 nor less than 45 days subsequent to the effective date of the ordinance.

Section 9.03 Construction

The powers granted by this Charter shall be construed liberally in favor of the Charter Government.

Section 9.04 Conflict of County Ordinance with Municipal Ordinance

In order to provide for orderly growth, county ordinances arising from the county planning powers granted by section 6.01 shall prevail when in conflict with any ordinance adopted by a municipality in Martin County. Except that municipal ordinances which are more restrictive than county ordinances shall prevail within the municipality to the extent that they are more restrictive. In the case of county ordinances not arising from county planning powers, municipal ordinances in conflict with said ordinances shall prevail within the municipality to the extent of the conflict.

Section 9.05 Severability

If any provision of this Charter is held invalid, the other provisions of this Charter shall not be affected thereby. If the application of this Charter, or any of its provisions to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the application of the Charter and its provisions to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Section 9.06 Existing Contracts

No provision of this Charter shall be construed to interfere with any valid contract entered into by the former government.

Section 9.07 Legal Actions Involving the County

A. The county, its departments and department heads, including elected officials, and all county employees acting in their official capacity shall only sue and be sued as "Martin County, a chartered political subdivision of the state of Florida."

B. The exclusive method of obtaining service of process on the County shall be by service of process on the County Attorney, an assistant county attorney or a deputy county attorney. In the absence of all of these from the county, service shall be on the county administrator or acting county administrator as provided for in section 6.01 B.

Section 9.08 Existing Districts, Authorities and Boards

Special taxing districts, public authorities and boards in existence in Martin County at the time of adoption of this charter may by ordinance, be abolished, amended, contracted or expanded in accordance with state general law or this Charter.

The initial qualifying and election of the following officials of the County Government shall be held at the times established for the general election of November, 1976: Tax Collector, County Assessor, Director of Elections, Sheriff, County Clerk of the Courts.

Section 10.02 Election of Initial County Commission

The initial County Commission shall be composed of County Commissioners in office at the time of adoption of this Charter. They shall serve until the end of the term for which elected. Subsequent County Commission elections shall be as presently provided by state general law for the Constitutional office of County Commissioner.

Section 10.03 Offices and Officers of Former Government

All offices, officials, boards, commissions and agencies shall continue to perform their respective duties and functions until their respective successors have been elected, appointed or otherwise provided for by the County Commission. Unless otherwise provided by this Charter all offices, officials, boards and agencies of the former government shall continue to exist on the effective date of this Charter and all powers, duties and functions thereof shall be transferred and vested in the Charter Government. All offices, officials, boards, commissions and agencies shall upon the effective date of this Charter promptly account for and release to the Charter Government any and all property for which they would have been accountable to any former government.

Section 10.04 Employees Continuation

All employees of the former government shall, on the effective date of this Charter, become employees of the Charter Government without any loss of benefits. Salaries of all employees shall be continued initially at no less than the same level as on the date of the referendum approving this charter.

Section 10.05 Regulations and Proceedings Continued

All ordinances and resolutions of the county in force when this Charter becomes effective and all lawful rights, claims, actions, orders, obligations, proceedings, and contracts, shall continue until modified, amended, repealed or superseded in accordance with this Charter. Pending litigation in which the county or any officer is involved shall not abate. The Charter Government shall assume position as a party in such case.

Section 10.06 Question on the Ballot

PREAMBLE

The people of Martin County, Florida do hereby avail themselves of the opportunity afforded by the Florida Constitution to adopt this home rule charter in order to dispense with the involvement of the state legislature in local matters and to empower the people of this county to make such changes in their own government as to assure its being responsible, efficient and responsive to local needs, to control the county's development, and to protect its environment

ARTICLE I: POWERS OF THE COUNTY

Section 1.01 General Powers

Section 1.02 Special Powers

Section 1.03 Transfer of Powers

Section 1.04 Division of Powers

Section 1.01 General Powers

Martin County shall have all powers of a county under the Constitution and Laws of the State of Florida. These powers shall include, but shall not be restricted to or by, those powers granted to counties operating under a County Home Rule Charter and all other powers granted to counties and not prohibited by the state constitution and laws or by this Charter. The County shall have all such powers as fully and completely as though they were specifically enumerated in this Charter and no enumeration of powers in this Charter shall be deemed exclusive or restrictive.

Section 1.02 Special Powers

The county shall have all powers necessary to accomplish municipal purposes within special districts. No ad valorem taxes shall be levied for said districts which exceed the present five mill limit.

Section 1.03 Transfer of Powers

By ordinance the County Commission shall have the authority to assume and perform all functions now or hereinafter performed by any municipality or other public agency located within Martin County whenever such municipality or other public agency shall request such transfer by majority vote plus one of the governing body of such municipality or other public agency.

Section 1.04 Division of Powers

This Charter hereby establishes the principle of separation between legislative and administrative functions of this government. The establishment and adoption of policy shall be the responsibility of the County Commission and the execution of that policy shall be the responsibility of the County Administrator, subject to formal approval of the County Commission. This section in no way is intended to restrict any quasi judicial powers of Martin County.

Mandatory gas plan

STUART Because the voluntary plan obviously wasn't working, Martin County Commission Tuesday adopted an emergency mandatory rationing plan for gasoline sales and purchases.

The Oregon type plan becomes effective March 4 providing that the City of Stuart adopts a similar plan.

Commissioner Ed Ghekler said he believes that the city will go along with the plan.

The emergency ordinance provides for station owners to sell gas to cars with license plates ending in odd numbers on odd calendar days and even numbers the next. The 31st day of the month and Saturdays are excluded.

Commissioners questioned the length the section which limited the purchase of gas to $3 to a motor vehicle with a gasoline tank capacity of 10 gallons or more.

It was pointed out that limiting purchase to $3 might be in violation of a federal regulation.

Chairman Dr. Ed Gears said he doubted that the section violated any federal law or that the Internal Revenue Service IRS would take note of the fact.

Attorney Larry Buchanan, representing gasoline operators, said that the plan was acceptable to the gasoline dealers and that the federal allocation system was complicated and was putting the station operators in a bind.

We believe it is a step in the right direction Buchanan said, and hope that it will stem the long lines at the stations.

Commissioner Timer Powers wanted to know why the voluntary plan the plan was left to the discretion of the station owner hadn't worked.

Gasoline station operators pointed out that a majority of people cooperated with the voluntary plan some service stations didn't go along with the plan and some motorists came for gas on the wrong day.

Both Dr. Gears and Buchanan warned against residents storing more than five gallons at their homes.

People are going to find out that they are going to be without insurance Buchanan warned.

The ordinance provides that different flags will be displayed at the gas stations to advise the public of gasoline sales status. A red flag indicates that no gasoline is available; yellow indicates gasoline is available only for sale to priority vehicles and green indicates that gasoline is available for sale to any vehicle.

Some reported extra gasoline for the county in the emergency vehicle according to Commissioner Ed Gleick ...

While the county has been advised that it will receive additional supplies Jensen Beach stations were without gas the final days of February.

No gas signs were posted outside some stations on Monday and others posted no gas until March signs.

Clyde noted that trails could be established north along Savanna Road and to North River Shores with a traffic light on U.S. 1.

Philbrick warned that traffic lights would be expensive and also if trails are built to state specifications they would be expensive. He estimated the cost at between $10,000 and $15,000 per mile.

The 18 member committee includes: Chairman Dr. Nehme and Hunieke, Frank Pittman, Michael Sullivan, Mrs. Betty Lambert, Frank Hughes, William Mang, Mrs. Charles Matthews, Edna Barr, Mrs. Walter Cook, Mrs. Barbara Hendry, Robert Arnold, Tom Vaughter, John Bright, Mrs. Marion Dettmeck, Tom Arnold, Philbrick and Clyde.

Rio Fire Department seeks donations

RIO The Rio Volunteer Fire Department is preparing to launch its annual fund drive, Bill Gass, fire chief said Monday.

Gass said that money received would be used for the purchase of fire fighting equipment.

From the donations received over the past years, Gass said, we were able to purchase a used structural truck capable of pumping 500 gallons of water per minute with a 600-gallon tank.

He said that the department carries full equipment. Scott air packs, portable generator, smoke ejector, hose jumpers etc.

A total of 469 man hours were spent last year fighting fires according to Gass and 256 hours were spent at drills and meetings.

All trucks are radio equipped and all members carry electrons so they can be alerted day or night, the chief said.

The Rio Department covers the area from Beacon 21 west and including North River Shores, Palm Lake Park and north to Britt Road.

Gass asked that residents not receiving a letter should contact the department giving their donations and correct address.

The department is P.O. Box 953, Jensen Beach 33457.

St. Lucie delays COG formation

JENSEN BEACH Before the St. Lucie County Commission approves the Council of Government (COG) they want to study its rules and regulations, Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers said Tuesday.

Powers met with the St. Lucie County commissioners Tuesday in an effort to get approval of COG by that agency.

All other governmental agencies in Martin and St. Lucie counties have endorsed the plan.

Powers said he will send the COG regulations to St. Lucie County commissioners and appear before that board at their next regular meeting.

A pre-organization meeting is set for March 7 at Port St. Lucie City Hall beginning at 8 p.m.

Since Powers first proposed COG at the Martin County Commission late last year it has been endorsed by the Stuart City Commission, Port St. Lucie Council, Ft. Pierce Commission and Martin County Commission.

Subcommittee named for charter work

JENSEN BEACH Subcommittees of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee were appointed at a Monday session at the chamber office.

Incorporation Committee Chairman Art Hansen said the subcommittees would beginning planning to inform the public about the proposed City of Jensen Beach Charter.

The four subcommittees and their members include:

Planning Committee—Attorney Neil McMillan, David Deci and Hansen.

Finance Committee—Ernie Baker, Rick TenBroeck and Nick Dollard.

Legislative Committee Frank Wachs and McMillan.

Newspaper Promotion Committee Hansen, Deci and McMillan.

We want to contact clubs and organizations and ask each group to appoint a representative to join the Incorporation Committee.

The committee will work with the legislative delegation members in an effort to get the proposed incorporation charter through the legislature during the early days of the Tallahassee session rather than wait until the last days of the session, according to Hansen.

Hansen said that the committee hopes to set up a speakers bureau to tell the organizations about the charter.

If the charter clears the legislature a referendum will be held July 16.

Venture Out News Notes

By Willard Auch

Jensen Beach: Well, you haven't until you get up at 3 a.m. and drive your service station for gasoline and have arrived just a little too late been on of the twenty lucky ones are already in line. You question the officer, who is trying to direct a terrible traffic tie up: "Where do I get
" To which he can only reply, is no line - the traffic pattern not permit one." So you start to around hoping that some time
3 a.m. and 9 a.m. you can be one lucky ones who can find a spot to before the no gasoline sign goes

Feb 13 a group of over 100 lot of Venture Out of St. Lucie and Indian River met to form an Independent Lot Owners Association Club of both parks. A nominating committee of seven was selected to present a list of names to be voted on for a group to represent both parks. On Feb 10 the nominating committee made their report. The nominating committee consisted of Dr. Wm. Treat, John Berry, chairman, Wm. Middleton, Donald Day, Joe Freitag, Joe Prea, Paul Seban.

The elected committee: Robert Dedaker, chairman, Joe Freitag, vice chairman, John Wilson, sect. treasurer, Edward Weimer, Van Vollinburgh, Carroll Wyatt, George Sterling, Wm. McFaddem, Ronald Fitz, Herman Nazzaro, Allan Suckow and Jack Miller.

Mabel Cook reports the United Fund drive for contributions was started last Wed. when 13 volunteers began contacting travel trailer and mobile home residents of Venture Out. Donations will be ear marked for the Jensen Beach Samaritans in appreciation of their continuing to provide emergency ambulance service to the park. Success of the drive was due to the efforts of these willing workers. Mabel Cook and Tanu Weimer, co-chairmen, Betty Miller, Eva Mortimer, Edna Wilson, Betty Pfabe, Doris Day, Ann Freitag, Wilda Wilson, Catherine Higgins, Marion Asline, Evelyn Sterling and Mercy Whitney. The raised $702.50 for this worthy cause through the efforts of these girls, many thanks to everyone for a successful drive.

While soliciting for the United Fund the volunteers took advantage of the contacts with Venture Out residents to inform everyone of the aims and objectives of the Volunteer Help Organization. This group was formed by Holiday Out residents to provide emergency assistance in case of accident, illness or fire. To date 15 people from Venture Out have qualified by taking the Civil Defense first aid course and joined the group, thereby making emergency first aid service available throughout the park. Cards were given out to acquaint residents with the availability of and procedures for obtaining emergency help. The Volunteer Help Organization members residing in Venture Out are: Don Day, Joe Freitag, John and Wilda Wilson, Bill Middleton, Ed Weimer, Ann Lariberg, Edsel and Betty Pfabe, Andy and Edna Wilson, George and Evelyn Sterling and Thornton and Mabel Cook. More trained personnel are needed, can we count on you to help?

Harry and Rose Cloth have bought a larger trailer. They are busy settling down to living it up in their expanded quarters.

* * *

Wilda Wilson reports Mrs. Nelson Christensen has returned from attending the funeral of her sister at Dubois, Penn.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Young are recovering after a bout with the flu.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dorn spent two days in their motor home on their lot 683. They have the garden spot of the finger.

* * *

The Robert Smith's have returned to their lot 682. They brought their boat this time and hope they can get gas so they can get in some good ocean fishing.

* * *

George Johnson stubbed his toe on the sea wall and fell into the drink. This would have been just a humorous incident had he not struck his shoulder on a wooden boat buffer on the way down. This was painful but fortunately no bones were broken.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George Teitsma are very excited and happy about the beautiful new Tara they had delivered on their lot 663 this week.

* * *

Amy Freitag reports we were sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. A. McKessock and Mr. and Mrs. M.M. Graves depart for their homes in Canada. However they assured us they would be back next winter.

* * *

We wish Harriet and Maynard Smith good luck on their homes and tourney to Illinois.

* * *

Bob and Ethel Heards had to leave us suddenly as Ethel's sister had a heart attack. We wish them well.

* * *

A very happy note: Dr. J. Bates is back on lot 727 and we all wish him a speedy recovery.

* * *

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Mario Nazzaro from Hawthorne, N.J. They are visiting with Dot and Herman Nazzaro for a few weeks. Good fishing boys.

Peggy and Barry Nichol had a good fishing catch, 39 blues and supplied all neighbors with their catch. Thank you.

* * *

Barbara Clark reports Jessie and Lester Shaver are entertaining Jessie's mother, Mrs. Carrie Cochran, of Miami who is making an extended stay. Carrie says she loves it here at Venture Out but does not want to "wear out her welcome."

* * *

Helen and Ros Williams have as their house guests Helen's sister, Mrs. Frances Shaefer of Miami and her friend, Mrs. Kitty Kerman Graham of Maplewood, N.J. We heard they both are great card players and are ready for a pinochle game at any time of the day.

* * *

Seeing and the Italian flag in New York City last Saturday for their annual business trip and also to attend a wedding. Nothing like exchanging this beautiful Florida sunshine for the cold north.

* * *

Richard J. Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., is spending a week with his parents, Barbara and Stanley Clark of Walton Dr. Dick has traveled over a great part of this world but has never been to Florida, so we're hoping for beautiful weather and enough gasoline in order to show him around a bit.

* * *

Among the group that traveled to Gulfstream Race Track via Jensen Beach Travel Service last Tuesday were Theo Slagle and her brother and sister-in-law, Woodie and Cass Hippler. They said it was a fun day but not at all profitable. Also in the tour were Ida and Harry Hausman who luckily picked a few winners and were chosen from the group to present a trophy to the winner of the second race. Their picture was taken with the winning horse, jockey and owner and Ida and Harry will receive a copy within a week. This will always be a happy day to remember.

* * *

Jan and David Hippler and young David of Akron, O. recently were guests of David's aunt, Mrs. Theo Slagle of Ashwood Dr. The young people also shared their time with David's parents, the Woodie Hipplers of Spanish Lakes.

* * *

All the excitement in Dottie and Sam Tucker's yard last Thursday noon was caused by a four foot snake, species unknown, which slithered across their sod lawn near the patio. When Sam tried to kill the snake with a shovel it climbed up into their young Norfolk Pine and wrapped itself around the top branches. The Venture Out office was alerted and shortly there after the maintenance superintendent, Mario, and his assistant, arrived. Ernie Ravinet, a neighbor, brought over his 22 rifle and Mario took aim and shot the snake. Mario claimed it to be poisonous. When it was disentangled from the tree the men suspended it from the Tucker's bird house and Sam took Dottie's picture as she unwillingly stood with the rifle next to the hanging snake. All the neighbors suggested this picture be sent to Fitchburg, Mass. so Sam and dottie could show their friends how exciting a day at home in Florida can be.

* * *

Dr. Edward Kurz of Long Island, N.Y. and Hobe Sound, recently visited with old friends, Barbara and Stan Clark. This was a nice suprise visit since Ed was thought to be up in the cold north.

* * *

Millie Middleton reports Millie and Bob Ludwig are traveling to Ocala to attend the Golden Hills Hunter and Jumper Charity Show. We wish them a safe trip and a speedy return.

* * *

A good crowd attended the V.O. Horse Race Derby Saturday evening. Every one enjoyed the races and many people were winners. It was an interesting evening and a first for Venture Out.

* * *

The Fiances are entertaining Sophie's sister and brother-in-law, Ann and Jack Willford from Hicksville, L.I., N.Y.

Warm greetings and welcome to Ruth and Ross Jordan from Pittsburg, Pa. It is nice to have them return to Venture Out again this year.

* * *

We wish to welcome Dave and Dolly Watkins from Wallingford, Pa. We hope you will enjoy your visit and come back again.

* * *

Mate Greuling reports there has been a flurry of last minute entertaining at the Bowling's before Lucy's sister and brother leave for their Kentucky homes. A patio dinner party on Tuesday with several nearby neighbors and one Thursday with another group were enjoyed by all. Much laughter and fun with satisfied appetites spoke well for Lucy's cooking and Toad's keen wit.

* * *

Bruce Parmenter returned safe and sound to Kathy after a brief flight to Spain. He has a warm feeling for that spot.

* * *

Kit Meeker received many lovely gifts at a baby shower given by Linda Korn and assisted by her mother and mother-in-law. About fifteen friends gathered at Louise Auch's patio for the Sunday afternoon party. Prizes were won by Ida Hauseman, Jane Messersmith, Ruth Stewart and Catherine Higgins.

* * *

Jim Rupert, Lucy Bowling's brother, generously offered his car with a full tank of gas for a fun day in Boca Raton. Thus Ethel, his wife, asked Lucy Margie, her sister, Elmina Mowry and Mate Greuling along. They enjoyed a full day of a woman's most popular pastime: shopping and luncheon at Patricia Murphy's Restaurant. Quite a change of pace in this day of tight gasoline shortage.

* * *

The Greuling's close friends, Evelyn and Glen Terry, Crove in from Michigan for a short visit. Reviewing the many memories of traveling and doing things together has been a great treat. The Terrys were fascinated by the Jai Alai games and much impressed by our new Lord Chumley's Restaurant.

HONORARY CHAPLAINS--Virgil Rathbone, left, commander of Lepore Post 126 presented Father Frank Alvarez, center, All Saints Episcopal Church, and the Rev. Neil Gunsalus of the Trinity Methodist Church, with honorary chaplain plaques

All Saints' begins Lenten season

JENSEN BEACH--The parishioners of All Saints' Episcopal Church begin the observance of Lent on Ash Wednesday with two celebrations of the Holy Eucharist at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Ashes will be imposed at both services.

At the 7:30 p.m. Sung Eucharist, the Rt. Rev. Wallace E. Conkling, retired bishop of Chicago, will bless the new stations of the cross. The fourteen stations of the cross are the creation of Dominick Lepore. Port St. Lucie, who has been at work on the project since the fall of 1973. Lepore will present his gift to the Bishop.

During the Wednesdays in Lent, beginning March 6, there will be the service of the Stations of the Cross at 7:30 p.m. followed by a class of instructions. Various subjects to be discussed are: Bible, Theology, Sacraments, Church History and Creeds. The public is invited to attend the services and classes.

All Saints' has been sponsoring Preaching Services in the Elliott Museum on Hutchinson Island each Sunday at 11 a.m. This Sunday Bishop Conkling will be the preacher.

Thirty-five members of the parish will make a pilgrimage to Lake Wales on Sunday, March 17, to see the Passion Play.

The regular Sunday services are 7:30, 9:15 and 11:00 a.m. at All Saints' Church.

GIFT--Dominick Lepore of Port St. Lucie has been working on a creation of the fourteen stations of the cross since last July. On Ash Wednesday he will present his gift to Rt. Rev. Wallace E. Conkling, retired bishop of Chicago, who will bless them. Lepore is pictured above with Fr. Frank R. Alvarez, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, Jensen Beach, where the blessing will take place.

the Jensen Ambulance through the United Fund, and $100 was so donated. Since the church does not keep the money collected and has been doing much mission work, the balance may or may not be donated to the Fund also. The committee has not finally decided on this point. Mrs. Donna Cooke of Anthony, W.Va., sang the anthem and benediction. Mark Sumner was head usher. George Bares played the organ, while Sally Fix played piano.

Bingo winners this week were: Mary Summer, Marge Steiler, D. Talchin, Todd Liddy, Loren Updike, Ilsa Taylor, a tie game between Evelyn Buchelean and Edith Pointon, Robert Skripak. The Good Neighbor game was won by Greta Updike with Garnett Olson on her left and Virginia Ford on her right. The coverall was a three-way tie between Thelma Gingrich, Tillie Thornburgh and Else Winter. The special coverall goes to 61 numbers next week. Wayne Dodd helped on the floor, with Ruth Bowes doing the calling.

PLAY BETTER GOLF

Tee Off With the Group Hypnosis Mini-Marathons. Learn how unconscious control is the key to improved golf. Two group hypnosis sessions will make a better golfer of almost anyone--from duffer to pro. Included will be hypnosis and self-hypnosis technics including training in autohypnosis. A professional golfer will guide the technical discussions on golf itself.

This novel and improved approach is the long awaited answer to better golf since it deals with the MIND where most golf trials are either won or lost. The marathons are not designed to teach golf; rather they are formulated to RELEASE the innate abilities via mental control. Good golf requires a proper mental set, the lack of which has plagued golfers for decades.

First Tee-Off hypnosis sessions will be held on Friday evening, March 8, 1974 from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. and again on Monday, March 11, 1974, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Total cost of both mini-marathons (combined) is only $75.

For more information, no obligation of course, call 465-1168. Reserve your place in the golf marathons now!

Developer gets time

Savanna hearing recessed until March 22

FORT PIERCE The trial in which state jurisdiction over the savanna waters is being challenged by a developer seeking to complete construction of a causeway has been recessed until March 22.

The hearing was halted temporarily as Circuit Court Judge James Alderman asked the Department of Pollution Control DPC agreed to give the developer Universal Adams Inc additional time to work out permit problems with the various state agencies.

The DPC is seeking a permanent injunction from Judge Alderman which will prevent Universal Adams from constructing a causeway through the Savanna boat Waltze. At the request of the DPC Judge Alderman issued a temporary injunction last fall against the developer.

The causeway would provide the west access to a proposed 2700 unit Twin Banyan Plantation. The developer who originally promised to bridge the Savannas maintains the state has no jurisdiction over the privately owned waters.

Beals Tooker attorney representing Universal Adams during last weeks hearing claimed that only the state Cabinet in its capacity as trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund has the authority to issue dredge and fill permits and has that authority only where navigable waters are concerned. He pointed out that since this portion of the Savannas is privately owned the waters are not legally navigable.

Attorneys James Brindell and Bill White representing the DPC took a firm stand in that the savanna waters come under state jurisdiction and that State Statute 403 gives the state police powers of regulations because public welfare is concerned.

Brindell also maintained that the question of ownership of the bottom land of the Savanna was not a factor in the state jurisdiction.

Brian Barnett of Vero Beach, environmental specialist with the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission said it is customary for developers in similar areas to consult with governmental agencies about plans prior to starting such work.

Barnett and Dr Dwight Goforth regional fisheries biologist for the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission both agreed the construction of the causeway was damaging to the ecology in interrupting the flow of water creating deep areas that changed the grass and aquatic vegetation and causing turbid city.

Robert Amann area coordinator for Universal Adams said he had not been advised by his firm to obtain a DPC permit for the construction.

Amann said the DPC does not permit anyway it only approved of projects. They don't even have any guidelines for a developer to go by he said.

After the temporary injunction was issued last fall, halting all work on the causeway Universal Adams thru its local representative Robert Amann presented an alternate proposal to the City of Port St Lucie asking the city council to grant a letter of approval for the relocation of an access road.

The major change was the relocation of a dual lane access road onto Indian River Drive. Two other changes included the redesigning of four buildings and the relocation of a nine hole golf course.

The temporary access road would have enabled Universal Adams to start the construction of the revised project.

In the original proposal the developer proposed that the Port St Lucie Council that Twin Banyan Plantation would be a development that would not use Indian River Drive for access making it a nature trail for foot traffic with high screening shrubs and trees.

After hearing the alternate proposal of U A Port St Lucie Mayor Eugene P Kavanaugh denied the approval of the dual lane access road saying that a 24 foot road would be sufficient.

The mayor pointed out that temporary road was intended to service only the four eight story high buildings containing a total of 256 units and was to be closed off when the west access road was completed.

The council refused to approve any further expansion plans until such time as the west access was completed.

The approval of the city council was of course dependent upon Universal Adams furnishing all the necessary permits as required by various state agencies.

People super-great

Couple tour Europe; hitchhiking, camping

BY JERE HICKEY
BEACH—"Travel is an experience I would recommend to every young couple," Jim Loving, who with his wife Marilynn just returned from a three month tour of Europe.

Jim and Marilynn were spending a few days at Pompano Beach visiting with his mother, Ruth Pistole, before returning to their home in Minneapolis.

Travel, adventure and determination on a tight budget are not found these days. The vacation plans so carefully made by many adults of today are not to be considered as do energy crisis or

In fact Marilynn started planning before the energy crisis, while they were in college for a future together as husband and wife and a tour of Europe.

"We couldn't afford to go any other time," she said.

For two years they both worked and saved to make their dream trip closer to reality. In September they flew to Copenhagen, Denmark.

They saved up their experience and money last by saying, "The people there were just super great. It is a different life style and we loved it."

One of the highlights of the trip was the change of diets, and being able to eat what they eat," Jim said. "In the Scandinavian countries we ate a lot of fish, cheese and breads. There was very little meat. In Germany we enjoyed their sausages."

He went on to point out that in Italy you could buy package meals saying, "In our country we would have spaghetti and a salad as a complete meal. In Italy the spaghetti is the first course, thinly sliced meat with a salad the second course and fruit for dessert."

Marilynn added, "We were always able to get plenty of fresh food. Each city that we were in had its own outdoor markets-fish, vegetable and fruit. Things were not pre-packaged and therefore we could purchase the quantity we needed."

Although the couple traveled extensively through Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Italy, Austria and Sicily, they were quick to point out the Scandinavian countries and Germany were their favorites.

"They were so clean and the countryside was simply gorgeous," they said.

In Norway, Sweden and Denmark they did a lot of camping, using their two man tent. There was a fee for camping, but it was very nominal compared to staying inside in northern Europe, they said. The camping facilities in Denmark are open year round and the people seem to camp more than they do here.

Another difference Jim pointed out was that most of the camping areas here are located in state parks or scenic places, while over there the camps are more of a convenience place, offering cooking facilities, hot showers, washing, ironing and playground facilities.

In Germany, they camped their way up the Rhine River.

"They use the Rhine for transportation much the same as we use the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers here-only more so," Jim said. "There was one barge after another, 24 hours a day, traveling the river, but different from ours, they seem to be family operated. It was a very common sight to see the woman hanging up laundry aboard the barges. They also carried the family car on the boat."

Although hitchhiking was relatively good, they did feel it was a little harder for a married couple than it was for the single hitch-hiker.

Hitch-hiking is a way of life in Europe and therefore presents little or no problems to the traveler," Jim said.

"As a matter of fact the only problem we encountered was in Italy. We took buses or trains there, simply because the cars were too small for the driver, both of us and our packs. A Volkswagon is a really big car in Italy."

While in Italy and Sicily they stayed in pensions and ate all meals out. Jim pointed out the standard of living in this part of Europe was much cheaper than in the northern areas.

"In Italy, refrigeration is a luxury," Marilynn added.

Commenting on the fuel crisis, Jim said it has changed their whole life style in Europe.

"They have initiated a no-driving ban on Sunday, and the lunch hours for the workers have been cut drastically. Whereas they normally took a four hour lunch break, they are trying to learn more to the American style with a one hour lunch. Before, they would work from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and from 4 p.m. til 8 p.m. have dinner, and then partly most of the night. Now, in an effort to use less fuel, they are closing the night spots at midnight, trying to change their work hours, and reducing the street lighting," he said.

With regards to fashion, Marilynn noted the people of Europe dress more for style than comfort.

"With our loose fitting clothes very comfortable we thought of ourselves as the baggy Americans," she added.

Jim, who is an English major, has applied for a teaching job in Europe through the U.S. Department of Defense.

"We would both like to return to Europe for a couple of years," HE SAID.

Jim and Marilynn had worked hard, saved, cut financial corners and sacrificed to make the trip, but both agree it was worth it.

NEVER TO BE FORGOTTEN - Returning to the states following a four month tour of Europe, Jim and Marilynn Loving agree their experiences and adventure will never be forgotten. Jim has applied for a teaching job through the department of defense and both hope to return to the Scandinavian countries for a two year period.

POP UP - Part of the gear Jim and Marilynn Loving had on their tour of Europe was this four-pound, two man pop-up tent. Cooking utensils, camp stove, light, first aid supplies, bedding and clothes rounded out the list.

Enrollment still open in adult classes

STUART - There is still time to enroll in many of the classes offered by the Adult Education Department, Martin County public schools.

The classes provide opportunities for adults to satisfy their general and special educational needs.

Adults who lack a high school diploma may earn one in either of two ways: through the credit program or through the equivalency program.

Elementary education and English for the foreign born help an individual to become more self-reliant, economically independent citizens.

Enrichment classes in art, sewing, fashion design, languages - French, German, and Spanish; psychology, sociology, and the Bible as History, help an individual to enjoy life more fully.

Gourmet cooking, chorus and interior design are available and offer hours of rewarding experiences, as does the creation of articles in the woodworking shop.

Business education courses include: Gregg shorthand, typing, ABC notehand, key punch and bookkeeping.

Small engine repair, TV and radio repair and auto mechanics are available.

Individuals beyond the age of sixteen, who have legally left the elementary and secondary schools, are eligible to enroll in any of these classes.

The most exclusive spot on a very exclusive island.

Fish Minute

JENSEN BEACH–How about some fish recipes for a little change? Here's one for FISH MINUTE which serves four to six persons and can be tucked in the oven with some frozen french fries and stewed tomatoes for 15 to 20 minutes while the salad is made.

FISH MINUTE

1 to 1½ lb. fillet of fish
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. chopped scallions (white part only)
2 tbsp. parsley
½ cup dry white wine
2 tbsp. fresh bread crumbs

Arrange filets in baking dish. Season with salt and pepper, sprinkle with scallions and parsley. Add wine. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Dot with butter. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until top is browned. Serve hot in cooking dish.

Cook of the Week

BY RUTH BOWMAN

At the same time mix 2 tsp. sugar and 2 tbsp. flour in bottom of ovenproof casserole or pan. Add a large can of stewed tomatoes, stir well and add salt and pepper if desired. Cover and heat in oven.

Spread a box of French fried potatoes on a shallow pan, add salt and bake at the same time.

See how energy-conscious we are?

A SHRIMP BISQUE would be good some cool and rainy evening. This one serves two or three, uses a cup of white wine and is good. Serve it will grilled or toasted cheese sandwiches for an easy, fast meal.

Shrimp Bisque

SHRIMP BISQUE

½ lb. shrimp, shelled and de-veined (small ones can be used)
1 tbsp. butter
2 cups water
1 cup wine (dry white)
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
pinch of thyme
1 hard-cooked egg
2 tbsp. tomato paste
½ tsp. paprika

Heat butter in large, heavy saucepan. Add shrimp and cook over brisk flame for five minutes. Add water, wine, salt, pepper, thyme. Bring to boil, cover and simmer for 15 minutes. Remove shrimp and set aside. Mash together shrimp, hard-cooked egg, ½ cup cooking liquid. Add tomato paste and paprika. Stir in remaining cooking liquid and remove to pan. Heat and serve hot.

The Barn... plus

BY BARBARA GATELY

While B.G. is away, this column is being written by Ruthann Decker and Molly Mehlich.

Right now Barbara Gately is city-hopping on her way to Mexico City. We hope she has a great time and brings back lots of goodies.

Molly previewed "See How They Run" Monday night while June Henderson director, "blocked" the play. The blocking in this cast is quite involved due to the enormous amount of action. "See How They Run" is a marathon of merriment. Bob Orwin and Lyn Gleason have the leading roles and will be seen as Clive Winton and Penelope Toop, one an American G.I. in England, and the other an actress with who he formerly acted, now the wife of a vicar. Can you imagine what a harmless date would turn into with a G.I. masquerading as an English vicar?

The Barn is in need of directors. If you have any inclination or experience in the field of theatre directing, please call Roger Conant at 287-9876. The last show of the season will be "Spoon River Anthology". Ray Hilton lives in Vero Beach and Richard Carr and June Henderson are going to need a rest.

The Barn Owl's "Pickle Finger of Fate Award" this week goes to a well-known Martin County association. This particular association made reservations three weeks in advance for "Carnival" and on the morning of the show they cancelled. Needless to say the people who had to sit on the extra chairs that night got better seats. In the future there will have to be a 50 percent deposit with such a reservation. The reservation will be held to within 48 hours without said deposit.

The Barn performers received a standing ovation for "Carnival" last week on Hutchinson Island. What better compliment for a great performance. Roger Conant was so happy his whole face sparkled when he told me.

It doesn't seem possible that a whole year has passed since the last Martin County Fair (March 11-16).

+++

Just a few more days until the Jensen Beach Eighth Annual Art Festival. Hope they have great weekend weather for the event.

The Art Associates of Martin County Inc. meets this Friday at 8 p.m. at First National Bank, Mahlon Cline will critique paintings for the fair.

Ken Philbrick and eight other bikers enjoyed the ride through Port St. Lucie Sunday. Craig and I went and we both got a little sunburned but it fell good for a change. There was a nice breeze and it was almost like summer again. Half of the group decided to rest on a bridge and watch the boats and fish while the rest of us cycled further into the woodsy area by the turnpike. The next meeting will be Sunday, March 10 at 1 p.m. at Bessemer Bldg., Sewall's Point. If you enjoy nature and fresh air get a bicycle and call Ken at 334-6262.

Jr. Woman 'Kitchen Clean-Up'

STUART–Thursday, Feb. 21, is "Kitchen Clean-Up" day at the Woman's Club, for the members of the Stuart Junior Woman's Club. All juniors are expected to participate in this project.

For those Juniors not at Monday night's meeting, contact Mrs. Sharon Riolo, 334-0986, to find out the time you are needed.

Mrs. Linda Arnold, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the slate of officers for the coming year. Election will be at the March meeting on Wednesday, March 6, instead of Monday, March 11.

The Juniors adopted the March of Dimes Walk-a-thon as a club project. Mrs. Olga Robinson was appointed chairman by President Andra Webb.

Yoga lecture at FIT

JENSEN BEACH–A Yoga lecture and demonstration will be presented at Florida Institute of Technology (FIT) by Doris Thurston at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 27 - today.

Miss Thurston also will offer an eight-week course in Yoga beginning Wednesday, March 6, at FIT.

Birthday

JENSEN BEACH–Happy birthday wishes are extended to Stu Babineau, Jill Santarsiero and Ira Henderson, who celebrate their birthdays Feb. 27. Hazel Forsberg, Doris White, Phil Vary and Vic Sottong, Feb. 28; Jean Best, March 1; Rod Aderholdt, Ben Center and G.M. Robinson, 3rd; Ruth Freeman, Bill Hessler and Helen Ferguson, 4th; Ros Blundell, Joyce Rathgeber, John Metcalfe, and August Ruppel on March 6.

BIRTHDAY PARTY--Mrs. Ruth Miller, seated, of Ocean Breeze Park, celebrated her 80th birthday Feb. 22. Her family and friends marked the occasion with a 10 a.m. brunch, cocktails at 5 p.m. and dinner at Royal Lion Restaurant. Pictured with her family are, from left, Malcolm and Irene Wildey, Donald and Doris Gark and Joan and Milton Miller.

CONDOS Q's & A's

DEAR T. L.,

My wife and I have been living in a condominium that has promised this and that for over a year. We like our apartment, but the entire complex is beginning to get overcrowded. We have yet to see the beautiful clubhouse, which was one of the major reasons we bought here. Do you have any suggestions?

Thinking of Moving

DEAR THINKING,

It sounds as though you bought in the early stages of development, in which case you probably made a good investment financially. However, if what you really wanted was a condominium community that you can enjoy now and be satisfied with for years to come, I'd recommend Twin Lakes of Stuart.

The density is set at only 8.5 units per acre, it is single story living, and the clubhouse was included in the first phase of construction. Pricewise, Twin Lakes is still priced in the 20's. Financing is available on immediate purchases, or you can take advantage of a lease-purchase plan. It's a good investment for now and into the future.

P.S.

They also accept cash.

For straight answers to your Condominium Questions, write Dear T.L., Post Office Box 2353, Stuart, Florida 33494 or for free personal consultation, come to Twin Lakes on U.S. No. 1, one mile south of Cove Road Stuart any day 10 a.m. until dark. No appointment necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Miller, Oxford, Mich., flew in Sat. and were met by mother Ruth Miller and sister Irene Wildey, plus the Michigan group, who attended the Liberace show. One Wed., Ruth's daughter and husband, Donald and Doris Gark, flew in from Oxford, to suprise their mother on her 80th birthday, Friday, Feb. 22.

At 10, brunch was served at Wildey's on Seventh, to approximately 30 people. At 3 p.m., cocktails and hor d'oeuvres. The group left immediately for Royal Lion for dinner, returning to Clement Hall at 8 for cards. The whole group of 30 returned to the Wildeys at 10 for cake and punch. The girls were slowed down but Ruth Miller was still going strong after a very happy 80th birthday celebration.

The grandchildren sent a corsage and buttonieres for all of the guests. Ruth Miller was one of the earliest residentsd of O.B. Park.

Mrs. Willetta Leckler of Cypress was notified that Otto McCurry died Friday, Feb. 22, in Anderson, Ind., and was buried, from Rozelle Funeral Home there. Otto and Ethel have one daughter and a son, Robert. We of the church and of Ocean Breeze wish to express kindest thoughts and understanding sympathy at this sad time. Their address is Mrs. Otto McCurry, 1715 W. Eighth, anderson, Ind. 46011.

Harry and Lydia Brandeau are enjoying the company of their nephew, Kenny and Norma Brandeay of Timley Park, Ill. The young couple are occupying a small trailer home on Banyon Rd. They sure are glad to have left the heavy snow and cold behind.

Andy Sherkey can be seen with a perpetual smile of happiness these days. The reason is that his brother, Foster, and wife Florence Swierkowski, of Lansing, Ill., returned to continue their honeymoon after last November's which was a very short one. Andy's cousin Joe and wife Pat Mocadlo of Stevens Point, Wisc., after experiencing blizzards and 32 deg. below zero weather, also stopped in for a visit to thaw out. This is their first trip to Florida and they hope to see and visit with the newlyweds, friends in St. Pete, Surfside Miami then back to Disney World. A dinner at Kapok Tree Inn and Busch Gardens too.

Bill and Gertrude Jones are very busy these days. Their young grandsons, Allen and Steven Jones of Farmingham, Mass., are visiting on their spring school vacation. They sure will have stories to tell their friends when they return home. Going swimming and having picnics outdoors in the winter is really something they are enjoying.

We are so glad to have many folks from Ill. visiting our park and Florida. While discussing their experience on the gas situation while traveling here, they all have the same answers. Conditions are back to normal almost everywhere until they reach Ft. Pierce and on south. They are greatly suprised with the panic of gas shortage which has been caused by the people themselves in our areas. If folks simmered down and got back to the normal ways of the past, the stations would not be drained immediately after their storage tanks have been filled. Remember, the Christmas panic of toilet tissue shortage? People came to their senses and today the store shelves once again filled and warehouses are overstocked. Let us all think, think, and think, set aside one week and try to get back to normal. See if our panic situation can be solved. Let us retired people save the available gas for the folks yet working here for a few days vacation.

Oh! I don't take chances any more!

Now even my pin money makes money! The days when I hid money all over the house are gone.

I found it more beneficial to save money where it can earn more for me. I was constantly worried each time I left my house that it would be robbed or that after awhile I would forget where I hid my money. Now it's convenient and safe in my 5 1/4% passbook savings account at Community Federal Savings & Loan Association. I can get it out any time I please and the interest is compounded daily. There are few investments to compare with a savings account at Community Federal for versatility and return on your money. And all I have to remember now is where I left my passbook!

D & M News Notes

MILDRED STINNETT

Everything is ready for the Hobbs Show on Tuesday, Feb. 26 between 2 and 4 p.m. All committees are working smoothly and the required number of home baked cookies have been promised. Nettie Keefer and her aids are ready with the Whitge Elephant. Members of the group are putting the finishing touches on their handiwork and placing price tags on the articles they wish to sell.

This event always draws a big crowd of interested persons, so we are hoping the gas shortage will not prevent them from attending.

Rachel Hogue has been in Martin Memorial having surgery on a troublesome shoulder but probably will be home by the time you read this.

Agnes Skeldon remains in the hospital in serious condition.

[illegible] Brouillette has left sunny Fla. for [illegible] where she plans to [illegible] the winter. [illegible] Beach and [illegible] wholeheartedly. We shall miss her and hope she is returned soon.

The Pounds Off group of women has made such splendid progress that when the new semester commences Mar. 1 we will spend one hour exercising Tuesday and Friday mornings from 9 to 10 and continue our morning walks because we have mastered the problem of dieting properly and no longer have to spend time swapping recipes and indulging in pep talks.

Spanish Class will meet Wednesday afternoon instead of morning as planned because the Pounds Off enthusiasts will all be busy at the Hobbs Show on Tuesday their regular meeting day, and will meet Wednesday morning instead.

At the Art Class the subject of our last session was Florida Landscapes and Juanita Brouillette, our resident instructor, concentrated on palm trees, water and sand. The theme among these we will finish painting by heads there for the Art Show on May 24.

Unique Botique is now part of Patiorama

The Unique Botique, originally based on South Dixie Highway in Stuart, is now a part of the Patiorama complex in Jensen Beach.

Peggy Compton, owner of Unique Botique, is sandwiched between Patiorama and the Knitting Knook, and loves it. She says the clientele patronizing the small plaza is a very friendly one. The store features an entire handmade inventory of lamps, clocks, wall plaques, ceramic frogs, turtles, mushrooms and snails. Also many leather handbags adorn the decor.

Any special items will be made upon request for any customer.

In the Knitting Knook, Gerry and Grace are up to their "washable mohairs" in kits. They have kits for knitting, crocheting, needlepoint, quill and others. Especially nice for beginners is free instruction on any project you choose. The Patiorama is stocked with many, many new tables, great for indoors as well as out.

The three shops chose Sunday, March 3, to officially introduce themselves to Martin County by means of an Open House from 1 to 5 p.m. It promises to be an afternoon of neighborly hospitality and a great browsing opportunity. They're located in Jensen on SR 707 behind the waterfall.

SHELVES AND MORE SHELVES—The shelves in the Knitting Knook are brimming with craft supplies and idea starters. The Knitting Knook and Unique Boutique are both part of the Patiorama complex on Rt. 707 in Jensen Beach.

Jacuzzi is new line for Willich Sprinkler Company

For almost four years now, Willich Sprinkler Company has been serving the Martin and St. Lucie County areas constantly striving to bring the newest and finest in water system equipment and technique to this area.

They have just recently taken on the distribution to a four county area Palm Beach, Martin, St. Lucie and Indian River, of the entire line of Jacuzzi products.

Jacuzzi is one of the largest and oldest names in water systems today with factories world wide. The factory serving Willich is in Little Rock, Arkansas.

Willich has already placed Jacuzzi systems in Port St. Lucie Yacht and Country Club of Stuart, and High Point.

Most importantly perhaps, is that they offer the strongest guarantee the industry has ever seen. You have one full year to decide whether or not you are satisfied with the Jacuzzi system. If not they will refund the entire purchase price.

When asked what put Jacuzzi out in front of all the others Willich said simply. "They just deliver more water per horsepower than anything else on the market. And they cover the commercial, residential, pool and lawn-care markets completely.

Also now that the renovation of their building is completed, they have three beautifully done office suites upstairs that are ready for immediate occupancy.

MANFRED WILLICH—Head of Willich Sprinkler Company, sits in his office in their newly renovated building on North Federal Hwy. in Stuart. Three office suites are available to rent upstairs.

PINEWOOD DERBY–Jack Briggs of Cub Scout Pack 823, Palm City, won the Sailfish District Pinewood Derby Championship recently at Langford Park, Jensen Beach. He was the first in the nine-year-old class. Second place in that class went to Robert Viola, and third to Robert Benoit. Eight-year-old winners were Kenneth McConkey, Mike Harris and Clifford Shrout. Ten-year-olds John Richards, Charles Mathews and Jerry Briggs. In the modified autos class John Richards was first and Mike Harris second, both of Port Salerno. For design, appearance and originality, awards went to Ricky Baker, Tim Dawson, Raymon Benoit, Jimmy Lopilato, John Richards and Victor Fisher. Sponsored by the Stuart-Jensen Beach Jaycees, the Pinewood Derby championship is designed to promote competition and sportsmanship between Cub Scout Packs in Martin County. Some of the participants are pictured above. Photo by Bud Newsome

Merrell elected as FIT trustee

MELBOURNE–Roland Merrell, a Stuart bank executive, was elected a trustee by Florida Institute of Technology's Board of Trustees on Thursday, Feb. 21.

Merrell is senior vice president and trust officer at First National Bank and Trust Company in Stuart. His department manages assets in excess of $50 million. He retired in 1959, and, after two years as a Florida resident, joined the new trust department at First National.

He is treasurer of Martin County Memorial Hospital and is a director of Outboard Marine Corporation, Milwaukee, Wisc.

A native of Pittsburg, Pa., he attended the University of Virginia. He became a trainee at the Chase National Bank, N.Y. City and later went into the securities business.

After World War II service in the U.S. Army Air Force, he returned to the securities business and became vice president and director of Lee Higginson Corp., investment bankers, a position he held until his retirement from that firm five years ago.

Fair spaces almost gone

STUART–Exhibition spaces for the Martin County Fair, March 11-16, are almost all taken, fair secretary Lea Spowart said.

She said that only a couple of booths are not yet under contract. Besides the booths, there will be a variety of outdoor displays.

Scout groups and campers have displays slated along with the traditional agriculture, business and industry and education displays.

SPORTS

BY DONNIE WILKIE

VERO BEACH–The Martin County Tigers have done it again.

With three consecutive victories in a row, the Tigers won the District 7-AAAA championship.

Last season, the Tigers were a 3A school, and they repeated as state 3A champions. But this season it hasn't been quite as easy as all that. MCHS had probably the toughest schedule in the state, a young team, and a tougher conference in which to compete.

After a 21-7 regular season record, they got to the district playoffs. In the first game, they got past Titusville, 81-56. Mike White scored 26 points as he suprized everyone at the scene with his perfect outside shooting.

Meanwhile, the night before, Vero Beach, the favorite in the tournament, defeated Merritt Island (11-16), 74-73, in overtime.

The evening following the first MCHS win was a big night. Cocoa's Tigers upset Vero Beach and Martin County zapped Ft. Pierce Central.

Central was not the same team without Don Latimer, their magnificent center, who fouled out of the game with three minutes to go in the third quarter. Martin County then easily rolled on to an 81-63 win.

In the final, Cocoa fell behind early and never could catch up. It was 39-35 at the end of the third period, when Cocoa started to fall apart. Mistakes finally killed the Tigers (the Cocoa breed) and MCHS went on to win 59-44.

This week Martin County will play in the Regional Championships at a site that was undertermined at press time. MCHS will have to play some tough teams. Possibilities at press time were Orlando Evans, Winter Park, Daytona Mainland, Lake Worth and Pompany Beach. MCHS has played all of these teams except Daytona Mainland, a team that had a very successful year.

COVER It's never too early to start appreciating art, and this tyke is on his way to being a critic or connoisseur. Art Miles, two and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miles of N. Syracuse, N.Y. was just one of a big crowd of visitors at the eighth annual outdoor art festival at Langford Park over the weekend. Art fell in love with Florida and a friend when he came to this portrait, and stopped to chat a while. The event, which saw about 80 artists exhibiting, is sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, with J. Ernest Baker as chairman.

Density blamed

Bell's Jensen facility is delayed

JENSEN BEACH–Because of policy changes in Martin County and lower density rates for developments, Southern Bell Telephone Co.'s $5 million facility on Jensen Beach Cutoff Road (SR 707A) has been delayed for at least one year, a telephone official said Tuesday.

Bruce Abernethy, district manager for the company, gave several reasons why the company's electronic switching systems central office and plant works center is not expected to be constructed until the last of 1975.

When the County Commission approved the facility last October, Abernethy said that construction was expected to begin January, 1974.

Abernethy said that the energy crisis "has had its effect on the company's plan." He also cited high interest rates and building material shortages as reasons for delaying construction.

But he pointed out that the slow-down in growth in Martin County, brought about in a large part by lower density for developments has caused the company to change its forecast for growth in the area.

He said the Jensen Beach and South Port St. Lucie area, which is served out of the Stuart office, could still be served by that exchange until next year.

"We are looking at an inservice date for the Jensen Beach building of Jan. 15, 1976," Abernethy said.

He said that some construction may start in 1974 but he expects work to start the latter part of 1975.

Citing some area growth figures for the Jensen Beach-Port St. Lucie area, Abernethy said that on Jan. 1, 1974 that the area had 6,094 main lines this excludes extension lines.

In a one-year period Jan. 1, 1975, the company expects 8,795 main lines for the area, but Abernethy notes that 1,950 of the 8,795 figure was due to the switching of North Port St. Lucie exchange and not growth figures.

Abernethy said that the five-year forecast is 19,570 main lines for the area.

Southern Bell purchased land on the north side of the Cutoff Road and was successful in having the property rezoned from residential, R-3, to business, B-2.

Also the company planned a two-story building with a foundation for a third floor.

If constructed, the plant will serve Jensen Beach, Port St. Lucie and Hutchinson Island.

Abernethy announced plans for the Jensen Beach site more than a year ago.

annett gives FIT $25,000 for marina

BEACH–Florida Institute of ology received a $25,000 grant the Frank E. Gannett Newspaper ation, Inc. toward construction of ew maintenance facility at the ool of Marine and ronmental Technology here.

grant was presented to FIT ent Jerome P. Keuper by Gannett , Inc. President and Today ger Publisher Joseph T. Lyons.

et Florida and the Gannett ation are subsidiaries of the ett Co., Inc. which publishes 53 apers in 16 states and on Guam.

grant is the third from the ation to FIT's marine science m.

grant reflects the Gannett ation's continuing interest in and its support of higher ion, said Lyons.

nda is the ideal place for graphy studies and this grant will erge FIT's technology with the resources at hand," he said.

Gannett Foundation grant will be ed with $81,150 from FIT and from the William G. and Marie Foundation toward construction of ew maintenance building, dock ching facilities at the Jensen campus.

ition Gannett Foundation grants include $25,000 for outfitting a ish research vessel and $12,000 for technical in the marine library.

e grants have made possible ast additions to our library and ensive ongoing research program," Keuper said, and this latest grant able us to dock and service our rt vessels right on the campus.

are grateful to the foundation for ntinuing support and are confident make our teaching and research en ever more productive," he moved its Hydro Space al Institute from Cocoa Beach in August 1972 when it acquired the entire campus of St. Joseph College in Jensen Beach.

The new campus was designated as the home of the School of Marine and Environmental Technology with the former HTI as its core educational unit.

The Gannett Foundation was created in 1937 by Frank E. Gannett, who believed that a share of a newspaper's profits should revert to the community it serves.

Mandatory rationing

Long gas lines disappear

JENSEN BEACH–The long lines at Jensen Beach service stations disappeared Monday and Tuesday as the county's mandatory odd-even license number plan for gasoline went into effect.

The plan is working well, Carl Sovine of Sovine's Gulf Service said. The gas supply hasn't changed just the lines.

Sovine said he is pumping about 1,500 gallons a day.

"If the plan is keeping the lines down," Art Riley at Jensen Texaco said.

Riley said he was open all day Monday, but said that he didn't know what his March gasoline allotment is going to be.

Bill Crooks at Skyline Standard said that lines started to get shorter about last Wednesday.

Crooks said he was pumping about 1,800 gallons each day and staying open from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

At Tenneco Service Station, Clarence Rydell said he has a 12,000 gallon allotment for March, double the amount he had for February.

"We haven't had any lines," Rydell said, "but we've had a steady flow of cars."

The service station operators said there has been some confusion about the odd-even tag number plan.

There was some confusion on Monday, Rydell said, as out of state motorists didn't know about the plan.

Also, the station operators said they had little problem with the $5 minimum purchase if their tank holds 10 gallons or more.

With the end of gasoline lines and the promise of more gasoline for the county, the tourist industry, motels, restaurants, etc., business is expected to increase.

Martin County Commission last week adopted a mandatory Oregon-type gasoline rationing.

Martin County Fair is March 11-16

STUART–A Queen of the 1974 Martin County Fair will be selected on opening night, Monday, March 11, 8 p.m. at the fairgrounds. The Soroptimist Club of Stuart will sponsor the program for the 7th year. Contestants must be unmarried, 18 to 22 years old and have lived in Martin County for at least six months. Judging will be based on personality and poise, and contestants will wear formal gowns. Two runners-up will also be recognized. Application blanks are available at the Fair office and at Martin County High School.

Planning committee members are Mrs. Rosaleen Murray, chairman; Mrs. T.H. Chambers, Mrs. B.D. Fulton, Jr., Mrs. Edgar Norton, Mrs. Clarence Rydell and Mrs. Loretta Singer.

Richard E. Campbell, publisher of The Jensen Beach Mirror and Port St. Lucie Mirror will act as master of ceremonies. Judges will be Mrs. Robert U. Gladwin, a former Miss Martin County; Mrs. Janet Hutchinson, director of museums for Martin County, and Timer E. Powers, member of the Martin County Board of Commissioners from Indiantown. Mrs. Phil Hogan, Jupiter will be vocal soloist accompanied by Mrs. Marvin Keller.

Rehearsal will be held Sunday, March 10, 2:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds under the direction of Mrs. Fulton. Former "Fair Ladies" are Mary Peck, Janice Taylor, Barbara Kanarek, Glenora Coutant, Tatiana Vingling and Beverly Bibbee.

The new queen will be crowned by Fair Association president Pat Demunico and presented with an engraved silver bowl from that group. The three runners will receive commemorative gold charms from the Soroptimist Club. A selection of gifts will also be given the queen and Sunrise Music Co. will furnish an organ for musical entertainment.

Early entrants are Donna Marie DBurbine, Marjorie Rebecca DuBose, Lynda Hays, Eleanor Miller all of Stuart. Also Evelyn Suter of Jensen Beach and Karin Vande Weghe of Hobe Sound.

EYE BANK–March is Florida Lions Eye Bank Month and Jensen Beach Lions Club set up a table at Sunday's pancake breakfast at Langford Park to take donations. Lion Club member V.J. Vanacore takes a donation from Joan Schlemmer.

Voter books close March 9

STUART–Martin County voters registration books will close Saturday, Mar. 9 at 5 p.m. for the upcoming special county charter election, the supervisor of elections announced.

Supervisor Sandra Randolph said that in order to accomodate persons wishing to register special office hours will be held.

On Friday, March 8, the Hobe Sound Civic Center will be open from 4 to 6 p.m., courthouse office, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and South County Volunteer Fire station, 9 a.m. to noon.

The offices will continue to observe their regular office hours.

UF campaign is over $50,000

JENSEN BEACH–The Martin County United Fund campaign to raise $68,000 has reached $53,500, Ken Ferguson said Tuesday.

Ferguson, UF president, said that the board of directors met Monday night and agreed to make a final push, contacting persons who have not made their contributions.

He noted that residents of Holiday Out had contributed $865 and Venture Out residents had donated $723.

"Those residents don't even live in the county," Ferguson observed. He said they were making their donations for the Jensen Beach Ambulance Association.

Unopposed candidates are John Rossiter, Robert G. Morgan, and William Sowden.

Rossiter and Morgan will take the places of Mayor Harry Simon and Commissioner Daniel Morrell for four-year terms. The two incumbent commissioners didn't seek reelection.

Sowden is filling the unexpired two-year term of Commissioner Robert Wilson who resigned last January.

The three men will join Commissioners Frances E. Clarke and Clay Lambeth. They take office March 19.

SERVING SAUSAGE–There were a lot of sausage served along with pancakes and coffee last Sunday at the Langford Park Fieldhouse. The Jensen Beach Lions Club held their popular pancake breakfast and it was enjoyed by hundreds of area residents. Waiting for his plate to be filled is Al Walker, left, a member of the club. Taking his turn at the stove is Lion Dave McConnell.

TRAVEL RAMBLE

Q. Do you book ski packages?
A. Yes, come in and check with us. United and TWA Getaway offer many different accommodations.

Q. What is the difference between a direct flight and a non-stop plane?
A. Direct flights will mean that you will be landing enroute, but not changing planes. Direct-non-stop means just what it says—No stops until you reach your destination.

Q. Will you be having any tours in April?
A. Yes, our April newsletter for our Far & Near Travel Club will be out by the last week in March.

Q. I hear the Ice Follies is coming to West Palm Auditorium.
A. You are correct we will have several buses going down on April 4. Please call us for reservations for the 3 p.m. performance.

Remember the next meeting of the Far & Near Travel Club is March 27th in the community room of the First Federal Building, Commercial Street, Jensen Beach, at 7:30 p.m.

Register paintings Friday for fair

STUART—All artists who are planning to exhibit paintings in the Martin County Fair are asked to bring them to the AGricultural Center on south A-1-A Friday, March 8 between 1 and 5 p.m.

"We will have persons there to accept and register the paintings," Mrs. Mahlon Cline, art chairman for the fair, said Monday.

Each artist is permitted to submit only one painting in the week-long art show which is part of the Martin County Fair. Paintings are to be picked up Sunday, March 17, at the Agricultural Center between 1 and 3 p.m.

"Those not picked up at that time will have a nominal charge assessed against them," Mrs. Cline said.

The exhibit is sponsored by Art Associates of Martin County, Inc. and will be manned by hosts and hostesses who are members of the Associates.

TELLS STORY–Photographer Nick Arroyo illustrates do's and don't's of photography during his talk at Florida Institute of Technology

Photographer tells of his career

JENSEN BEACH–More than a dozen students from the Florida Institute of Technology's photography department got a rare look inside the world of photojournalism Wednesday, Feb. 27, as prize winning photographer Nick Arroyo of the Palm Beach Post spoke about his career.

The 32 year-old Arroyo told the students that during his college years he had considered himself a "liberal", always demonstrating for various causes, but that his accomplishments as a demonstrator were small compared to what he does now through photography.

"As a newspaper photographer," he said, "I've seen and experienced first-hand much more about life than I ever did as a demonstrator. Because of this, and because I am concerned about the world and its people, I have found photography to be one of the single most important mediums of a communication capable of helping man better understand himself."

According to Arroyo, there are literally millions of pictures worth photographing, but it takes a trained and sensitive eye to see them. "We pass hundreds of interesting pictures each day without realizing it," he said "... to be a good photographer one must take the time to look at the world around himself."

"Once a subject is chosen, the next step is to investigate all possibles angles from which it can be photographed. In documentation or scientific photography the first order of business is to capture the reality of the subject," he said " but again, a good photographer takes the time to look for that particular angle which makes the photograph visually interesting as well as factual."

"My personal approach to creating the right photograph is to build up to it by taking a lot of shots from different angles, gradually working toward that one shot which makes the best statement," he said.

At the end of his talk he threw the floor open for questions, the most prominant being "How do you get candid photographs of people without being obvious?"

"First," he said, "I don't try to hide myself, instead I purposely make myself obvious. In trying to be inconspicuous you're actually drawing attention, but by being obvious people notice you at first, then pay little or no attention to you because you become familiar, and not an unknown sneaking around their edges."

Arroyo said he would be visiting F.I.T. again to talk to students and help them in anyway he can to better understand photography, its potentials and responsibilities.

The Red Balloon slated for FIT

JENSEN BEACH--Continuing its International Film Festival series, the Florida Institute of Technology (FIT), Jensen Beach, will present "The Red Balloon" and "Seven Surprises" at 8 p.m., Saturday, Mar. 9, in the F.I.T. auditorium.

Hailed as one of the all time classic short films "The Red Balloon" won the Academy Award in 1956 for its original screenplay by Albert Lamorisse, who also directed the film, and has been acclaimed throughout the world as a wonderful fantasy of childhood. The 34 minute French film will be presented first.

The second film of the evening is "Seven Surprises" produced by Harvey Chertok and Eric Albertson, in association with the National Film Board of Canada. A compilation of seven award-winning shorts by film-makers of the National Film Board of Canada, it features three works by Norman McLaren: "A Chairy Tale", in which a kitchen chair refuses to be sat on until a man changes his attitude; "LeMerle", a lively animation of the French-Canadian song about a blackbird who loses and regains parts of his body; and "Neighbors", an Oscar-winning parable about two neighbors who battle for a flower which grows on their property line.

Other films in the package are "Nahanni", documenting a 73-year-old prospector's 500 mile trip up a river in search of a legendary gold mine; "The Cars In Your Life", a humorous film showing how cars dominate our lives; "Corral", about an Alberta cowboy gentling a rebellious pony; and "Wrestling", a candid and funny view of the sport.

The films will begin at 8 p.m., Saturday, Mar. 9, in the F.I.T. auditorium. Tickets may be purchased at the auditorium door beginning at 7 p.m. that evening for $1 (one dollar) for adults, and 50 cents for students. Jensen school wins state award

JENSEN BEACH–The statewide award known as the "Little Red Schoolhouse Award" has been won by Jensen Beach Elementary School.

The award is given in recognition of outstanding educational programs for children and is sponsored by the Florida Elementary School Principals Association.

Almost 1,500 schools were in competition for the award.

The school won the award for its "Viking Park" project, according to Principal Dale Clark.

Clard pointed out that the "key" to winning the award was community involvement-PTA, various government agencies and teachers.

A footbridge was constructed over Warner Creek which was cleaned out by workers of the Mosquito Control Department and Soil Conservation Department.

Also, Clark said that trees were planted during Arbor Day, and that work on the park is continuing. He said that pavilions will be constructed so that classes can be held and a small observation tower will be built.

"We received honorable mention for the past two years and this year we took the cake", the proud school principal said.

School Supt. James Navitsky said that presentation of the award will take place in April at the elementary principal's spring conference in West Palm Beach.

"The school board and the entire school system take great pleasure in congratulating the Jensen Beach School, its principal Dale Clark, the teachers and the entire staff on this outstanding achievement", Navitsky said.

Island residents want bike path

JENSEN BEACH–Residents of South Hutchinson Island in St. Lucie County are seeking a bicycle path along A1A and a petition with 800 signatures will be presented to state and local authorities.

Fred W. Kiefaber of Holiday Out, a member of a committee circulating the petition, said that the petition would be presented to the St. Lucie County Commission and Tallahassee officials.

He said that the bicycle path–north from the Martin County line about two miles north to Outdoor Resorts–would serve more than 8,000 persons.

Also, with the island development, many more residents in the area would be served by the bicycle path, according to Kiefaber.

"I would like to see a bicycle path from Jensen Beach to Fort Pierce," the Holiday Out resident said.

The petition stated, in part:

"We, the undersigned, being property owners located in St. Lucie County, do hereby petition the Board of County Commission, State Highway Department, State of Florida to construct a bicycle path along the right-of-way of State Road A1A."

Also on the committee are Carl Ekserine, Outdoor Resorts; Mrs. Olive Taylor, Holiday Out; William Middleton, Venture Out; and Mrs. Sofia Holland, Windmill Village.

Minibus survey is underway

JENSEN BEACH–The first phase of a study to see whether a minibus system is practical for Martin County is underway with a representative of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell making interviews, according to commissioner Ed Gluckler.

"The study is moving ahead," Gluckler said.

Fred U. Pshyk, a senior consultant of the planning firm employed to make the survey, has had preliminary discussions with health, welfare and Council on Aging personnel, according to the commissioner.

Gluckler said that during the first phase there will be four girls making some 500 telephone interviews and that Pshyk will interview senior citizens.

"The purpose for the survey is to see if there is a need for a minibus system and if so, what type," Gluckler.

Various types of systems that could be installed include the demand-type subscription, straight routes, or a combination of the two, according to Gluckler.

A Venice, Fla. firm which makes small buses has offered to sell the county minibuses at $3,000 each.

A representative of that firm met with county officials several weeks ago to discuss some of the advantages of small buses.

It was explained that a bus system could be installed which would provide door-to-door transportation, and that passengers could call a central office and have a bus within 15 minutes.

The minibus could make morning runs, picking up passengers who had phoned in the office in advance.

First phase of the study will cost the county $8,700, and should the study show a bus system would be practical, another study, to cost $8,000, would be made to show what equipment should be bought, giving a cost analysis and advise how the system should be run.

When the gasoline got in short supply with cars lined up at the service stations, county commissioners started looking into the possibility of establishing a minibus system.

Skillcraft Industries, Inc. of Venice, formerly manufactured travel campers but diversified its business when the energy crisis hurt sales of campers. The firm now equips van-type vehicles to serve as 11 passenger buses, complete with two-way radios, wheelchair lifts for the handicapped and other accessories.

The firm of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell made the Hurchinson Island study for the county.

OMC drivers win praise of firemen

JENSEN BEACH–Just how do you fight a fire if you can't get to the fire? This question was resolved last weekend by the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department, with the help of Outboard Marine Corporation test boat drivers.

A fire broke out on a small island off Sewall's Point's High Point Monday morning, and Jensen firemen arrived to fight the blaze at 9 a.m. There was no access to the island, and the fire embers of fires started by the Sunday picnickers that came by boat, was about 400 feet from the mainland.

OMC test drivers in the Indian River came to the rescue, first taking Lt. Willard Bowman to the island, then helping him try to fight the fire. The OMC test boat drivers used their boat fire extinguishers to put out several stump fires on the heavily wooded island.

"There was a lot of matted vegetation there and it burns like muck," said Capt. Ernie Baker.

The fire broke out again about 1 p.m. and the OMC test drivers transported the department's skids pump and 400 feet of hose to the island.

The pump was set up on one of the boats and the hose taken into the wooded area.

They stayed with us and helped until 4:30 p.m. Nobody asked them to help. They just came and helped us get the job done. The sheriff's department boat arrived and the pump was transferred to that boat so that the OMC drivers could get back in the test center," Baker said.

He added that he was told by Deputy Bart Knuff that the OMC drivers testing boats and motors on the Indian and St. Lucie Rivers were continually coming to the aid of boaters stranded.

It's like having a continuous marine patrol out there and it's great to have them here to help us," Baker said. "We appreciate what those kids do for us."

The OMC drivers included Mike Campbell, Jay Fathaver, Wayne King and Kris Bristel.

DAR will elect officers

STUART–Halpatiokee Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold its regular monthly meeting at Holiday Inn at 11 a.m. for members only on March 8. The election of officers for 1974-76 will take place.

Lunch is at 12:15, followed by a program. The Bicentennial Project Report will be made and a history of the oldest church in our county will be given.

Members may phone hostesses Mrs. J.J. Campbell 283-4172 and Mrs. J.B. Faw, 287-9088, for reservations. Guests may phone Mrs. W.C. Schwizer, 283-0730.

HOME INSURANCE CHECKUP???

You check your home periodically to make sure it is in top condition and make repairs where needed. You should also give your home insurance a periodic check-up too. For example:

Is your present policy adequate for the ever increasing replacement cost of your home?

Your local Kemper Insurance agent is the one to see for your checkup. He can review your present insurance to see if it is keeping up with the rising replacement cost of your home and he can check up on it periodically to help you make sure it stays up to date.

$250,000 goal

CESA fund kickoff is March 15

PORT ST. LUCIE–The fund raising kickoff date for the Cultural, Educational and Social Association (CESA) expansion has been tentatively set for March 15, according to Dick Lundin, CESA president.

A $250,000 goal, which the finance committee is optimistic they can raise, will add 8,000 square feet to the existing CESA Community Center building.

The proposed addition will complete the second phase of a long range plan for building a $1 million cultural center in the Port St. Lucie area.

Included in the second phase will be a 500-seat assembly hall (288 for dining), a senior citizens lounge, snack bar, gift shop, darkroom, two class rooms, woodworking shop, picnic area, and parking facilities for 200 cars.

A portable stage will be included in the assembly hall. All dinners to be held in the hall will be catered. The expansion does not include kitchen facilities.

According to Lundin, the senior citizens lounge will be furnished with a color television, lounge chairs, card tables and chairs, and will provide the social atmosphere for the community residents which is not available now.

In the snack bar there will be coffee, sandwiches, cookies, donuts and cold drinks available. The bar will be equipped with a refrigerator and two infrared ovens for heating the sandwiches.

"This," Lundin said, "is putting CESA's new look forward, mainly to be a social service agency for Port St. Lucie. In making this a social service agency we realized we had to have something as the hub, and this will be it."

The gift shop will be furnished with display cases. This will give the residents an opportunity to sell their various projects. The sale of such items will be restricted to in-house products of the community and will be sold on a consignment basis. For example, should the seller ask $2 for an item, it will be marked to sell for $2.40. CESA will get the 40 cents.

"This will be a wonderful opportunity for the people of the community as well as for CESA," Lundin said.

The classrooms for arts and crafts, ceramics, woodworking and the dark room will be equipped by Indian River Community College.

The fund raising campaign, headed by Mel Broom, will be conducted basically in two phases, one conducted for the homeowners and the second for the financial institutions, insurance firms and other commercial organizations in the area.

The residential area, which includes some 3,000 homes in the Port St. Lucie, Spanish Lakes and White City areas, will have a one-day fund drive. This will be accomplished by a system of division leaders, team captains and so forth on down to the actual campaigner, who would have only five or six addresses given to call on. There will be follow-ups over a period of time, or until every resident has been contacted.

This drive would be a combination cash donation and pledge affair, with pledge cards calling for one, two or three-year pledges.

It is hoped by the committee that enough cash will be raised to proceed immediately with the proposed project, while the pledges will be used to make the pay ments as the project continues.

Through the courtesy of Indian River Community College, the finance committee has been furnished with 5,000 pledge cards as well as 3,000 colorful brochures which will be distributed by the campaigner.

According to CESA treasurer Tom Hillegas, the building fund now has $10,150.88.

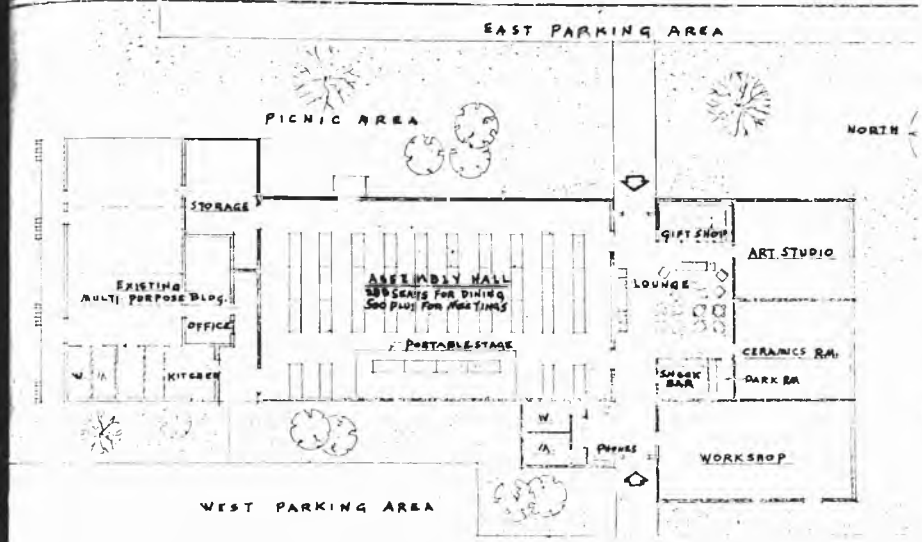
"We will have complete indoctrination sessions so that each campaigner will know exactly what CESA is offering to the community, and how the new facilities will benefit each resident," Broom said.

Broom said General Development Corporation is having a signboard erected in the front yard of the Community Center building that will have a fan-shaped gasoline gauge with the plans to "fill er up" and spaces for commercial and financial firms giving $500 or more to the 1974 CESA building fund campaign. The sign will remain up for one year.

Individual, commercial and financial donors will also be honored by having their names placed on a $100 and up donor plaque in the Community Center building as their donations reach or pass the $100 mark.

There will be a series of memorials for firms and individuals who wish to purchase areas, parts of the construction such as doors or rooms and equipment items. There will be a memorial plaque in the assembly hall to commemorate these memorial donors.

The community-wide finance drive will be kicked off with a breakfast in the Community Center building, at which time a pacesetter plaque will be hung in the building to honor a January donation of $5,000.



SECOND PHASE OF CESA. Within the next ten days a $250,000 fund raising drive will get underway for the 8,000 square foot expansion of the Cultural, Educational and Social Association (CESA) of Port St. Lucie. The second phase of the complex will include an assembly hall, gift shop, lounge, snack bar, two classrooms, a workshop, a picnic area and landscaped parking facilities for 200 cars. Shown above is the floor plan of the proposed expansion as submitted by George Asklof, architect.

helping hand

Guidance and referral program is underway

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Cultural, Educational and Social Association (CESA) took on a new look last week in the form of a new secretary, Mrs. Amy Guerriero.

Mrs. Guerriero moved to Port St. Lucie two years ago with her husband, Joe, following his retirement as a high school teacher in Brewster, N.Y. She worked with her many years of experience as a secretary.

"After a year I just got tired of staring my time away," Mrs. Guerriero said. "I know how to sew, I could try on my own clothes, play bridge and golf and I can cook. There just wasn't much else to learn to do as far as I myself were concerned, so I decided to look for something to do and, here I am."

The energy crisis will not interfere or cause a transportation problem for Mrs. Guerriero. They reside on Lucero Drive, which is no more than a hop, skip and a jump from the CESA Community Center.

Mrs. Geurriero looks upon her new job as a challenge.

"I am looking forward to setting up a good office system here at CESA," she said. "With the new expansion program CESA is embarking on and with what they hope to accomplish within the next few months, I consider it a real challenge and eagerly look forward to that challenge."

CESA's plans for the coming months are to broaden out into what might be called a referral guidance type program. It is the intent of CESA and Mrs. Guerriero to try and involve the entire community one hundred percent in the functioning and the expansion of the organization.

Mrs. Geurriero pointed out the main objective to such a program is to bring social services to the residents of the community. CESA wants to lean more towards helping the elderly than they have been helped in the past.

"I will be here five days a week from 8 a.m. til 5 p.m. to answer questions, and assist them in any way possible," she said.

Mrs. Guerriero cited several areas in which she hopes to be of help to the residents of the community.

"Transportation is a problem in our community," she said. "We would like to get a list of volunteers and set up some type of car pool."

Some people need help in answering letters, especially those pertaining to governmental agencies and insurance companies. Mrs. Guerriero is willing to help them with such correspondence.

Mrs. Guerriero has applied for a notary license, which is one more way she will be able to assist the residents.

A sunshine committee who would volunteer to call on other residents of the area, particularly those living alone, either by phone or in person.

In an effort to simplify the program, Mrs. Guerriero said, "The purpose of this program is to make life a bit easier for the residents of our community by giving a little bit of attention and a helping hand if they will accept it."

Realizing it will take time for this new program to build up, both the CESA president, Dick Lundin, and Mrs. Guerriero are confident it will become a big thing, but, it will take participation on the part of the residents.

NEW LOOK–Mrs. Amy Guerriero provided a new look to the CESA complex, when she assumed the duties last week as the full-time secretary. Aside from her secretarial duties, Mrs. Guerriero will be instrumental in setting up the guidance type program proposed for CESA.

WORK UNDERWAY–Land clearing work got underway last week at the site of the new Port St. Lucie Elementary School. The 300,000 contract for the first phase of construction has been awarded to Richard Davis Construction of Fort Pierce. O.R. Seelinger, superintendent of St. Lucie County Schools, is optimistic about a September opening of the 24-room building.

Blood pressure unit is planned for PSL

PORT ST. LUCIE–In a move designed to improve the health service of the community, the CESA Volunteers have completed arrangements for a low cost blood pressure unit that will go into operation in the CESA Community Center Building, 300 S.W. Prima Vista Boulevard, at 10 a.m. March 13.

Blood pressure committee chairmen, Mrs. Russell Decker and Mrs. Andrew Bagamery, announced that the volunteers will open the blood pressure clinic at the CESA building next Tuesday. The service will be provided for 50 cents from 10 a.m. till noon every Tuesday thereafter.

They pointed out that if anyone needed the service, but does not have transportation, call CESA at 878-1388 and ask that arrangements be made.

Dr. Hoyt Taylor and Mrs. Decker will be the doctor and nurse team on duty March 12.

The following nurses have volunteered their services and will be on duty on various Tuesdays: Mrs. Paul Lewallen, Mrs. Ward White, Mrs. Ruth Reif, Mrs. John Pugh and Mrs. A.R. Trottier.

Also, Mrs. Frank Alicki, Mrs. Hoyt Taylor, Mrs. Margaret Alder, Mrs. Frank Zemzan and Miss Olive Ricketts.

Any nurses who have not been contacted and would be willing to volunteer their services, contact Mrs. Decker, 103 E. Prima Vista Boulevard, or call 878-0535.

CESA Volunteers Chairman Mrs. Ruth McDonnell said that the blood pressure kits that will be used by the unit have been supplied by the nursing department of Indian River Community College.

Receipts from the unit will go for the 1974 CESA building fund campaign.

Powerpuff course set in mechanics

PORT ST. LUCIE–Ladies in the Port St. Lucie area will have the opportunity of learning the basic fundamentals in operation and routine maintenance of their car.

A Powder Puff Auto Mechanics course will be offered at the CESA building, Prima Vista Boulevard, on Thursdays from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

There is no charge for the course which is sponsored by Indian River Community College.

The course will include such items as how to check the water, oil, belts, tires, battery and perhaps enable the owner to improve the gas mileage.

HOME INSURANCE CHECKUP???

You check your home periodically to make sure it's in top condition and make repairs where needed. You should also give your home insurance a periodic check-up too. For example:

Is your present policy adequate for the ever increasing replacement cost of your home?

Your local Kemper Insurance agent is the one to see for your checkup. He can review your present insurance to see if it is keeping up with the rising replacement cost of your home. And he can check up on it periodically to help you make sure it stays up to date.

For your home insurance checkup, see

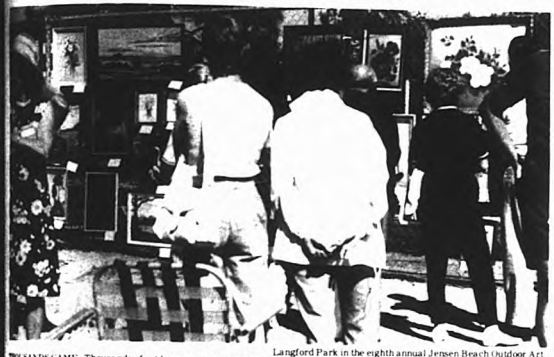
ART FESTIVAL--The eighth annual Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Outdoor Art Festival at Langford Park Saturday and Sunday was a huge success. Artists started arriving at 7 a.m. to get their spots, and before long the entire fence in the ballpark was lined with colorful paintings. When the fences were filled, artists set up in the outfield. People came from all around the area to browse and admire the display.

FLORIDA SCENE--Mrs. Enid Elmendorf of Fort Pierce, who works in oils and watercolor, is pictured with one of her Florida scenes. Mrs. Elmendorf was one of about 80 artists who exhibited their paintings over the weekend at Langford Park.



THOUSANDS CAME--Thousands of art lovers came to see the paintings and other works of art exhibited March 2 and 3 at Langford Park in the eighth annual Jensen Beach Outdoor Art Festival. The weatherman cooperated, also, with two beautiful days of sunshine.

OIL PAINTINGS--Getting a suntan and waiting for customers is Bill Gunther, Fort Pierce artist, who took part in the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce outdoor art festival last Saturday and Sunday.

Jensen Art Festival is 'Best Ever'

JENSEN BEACH--Crowds of people turned out under sunny skies last Saturday and Sunday to enjoy the eighth annual Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Outdoor Art Festival at Langford Park.

"This was the biggest and best ever," chairman J. Ernest Baker told The Mirror. "They like the country-fair atmosphere. About 80 artists had registered for the annual event, and a dozen or more showed up Saturday morning to join the group.

The fences around the ballpark were lined with colorful works of art, and exhibit racks dotted the center field. Artists from as far away as Titusville came to what is known as "one of the very best art shows in the state."

"We wouldn't miss this show for anything in the world," one artist, who has been coming for eight years, told Baker. Others said the facilities were outstanding, that "this is our favorite art show."

Many brought their children to play in the playground area. Some persons settled under the shady trees enjoying hot dogs and other refreshments bought at the concession stand which was manned by volunteers. Proceeds from the food sales went to the Jensen Beach CUBS.

In addition to the concession stand, the Jensen Beach Lions Club on Sunday had one of its popular Pancake Days, serving over 1,800 persons at the field house.

"And most of these people came to see the art exhibit," Baker said.

Baker laughed as he told of one of the "fun things" which happened.

"Members of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department got together and presented one of their members with a 'Best of Show' trophy and blue ribbon for his art entry. Baker chuckled. "We got about eight fellow firemen together and marched over in a body to commend Will Bowman for his 'Brush Fire - Devastation' entry.

The firemen had a good laugh while Bill Yurillo, Frank Wacha and Baker made speeches, pinned the blue ribbon on the painting and presented a "Basketball" trophy to Bowman. This was Bowman's first outdoor art festival and he had entered six paintings. The "Brush Fire" was done after the firemen had fought a blaze in the Savannas.

...and the VFW turned chicken on Sunday

VFW BARBEQUE--Several hundred persons enjoyed the Jensen Beach VFW Post 10066 chicken barbeque with all the trimmings last Sunday afternoon at the post home on Savanna Road. About 1,300 chickens were barbequed.

V.F.W. news

BY CHUCK RENDER

We would like to thank the public for making our Sunday chicken Bar-B-Que the success that it was. It was gratifying to see the V.F.W. loaded with people inside and out. Commander Branford commends all members and auxiliary who worked so diligently. At last count we served close to 800 persons.

Elliot Nordhem is the new unit leader of the Sons of the V.F.W. He submits this report: Sons of the V.F.W. meets the first and third Sundays of every month at 2 p.m. Members of the unit helped clean up Savanna Rd. with class from Jensen Beach School.

The boys are saving aluminum cans for recycling and they have built a BB gun target range for moving and still contests. The boys are planning a campout March 22 and 23 and are working to train a Color Guard for flag-raising and parades.

The Sons of the V.F.W. are saving stamps. Anyone interested in stamp-swapping or exchange, contact E. M. Nordhien, 217 South St. or phone 334-5852.

The boys did their part for the chicken bar-b-que. They helped put out the posters, helped clean the chickens and after it was all over, they helped clean up the grounds.

Looking ahead: THE Auxiliary will meet Wednesday, March 6, 8 p.m. The next regular meeting will be Thursday, March 7, 8 p.m. Sunday, March 10 will be the 11th District Voice of Democracy banquet in Fort Pierce at V.F.W. Post 3064. Monday, March 11, the district V.O.D. winners will be the guest of Jim Montgomery, Channel 34 at 6:30 news. don't forget the Auxiliary's rummage sale this Saturday at the Post home on Savanna Rd.

SERVICE OFFICER,S REPORT
BY GEORGE HODGES

VA allows second home loans to veterans with qualification. Veterans who have used their GI loan entitlement previously, can have their entitlement restored and get another VA guaranteed loan under some circumstances, the Veterans Administration has reminded veterans.

There are two basic qualifications for restoration of loan entitlement.

The first qualification is that the Va must have been released from liability on the original loan. Release of the Va from liability on the loan is accomplished when the holder of the mortgage relinquishes the loan guaranty certificate to the VA. This usually happens when a home is sold with new financing.

The second qualification is that the first home was sold for a compelling reason. Some reasons considered by the VA to be compelling are transfer of employment from one locality to another by an employer, destruction of home by fire or natural hazard, voluntary change of employment to another locality offering more income and opportunity for advancement provided satisfactory evidence is furnished to VA, retirement of a veteran or transfer of a service man by his military department while he is on active duty, limited space in a veteran's or serviceman's home if a doctor certifies the limited space is detrimental to a serious health condition, an increase in size of his family, however is not in itself sufficient grounds for restoration of entitlement, and, loss of employment through a reduction in force, or curtailment of activities in occupation where is is employed, if suitable employment is obtained in another locality.

Questions concerning whether or not the disposition of a property for a reason other than listed should be directed to your local VA office.

VA guaranteed home loans are available to eligible veterans and servicemen with at least 90 days of active duty during World War II, and the Korean conflict, or at least 181 days in the Vietnam era. Loan benefits also are available to eligible widows, and wives of service men missing in action, or prisoners of war for more than 90 days.

HOBBY SHOW-The fifth annual hobby show was held last Tuesday, Feb 26, at the D & Park Recreation Hall. Shown at one of the tables with some of the many items on display are, from left, Bessie Kleper, Ethel Phillips show chairman, Mona Wendt, display chairman. Esther E. Grindley, in charge of refreshments.

Despite gas shortages, the crowd attending the Hobby Show in our recreation hall was as large as usual, and the ladies who worked so diligently to make it such a huge success were happy and gratified. The variety of hand made articles on display, and the excellence of the talent displayed was ample proof of the versatility of the members.

Flo Fitzgerald's class in basketry had beautiful articles to show, and Kassy Taylor's Friday afternoon class hung samples of her teaching which were much admired by all.

No one went away hungry or thirsty, for the refreshment committee had goodly supplies of home made cookies, punch and coffee on hand, and from the way they disappeared.

Articles on the white elephant table sold quickly, and winners of the exceptionally lovely door prizes were delighted.

The members also appreciated the appearance of photographers from the newspapers, and look forward to seeing themselves in print.

Joe Penrod's merry little jingles appeared outside the recreation hall prior to and during the hobby show, attracted much attention and produced some wide grins.

Mary and Forrest Palm have been enjoying a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Russ Brown and their family, who live in Toledo; their grandson Charles Morgan and his family from Orlando and Mr. an Mrs. Robert Wynn and family from Wayne, Ohio. They all did a lot of fishing, and spent three days at Disney World.

Elfride and Noble Wininger were delighted to have as their guests old friends from Paoli, Indiana, Dr. John K. Spears and his wife Josephine. In spite of the chill in the air, they have been fishing, and boating.

A brand new semester in Pounds Off commenced March 1 for this group of ladies which is sponsored by the Indian River Community College. We are proud of the losses in weight and inches, and of our ability to exercise for longer periods without fatigue. Each one has increased her walking pace, and it's a great satisfaction to find clothing hanging loose.

Mrs. Hogue has returned from the hospital, and is happy to have her daughter-in-law with her while her shoulder mends.

Mrs. Skelton is now off the critical list, and after surgery, is improving.

Nettie Keefer is convalescing rapidly, as we all expected, and very soon will be pursuing her normal activities.

Juanita Brouillette's art class met Thursday morning at 9 in spite of the chilly atmosphere in the recreation hall, and got right down to work on a lesson about draperies. The last Sunday in this month, March 24, is the big day for her students, when they will display the results of their work done since the art show last year. This class is also sponsored by the IRCC, and we are looking forward to having the college send judges as it did last year.

Visitors to state parks up

TALLAHASSEE--Despite the fuel shortage, overall visitation at Florida state parks during January increased 17.9 percent over January of a year ago, the Department of Natural Resources announced.

The department reported that 742,457 persons visited the parks last month, compared to 629,740 persons during January, 1973. He noted that increases in visitation occurred at 34 of the 73 state sites operated by the Department's Division of Recreation and Parks.

Despite the increase during January, it was reported the parks have declined slightly in overall fisitation since last summer.

Bank dividends are announced

BOCA RATON--First Bancshares of Florida, Inc., has declared a quarterly divident of 13 cents a share, payable March 28, 1974, to shareholders of record, March 20, 1974, according to Thomas F. Fleming, Jr., chairman of the board.

The dividend will be the fourteenth consecutive paid by the company since First Bancshares became a multi-bank holding company in the fall of 1970. First Bancshares currently consists of 12 member banks from Miami to Fort Pierce. Completion of pending acquisitions and charters will increase the number to 25 banks.

Earnings for First Bancshares of Florida, Inc., rose 18 percent for the year ended Dec. 31, 1973. Earnings before security transactions climbed to $4,158,000 - up from $3,515,000 for the same period of 1972. Per share earnings, adjusted for the 3-for-2 stock split declared March 22, 1973, climbed to $1.12 - from $1.02 a year ago, an increase of 10 percent.

Oh!
I don't take chances any more!

Now even my pin money makes money! The days when I hid money all over the house are gone.

I found it more beneficial to save money where it can earn more for me. I was constantly worried each time I left my house that it would be robbed or that after awhile I would forget where I hid my money. Now it's convenient and safe in my 5 1/4% passbook savings account at Community Federal Savings & Loan Association. I can get it out any time I please and the interest is compounded daily. There are few investments to compare with a savings account at Community Federal for versatility and return on your money. And all I have to remember now is where I left my passbook!

No question about it, the big news this week was the Annual Variety Show. Although there is plenty of talent floating around this park, Dot Blair and Dick Clark, the co-chairmen, found only a few who would volunteer to perform. Hence, the show turned out to be mostly a showcase for the chorus; which, I am sure, from the title, was not the original intent. Directed by Claire Talbi with piano accompaniment by Frieda Paulson, the chorus performed ably and showed much improvement over last year. Soloists were: Tom Rosser, Marg Gould, Don Carpp, Mary Neese and the star performer, Rosalie Murphy. Dick sang HUMOROUS NUMBER FROM "My Fair Lady", and Nora Turner did an English Clog Dance. Eleven-year-old Nikki Semerad, granddaughter of the Ira Gingriches, showed us her acrobatic dancing talents. Edith and Steve Pointon, Ed and Tari Weimer, Jim and Barbara Draper, and Eve McIlveen and "Clancy" Cuthell danced a square for us without a caller, a most difficult procedure. Another comedy note was the entrance of Carrie Ullman as Snow White. Her seven dwarves were Bill Blair, Lil Barss, Evie Smith, Catty and Les Ullman, Bob Black and Martha Lewis, who made their costumes as well. The Prince was played by Gary Hall and Joe Vansant. The Toodless Society of Holiday Out played several numbers. The Society is a group of "players for fun", and those playing were Miriam Crosby, Eric Ballard, Dot Blair, Bert Turner, Ellene Percy, Betty Taylor, Jean Taylor and accompanied by George Barss on accordian. I take it upon myself to acknowledge the efforts of the last two groups mentioned, since the thank-you speech did not include them.

Monday, March 4 was the date of the Shuffleboard Luncheon. Held at the Stuart Holiday Inn, it was the occasion for presentation of the trophies. I haven't the list of the winners at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald DeJarnette, New Port Richey, along with Annie, Kathy and Greg are here with us for about a week.

Dot and Erling Johnson left for home but will return in two weeks for a longer stay.

Jo and Orvil Leblinn flew in From Colorado and Betty Lobdell from New York to stay a week or ten days and have their usual family reunion.

It looks just fine to see Dorothy Stevens going around the park without that cast on her hand and arm. She's been hauling it around since early this winter.

Evie and Marvin Smith said goodbye to that sweet grandbaby of theirs. Of course, they will miss Marvin, Gene and Vicki also.

Bobby and Donna Cooke left for home, but may return in a week or two for another short visit.

Bingo winners were: Marg Steler, Ira Gingrich, tie game between Marjorie Smith and Les Hunt, Muriel Marlis, tie game between Dorothy Tolchen and Gert Foster, Garnette Olson, Beryle Ray and Frieda Storts. The Good Neighbor game was won by Helen Hill with Ira Gingrich on her right and Ora Taylor on her left. The coverall was won by Wynne Pohl and the special coverall goes to 63 nummbers next week. This is fantastic.

Our activities Director has asked me to remind you that there will be a beach party in the near future, but the date depends on time and tides. The Hobby Show date has been changed to March 23, because of a Board meeting on the original date. Ila is still waiting for confirmation of busses for a Disney World Tour.

+++

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Ballard, Holiday Out His and Her motorbike duo, have left for Canada to welcome home their son, daughter-in-law and grandchild for a visit. The Ballards will return next year. The Tootlers Society will miss Eric's harmonica playing.

Chuck and Marion White, Chesterfield, Ohio, are moving from the north end of the park, where they've been for quite some time, to the South end for their final three weeks this year.

The West Palm Beach shopping tour was a great success. All who went had a grand time, and from reports, did quite a bit of buying.

Lisbee and Arthur Smith are entertaining Lisbee's sister Pat, who, with husband Dean Bennett, is staying in a friend's trailer.

Don't forget to buy your tickets well ahead of time for the St. Patrick's Day Dance. They will be sold at the rec hall, and are expected to sell out quickly.

Norma Quillen sang the anthem at church services Sunday, and the faithful crew performed layman's and usher services. Rev. Gunshus's sermon was very well received, as was the announcement that the Hobe Sound Choir will perform next Sunday. Be sure not to miss this wonderful group.

Dick Dubion went, was operated upon, and returned home again before I heard about it! Glad he's well again.

"Dilly" and Beryl Jackson have signed up for another month in the park on lot 61. The Jacksons have been here other winters and have many friends in the park.

Bea and Oscar Lupke feel sorta lonesome these days now that all their children have gone back home.

Fred Morgan is playing at being a bachelor while Marian is at home up north.

Carl Tyler flew home, leaving Judy behind for another month. He called in Sunday with the good news that he is being considered for another promotion. We're all rooting for you, Carl!

Congratulations to Scherly Green on catching a 7'3" sailfish recently. He picked up his citation and pin Monday.

Averil and Geneva Ramsey went to Melbourne recently to visit friends. On return trip they dined at Hilltop House.

Jim Liddy, Carolyn, Denise, Luann and Tod flew in for a week with Jim's parents, Fred and Valma Liddy, Lot 481.

Bill and Norma DeKoning were here for two weeks on their first visit. They are from Chatham, Mass. and loved Holiday Out.

John and Anne Jedora from Timmons, Ont., are here for an indefinite stay.

Mrs. John McCaig and her daughter, Joanne, from Ormistown, Quebec, are here for two weeks.

Margaret and Wes Cannon drove down from Saddlebach Lakes near Lake Wales to see Ellene, Percy and Liz Faust on Wednesday in a surprise visit.

Tom Careton, son of Mrs. June Carleton, has been visiting here for two days from Roger College, Providence, R.I. He has been teaching a seminar at Broward College and next month will leave for California where he will conduct further seminars.

The Lot Owner's Association met Saturday and elected officers for the coming year. New chairman is Bill Blair, treasurer, Sao Schmidt, and Olive Taylor and Charles Ullman were elected to three-year terms on the executive board. William Chesson was elected to serve as head of the block chairmen.

Mary and Russ Wolfe drove in Monday from West Virginia to stay for a winter vacation. So glad Florida welcomed them with warm weather and sunshine.

Marie Beck of Vista Drive is rightfully proud of her grandson, Dr. Lee Beck who is in research at a center for the study of population control. Dr. Beck is an assistant professor at the University of Alabama at Birmingham. This research, funded by Rockefeller Foundation, and the World Health Organization, has projects underway in the center to develop new methods of birth control. Unlike the birth control pill, which a woman takes by mouth, this new system and drug, Beck says, may be given by injection which might prevent conception for six months or longer. "People in a number of under-developed countries are already familiar with taking shots for contagious disease, and might accept shots better than pills," he said. The university has a colony of baboons which provide study models, similar to humans. Beck has received personal calls from the Minister of Economics of India, asking about his research. He was on t.v. at Christmas. Marie has been in the park seven years. Her son and father of Dr. Lee died here in the park two years ago.

Tiger hopes in 77-64 loss

BY DONNIE WILKIE

POMPANO BEACH– The Martin County Tigers were finally victims of a post-season loss.

After two years and 15 games of domination, Martin County's long post-season win streak and high hopes for a third straight state title were both leveled in one fantastic period.

It was Winter Park that dealt the Tigers the disappointment, in a wild and wooly game, 77-64.

Leading the Wildcats to the win were two stars named Stan Pietlewicz and Jesse McCleveland, who between them tallied 49 points.

Martin County played well, but were flattened by a Wildcat rally that saw them jump out to a 13 point lead (after being down by 6 at the half), 62-50.

Walter Campbell's absence for most of the contest definitely hurt Martin County, as the tall freshman center fouled with 6 minutes left. Later two other Tigers, Tim Howard and Russell Holloway, also were forced from the competition.

Chamber wants action on traffic

JENSEN BEACH–Action on the Commercial Street traffic plan is wanted by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce directors, and they want Commissioner Ross Philbrick and County Administrator Jack Noble to explain why the plan has apparently been dropped.

At Monday night's meeting, the directors voted to ask Philbrick and Noble to come to the next meeting and explain the status of the downtown Jensen Beach traffic plan.

"We were saved this year by the gasoline shortage," president Jon Chicky observed, referring to the apparent reduction in traffic flow in the downtown area.

John Heyburn, the much-discussed traffic plan issue, noting that the chamber directors had approved the downtown traffic plan at the March, 1973 meeting.

Heyburn reviewed the traffic plan which the directors approved last March, including one-way traffic east bound on Commercial Street and west bound on Ricou Street along with removal of some angle parking on Commercial Street and traffic signals at intersections.

The report was given to the County Commission, and a revised plan-one-way south on Palmetto Street from Ricou to Commercial was presented to the chamber by Philbrick last October.

Later another change was proposed by Philbrick providing two lanes west bound and one lane east on Ricou Street.

Intersection traffic signals would include "bouncing balls type" signals at Ricou and Palmetto and Palmetto and Commercial, and flashing lights at Commercial and Indian River Drive, and control signals at Ricou and Indian River Drive.

After a staff study of the traffic plan, it was recommended that the plan be installed that the chamber study committee had recommended more than two years ago.

Judges for the contest, which drew a large crowd, were Lynn Mauldin Gladwin, a former Miss Martin County; Janet Hutchinson, director of Martin County Museums; and County Commissioner Tim Powers.

Durley Ann Hogan entertained with songs, accompanied by Becky Keller.

The "Fair Lady" received many gifts, along with her crown, including an engraved silver bowl and a bouquet. Martin County Fair president Pat Demnitco crowned the queen.

The runners-up received charms and gifts from Soroptimist president Meinzie Swigart.

Included on the Soroptimist committee were Rosaleen Murray, chairman, Clara Fulton, Martha Norton, Gail Carr, Vee Chambers, Loretta Singer and Pat Rydell.

Mirror editor Dick Campbell was master of ceremonies.

Construction slow

JENSEN BEACH-The construction industry in Martin County continues at a slow pace, a check of February building permit totals at the building inspector's office shows.

In February, the estimated value of 217 permits issued was $3,121,827. That compares to February, 1973 figures of 282 permits valued at $7,307,410.

For the first two months of 1974, total permit value of permits issued by the county building inspector's office as about $5.3 million compared to over $13 million last year.

Last month only six permits were issued for multiple-dwelling units compared to 24 multiple-dwelling units in February, 1973.

Council of Governments hold organization meet

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE With no fanfare a giant stride forward was accomplished by a small group of men who gathered at the Port St. Lucie City Hall last Thursday night.

The occasion was the first pre-organizational meeting to be held by the two-county, three municipality representatives to the proposed Council of Governments.

The meeting was a culmination of months of hard work by Martin County Commissioner Gilbert Powers, who has been an advocate of better communications between the governmental agencies of Martin and St. Lucie Counties through the organization of the Council of Governments.

"I think this Council presents an unusual opportunity for us to really pull ourselves together. I am excited about it," said Timer Powers. "We are in a tremendous growth area and by sitting together and discussing our common objectives, we will be able to serve the public which we represent better. I feel optimistic that at the end of a year we will look back and be very proud of the accomplishments that have been made."

I would hope we could meet in April for the purpose of officially organizing, electing a chairman, and adopting the by laws. At that time we can set our objectives, identify what we want to do, and by taking them one at a time, do them," the enthusiastic Powers said.

The organizational meeting was set for April 4 at the Port St. Lucie City Hall.

All [illegible]

Lucie Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh, who hosted the group to dinner prior to the meeting, Stuart Mayor Robert Hall, Martin County Commission Chairman Dr. Edward Lynch, St. Lucie County Commissioner Edward Enns, sitting in for commission chairman Willie McCain, St. Lucie County Administrator Weldon Lewis, Assistant Martin County Attorney Terence P. McCarthy, and Port St. Lucie Councilman Lawrence Kimmell, as observer. All agencies were represented with the exception of Ft. Pierce Mayor Chuck Patrick.

During the one and a half hour pre-organizational session, members of the proposed council went over the rough draft, prepared by Assistant Martin County Attorney Terence McCarthy.

Pointing out this was only a rough draft, Powers asked the cooperation of the members in bringing their suggestions for improvements to the April meeting. Ideas with regards for a council name were also solicited.

Better communications between governmental agencies of Martin and St. Lucie Counties, Ft. Pierce, Port St. Lucie and Stuart was cited as the main objective of the council.

The council shall have the power to study area governmental problems as it deems appropriate including, but not limited to, matters of health, safety, welfare, education and area development.

Representatives on the proposed council, the elected chief executives of the local governments shall promote coordinated actions and make recommendations for review to their own member governments and other public agencies that perform functions and services within these areas. The council will serve as an advisory board.

"If such authority to go out and look into other areas were vested in non-elected officials, we would have cause for concern," Powers said. "But, I think when you realize the council is no more than the five of you gentlemen sitting right here, I don't think any of you are going to go astray in the certain areas that are unrelated to our objectives. Instead, I believe you will cooperate your efforts on the problems common to all, and do your own thing within your areas."

Expressing his views, Port St. Lucie Mayor Kavanaugh said, "I think this council is a good idea. It brings out one very important point, as such you won't be operating unilaterally. We are faced with many problems, common to everybody, that I believe this council can do a lot of work on. There are many avenues in which we can work and, as a group, we can carry a lot of weight with our various legislative groups. That will be one of the greatest assets we have."

A simple outline of the bylaws revealed that all meetings would be held at the council office, Room 203, Martin County Courthouse, Stuart; each governmental entity shall have one representative, and any agency may withdraw upon 30 days written notice.

Commenting on the budget, Powers said, "This is a real budget. Although it is obviously somewhat artificial, it will be more than adequate to suffice for its needs."

According to the tentative proposal, the council may accept funds [illegible] Florida, other governmental units, the federal government or from private and civic sources.

"This clause is important," said Powers, "because of the tremendous amount of grants that are available to organizations that are [illegible] legally such as this would be. [illegible] would allow these five men to receive grants that may be very meaningful."

As an example, Powers pointed to the ambulance service.

Stuart Mayor Robert Hall agreed that its laws set forth in the proposal were very good.

"If we will work by these sincerely we can accomplish many goals," he said.

At the same time, however, Mayor Hall did raise the question regarding the various terms of office.

"If the term of office for the chairman of the governing body expires before the term of this organization, will this call for a special election?" Hall asked.

"My first thought on this would be the probability of all the officers not continuing in some capacity would be out," Powers said. "I think the organization of the council in April would be favorable to all. In this way a new member would serve on the local governing body from probably November until the following April when the Council of Governments would re-organize."

St. Lucie Commissioner Edward Enns, sitting in for Commission Chairman Willie McCain, suggested one area which he thought the council might consider: the savannas.

This most certainly is an area common to all of us. I would hope this council would consider the idea and perhaps some resolution can be reached."

In closing Enns said that although he had nothing against the Government in the Sunshine law, he did hope the council would be able to maintain a certain degree or measure of informality in which these common areas could be discussed in an atmosphere without the fear of being quoted.

"Ideas are great, but until they reach fruition, they don't mean a thing," Enns said.

Setting April 4 as the organizational meeting, Powers suggested the monthly meetings until the program gets underway.

"As we progress, we may only meet 6 months a year if that will satisfy our needs and produce the effective results," he said. "These mayors and chairman are busy every single night, and I recognize this as another meeting and another imposition. If we find our problems and our areas of cooperation work out, and there is not a significant issue to discuss, then we don't have to meet as a social group," Powers concluded.

...nude males appeared to the cheer of the crowd, running down the hill toward the road, the leader carrying a confederate flag. The group ran across Sewall's Point Road across the athletic field, and then back across the street and into the dorms.

No action is planned against the streakers but a college spokesman did indicate if the matter got out of hand, positive action would be taken.

The streakers made a well planned caper, one spokesman said, because they knew the dean and most everyone would be at lunch at that time.

Motorists driving along Sewall's Point Road at the time of Friday's incident were taken back by the streakers. Most stopped their cars looking in disbelief.

In another streaking incident unrelated with FIT, a lone nude male, yelling a hatie hymn streaked through the Stuart National Bank Friday afternoon just before closing time at 2:45 p.m. The streaker went through so fast, he was gone before everyone realized what was happening.

AUDUBON WILDLIFE–A photographic safari of East Africa closes the current Audubon Wildlife Film series 8 p.m. Friday, March 15 at the Women's Club Auditorium, East Ocean Blvd., Stuart. "Treasure of East Africa" will be shown and narrated by Bower Rudraud who photographed as many as 140,000 animals in a single scene on the Serengeti Plains. He holds the coveted Master of Photography degree, highest award of the Professional Photographers of America. Tickets for the film are available at the door. All profits go toward the cost of the Martin County Audubon Society's program of free matinees presented to the county schools.

League exhibit at Elliott Sunday

JENSEN BEACH–An outdoor art show will be held this Sunday March 17 on the lawn at Elliott Museum Hutchinson Island. Sponsored by the Jensen Beach Art League, the exhibit will be from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. and is open to all artists. All entries must be the artist's own work.

This is the first art show to be sponsored by the newly formed art league, headed by Mrs. Dorothy Butler. Co-chairmen of the exhibit are Mrs. Madelene Rehemer and Al Termini.

Cash and ribbons will be awarded in this judged show. Artists must be present to accept awards, and space on the fence will be allotted on a first-come first-served basis, and racks and easels may be set up on the lawn.

There will be three categories including oil, acrylic watercolor, mixed media, graphics, pastels and sculpture. No crafts will be permitted.

A fee of $1 per artist will be charged. The public is invited free. Labels on the back of each painting must include title, media, artist's name and price.

Rain date will be Sunday, March 24.

Lake Manor News Notes

BY SYLVIA SIMAN
334-4782

While riding my trike one day I was met with a very cute sight, Jerry Stuart was wheeling a baby buggy with the darling three month old grandson Keith, of the Krauskaurs In passing, several of our men could not restrain themselves in remarking, we didn't know! But Jerry, as usual, was doing a good deed. Liz being down with the flu, thought it good to get baby outside for a while.

It wasn't long before along came Karen, Krauskaurs daughter, and her very pretty little daughter on their bikes Karen looks so much like her mother since she had her hair cut short and a very pretty gal.

We're sorry Gene also came down with the flu. Best wishes for a quick recovery.

Jen and John Bollenbacher are pleased to have friends as guests for a week, Frances and Richard Cratty from Butler, Pa.

Lake Manor Park shuffling group lost to Langford's at their park Monday March 4, score being 4-2. Compliments to Lee Tucker for filling in for Dot Beamer while she is gone.

Last week's hobby class was served goodies by Mabel Bollenbacher and Margaret Warren.

Community Club meeting was held on Thursday evening, Mar. 7 with elections of officers. President Willard Morgan presided. Since Willard felt he must resign because of health reasons, hopes are he will still amuse us occasionally with his great humor. We commend him for all he has done.

Bob McCourt was voted in as the new president and presided after all officers were voted upon. There were no nominations from the floor. The present council consists of Bob McCourt, president; Liz Krakaur, secretary treasurer; Gene Krakaur, social chairman; Dot McCourt, Mary Rustuccy, Olive Allwardt and Ed Hill. Mildred Mullon will again serve as flower chairman. Fred Ballanz also will serve again as secretary treasurer for the mobile association.

A vote of thanks to the nominating committee: Bernadette Dubuque, Mildred Mullon and Glenn Oakes.

Dorothy Conway is a representative from the corporation to the community club.

Good to see Olive Allwardt out again sorry she was ill.

Remember - all park ladies are invited to go to the Sheraton for lunch and the fashion show on Thursday, March 14. All wishing to go please be at the club house by 11:15 a.m., and cars will be available or call Fern Hill or Jen Robertson.

Combination of sewing and hobby on March 20 at 1 p.m.

A very good turn out at bingo with the good gals, Eleanor Elken and Dorothy Conway calling.

Monday night card games continue to have three tables of bridge and we now have one of pinochle. Calling all card players for Monday nights at 7:30 p.m.

On March 19 a large number of our ladies will be attending a luncheon and fashion show at Jensen Beach Community Church. Since it is our sewing day and Mrs. Caop will not be able to be with us, there are still some who may wish to come to the rec hall anyway so come along.

March 16, men's coffee. March 18, nurse for blood pressure at 12:45. March 19, travel slides, 7:30. March 21, pot luck, and March 22, silent auction. Look up items now for the silent auction.

Fleet Blessing is March 16

JENSEN BEACH--The Third Annual Blessing of the Fleet and Coast Guard Appreciation Day will be held Saturday March 16, on the St. Lucie River off Anchorage Point.

There will be a decorated boat parade in conjunction with the blessing ceremony, according to the coordinator of the event, Fred Stunt.

Prizes will be given for the boats judged best decorated in a variety of categories the coordinator said.

The blessing of the individual boats will be done by members of the three major faiths at the same time that the boats are judged for the decorated boat parade.

Because of the energy crisis, it was announced that there will be no large Coast Guard vessel on public display as in the past years. The boats will be reviewed by officers representing the Seventh U.S. Coast Guard District.

The blessing of the fleet is a joint effort of the local Yacht Clubs, Coast Guard Auxiliary and the United States Power Squadrons.

The yacht club displaying the most number of club burgees on the water will win the traveling silver punch bowl to display in its club rooms for the year.

Stunts, of Anchorage Yacht Club, is coordinating the arrangements and Fred Stein, of the Anchorline Yacht Club is in charge of the arrangements for the decorated boat parade.

Ed Benedict of Crossroads Yacht Club has the boat control on the water detail, and Donald Mac McLean is the Coast Guard liaison officer and Fred Johnston of Port St. Lucie Yacht Club is in charge of all mailings.

Max Brasch, boating editor of the Stuart News, is in charge of donations and prizes. Dale Hudson, vice president of First National Bank and Trust Company, is treasurer.

The Rev. Robert Harmon, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, has charge of the clergy and the blessing ceremony.

Kay Larson is in charge of publicity, and Dr. Ward White of Saints and Sinners Yacht Club is in charge of the dinner-dance which will be held at the St. Lucie Hilton on Saturday night.

At the dinner the prizes for the decorated boat parade will be awarded and the parchments signifying the blessing of the individual boats will be distributed. A Coast Guard enlisted man will be honored for meritorious service during the past year.

Any boater in the area is invited to participate in the activities whether or not they belong to a yacht club.

Venture Out News Notes

By Willard Auch

Zopes has not been feeling well. Her many friends wish her a quick recovery.

It was encouraging to see Hank Higgins catch a nice mess of trout from the sea wall near the Ravinets. His good luck brought out more than the usual amount of fishermen in anticipation of the same good fortune.

We all rejoiced with Ida and Harry Hausman when their golf equipment was retrieved after being missing for a couple of days. How happy they must have been.

Mary and Len Chace who are living in the Fredrickson mobile home have as their house guest Albert Sharrock of Sagamore Beach, Mass. We welcome him to the park.

Thorton Cook reports things are humming around the rec hall these days. On March 2, the volunteer social recreational and facilities supervisors put on a weiner roast for about 180 happy resorters. Since then they have organized programs for the balance of the season. Committees have been buzzing around the hall and planning, polishing and preparing for future events.

The Cabaret Party last Saturday co-hosted by Emma and George Carpenter and Evelyn and George Sterling, was another fine example of what the resorters can do. An overflow audience of 132 customers roared at the hilarious antics and earthy jokes and loudly applauded the fine singing and dancing of the Vagabond Troupe from Spanish Lakes. The show was MC'ed by Lennie Laden of IRCC. We're sorry some people had to miss the fun night because of the limited facilities. Park residents are beginning to collect hours of happiness dividends from their program participation. Are you getting your share of enjoyment from the social-recreational programs of the park?

Roy Williams bested the field to take the weekly billiard tournament last Thursday then the postponed play-off of weekly winners was won by Thornton Cook. Come on you pool hustlers, there's room for more participants.

Millie Middleton reports Nick and Sophie Fiano have as their guests Bob and Dottie Melamon. They have all taken off in the Skippy Fifth-Wheel for a trip to Disney World. The Melanson's hail from Lindenhurst, N.Y.

Millie and Bill Middleton have as their guests their daughter Arlene Lashway and granddaughter, Beth Jean. They are enjoying the swimming pool and beach along with our lovely weather.

It is nice to have Joe and Shirley Miller back in the park for a short second honeymoon. Their children are back in cold Michigan. We miss the merry little Millers. Helen and Tom Laskowski are guests in their trailer with daughter Barbara. Barbara will graduate from Marquette University in May.

Mabel Cook reports happy to announce that since our United Fund drive started we have now collected a final total of $742.50. Thanks to all who worked so hard for this worthy cause.

Dr. William and Ruth Treat headed for their Montana home last week, towing a birthday present sailboat. We're looking forward to having them back with us next fall.

Had a good report on Dr. Norris Asline's condition. He came through his surgery in fine shape and prognosis indicates he will be back in the park real soon.

It must have been Hoosier day at Martin Memorial Hospital emergency room Saturday. Thornton Cook suffered a scalp laceration requiring seven sutures. A short time later, Harry Sommers sustained a cut on his forehead that took three stitches to close. Would you say that you're up or down by four stitches, Harry?

Millie Middleton reports Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wyatt of Penn Valley, Pa., lot #36, had guests recently. His sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. Thomas Amato, of Richmond, Va., were here for several days. Amato was Virginia Public Information Director for U.S. Internal Revenue Service before he retired. A few days later Mrs. Wyatt's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Wininger, of Gainesville, arrived for a visit. Wininger is affiliated with the Univ. of Fla. in an administrative capacity for the agriculture department for the state of Florida.

V.F.W. news

BY CHUCK BENDER

We welcome new members: Don Archbald, Charles Copeland, Clement Browning, Russell Stupia, Ed Wrede, Paul Shea, Herbie Smith, Rich Allen, and Jerry Kurns. Good to have you with us fellows. That brings our new members to 94 with a total membership of 264. With a little effort we will reach 300 by the time we go to the convention. Let's go get 'em.

We would like to congratulate Miss Sue Fulton, our Voice of Democracy winner, who went on to take second place in the 10th District contest. Sue, you did a beautiful job and we are proud of you. We hope you will be back next year.

Comrade Al Mayer donated a large stamp collection to the Sons of the V.F.W. The boys are getting quite a collection together. If you have any stamps to give or trade, get in touch with the boys.

Our little league team is starting to get into a good team with all the boys playing their hearts out. Let's go down and cheer them on. I'm sure you will enjoy yourselves and it will be an inspiration to the boys.

Hap Grey was in the V.A. hospital in Miami. He is home now but has to go back in a couple of weeks. Hap, our prayers go with you and we wish you a speedy recovery.

Looking ahead, the auxiliary will meet Wednesday, March 20 at 8 p.m. The next regular meeting will be Thursday, March 21 at 8 p.m. See you there. Saturday, March 23 is the spring roundup in Ocala.

SERVICE OFFICER'S REPORT

Holders of National Service Life Insurance (NSLI, who become totally disabled may be entitled to a waiver of premiums. To be eligible for premium waiver, total disability must commence before the veteran's 65th birthday and continue for six or more consecutive months when the policy holder's right to waiver is established. He will not have to pay premiums as long as he remains disabled.

The premium waiver will not cause any reduction in the face amount of the policy if premiums on a term policy are being waived at the time it is converted to a permanent plan. Premiums will also be waived on the converted policy. Dividends will continue to be paid on participating policies while the premium waiver is in effect.

A veteran under 65 who is applying for VA pension should certainly explore the possibility of waiver of premium on his NSLI at the same time. To apply for or to discuss waiver of premiums, the veteran is urged to contact the nearest VA regional office. Holders of USGLI policies, which were issued to World War I veterans, should contact the VA to discuss their total disability benefits.

Pony League

BY DONNIE WILKIE

SPORTS

BY DONNIE WILKIE

It is a new season. It is 1974, and in the Pony League there will rage a tremendous race for first place, probably between as many as four teams.

The pre-season favorites are Rinker Materials, but they certainly have a lot of competition. Roaring at them every second will be an angry pack of Lions, and out to build their own dynasty will be Mosley Construction.

Here is a more detailed look at this year's Pony League situation:

Rinker Materials: This Salerno team is definitely the pre-season favorite to take one or maybe both halves of the season.

Rinker will be led by an astounding pack of 14 year old hitters like Curtis Davis, Jimmy Williams, and Ronnie Lowe. Williams is a fine pitcher, and Ronnie Lowe came up with a beautiful first game in last year's championship series, won eventually by Klock.

Jensen Lions: Lions didn't figure to be much of anything this season, and they still might not come up with anything, but they showed that they're a serious title contender with their 7-3 pre-season victory over Mosley.

They are led by a strong pitching staff, including first year man Ricky Bright and returnees Bobby Bibbee and Stan Renwick. Ronnie Rydell may also slip into the pack of Lion starters.

Bibbee and Bright are excellent hitters and the Lions have a fine infield. Indeed, the Lions may surprise me and go all the way.

Mosley: Last year Mosley won only eight games but were stronger than their record showed. They led the league in giving their coach grey hairs as they had at least eight losses that were by one run in games that could have gone either.

Along with Rinker, they figured to be favorites for the title, but they came out on the short end of the draft this year, and their situation appears uncertain.

Mosley got no hitting in their 7-3 loss to Lions last week, but they were absent of their three best players.

If they get hitting, then their pitchers, Steve Pollard, Richard Cromwell, Leroy Wells, and Brent Laycock, will look all that much better. If they don't hit, then their good baserunners won't be running and they figure to do no better than fourth.

Kiwanis: Things have to look better than last year, when the team won but four and lost 16. Kiwanis got the best of the draft, and should field a highly competitive team, but time will tell whether players can and will play together or not. No position is filled for sure on this team, but pitching seems to be strong point. Mike Schnerr will help the mound corps out, while Todd Bartlett is also a strong pitcher.

Hitters include Schnurr, Gregg Jackson, Bartlett, John Wolf and Jeff Suter.

Kiwanis has a shot at the crown, but unless everything comes together they will probably suffer a near miss.

Klock: The defending champions don't look very strong at all, but the Salerno draft could change things around. Jeff Michaels and Frank Kovacs might be lucky to win six games the whole year, but like last year's Kiwanis team, they will play the roll of a spoiler and will probably be instrumental in deciding champions of either or both halves.

Pare is valedictorian

STUART–Valedictorian for the Martin County High School Class of 1974 is Robert H. Pare, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Pare, S. Sewall's Point Road, Jensen Beach.

WAITING AT THE STATION–Mr. and Mrs. George Mezzo standing behind the warming tables of their combination barbecue and entertainment center. The unit, designed and built by Mezzo, has a capacity for serving 150 people.

CHOO-CHOO BARBECUE–Fitting called the Connecticut Yankee by its creator, New Englander George Mezzo. This 10-foot simulated train is not only a barbecue but a complete outdoor entertainment center.

Mezzo bar-b-cue fit for Casey

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–With absolutely no mention of price, he said, "Here is my art. Should you decide to sell it, call me and I will send a truck up from Fort Lauderdale immediately to pick it up."

His offer, however, fell on deaf ears because the artist has no intention of selling his creation.

The object of the discussion is a portable bar-b-cue grill, and the artist is George Mezzo of 656 East Calmoso Drive in Port St. Lucie.

While a lot of people have portable barbe-cue grills in their yards, however many of these grills have been designed and constructed by the ever-increasing group of do-it-yourselfers, few grills serve the intended purposes, encompass a variety of sizes, shapes and designs.

This unique creation by Mezzo looks so much like a locomotive that one might expect to see Casey Jones climb aboard and man the throttle.

The grill is just a part of the creation. The simulated locomotive houses a super-sonic portable outdoor entertainment center, including AM-FM stereo radio, tape deck, record player, dining tables, electric lights, dinner bell, electric blower system, and is large enough to accomodate a group of 150 persons.

"I wouldn't consider any amount of money for this. It is simply not for sale," Mezzo said. "If anything I would give it to some car dealer in Conn., who would get a considerable amount of advertising.

"Be making for over two years, it is an unbelievable conglomeration of items in this unit, some new and some old.

"Actually, the starting of this was a pony cart," he said.

He used about 40 percent of the cart, mainly the wheels and axle, and from there on you name it, and without a doubt you could find it in this creation.

A partial list might include such items as tobacco cans, curtain rods, antique horn, buggy whip holders, barber door slats, two medicine cabinets, a portable electric 3-speed stoves, buggy wheels, old vacuum cleaner parts, motor auto steel, Christmas candle light holders, dragon head from old table, roof flashing, brass ring from an old bed frame, copper tubing, old aerosol cans and a mineral spirits drum.

Mezzo, who is a perfectionist, admits it has ideas that take the time. Often he will pursue an idea for nearly a month before he goes to work on it, and very rarely does that idea ever touch paper.

"I try never to cut into it until I am certain it is right and workable," he said. "Once I have the idea figured out, I rely a lot on my wife's approval and opinions."

Moving to Port St. Lucie from Naugatuck, Conn., it is entirely fitting that the Mezzo creation, which incidentally is only one of several, should be named the Connecticut Yankee. This name was hammered out of roof flashing and mounted on the front of the engine.

The unit measures over ten feet in length.

Warming tables, made from two medicine cabinets, and heated by two portable 3-speed electric stoves, neatly concealed in the rear of the locomotive.

The grill is constructed in such a manner that the heat and smoke circulate around the meat. This circulation is controlled by five drafts, three installed on the bottom and two on the top, of a huge mineral spirits drum. The meat is never touched by the fire.

According to Mezzo, 22 hack saw blades were used in cutting the drum.

"That was a real job," he said. "The blades had to be wrapped with cloth on one end to hold them. It was impossible to use the hack saw handle. There just wasn't room."

To make the unit portable, the pony cart wheels were used on the rear, and the front, the grill section, was mounted on scaffold wheels–complete with brakes.

More of Mezzo's ingenuity can be evidenced in the blower system he has installed. By reversing a vacuum cleaner motor, and using a hose to connect the system to the fire box, coals are ready for cooking within 10 to 12 minutes.

One hundred and twenty two feet of electric wiring has been used in the project. Electric lights operated by a dimmer switch have been mounted above the warming and serving table. Mezzo has included a junction box to handle the electrical load. Even the menu, which has been burned into wooden louver door slats and mounted on the rear of the serving table, has its own little light hammered out of copper tubing.

When the time is right, guests are summoned by an electrically operated submarine horn mounted on the front of the engine. This horn was retrieved from a sunken U.S. Submarine in 1944.

The engine lanterns were made out of tobacco cans and aerosol cans. Inside, a Christmas candle light was used, and the light glows red through the old see-through red glass-like material used in old cameras.

Buggy whip holders have been converted to hold the two American flags.

All utensils, the handles of which are made from curtain rods, are stored in the saddle box, located to the rear of the grill.

To insure the portability of the unit, Mezzo has a reel with a 150-ft. heavy duty extension cord also built in.

With the exception of a couple of minor items like changing the tires and adding a second fire box, Mezzo has completed his unique creation.

Although both Mrs. Mezzo and her husband were reluctant to say when the unit would be initiated, speculation is high that such an initiation might in some way be connected with the proposed $250,000 addition to the Cultural, Educational and Social Association.

GDC cancels

Post office to close on March 30

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Rural Branch Post Office will close on March 30 unless an applicant is found who will take over the operation.

This was contained in a notice of termination, given post office patrons by the Ft. Pierce Post Office this week.

The post office branch has been operated at the Country Store in the country club community of Port St. Lucie for the past three years under the sponsorship of General Development Corporation and GDC has requested that the arrangement be terminated.

Residents of the country club area must transfer post office boxes to residences, and businesses must ask for delivery to their stores, according to W.R. Clark, postmaster of the Ft. Pierce Post Office.

Mail addressed at post office boxes in the post office at the Country Store will be held at Ft. Pierce General Delivery for ten days if no forwarding order is on file and then returned to sender, according to Clark.

In the meantime, the post office is trying to find a location for a "classified postal facility" in the Port St. Lucie area.

The post office was unable to obtain bids on such a service from private contractors who were willing to operate a "contract station" in the country club area.

Robert Seeley, Port St. Lucie general manager, told members of the city council last Tuesday he would do what he could to "twist the arm of the post office department in trying to get a postal facility located within the area.

"Since this would have to be a subsidized facility, the post office department has not been flooded with bids for the service," Seeley said.

When asked by the council if General Development Corporation would reconsider the situation and extend the contract, Seeley answered, "The contract has been extended more than once at the request of the post office, but these extensions solved nothing. The more time General Development grants them, the more they procrastinate."

Although Seeley expressed concern for the service need, he did say he did not feel it was the problem of GDC.

Expressing his desire for the extended contract, Port St. Lucie Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh has pledged the support of the council in solving the problem.

"We dealt directly with Atlanta the last time we had to deal with the post office department and the results at that time were satisfactory. Perhaps we can again apply a little pressure in the right place and accomplish something worthwhile," Kavanaugh said.

Council of Governments old organization meet

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–With no fanfare, a ...ge forward was accomplished ...ional group of men who gathered at ...Port St. Lucie City Hall last ...day night.

...e occasion was the first pre-organi...al meeting to be held by the ...ssion three municipality repre...tives to the proposed Council of ...ments.

...e meeting was a culmination of ...h's hard work by Martin County ...missioner Timer Powers, who has ...n advocate of better communi... between the governmental ...ies of Martin and St. Lucie ...ties through the organization of the ...il of Governments.

..."I think this Council presents an ...al opportunity for us to really pull ...ers together. I am excited about ...," Timer Powers said. "We are in a ...time growth area and by sitting ...ther and discussing our common ...lems, we will be able to serve the ...le which we represent, better. I feel ...ident that at the end of a year, we ...ll look back and be very proud of the ...ccomplishments that have been made. ...I would hope we could meet in April ...the purpose of officially organizing, ...ing a chairman, and adopting the ...laws. At that time we can set our ...ectives, identify what we want to do, ...and taking them one at a time, do ...," the enthusiastic Powers said.

The organizational meeting was set ...ld at the Port St. Lucie City Hall ...ding the meeting were Port St. ...Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh, ...ded the group to dinner prior to ...ting Stuart Mayor Robert Hall, ...Martin County Commission Chairman ...Edward Geary, St. Lucie County ...missioner Edward Enns, sitting in ...commission chairman Willie ...St. Lucie County Administrator ...Lewis, Assistant Martin County Attorney Terence P. McCarthy, and Port St. Lucie Councilman Lawrence Kimmell, an observer. All agencies were represented with the exception of Ft. Pierce Mayor Chuck Padrick.

During the one and a half hour pre-organizational session, members of the proposed council went over the rough draft, prepared by Assistant Martin County Attorney Terence McCarthy.

Pointing out this was only a rough draft, Powers asked the cooperation of the members in bringing their suggestions for improvements to the April meeting. Ideas with regards for a council name were also solicited.

Better communications between governmental agencies of Martin and St. Lucie Counties, Ft. Pierce, Port St. Lucie and Stuart was cited as the main objective of the council.

The council shall have the power to study area governmental problems as it deems appropriate including, but not limited to, matters of health, safety, welfare, education and area development.

Representatives on the proposed council, the elected chief executives of the local governments, shall promote coordinated actions and make recommendations for review to their own member governments and other public agencies that perform functions and services within these areas. The council will serve as an advisory board.

"If such authority to go out and look into other areas were vested in non-elected officials, we would have cause for concern," Powers said. "But I think when you realize the council is no more than the five of you gentlemen sitting right here, I don't think any of you are going to go astray in the certain areas that are unrelated to our objectives. Instead I believe you will cooperate your efforts on the problems common to all, and do your own thing within your areas."

Expressing his views, Port St. Lucie Mayor Kavanaugh said, "I think this council is a good idea. It brings out one very important point, as such you won't be operating unilaterally. We are faced with many problems common to everybody that I believe this council can do a lot of work on. There are many avenues in which we can work and, as a group, we can carry a lot of weight with our various legislative groups. That will be one of the greatest assets we have."

A simple outline of the bylaws revealed that all meetings would be held at the council office, Room 203, Martin County Courthouse, Stuart, each governmental entity shall have one representative, and any agency may withdraw upon 60 days written notice.

Commenting on the budget, Powers said, "This is a real budget. Although it is, obviously, somewhat arbitrary, it will be more than adequate to suffice for the needs."

According to the tentative proposal, the council may accept funds, grants, gifts and services from the State of Florida, other governmental units, the federal government or from private and civic sources.

"This clause is important," said Powers, "because of the tremendous amount of grants that are available to organizations that are constituted legally such as this would be." This would allow these five men to receive grants that may be very meaningful.

As an example, Powers pointed to the ambulance service.

Stuart Mayor Robert Hall agreed the by-laws set forth in the proposal were very good.

"If we will work by these sincerely, we can accomplish many goals," he said.

At the same time, however, Mayor Hall did raise the question regarding the various terms of office.

"If the term of office for the chairman of the governing body expires before the term of this organization, will this call for a special election?" Hall asked.

"My first thought on this would be the probability of all the officers not continuing in some capacity would be nil," Powers said. "I think the organization of the council in April would be favorable to all. In this way a new member would serve on the local governing body from probably November until the following April when the Council of Governments would re-organize."

St. Lucie Commissioner Edward Enns, sitting in for Commission Chairman Willie McCain, suggested one area which he thought the council might consider–the savannas.

"This most certainly is an area common to all of us. I would hope this council would consider the idea and perhaps some resolution can be reached."

In closing Enns said that although he had nothing against the Government in the Sunshine law, he did hope the council would be able to maintain a certain degree or measure of informality in which these common areas could be discussed in an atmosphere without the fear of being quoted.

"Ideas are great, but until they reach fruition, they don't mean a thing," Enns said.

Setting April 6 as the organizational meeting, Powers suggested the monthly meetings until the program gets underway.

"As we progress, we may only meet 6 months a year if that will satisfy our needs and produce the effective results," he said. "These mayors and chairmen are busy every single night, and I recognize this as another meeting and another imposition. If we find our problems and our areas of cooperation work out, and there is not a significant issue to discuss, then we don't have to meet as a 'social group,'" Powers concluded.

FOR CESA–Five new palm trees were planted last Tuesday morning in the Cultural, Educational and Social Association in Port St. Lucie. The beautification project is spearheaded by the Rio Lindo Garden Club. Pictured ...Mrs. Clyde Edwards, club president, and Mrs. Ricketts lend a helping hand.

CHANGE OF WATCH–New officers of the St. Lucie River Power Squadron were installed at a "change of watch" dinner at the St. Lucie Hilton Convention Hall last Saturday night. New officers are Woodrow Dunlap, commander; Lt. Cdr. Robert E. Baer, executive officer; Lt. Cdr. Ben A. Johnson, administrative officer; Thomas H. Boardman, secretary; and Roger W. Tollman, treasurer. William B. McCluskey is outgoing commander.

FP&L petitions for annexation

PORT ST. LUCIE–The city council last Tuesday tentatively approved the application for the annexation of a ten-acre tract, as submitted by Florida Power & Light Company.

The tentative approval was granted contingent on the basis complete site plans and detailed instructions would be provided at the April 26 meeting.

Gene Van Curen, representing FP&L, informed the council the basic plans were ready. It is only a matter of getting the architectural drawing completed.

[illegible] center on the 10-acre site, which borders Port St. Lucie on three sides.

According to power company authorities, the new center is needed to handle population growth between service centers now in Stuart and Ft. Pierce.

"With the final approval for annexation, the day to day final [illegible] will be situated in the Industrial Park of General Development Corporation and zoned for [illegible]. The center will provide storage for equipment and a headquarters for directing the various construction and maintenance crews.

The operations will begin with 25 to 30 men, and eventually the workers will [illegible] headquarters. The [illegible] according to FP&L officials.

YARD-OF-THE-MONTH–The yard of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hoffman, 102 St. James Drive, has been chosen by the Rio Lindo Garden Club as the yard-of-the-month. The Hoffmans, like numerous other residents, have had to rely on their sprinklers to keep things going during the current dry spell.

Anglers to view travelogues

BY CHARLES CALMES

PORT ST. LUCIE–A packed house and an evening of entertainment was the order of the day at the March 5 meeting of the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club at the Port St. Lucie marina.

The newest member, Herbert Hoegner of Airoso Blvd. was introduced and welcomed by membership chairman George Lindberg. Herb is a permanent resident and comes to the club from Stuart.

Fishing chairman Wayne Whitaker reports that fishing is still not good but that Ram Ditch seems to be abounding in jacks. Some of the area fishermen seem to have the magic touch though. Clyde and Louise Blunt had a very profitable day at Lake Okeechobee with a bag of 70 specks. Ted Bass landed a 16 lb. snook, Harold Corker, 10 lb. snook, Arden Baker and Ed Kulacek caught some bluegills in the savannas and Spencer Eddy lucked out with blues from the surf.

Special events chairman Ben Forlenza announced that the all-day fishing and fun frolic at Lake Okeechobee will be held on March 21. Fishermen are getting tackle boxes and picnic baskets ready. This promises to be a real highlight in the club's activities schedule.

Members may take their own boats or rent boats at the lake. As for the food, members may pack their own and picnic at a specially reserved area at Okee-Tantie Recreation Area. There is also a restaurant at Joe and Wanda's Fish Camp for those who so prefer.

Other events scheduled by the Anglers Club in April include a slide show and lecture by Dr. Stokes of Stuart entitled "Fishing the Savannas" on April 2 and then there is the members' annual cookout scheduled for the 28th.

Last week's 50-50 raffle was a double success with two winners. Charles Hollander and Frank Jones. The meeting was topped off by the showing of three films: "Sea of Gold", a fine pictorial of Ft. Pierce area; "Fishing in Stuart" and "Battling Bass" all shown by Charlie White.

Blood bank meet on Friday

PORT ST. LUCIE–The River Park Port St. Lucie Blood Bank, Inc. will hold its annual meeting at the Port St. Lucie Marina on Friday, March 15 at 2 p.m. for the purpose of hearing annual reports and election of officers and directors for the coming year.

This is a postponed meeting of Sunday, March 3, adjourned for lack of a quorum.

WAITING AT THE STATION—Mr. and Mrs. George Mezzo standing behind the warming tables of their combination barbecue and entertainment center. The unit, designed and built by Mezzo, has a capacity for serving 150 people.

CHOO-CHOO BARBECUE—Fitting called the Connecticut Yankee by its creator, New Englander George Mezzo. This 10-foot simulated train is not only a barbecue but a complete outdoor entertainment center.

Mezzo bar-b-cue fit for Casey

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE—With absolutely no sign of grice, he said, "Here is my ...ilroad you decide to sell it, call me ...ll send a truck up from Fort ...dale immediately to pick it up."

...fter, however, fell on deaf ears ...he artist has no intention of ...his creation.

...bject of the discussion is a ...bar-b-cue grill, and the artist is ...Mezzo of 656 East Calmoso Drive ...St. Lucie.

...a lot of people have portable ...ole grills in their yards. ...many of these grills have been ...

...group of do-it-yourselfers. ...serve the intended purposes, ...pass a variety of sizes, shapes ...

...unique creation by Mezzo looks so ...like a locomotive that one might ...to see Casey Jones climb aboard ...the throttle.

...grill is just a part of the creation. ...simulated locomotive houses a ...portable outdoor entertain- ...ter, including AM-FM stereo ...alse deck record player, ...lights, electric lights, dinner ...blower system, and is large ...to accomodate a group of 150 ...

...wouldn't consider any amount of ...for his. It is simply not for sale." ...said. "If anything I would give it ...to a car dealer in Conn., who ...a considerable amount of ...money.

...Making for over two years, ...is an unbelievable conglomeration ...of this unit, some new and ...

...the starting of this was a ...truck," he said. ...about 40 percent of the cart, ...the wheels and axle, and from ...the frame it, and without a doubt ...used it in this creation.

...that might include such items ...tobacco cans, curtain rods, ...horn, buggy whip holders, ...slats, two medicine cabinets, ...portable electric 3-speed stoves, ...wheels, old vacuum cleaner ...steel, Christmas candle light ...bright head from old table, roof ...brass ring from an old bed ...engine tubing, old aerosol cans ...and sprints drum.

...who is a perfectionist, admits it ...hasn't that take the time. Often he ...an idea for nearly a month ...goes to work on it, and very ...done that idea ever touch paper.

"I try never to cut into it until I am certain it is right and workable," he said. "Once I have the idea figured out, I rely a lot on my wife's approval and opinions."

Moving to Port St. Lucie from Naugatuck, Conn., it is entirely fitting that the Mezzo creation, which incidentally is only one of several, should be named the Connecticut Yankee. This name was hammered out of roof flashing and mounted on the front of the engine.

The unit measures over ten feet in length.

Warming tables, made from two medicine cabinets, and heated by two portable 3-speed electric stoves, neatly concealed in the rear of the locomotive ... items.

The grill is constructed in such a manner that the heat and smoke circulate around the meat. The circulation is controlled by five drafts, three installed on the bottom and two on the top, of a huge mineral spirits drum. The meat is never touched by the fire.

According to Mezzo, 22 hack saw blades were used in cutting the drum.

"That was a real job," he said. "The blades had to be wrapped with cloth on one end to hold them. It was impossible to use the hack saw handle. There just wasn't room."

To make the unit portable, the pony cart wheels were used on the rear, and the front, the grill section, was mounted on scaffold wheels complete with brakes.

More of Mezzo's ingenuity can be evidenced in the blower system he has installed. By reversing a vacuum cleaner motor, and using a hose to connect the system to the fire box, coals are ready for cooking within 10 to 12 minutes.

One hundred and twenty two feet of electric wiring has been used in the project. Electric lights operated by a dimmer switch have been mounted above the warming and serving table. Mezzo has included a junction box to handle the electrical load. Even the menu, which has been burned into wooden louver door slats and mounted on the rear of the serving table, has its own little light hammered out of copper tubing.

When the time is right, guests are summoned by an electrically operated submarine horn mounted on the front of the engine. This horn was retrieved from a sunken U.S. Submarine in 1944.

The engine lanterns were made out of tobacco cans and aerosol cans. Inside, a Christmas candle light was used, and the light glows red through the old see-through red glass-like material used in old cameras.

Buggy whip holders have been converted to hold the two American flags.

All utensils, the handles of which are made from curtain rods, are stored in the saddle box, located to the rear of the grill.

To insure the portability of the unit, Mezzo has a reel with a 150-ft. heavy duty extension cord also built in.

With the exception of a couple of minor items like changing the tires and adding a second fire box, Mezzo has completed his unique creation.

Although both Mrs. Mezzo and her husband were reluctant to say when the unit would be initiated, speculation is high that such an initiation might in some way be connected with the proposed $250,000 addition to the Cultural, Educational and Social Association.

Area building slows down

JENSEN BEACH–With the exception of the City of Fort Pierce, the once hot building industry in the two county area of Martin and St. Lucie has cooled.

The first two months of 1974 shows a drop in building permit figures in both County Port St. Lucie and St. Lucie County compared to the start of 1973.

Only in the City of Fort Pierce is the building boom continuing.

A trip to permits at the building inspector's office in Fort Pierce, more than $1 million in permits were issued in January and February of this year compared to about $1 3 million for the corresponding months of 1973.

And for the first three months of 1973, the City of Fort Pierce building inspector didn't issue any permits for new homes. In January and February of this year 79 apartment permits with a total of 809 units were issued.

Three apartment permits with 330 units were on the southern part of Hutchinson Island in St. Lucie County.

On the minus side of construction, St. Lucie County building inspector's office noted that almost $6 million in permits were issued the first two months of 1974 compared to about $9 million for the same two months in 1973.

In the City of Port St. Lucie in south St. Lucie County where the building boom has been under way for years in the residential construction field, neither January or February this year produced $1 million building months.

While in January and February of 1973, more than $1 million in building permits were issued.

In January of 1973, 45 permits for houses were issued, and the February totals of 1973 were 54 permits for houses.

In January of 1974, 30 permits were issued and only 22 permits were issued for houses last month.

Martin County building inspector's office reported that in February of 1974 the total value of permits issued was about $3 1 million with only six permits for multi-family dwellings. This compares to $7 3 million in permits for February of 1973 with 24 permits for multi-family permits.

The first two months of this year produced permit value of about $5 3 million compared to more than $13 2 million in 1973.

Drugs taken from Bryan's

JENSEN BEACH–Drugs, with an estimated street sale value of between $20 and $2,00 were stolen (from Bryan Pharmacy), Commercial Street, early Monday morning, according to the police department.

Police owner Glenn Bryan and the sheriff's department agreed that the thieves "knew what they were after."

The sheriff's report showed that the theft was received at the department at 3:10 a.m. March 11 and that a deputy was on the scene at 3 21 a.m.

"They burglarized knew what they were after," Bryan said. "They came for the drugs."

The estimated value of the drugs at the store is about $200, the sheriff's office reported.

Entrance to the store was gained by breaking in the glass door on Commercial Street and then breaking in another door to the prescription department.

The sheriff's department received a call from Andrew Domanick, 216 Orion Street, stating that he had heard breaking glass which he thought was on Commercial Street.

Philbrick requests sidewalk

STUART–An urgent need for a sidewalk along the north of Commercial Street from Savanna Road east to Sunview Road was pointed out by Commissioner Ross Philbrick at Tuesday's meeting of Martin County Commission.

Commissioners authorized advertising for bids for the sidewalk which Philbrick estimated would cost more than $1 000 and would be about 150 yards distance.

Commissioner Philbrick noted that the stretch of sidewalk was needed for children walking to Jensen Beach Elementary School and children riding bicycles on Sunview Road and then having to ride their bicycles on busy Commercial Street.

Commissioners tabled three bids for bicycle paths in other sections of the county and Commissioner Philbrick said that lower specifications for construction could be worked out.

He said that the bids were according to Department of Transportation (DOT) specification which includes rock base and he said rock base is not needed for bicycle paths.

Bicycle paths bids which were tabled include:

1 3,000-foot sidewalk-bicycle path off West Farm Road in Indiantown, Dickerson, Inc. $5,350.

2 Bike path along A1A from Sewall's Point Road to McArthur Boulevard, Dickerson, Inc. $33,250.

3 Bike path along Bridge Road in Hobe Sound, Dickerson, Inc., $41,400.

In another District 1 (Jensen Beach-Rio) report by Commissioner Philbrick, it was noted that some street lights were needed, and Joe Forsberg, president of the Rio Civic Club, also pointed out the need for street lights, especially along Alice Avenue.

Hot debate radio report

STUART–A proposed improvement to the county's radio communications service was hotly debated at Tuesday's Martin County Commission meeting, while no issue was decided on a split vote.

Commissioner John Kiernan strongly opposed a survey by the Civil Defense Communications Division which called for an expenditure of $28,496.

Taking issue with Kiernan was Commissioner Timer Powers, pointing out that the item was not budgeted and the county doesn't have unlimited funds.

Powers also pointed out that he had refused to believe by the Civil Defense staff that only one radio in his was working, but found that this was not true.

He said that the county cannot afford the luxury of upgrading all departments and that radios should be replaced only that are not functioning.

"We need to define terminology," Powers said. "We should pay for radios that are not functioning, and not just for the ones that are old."

The Indiantown commissioner noted that some fire trucks are old but are still operating.

He stressed the fact that the time for such items to be considered are at budget sessions and not at the middle of the budget year.

Also, Powers pointed out that if the commission had granted all the requests by departments the county taxes would have gone up 100 per cent.

Commissioner Kiernan strongly supported the expenditure to upgrade the county's governmental and emergency radio communications service.

The work should be done rather than on an emergency basis, Kiernan said.

Kiernan pointed out that $10,000 state and federal funds were available and the survey had been requested by the commission.

It was noted by the Hobe Sound commissioner that the commission had approved surveys during the year.

Commissioner Ross Philbrick supported Kiernan, pointing out that the fire departments in his district–Jensen Beach and Rio–had been paying for radio equipment out of district funds.

"This is one way for the departments to get funds out of the general fund," Philbrick observed.

The upgrading of radio services was supported by Kruse Baker of the Jensen Beach Fire Department, noting that the Jensen Beach equipment was old and not designed for the fire trucks.

Baker noting the expenditures for other studies charged that the commissioners were "penny wise and pound foolish."

Powers suggested that an expenditure of $15,000 to replace radios not functioning and set priorities for purchase.

Powers' motion was approved after Kiernan's proposal was defeated 3-2 with Powers, Dr. Ed Geary and Ed Gluckler teaming to defeat Kiernan and Philbrick.

Chamber drive is under way

JENSEN BEACH–In the goal to reach 400 members it was reported at Tuesday night's meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce directors that 336 new members had been obtained with 64 new members, 16 had already paid membership dues, it was reported.

In order to keep the membership informed of chamber activities, a newsletter is being planned according to president Ed Lindsey.

It was said the newsletters would be mailed to the members.

In other action directors voted to hang pictures of former presidents in the office, replacing the pictures that are now in broken frames.

Directors voted to support the bike trail project that was formed recently at the Jensen Beach Elementary School.

It was voted to give an honorary membership to Joseph Stefan and make the presentation at the next meeting.

It was announced that a crime watch would be held in April at First Federal Savings and Loan building. "It will be well publicized," he said.

NEW MEMBER: Herbet Hoegbiet is welcomed into the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club at the March 5 meeting by George Lundberg, membership chairman.

Siberian fish controls hydrilla

TALLAHASSEE—The white amur, a fish from Siberia, has proved successful in controling hydrilla, a noxious weed clogging Florida's freshwater lakes and streams, Harmon Shields, executive director of the Department of Natural Resources stated recently.

Shields said a two-year study conducted by scientists of the University of Florida and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the department, has shown conclusively that the white amur can control the weed. The studym conducted in four ponds near Orlando, also demonstrated the amur's beneficial effect of improving the habitat for sports fish, he said.

In the three ponds were the while amur were stocked, sports fish production increased up to 550 pounds an acre above the initial stocking rate. He said this poundage equals or exceeds that of most productive natural lakes.

the first Wednesday in each month being pot luck supper night, last week the tables, as usual, were loaded with delicious food of a variety large enough to please any and all comers. Forty people attended, then remained for the movie shown by Indian River Community College.

Next month, Apr. 3, Dorothy Morley and Alice Eastlack, with the help of their spouses, will host the supper.

Wednesday, March 13, at 7:00 p.m. is the next meeting of the D & M Park Association.

+++

Agnes Skelton passed away. We who walk each evening shall miss her, because she enjoyed sitting outside her home, cheering us on to greater efforts.

Mrs. Vanderbosch was taken to the hospital and we hope nothing serious is wrong.

Ethel Phillips opines that bad luck comes in threes, and she should know. All in one week her mother died, she had oral surgery and her husband Don was hospitalized.

Ethel's mother, Mrs. Lulu Coboon, was 91 years old, and last summer, when Ethel was in her N.Y. home, she and her sister gave her a party to celebrate the event.

Don returned home Friday morning, and we all hope he'll soon be feeling fit again.

Mrs. Hogue is getting along well after recent surgery, and is very appreciative of all the visits, cards and flowers she received. Her son Lowell and his wife are with the Hogues, and are enjoying the change from Andia, Indiana.

The Association sent a check to the American Cancer Society as a memorial for Herb Jones.

Our artists are taking advantage of longer days and more sunshine to ready their paintings for the art show on Sunday, March 24. Those of you who attended the show last year will be able to appreciate how Juanita's group has pregressed.

Forest and Mary Palm are taking their daughter and her family to the airport Friday morning, after having had them here for two weeks.

That charming little boy you see at the home of D.A. and Bertha Snyder is their grandson Ricky, who is here with his parents, David and Bonnie Snyder of Amherst, Ohio.

Choral group set at IRCC

FORT PIERCE—The Indian River Community College through its community services program announced the formation of a new choral group, the "St. Lucie Chorale". Under the direction of Marleen Andrews and accompanist Josephine Gerola, the Chorale meets on Monday evenings from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Lakewood Park Methodist Church in Lakewood Park. No auditions are necessary and the only requirement are a good blending voice and a desire to sing good chorale works. The Chorale is now in preparation for a concert to be announced in the near future.

Anyone interested in joining the group is invited to attend a rehearsal or may call Mrs. Andrews at 562-6704.

State plants course

FORT PIERCE—Indian River Community College will offer "plants of Florida" an adult education class, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in Room E116 on the main campus.

The course will run for nine consecutive Monday nights and will include lectures, discussion and color slides. Field trips have been planned for Saturdays. This course will be non-credit with a registration fee of $5. Instructor will be Arthur Catlin.

Jensen residents willing to pay for bus service

...RE BEACH–Most Jensen Beach ...ents at last Wednesday night ...ng on public bus service indicated ...ey are willing to pay 25 cents for ...portation anywhere in the county ...35 persons attended the Jensen ...Fire Station meeting and ...ed questions by planner Fred ...what they would like in the way ...public bus system.

...of the consulting firm of Peat, ...and Mitchell which has been ...to make the public bus survey, ...a long series of questions during ...hour session.

...Beach meeting was one in ...of neighborhood meetings held ...planner Tom Leonard and ...

...were trying to pinpoint the needs of ...public," Pshyk said, "and we want ...to imagine yourself in the program ...on what your own needs are."

...35 percent of the persons in the ...were senior citizens, and when ...what the group thought was the ...main in the way of bus service, 25 ...said that senior citizens needed ...service more than workers, students ...handicapped.

The second greatest need, according to the audience, was the housewife.

A majority of the persons at the meeting thought that a dependable bus system was more important than travel cost, comfort, passenger shelters.

However, 16 persons felt that it was important to have seats.

On the amount of bus fares, a majority said they would be willing to pay according to the distance traveled rather than pay a flat fee or pay according to the type of bus service.

And a majority voted that the bus system should be self-supporting rather than being subsidized.

After asking a long series of questions Pshyk estimated that the kind of service most of the residents wanted would cost between $150,000 and $250,000, requiring about eight buses.

He explained that questionnaires are being sent to residents asking their opinion on the need for a public bus system, and also that telephone interviews are being conducted.

The consulting firm, which recently made a study of Hutchinson Island for the county, is being paid $8,700 for the study.

After the firm presents its findings, a second $8,000 study may be considered to design the system.

Projections of the public bus need by the consulting firm may help Martin County for federal and state aid.

Commissioner Ed Gluckler has estimated that the federal and state governments may pay as much as 80 percent for the service.

Commissioners have been considering using minibuses for the system. A Venice, Fla., firm which converts vans into minibuses which can carry 13 persons, offered the buses to the county at about $10,000 each.

BUS STORY–Fred Pshyk, senior consultant of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell, conducted his series of community bus surveys last week at the Jensen Beach Fire Hall. About 35 Jensen Beach area residents turned out for the meeting and answered questions on a proposed public bus service.

Jensen merchants will organize on March 28

JENSEN BEACH–The first organizational meeting of the Jensen Beach Merchants Association, a division of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, has been called for 8 p.m., March 28 at the Chamber of Commerce office on Commercial Street, according to Clarence Rydell, chairman.

A committee of Rydell, Joe Bumbera and Tom Wright began laying groundwork for the new division, designed to promote shopping in Jensen Beach, at a meeting last week.

"We want to get ideas of what we want to promote, and how. We should be able to get a consensus of the merchants, and try to set up our first promotion," Rydell added.

He urged all merchants to attend the meeting.

The association is an outgrowth of the old Commercial Street Merchants Association which brought Christmas lighting to the area a few years ago, but has been dormant for several years.

Tippy says

"Do you think Jensen kids will accept an Easter Turtle, rather than an Easter Bunny?"

Easter bunny set for Jensen

JENSEN BEACH–Children of the Jensen Beach area are reminded by the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department and Auxiliary that the Easter Bunny will be on hand again at Langford Park this year. He will arrive Saturday, April 6.

Ninety dozen eggs will be cooked, dyed and hidden at the park on this seventh annual Easter egg hunt.

Registration will be at 9:30 a.m. and the hunt will start at 10 a.m. Prizes will be awarded in four age groups.

Further details will be published next week.

Variety of fish being caught

JENSEN BEACH–No specific type of fish was being caught this week, according to the report from the Snook Nook. A little bit of everything was reported.

Al Wise had 3 blues and 1 jack on cut bait in the surf. Bill Shiffer, 32 blues. Thomas West, 1 snook, 1 trout. Pat Patterson, 4 blues. Mary McLain, 1 snook. Ed Wagner, 21 trout. Pete Peterson, Stan Lappincott, 19 trout. Jack Kathy and Ed Klett, half bushel of bottom fish. Duck White, 13 trout, 1 drum.

Ted Bloom, 15 trout, 1 blue. Dan Treiber, 2 trout. Bill Neff Jr. fishing with Webb Partlow, caught a 5' sand shark. Gary O'Connor and Richard Gagney had an 11½-lb. snook from the surf.

Sam Moore, 3 trout. Paul Klett, 4 snappers, 2 jacks. Edith Keehl, 27 whiting. Al Krull, 2 blues. Fred Hudgens, 4 trout. George Hindman, 4½-lb. trout. Peterson Charles in/with, 13 blues. Elected officials

Different views on charter

JENSEN BEACH–Elected Martin County officials have different views on the county charter which will be voted on April 9.

Asked their views on the document which has been under study by a Charter Commission for two years, some courthouse officials stated their opposition, others said they would support it, while some remained neutral.

"I cannot support the charter," Mrs. Louise Isaacs, court clerk, said. "I think it takes some rights of elected officials."

County Commissioner Ed Gluckler said, "I'm for it. I'll clarify my position later this week."

Between those to opposite views there were the "no comments," statement by E.F. (Dutch) Schurbusch, tax assessor, and "I'm neutral" by Commission Ross Philbrick.

Commissioner Philbrick went on to say, however, "The County Commission is effected by the charter and I'm not going to try to influence people one way or the other."

Commissioner Philbrick added, "There are a lot of advantages to the charter and a few drawbacks, and I think the advantages out weigh the drawbacks. As an elected county official I'm not going to campaign for it, but personally, I'll vote for it."

The county tax collector, Alvin Andrews opposes the charter stating:

"I'm opposed to the charter. I don't think it is necessary to change the form of government, and under the Florida statutes the county now has practically every power under home rule."

In other comments on the charter, James Navitsky, school superintendent said, "After reading the charter, I still have some unanswered questions. The school system, however, is not directly effected by the charter."

"I don't like doing away with constitutional officers," Sheriff James Heil said. He declined to elaborate on the statement.

Commissioner Timer Power said he was "disappointed" in the final charter document, pointing out that the charter commission had not addressed itself to many areas that the County Commission had asked in the original charge to the group.

Powers noted that there wasn't any consolidation of purchasing, school, city or county, and that there wasn't consolidation of police and fire. "There are still duplications of services in those areas."

"If the charter passes," Powers said "I can work with it, and I'm not going to go out and work against it."

The long-time commissioner from Indiantown said that he is disappointed that "this important document will probably be decided by less than 25 percent of the voters."

Commissioner John Kiernan said, "Personally, I'm going to vote for it. We'll have better protection from the state or legislature, and have more home rule."

Commissioner Kiernan said, "The charter will give the county a tool to work with on an impact fee for growth."

"Since I'm running the election, I don't think I should comment on the charter," Mrs. Sandra Randolph said.

"I want to run a fair and impartial election," the supervisor of elections said.

I have some personal feelings about the charter but I feel that I shouldn't comment, Mrs. Randolph said.

"I want everybody to vote," she said.

Mrs. Isaacs, who says she cannot support the charter, points out that the charter has some good points, but adds:

"The government is not bad enough to change the entire thing. If we are going to make a change, make it for the better."

The chairman of the County Commission, Dr. Edward Geary, was out of town and not available for comment.

Battlelines on the charter are being drawn outside the courthouse with a group calling itself "conservative citizens against the charter" stating that the charter would mean higher taxes.

Leaders of the charter commission have denied that the new county charter would raise taxes or liberalize the county government.

Attorney John Darlison, who heads the new group against the charter, says the group is not affiliated with political parties and is organized with the state as an "issue-oriented political committee."

Darlison said that interested and concerned voters who oppose the charter Darlison said that contributions and inquiries may be addressed to P.O. Box 2598, Stuart, 33494.

County charter draws opposition

JENSEN BEACH–A non-partisan organization has been formed to oppose the Martin County charter which is to be presented to the voters at a special election on Tuesday, April 9.

Headed by Attorney John Darlison, the organization is called "conservative citizens against the charter."

Serving with Darlison is Henry Crane, a Stuart businessman, who is treasurer of the group.

"We are opposed to the charter because we believe it will mean higher taxes, bigger government with increased bureaucracy, erosion of the independence of elected constitutional officers and encroachment on the independence and integrity of our municipalities," Darlison said.

"The people of Martin County should know that the present form of county government has all the power and authority necessary to provide efficient, responsible service. The proposed charter isn't needed to make the county government more streamlined or efficient. If anything, the charter will make our county government bigger and more costly, not better."

"In those few counties in Florida that have adopted charters, the cost of county government has skyrocketed and the taxpayers have been left with the tab," Darlison continued.

The attorney noted that recently the voters of Collier (Naples), Charlotte (Punta Gorda), Palm Beach and Leon (Tallahassee) counties have defeated proposed charters similar to that being presented to Martin County.

"The conservative citizens against the charter believe the proposed charter is just another step in taking government of the people, by the people and for the people out of the hands of the people," Darlison said.

Lambeth is mayor of Sewall's Point

SEWALL'S POINT–Clay Lambeth was elected mayor of Sewall's Point at Tuesday afternoon's organizational meeting of the City Commission at Town Hall.

Francis Clark, the only holdover commissioner, was elected vice-mayor.

Taking the oath of office from town attorney T.T. Oughterson were the three new commissioners, John Rossiter, Roger Morgan and William Sowden.

The three new commissioners were unopposed in the March 1 election.

Harry Simon, former mayor, and Commissioner Daniel Morrell did not seek re-election; and Robert Wilson resigned in January.

ENJOYING PARTY -Duane and Harriett Callahan of Palm Beach are enjoying the get-acquainted party of Beacon 21 held March 18 at the Crow's Nest Restaurant in Rio.

Hilda Costello to head JBWA

JENSEN BEACH—Mrs Hilda Costello will serve as president of the Jensen Beach Women's Association for the coming year. The announcement was made by out-going president Mrs Mildred Greenland, at the March 18 meeting.

Mrs Costello will replace Mrs Diane Stoll, who had been elected president recently but resigned.

Mrs Costello had served as president of the club from 1953 through 1955.

Mrs Greenland reported that the March 8-9 Valentine Bazaar was "a success." A portion of the proceeds will be applied on a scholarship for a Martin County High School senior entering a nursing career, and a sum will be presented to Martin Memorial Hospital for purchase of designated equipment.

Hospital ball tickets are available

JENSEN BEACH—Patrons of this year's benefit ball for Martin Memorial Hospital will dance to the music of Marshall Grant's Orchestra and be entertained by a Spanish Mariachi Band.

The ball will be highlighted by a Spanish motif created and donated by Patricia Murphy, who chose "A Night In Spain" as the theme this year. The Spanish theme will be used throughout the ballroom with hostesses in authentic Spanish dress.

The ball begins at 9 p.m. and a midnight breakfast will be served.

Mr and Mrs. Fred Schock, chairmen of the black tie affair, announced that tickets are still available and may be obtained by calling 287-5200 Ext. 200. Anyone wishing to contribute may send donations to Hospital Ball-1974, P.O. Box 627, Stuart.

Alliance opposes second nuke plant

JENSEN BEACH—Construction of a second nuclear generator at the Hutchinson Island Florida Power and Light Co. plant is opposed by the Martin County Conservation Alliance.

Ram attorney Martin Hodder spoke at a recent meeting of the alliance, saying that he is opposed to the generator construction because such a device would "endanger the lives of me and my family."

Hodder said that the location "on a sandbar" next to the ocean makes it susceptible to a tragic accident in the event of a hurricane.

Only one member of the alliance voted against the stand. Former Martin County Commissioner Bill Hussey said he wouldn't go against development of any nuclear energy, saying, "WE need it."

Second murder suspect is arrested

STUART—A defendant and witness in the Daniel Winn murder case has been taken into custody and is being returned to Martin County, Sheriff James Holt said.

Holt said that Jerry Rawlings 29, of Fort Pierce was apprehended in Barton, as a result of a statewide lookout for him.

The other defendant in the murder case is Jimmy Lee Majors, 24, also of Fort Pierce, who has been in jail since December.

Winn was fatally beaten with a hatchet at his fruit stand in Rio on Thanksgiving eve.

Church Aid Circle has 'star' program

JENSEN BEACH—Members of the Church Aid Circle of Jensen Beach Community Church are reminded by Mrs. Dorothy Kalb of the Wednesday, March 27 meeting to be held in Fellowship Hall.

"All women of the church and area are invited to come hear about the stars," invites Mrs. Kalb.

The executive board will meet at 11 a.m. followed by the regular meeting at 1 p.m.

Stuart duplicate bridge winners

STUART—The regular session of the Stuart Duplicate Bridge Club on Wed. March 13 was attended by 48 players, 12 full tables with an average score of 42.

North South winners were Flora Raffe and Polly Schinman with 155%. Lucille Stussel and Frank Percuoco were second with 152%. Jim Clark and John Behr third with 140%, and George Knoll and Ray Blue fourth with 108.

East West winners were Margaret Biser and Grant Shaffer with 158 nosing out Bertie Travis and Stella McCoy who had 157%. Mart and Jean Stapleton were third with 155 and Sonia and Ben Libson were fourth with 141%.

In Martin County...

We're helping it happen!

Our business is money. But as responsible citizens of our community, we also believe our business is service.

If you've visited the Stuart Chamber of Commerce office lately, you probably noticed a marked improvement in its appearance. As the official information and greeting facility for Stuart, it has been the first impression of this area for many visitors and new residents. And, until its recent face-lift, it was not an impressive first impression.

When the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce decided to renovate the building, they needed financial help. The Chamber leases the building and the only collateral for the loan was the "good word" of the Chamber's officers.

At First National, that was plenty good enough for us. We were delighted to help with the face-lift on the Stuart Chamber of Commerce.

Like any of the civic organizations that we're one of, hosts, belong to, just paying our dues is not enough.

For those projects that make a positive contribution, First National is always anxious to be of assistance. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you and our community.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "the bank that grew up with Martin County." We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of "helping it happen" for Martin County, a future.

CAMERA CLUB--The new president, K.C. Richmond announces that for the next season he has reappointed Harry Bartle, one of the club's top photographers and seasoned traveler, the veteran former marine "Red" Garrity and past president and world traveler Clyde Redinger to be the program managers.

To select and handle the Photographic Society of America exchange slides, Richmond asked Freda Peterkin and past president Tom Cook.

For the second Sunday night travel movies, each month, George Reeves is to continue to be in charge, as well as operate the projector and sound edquipment at the regular Thursday night meetings. Another veteran Fred Kalb, with years of professional experience with color photography is to operate the 16mm movie and sound projector.

First vice-president Ernie Curwen, who among other things helped illuminate the Panama Canal for night traffic and the San Mateo Bridge near San Francisco is to be in charge of the lighting and amplifying equipment, coordinate scheduling of the weekly shows, handle publicity.

The new second vice president, Jim Nixon, is to serve his apprenticeship by working with the other officers and program managers in search of new travel and photographic talent, making certain that no slides are shown sideways, upside down nor that anyone can't hear or see.

Members of the executive committee for the new year are Richmond, the president; Curwen, 1st vice president; Nixon, 2nd vice president; secretary-treasurer Freda Peterkin and the retiring president Tom Cook.

George Reeves is scheduled to show his motion pictures of Australia, New Zealand, Tahiti, Fiji, American Samoa and Hawaii at the next meeting of the Camera Club Thurs., March 21 at 8 p.m. He is a past president of the Camera Club, a world traveler and in charge of the Sunday night movies.

The following week, March 28, Doug Blythe, another past president of the Club and one of the best photographers in the area, is scheduled to show some of his favorite pictures.

VOL. 5 NO. 12 MARCH 28, 1974

Oratorical finalists are named by Optimists

...ryone—I'm just one" was the topic chosen for the ...d sponsored Oratorical Contest held last Monday night ... CESA building. Five finalists were chosen from the ... three participating. Pictured above, not necessarily in order, Kirk Broxton, Eddie Hearn, Robert Lord, Gregory Peters and Larry Hollett. The top five boys will compete March 25 7:30 p.m. at St. Andrews Lutheran Church on Prima Vista Boulevard.

...ISTS After listening intently to the 26 participants, ... chose the five finalists from the girls division of the ... Lucie Optimist sponsored Oratorical Contest held last Monday night. Pictured above, left to right, Mary Krupp, Dianne Parker, Yvonne Walker, Mimi Cordaro and Angela Robbins. Final competition will be held March 25, 7:30 p.m. at St. Andrews Lutheran Church on Prima Vista Boulevard.

PORT ST. LUCIE–If there was ever a successful project sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Optimist Club, the Oratorical Contest was certainly one.

The contest originally was scheduled as a one night affair to be held in the CESA Building, not only spilled over into St. Andrews Lutheran Church where the girls competed, but, it will go into the second week with the five finalists from each group competing for first place.

The final competition will be held in St. Andrews Lutheran Church, located on Prima Vista Boulevard at 7:30 p.m. March 25. The entrants are asked to be there not later than 7 p.m.

Wade Sanders, chairman of the contest, said he was overwhelmed with the response.

"We had more entries this year than in the three previous years combined," Sanders said. "We have never been able to sponsor the girls contest due to lack of the interest, however, this year there were 30 girls registered and 28 who actually participated. There were only 11 boys competing although there were 15 entries submitted," he added.

The ten finalists as selected by the judges include, girls division: Mary Krupp, Dianne Parker, Yvonne Walker, Mimi Cordaro and Angela Robbins; boys division: Eddie Hearn, Robert Lord, Kirk Broxton, Gregory Peters and Larry Hollett.

Judges for the girls division were Edward Dexter, Frank Celentano, Andrew Helseth and timekeeper, Charles Gibbons.

Judging the boys division were Mrs. Virginia Lieberth, Robert Salchwill, Mrs. Shirley Sams and timekeeper Mrs. Twinkle Bazan.

Speakers were judged on personal qualities, material organization, delivery, presentation and overall effectiveness.

The winner will be eligible to compete in the District Oratorical Contest to be held May 11 in Seminole. The winner of the district contest will be awarded a $500 scholarship payable to the school of the winners choice.

Locally, trophies will be awarded to the top three in each division. Every entrant received a Certificate of Participation. These certificates were awarded last Monday night by Richard Lieberth, co-chairman of the program.

...could use more volunteer drivers ...d, we have them in as many strategic spots in the community as possible, so if you can help out, please call Mrs. Amy Guerriero at the CESA building, 878-1388, and let her include you as a member of the pool," Mrs. Higbee said.

She also said that volunteers pay for their own gasoline, but are entitled to have what they use replaced at the city's gasoline pumps upon purchase of certificates from CESA.

"Requests for emergency transportation service should be made to Mrs. Guerriero who will relay them to the appropriate volunteer," Mrs. Higbee added.

Ground broken for third championship course

PORT ST. LUCIE–Mayor Eugene Kavanaugh turned the first shovel of earth during the ground-breaking ceremonies held last Thursday morning for General Development Corporation's third 18-hole championship golf course.

The course designed to accommodate population growth and increased golf popularity in the community, is being built along the North Fork of the St. Lucie River, northwest of the existing Saints and Sinners courses.

Pointing out that GDC has no intention of doing any harm to the plant life or aquatic life in the area, Robert Seeley, assistant vice president and general manager of Port St. Lucie, extended an open invitation for the conservation groups to tour the area.

"I would be privileged to have any of these groups call. It would be my pleasure to arrange for them to physically walk the premises and see exactly what the intentions are," Seeley said.

The actual ground breaking took place off Morningside Boulevard opposite the Saints Course and the community shopping center.

Others taking part in the ceremonies included LeRoy Phillips, GDC's golf director and designer of the new course; E. Duane Chester, assistant vice president in the company's communities division; and, Port St. Lucie City Councilmen Lawrence Kimmel and Frank Beardsley.

The 206 acre, par 72 course, will play 6,845 yards from the championship tees down to 5,935 yards from the front tees.

The new course will be bordered on the north by Wilderness Park and Cambridge Drive. The first five holes are to be built on a picturesque island bounded by the river, Kitching Cove and the Prima Vista waterway. The remainder of the front and back nine holes have been designed around existing natural lakes which are being maintained on the property.

A practice range and putting green will also be constructed along with a pro shop, golf cart storage building, and parking facilities.

Provision is being made for future cluster multi-family golf course housing, town houses and single-family dwellings.

Benz is re-elected to head blood bank

PORT ST. LUCIE–Cedric Benz was re-elected president of the River Park-Port St. Lucie Blood Bank, Inc. during the annual meeting held last week at the marina on Prima Vista Boulevard.

Other officers elected include Al Weigel, vice president; Frances Lee, secretary; and Ed Searles, treasurer.

Schuyler Sharpe was elected to fill a two-year vacancy as a director.

Three-year directors elected were Al McDonnell, Judd Reading and Ed Searles.

Also serving on the board are Janet Clark and John Lombardi.

In his report, Benz expressed satisfaction with the status of the Blood Bank, both financially and with the activities during the past year.

The membership enrollment numbers in excess of 1700 persons. Seventy pints of blood were replaced for members during the last twelve months.

Benz urged residents of the community to consider membership in the blood bank. Applications may be obtained from any of the directors.

Any bonafide resident of the River Park-Port St. Lucie area is eligible for membership by payment of a $1 fee per person. There are no other dues or assessments.

Any member needing blood, anywhere within the United States, will notify any officer of the bank, either directly or through the St. Lucie Co. Blood Bank of the number of units needed and pay to the River Park-Port St. Lucie Blood Bank a sum of $10 per pint used.

PSL plaza permit issued

PORT ST. LUCIE–Last Friday, after considerable delay, a $965,000 building permit was issued by the St. Lucie County Building Department to Mel Sembler, developer of the proposed Port St. Lucie shopping plaza.

Sembler, president of Mel Sembler Associates in St. Petersburg, said, "We have been 90 days trying to get this under construction and just last week were we able to get bulldozers in there clearing the land. Building costs go up every day and these delays are very costly."

The construction contract has been awarded to B & H Construction, Youngstown, Ohio, the same contractor that built the Fields Plaza, also owned by the St. Petersburg developer.

Sembler showed plans for the proposed shopping plaza to be located just north of the Enco Station on U.S. 1 to the members of the Port St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners association last October. At that time he was hopeful for a late '74 summer opening.

Sembler, who has put up three other plazas, one in Haines City, one in Pinellas Park, the Dedeaux Mall at Bradenton and the Fields Plaza in Ft. Pierce, claims there will be no more. Citing the fact that permits are becoming just too hard to obtain.

Port St. Lucie residents will have access to the proposed plaza without having to go onto U.S. 1, according to the developer. Sembler said that a 50-foot right-of-way to the plaza behind the Enco Service Station has been obtained from General Development Corp.

He said this would keep the flow away from the residential area as much as possible.

Sembler said that the plaza would be attractively landscaped and there would be a seven-day a week maintenance crew on the property, the same as at the Fields Shopping Plaza in Fort Pierce.

Stores planned for the plaza include Winn Dixie, Gray Drug Store and Neisner's. Jr. Department Store. Sembler said he was negotiating for other stores in the Port St. Lucie Plaza.

Riverettes sponsor White Elephant sale

PORT ST. LUCIE–A White Elephant Auction has been scheduled by the Port St. Lucie Riverettes of Welcome Wagon on March 23.

The auction will start at 10 a.m. in the marina on Prima Vista Boulevard.

Vets to Disney

PORT ST. LUCIE–The World War I Vets Barracks 2936 have completed plans for a bus trip to Disney World March 30, according to Commander William Pfau.

Reservations must be made within the next few days by contacting Pfau at 878-0840.

The Vets will hold their next monthly meeting March 14, 8 p.m. at the Port St. Lucie Marina.

Masonic Club attendance

PORT ST. LUCIE–Sixty-four members and guests attended the March meeting of the Port St. Lucie Masonic Club at the Marina.

Arrangements were finalized for a joint dinner with the ladies of the Wimodausis Club with the profits to be used to support a Wimodausis project.

Tickets for the event will go on sale at the April 3 meeting, and will be limited to 150 due the space in the marina.

The dinner is scheduled for May 1. This will be the final season this spring, until the fall series starts in Sept.

Refreshments were furnished by John Vogel and Nitch Millard, followed by a film, "Sea of Contention," presented by Charles White and Indian River Community College.

Bake sale for CESA

PORT ST. LUCIE–Plans are being completed by the CESA Volunteers for a March 30 bake sale and card party to be held at the CESA building. Proceeds will benefit the CESA building fund and residents of the community are asked to make donations of baked goods.

Although the bake sale will get underway at 10 a.m., the CESA building will be open at 8:30 for donations. For those who wish to have their donations picked up, or additional information, call the bake sale chairman Mrs. Carroll Everett, 878-0607.

Coffee and sweet rolls will be served.

The card party will start at 1 p.m. and all games can be played. A donation will be requested and all players must bring their own cards.

There will be table prizes and refreshments.

Tickets or information may be obtained from Mrs. William Prevetten, card party chairman 461-8422.

Permit is issued

UA is talking on savannas

JENSEN BEACH—Universal Adams, Inc., (UA) area coordinator Robert Amann said Tuesday that meetings are going on with state agencies to determine if state permits are needed for UA's work in the savannas.

"The meetings are being held to establish whether or not any permits are needed," Amann said.

Amann said that the outcome of the meetings will determine if the trial before Circuit Court Judge James Alderman will be held Friday.

Last February, Judge Alderman temporarily halted the hearing between UA and the Department of Pollution Control (DPC) to give UA time to work out permit problems with various state agencies.

The DPC is seeking a permanent injunction which will prevent UA from constructing a causeway through the savannas near Walton.

At the request of DPC, Judge Alderman issued a temporary injunction last fall against the developer.

State jurisdiction over the savannas is being challenged by UA, and Amann said Tuesday that UA has maintained its position from the beginning that permits are not needed.

UA attorney Dean Tooker stated at the February trial that portions of the savannas (UA's property) is privately owned and the waters are not legally navigable.

Attorney Tooker also pointed out that the State Cabinet, in its capacity as Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund (IIF) has the authority to issue dredge and fill permits and has this authority only when navigable waters are concerned.

Amann said Tuesday that he had toured the savannas last Monday with DPC representatives and members of the Florida State Fish and Wildlife Department.

UA's causeway would provide the west access to its proposed 1,788-unit Twin Banyan Plantation just north of Walton Road. A bridge over the savannas was originally planned by the developer.

After the temporary injunction was issued last fall, halting all work on the causeway, UA presented an alternate proposal to the City of Port St. Lucie, asking the City Council to grant a letter of approval for the relocation of an access road.

The major change was the relocation of a dual-lane access road onto Indian River Drive. The temporary access road, UA claimed, would enable construction on the project.

In the original project proposal, UA promised the Port St. Lucie Council that Twin Banyan Plantation would be a development that would not use Indian River Drive for access, making it a nature trail for foot traffic, with high screening shrubs and trees.

Methodist to have Martini Sunday

PORT ST. LUCIE—Carl Martini, local vocalist and magician, will be the guest entertainer for the Port St. Lucie united Methodist Church at the March Fellowship Supper.

Pastor Dean Brown will provide the guitar accompaniment for Martini. Marsha Lack, Frances, Susan and Barbara Ward, members of the Methodist Youth Group, will also share the limelight with Martini.

The affair has been scheduled for March 24, 6 p.m., in the fellowship hall located on Prima Vista Blvd.

House of Refuge fund drive is established

STUART—Representatives of the Martin County Historical Society officially inaugurated the "Save the House of Refuge Fund" this week at the Stuart office of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County with the Association's donation of $1,000.

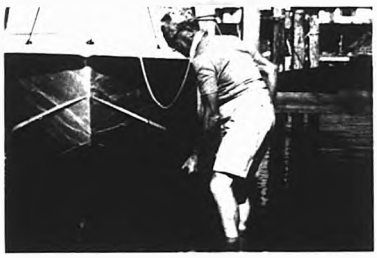
The House of Refuge, Martin County's only recognized historical marker, is the victim of 99 years of exposure to the elements. It is in need of repairs that go well beyond the public funds presently available.

One of ten such "refuges" to be constructed along Florida's east coast, it is the only one still in existence. It was erected in 1875 by the Federal Government at a total cost of $2,990.

The House of Refuge has throughout its history been a "refuge" for seamen in distress, and in World War II a defensive site. Today it is a historical museum and a center for the study of turtles.

Rehabilitation work that needs to be done includes repairs, painting and some reconstruction. According to experts special paints, that are capable of withstanding constant exposure to salt air, now are available although they are considerably more expensive than regular house paint.

In some instances, bronze nails and fittings should be used in order to resist the intense rusting that occurs when even galvanized materials are used. Other work that needs to be done requires the services of highly skilled artisans.



SHOVELING SILT. Schuyler Sharpe, a resident of 647 Harborview Drive, Port St. Lucie, shovels silt from the canal behind his home. The residents of the area have been complaining of clogged canals for the past 8 months. Latest word from the city council was the Internal Improvement Fund refused to issue a permit for dredging and cleaning these canals. Irrate homeowners were urged to bombard the IIF with letters of complaints. Once the permit is granted, General Development will do the dredging.

Walk on the wild side.

We know of a wild, unmarred spot, far from the turmoil of the cities, that we would like to share with you. Hutchinson Island, Florida's last great unspoiled barrier island.

Behind the natural dune line we are building a graceful, Sunshinear apartment residence. There are six two-bedroom, two-bathroom models to choose from, underground parking, tennis courts and swimming pool. Fifty-five to one-hundred thirty thousand. Visit us, or write for literature.

Candied lima beans

JENSEN BEACH–My mother was a good cook. She was a fabulous baker and delivered making bread, pies, cakes, cinnamon buns, and all those fattening things, but she was also a good cook. She never kept a record of ingredients, as they would term her a Natural Cook, but most of her recipes didn't need special or measured ingredients, just a pinch of this and a handful of that.

However, she made Candied Lima Beans which were super, and the recipe is good enough to share with Mirror readers.

Matilda used a one-lb. bag of big dried lima beans, washed them well and picked them over. Then she covered them with water in a large pot and let them soak over night.

The next morning, stir the beans, add a large onion, chopped; a small can of tomato paste, salt and pepper, and a 1-lb. box of dark brown sugar. Bring to a boil then let this cook slowly over low heat, stirring occasionally, all day or until the beans are mealy and the liquid thickens.

No, we didn't serve them then. We refrigerated them until the next day, put them into a casserole, topped the beans with slices of bacon, and baked them until the bacon was crisp and they were bubbly and heated thoroughly.

Mother served her Candied Lima Beans with crisp-fried slices of Philadelphia scrapple or good not-too-fatty sausage, and a big cold salad of lettuce, tomatoes, celery and chopped olives with a vinegar-sugar-water dressing.

Gosh, that brings back memories.

Pieces of left-over ham could be cooked with the beans, or the bacon could be added while cooking instead of topping the casserole. Also, the beans could be served after the first cooking, instead of baking them. But we felt that the flavor was enhanced by standing over night, like a good beef stew or vegetable soup. The waiting period permits the beans to plump and absorb the brown sugar sauce.

The Mirror welcomes recipes "you just love to cook." If you have one to share, please call me at the office, 334-4333 or at my home, 334-4502.

Venture Out News Notes

By Willard Auch

Is spring really here? Every day we see one of our good neighbors heading back toward the north. Some to business, some to work, some to get ready for their farm crops and others just to get back to their summer home. They have our best wishes for a safe and pleasant journey. We only hope that they are not rushing spring too fast for the weather report indicates that old man winter is still around.

Mate Grueling reports Charles and Nora Krotzer of Bradenton were weekend guests of Curt and Marmie Payntor. The Krotzers and Payntors are racing buddies.

Marge Owens sister and family, Virginia and Robert Hause, and daughter, Patty, have been visiting them for several days. Robert is an avid fisherman and has been pulling in quite a variety of fish from the Indian River. One in particular and considered a rarity was a northern Sea Robin. Ten year old Patty quickly became acquainted and was invited on a tour of Mercy's boat.

Jackie and Al Phillips dropped in for a quick visit on their lot enroute to Jupiter to visit Jackie's sister. It was a pleasure to see them again.

LaBelle and Wayne Barrett's son, wife and seven month old son busses in for an overnight stay. Grandman and Grandpa proudly showed off their grandson. We all readily agreed they had good reason. He is a darling baby and flashed his captivating smiles at everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Tickel of Bristol, Tenn., spent a fun-filled week visiting the Ward Irwin's. While they were here they spent one day at Disney World and enjoyed the Recreational Hall facilities so much that they hope to return again.

Amy Meeker has a new 7 lb. 10 oz. sister, Rarann Rochelle. Papa Fred and mother Kit are surviving the event quite well. Proud grandparents the Payntors, and the Auchs, are bursting at the seams.

Mary Ellyn Meachum reports Herman and Dot Nazzaro returned to their home in Pa. Herman had a most successful season fishing.

Amy and Joe Freitag nosed out Al and Loene Soukow by two months for being married the longest of the guests at the Cabaret Fun Night.

bob McKain returned home to Philadelphia, Pa., Juanita, daughter-son-in-law, and granddaughter to follow this week.

Al Edwards celebrated his birthday at the St. Patrick's Day Dance, along with Bill Nickaw and Dolly Watkins.

Fran Tener reports good news from Selma and Joe Valaro in N.Y. Joe is recovering nicely from his surgery and they plan to be back April 16.

Catherine and Hank Higgins have a lively household. Daughter Ann and her husband, Bob FitzHenry, three grand-children, and Tippy, their dog, are with them until they move into their new Jensen Beach home. The FitzHenry's are going to be permanent Floridians and we are all delighted to have this family close by.

Alice and Art Bauman have been here for a few weeks and are really enjoying the lovely weather.

Jessie and Les Shaver had their daughter, Mary, and her husband, Rodney, two grandchildren and a friend of the childrens here for the weekend from Miami. Their grandchildren really love visiting them and come whenever they can.

Barbara and Stan Clark entertained Helen and Harry Sampson of Boynton Beach overnight. They are old friends from Conn., and have very enjoyable visits together.

Marion and Len Chace, close friends of the Tuckers, left this week after a month with us. We will miss them and look forward to their visit next year.

Theo Slagle, the George Hippiers (Theo's brother), and Fran Tener had a really good time on a trip to Busch Gardens, the Kapok Tree in Clearwater for dinner, Tarpon Springs, and the Bok Tower. They saw a lot, ate a lot, laughed a lot, and all in all had a wonderful time. Their only regret was that they needed more time; two days went much too quickly.

Louise Sheppard had visitors for a few days, Fran and Dutch Hellensmith from Okeechobee, and they had their usual good times together.

Thornton Cook reports its working Toad and Lucy Bowling and Floyd and Jane Reynolds were co-hosts for the first Monday night pot luck sponsored by the lot owners. On short notice they decorated the tables and provided back ground music to make a pleasant set up for dinner. Last week's pot luck was well attended. The event was co-hosted by Harry and Betty Sommers and Thornton and Mabel Cook. Following the dinner, eighty six people crowded into the hallt to see hurricane and tornado films presented by E.K. Shinn of the Martin County Civil Defense office. A lively discussion period followed the showings.

Millie Middleton is the volunteer leader of the ladies exercise sessions each Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Shape up or you'll sit out, gals.

John Campbell won the weekly billiard tournament thus qualifying for the March playoffs.

We never had it so good. Forty-three happy couples sang, danced and cavorted to the music of The Quiet Knights at the St. Patrick's dance Sat. night. An atmosphere of merriment was created by the beautiful decorations, the spirits of the occasion, and the antics of some of the revelers. Numerous donated door prizes were awarded and refreshments were served. A big vote of thanks to the hard working members of the dance committee: Carroll and Louise Wyatt, chairman; David and Dolly Watkins, and Van and Margaret Van Falkenburg, for providing a wonderful evening of entertainment.

ABC (Animal Birth Control) donated their time at the Fair for a very good cause. Prolific animals can produce thousands of unhappy and unwanted kittens and puppies. "But I can't afford it!" is a common complaint heard by the same people who spend money every weekend for their entertainment, be it food, drink, movies or whatever. If you really can't afford to have an animal spayed, ABC may be able to offer some assistance.

GED classes are scheduled

FORT PIERCE--Continuous enrollment is now available for adults interested in earning a high school equivalency diploma at Indian River Community College.

For adults who wish to review before taking the five required tests for the high school equivalency diploma, GED review classes are being conducted during the day as well as the evening hours on the Indian River Community College campus. Classes are held during the day from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m., and during the evenings from 5:30 until 10:30 p.m. Also, GED review classes are offered on Saturday morning from 9 until 11:30 a.m. The review is individualized and flexible, varying with the needs of each individual. There is no fee for GED review classes.

The General Education Development (GED) Test is given at regular intervals on the IRCC campus.

Applications are now being accepted for the GED examinations which will be administered on the evenings of April 23, 24, and 25.

Bicycle needs

FORT PIERCE--Efforts are presently underway by the St. Lucie County Recreation Board to develop an action plan for bicycle needs within the county.

If you are a bicyclist and interested in improving the present cycling conditions within the county, contact John Anderson, ext.228, at Indian River Community College, room G207.

Juvenile Diabetes group to hear ophthalomologist

FT. PIERCE--The next meeting of the Indian River Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation will be March 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the St. Lucie-Okeechobee Regional Library Conference Room.

Dr. Leonard Berg, ophthalmologist, will be guest speaker.

On March 27, ABC TV (Channel 10 and 12) will have an "After School Special" at 4:30 p.m. Entitled "The Runaways" it is about a 15-year old diabetic.

The week of May 11-19 has been declared Juvelle Diabetic Week. There will be no door-to-door campaign, but collection canisters will be placed in various stores. Other plans include rummage sales and a benefit dinner, according to Mrs. Renee Marstellar, secretary.

Real estate course

JENSEN BEACH--The Florida Institute of Technology's Department of Management Science will again offer the popular real estate Course 1, Introduction to real estate principles and practices on the Jensen Beach campus beginning Tuesday, April 2.

The classes will meet weekly on Tuesday evenings from 6 to 9 p.m. in the lecture hall of the Ralph S. Evenrude Building.

Successful completion of this course is required by the Florida Real Estate Commission before an applicant can take the State Licensing Examination.

Enrollment in this course is limited, and interested persons are urged to register early. The fee for the course is $47.

Registration may be accomplished in the F.I.T. Administration Office any day Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or may be done by mail.

Rio Civic Club celebrates 24th anniversary

RIO--The Rio Civic Club held its 24th anniversary supper on Thursday, March 12, with 75 in attendance.

Host and hostess were president Joseph and wife, Margaret Forsberg.

Special guests were past presidents Howard McCormick, Robert Larsen, Alexander Wilson, Mrs. Kathleen Spencer, Joseph Foster, Mrs. Genevieve Heasley, Val Manwaring, vice president John Jacobs, all were accompanied by their spouses, and the ladies received corsages.

Each past officer was introduced and gave interesting responses. Maggie Hurchalla was guest speaker for the evening. She explained the Martin County Charter which is coming up for a vote in April.

Guests welcomed were Mrs. Jean Balslov, of Mt. Sinai, N.Y.; Mrs. marie Walsh, and Miss Kathy Walsh of Ont., Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Menzer were accepted as new members.

The dining room was decorated in yellow and white with a bit of the St. Patrick's Day effect. The flower table arrangement was made by Mrs. George Martin. She also made the corsages. The dining room committee was Mrs. Genevieve Heasley and Mrs. Inez Barry.

Mrs. Kethleen Spencer and Mrs. Lil Manwaring baked the birthday cake. Mrs. Kathleen Babcock was in charge of the kitchen, assisted by Mrs. Marie Walsh, Miss Kathy Walsh and Mrs. Spencer.

Folks who signed up for the six weeks course of the Medical Self Help Training are reminded that the first meeting will be at the Rio Club House on April 17. Anyone may join. Call Joseph Forsberg, 334-4332 for particulars.

The next supper and meeting will be Thursday, April 11.

RIO--The Rio Civic Club card party was held Tuesday, March 12, with 16 tables in play.

Door prize winner, also high score at his table, Val Manwaring.

Table prize winners, mesdames Esther Wilson, Helen Shomer, Opal Gosney, Laura Muller, Inez Barry, Margaret Isengard, Marie Larson, Dot Crannel, John Jacobs, Mary Grant, Mary E. Kohlman, Mary Cook, Freda Schlimm and C.B. Heasley.

I don't take chances any more!

Now even my pin money makes money! The days when I hid money all over the house are gone.

I found it more beneficial to save money where it can earn more for me. I was constantly worried each time I left my house that it would be robbed or that after awhile I would forget where I hid my money. Now it's convenient and safe in my 5 1/4% passbook savings account at Community Federal Savings & Loan Association. I can get it out any time I please and the interest is compounded daily. There are few investments to compare with a savings account at Community Federal for versatility and return on your money. And all I have to remember now is where I left my passbook!

What?...Landscape my floors?... Don and Rick at Floorscapes do just that for everyone

When Rick Ten Broeck and Don McCall were introduced on a Ft. Lauderdale golf course by a mutual friend they had no idea that they would become partners in one of Martin County's finest flooring stores. According to don, "The golf game was a disaster. Rick hits the ball like a gorilla." Their business on the other hand, has blossomed into one of the most formidable competitors in the local carpet and flooring market.

Upon deciding on becoming partners the pair chose the name "FloorScapes." The name has since become synonymous with quality carpeting and excellent service at competitive prices, but in the beginning they received letters addressed to FLOORSCRAPS or FLOORSCRAPES, everything but FLOORSCAPES. Being resourceful young men they decided to turn what appeared to be a handicap into an advertising advantage. Newspaper and radio advertisements encouraged prospective customers to "landscape their floors" thus coining Floorscapes as a verb.

Rick and Don refer to their carpet related services as "Floorscaping," and now another store has opened next door to theirs with the name of "WindowScapes." The two businesses are not related except for their mutual concern for tasteful home decorating. Rick says he was actually flattered that another businessman would consider tying in his store name with theirs.

FloorScapes opened in June of 1973 in the Suncoast Plaza in Rio. Don admits the store location is a little off the beaten track, but says the word is getting around and "we are getting our share of walk-in traffic." Much of their business has come in the form of referrals and keeping an eye out for new construction.

Both men have had good backgrounds in business. Don had been in carpet sales in Ft. Lauderdale, while Rick was in business for himself in South Hampton, Long Island, N.Y. Their idea behind FloorScapes was to offer recognizable brand name carpeting and vinyl flooring combined with top quality installation. They are the only dealer in Martin County that sells Bigelow carpeting. "With a name like that, you can't go wrong," says Don. In addition they carry other quality name brands such as Monticello, Philadelphia, and Laurel Crest. Comparable quality is found in their sheet vinyl lines with names such as Congoleum, G.A.F. and Armstrong. To compliment their product, they offer decorator service at no additional charge. Since the gas shortage their shop at home service has become increasingly popular. A call to their showroom will get a quick response from one of the partners who will bring samples to your home or office.

According to Rick, price is not always the main concern of carpet shoppers. "many will pay whatever it costs to get the proper style, color and quality for their home or office. After all, we sell a big ticket item that most people do not want to have to replace for years to come." Rick has one word of advice for those who do shop prices. "Compare apples to apples. Too often a prospective customer will tell us what he wants and later claim that he can get the same carpeting at a lower price somewhere else. After a little conversation it later comes out that the lower priced goods are also lower quality goods. We know our product and are confident that our customers are buying the highest quality carpeting at the lowest possible prices."

Rick and Don are family men and active in community affairs. Rick, his wife Helen, and their two children live in Hobe Sound. As a member of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, Rick serves on the Board of Directors and acts as the organization's treasurer. In addition, he serves as Secretary for the Jensen Beach Kiwanis, is on the Jensen Beach Incorporation Study Committee and is working on the fund raising committee for the Martin Memorial Hospital Ball.

Don and his wife, Bonnie, live in Jensen Beach. Their first child is expected in October of this year.

Don's interests lie in sports as reflected by his participation in the Langford Park Little League baseball and football programs. He has also taken on the chairmanship of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Fireworks Fund Raising Committee. Both men were instrumental in putting together the 1974 Fishing Guide for the Chamber.

If dedication to their work and involvement in their community is any indication of success, Rick and Don are two of the most promising in Martin County, and FloorScapes is on the same par.

A SAMPLE OF GOOD PARTNERS, and a selection of good samples - that's what it takes to operate a successful flooring firm in Martin County. Don McCall, left, and Rick Ten Broeck have teamed up to make "Floorscaping" work in Jensen Beach.

Pros and cons of county charter

JENSEN BEACH–Home rule and responsiveness at home was the aim of the Martin County Charter, a press release from the Charter Commission states.

And charter chairman James Littman says, "Home rule is the main reason for the charter. In Florida, only charter counties can escape the legislature's power to pass special acts for a single county.

"As the April 9 special vote on the proposed County Charter draws closer, support of the document increases.

"Quite frankly, I am in favor of the charter," County Commissioner Ed Gluckler says. "I think, eventually, you will see wide adoption of charters in Florida because of the peculiarity of state laws affecting county and municipal governments."

"The proposed charter certainly will afford the people better protection from poor annexation practices, now permitted by state law," Gluckler said.

"The proposed charter will keep the density of wide areas of undeveloped land in the hands of the people who move on to them rather than in the hands of the developers, even across county lines," the commissioner continued.

In a press release on the charter, Littman states:

"A belief has been expressed that the charter will increase taxes. Nowhere in the charter does it award any more power to raise taxes than with the present system. The millage limit for the county is not increased."

In a letter to Littman, John G. Fletcher, Miami attorney, states:

"Both charter (home rule) and non-charter (traditional) counties are governed by the Florida Constitution's millage limitations equally. Article 7, Section 8, Florida Constitution; state ex rel. Dade County vs. Dickinson, 230 So. 2d 130 (Fla. 1970). In the case just cited, one of the specific questions asked the Supreme Court of Florida was whether a home rule county, such as Martin, will be when the charter is adopted, is governed by the same constitutional limitations as the traditional counties, such as Martin as it presently exists. The answer was emphatic 'yes.' Thus whether or not Martin County adopts the proposed new charter, the millage cap remains the same."

on the tax issue, Gluckler says:

"Don't be mislead by allegations that taxes will increase should the charter be adopted. Taxes will neither go up nor down because of the adoption of the charter."

And Gluckler adds:

"Nor will the holders of the constitutional officer be affected one bit even though some of them fear problems under a charter. Opposition on the part of statewide associations of constitutional officers to the charter concept is based on the fear of general charters. This one is tailored to the needs of Martin County, not Dade, or Duval or any other county."

On the issue of constitutional offices, the press release from the Charter Commission states:

"What the charter does is to abolish the state office and create independent, elected county department heads as provided by the state constitution. The charter board realized that elected officials should not be placed under an appointed administrator.

"Section 4.01 B of the charter provides that the directors of the departments of tax collector, assessment, elections, law enforcement and courts and recording shall be elected department heads and shall not be subject to the supervision of the county administrator."

JENSEN BEACH–Jensen Beach real estate agent Ransom Tilton announced Monday that he cannot support the Martin County charter. He is the second Charter Commission member to oppose the charter.

"I feel that there are many provisions of the charter that are good for Martin County," Tilton said in a news release. "However, there is a significant amount that is unfair and, in my opinion, not workable."

Stuart City Commissioner Charles Foster, also a member of the charter commission, has long opposed the charter because of the sections allowing county ordinances to override city laws and restricting the city's power to annex land.

Attorney John Darlson of Stuart, is chairman of the Conservation Citizens Against the Charter and his group opened the April 9 charter referendum campaign with a statement of its anti-charter goals several days ago.

Darlson has been speaking to various groups, including the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee, on what, in his opinion, on why so few counties have adopted the charter form of government.

"If charter government is as great as some of the Charter Commission members would have us believe, why haven't more counties in Florida or the other states adopted?" he asks.

Darlson points that only four counties in Florida have adopted the charter form of government.

In his news release, Tilton points out that "I have worked long and hard over the past two years, alongside all the other members of that commission, to give the people of Martin County a 100 percent fair and workable charter."

"It is my opinion that if we (the Charter Commission) had not been crippled by the untimely death of our outstanding leader, Walter Crowell, we could have presented to the public a 100 percent fair and workable charter."

We were not allowed, by law, to study the cities and public schools of the county. Therefore, there was no mention of the school system in the charter. But, the Charter Commission encroached on the authority of the cities, which I feel was unfair and unwise."

"Also, the charter limits the present powers of all the constitutionally elected officers, except that of the County Commission. This, I feel, is also unfair and unwise."

"I am very disappointed in the various organizations of this county, including, but not limited to the Stuart Board of Realtors, Martin County Taxpayers Association, Martin County Builders Association, Chamber of Commerce, formal conservation organizations, and others, for not taking an interest in the composition of the charter, and for not advising the Charter Commission of their views and suggestions. Had we been blessed with their input, and had Walter Crowell lived – well, maybe next time."

Darlson charges that the charter will made radical changes in county government and these changes will mean higher taxes and increased bureaucracy.

It is pointed out by the chairman of the group against the charter that of the 3,067 counties in the nation, only 81 have charter form of governments.

The four counties in Florida with charter forms of governments are Dade, Duval, Volusia and Sarasota.

Voters in other counties have rejected charters similar to the Martin County charter, according to Darlson. They include Collier, Palm Beach and Leon.

Jensen hears Darlson

JENSEN BEACH–The chairman of a group which is opposed to the county charter met with the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee and outlined some reasons why his group is opposed to the charter which will be voted on April 9.

"The County Commission will dictate to the incorporated areas," John Darlson pointed out if the county charter is approved by the voters.

Darlson, Stuart attorney who heads the Conservative Citizens Against the Charter (CCAC) under the charter the constitutional officers would become elected department heads.

And Darlson pointed out to the Jensen Beach Incorporation Committee that under the charter form of government in Volusia County (Daytona Beach), the taxes have increased and that the number of employes have increased in order to provide services required under the charter.

Darlson also noted that for an incorporated area to annex land that it would have to have the permission of the County Commission.

The Jensen Beach Chamber Incorporation Committee Chairman, Art Hansen, said that Darlson had asked to talk to the committee which had slated an organizational meeting at the chamber building.

And the chairman of the Jensen Charter Committee said that his group was not taking a stand one way or the other on the county charter.

School board appointment near

JENSEN BEACH–A recommendation will be made this week to Gov. Reubin Askew for filling the vacancy on the Martin County School Board, Attorney Allan Scott said.

The vacancy was created last week when the Florida Supreme Court ousted Barbara Thomas from the board because she moved from the district area from which she was elected.

Scott is a chairman of Gov. Askew's committee Martin County Advisory Committee which makes recommendations for appointments to vacant posts.

Ben Sears is the other member. He will have three or four people in the running for the board, Scott said.

"We haven't heard from them all."

Scott said that the appointee will be a resident of District 1 (Jensen Beach).

Last year Mrs. Thomas moved from Hutchinson island in District 1 to District 4, leaving District 1 without representation.

The residency issue was raised last year by Scott who was then the school board attorney. He asked for a ruling on whether the school board residency requirement was legal.

Scott presented the request to Gov. Askew who passed it along to Attorney General Robert Shevin. The attorney General asked the Supreme Court to rule on the legal question.

In a 6-0 decision, the Supreme Court declared that the legislature had a clear right under the state constitution to require that the school board members elected from one district continue to reside there during their term of office.

"There is understandable logic and reason for the residency requirement in this position," wrote Justice Hal Deckle.

Mrs. Thomas, elected to the board in 1971, would have been coming up for re-election this November.

She said that she does not have any intentions of running again.

Mrs. Thomas had contended laws that prevented her from retaining her position if she moved were unconstitutional.

Fashion show is postponed

STUART–The April 5 fashion show planned by the Martin County Republican Women's Club, has been postponed. A new date will be set.

Charter forum at FIT Sunday

JENSEN BEACH–What will the proposed Martin County charter do for Martin Countians? How will it affect growth? Will taxes be raised? For answers to these and other questions about the proposed charter before it goes to a vote on Tuesday, April 9, plan to attend an open forum about the charter at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, March 31, in the Florida Institute of Technology's auditorium.

Attending the forum will be members of the charter commission and Stuart City Commission to answer any and all questions about the charter. Remember, this will be the last big opportunity for the public to ask questions about the charter so plan on attending.

That's 7:30 p.m. Sunday, March 31, in the Florida Institute of Technology's auditorium in Jensen Beach. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Retailers are urged to attend meeting

JENSEN BEACH–Clarence Rydell is calling another call today for retail merchants to attend the initial meeting of the Merchants Division of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce to be held in the Chamber office Thursday, April 4.

Rydell, chairman of the Retail Committee explained that the meeting was for the purpose of hearing the thoughts and ideas that might boost and promote the retail activities of the area in a unified effort. "What we need to do is to get together and work together in our common interest, and we can do that with an active and participating group," Rydell said.

"Now is an opportunity for us to get together and see and hear what the merchants are thinking about. I hope that they will all come out and really participate. We need the ideas we can all get behind and that the Chamber can support through the Retail Division."

A hearing is Wednesday

JENSEN BEACH–Universal Adams Inc. and the state Department of Natural Resources (DPC) are seeking an injunction against the company's causeway to the Savannas and a court hearing is scheduled in hopes that they can reach a settlement.

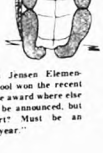
Circuit Court Judge James Alderman has set the postponement last Friday for Wednesday, March 27.

Attorneys from the DPC and the company have been meeting for the past few weeks in an effort to negotiate a settlement, and it appeared earlier last week that they were not close to an agreement and would take up the case where they had left off a few days ago.

Involved in the settlement are four lots of Universal Adams' planned Twin Rivers condominium development on the end of Walton Road. The state is charging a causeway constructed across the Savannas was built without a permit. Universal Adams is contending that the state has no jurisdiction over the area because it is private land.

The dredge and fill operation was halted by the state with a temporary injunction after proving the dredging was affecting the water quality.

Tippy says



"When Jensen Elementary School won the recent high state award where else would it be announced, but in Stuart? Must be an election year."

Darlson donations

STUART–Donations to the Conservative Citizens Against the Charter total $675, a check at the Martin County clerk's office shows.

Making contributions to the group headed by Attorney John Darlson which is fighting the county charter include:

Julian Bowen, Plant City, office supply salesman, $5; William Dale Anderson, attorney, $100; Charles Foster, Stuart Commissioner and a member of the Charter Commission, $100.

Jo Ann Anderson, Stuart, $25; Woodrow Kanter, real estate, $100, Ocean Breeze Park, $100; William Scott, attorney, $20; Arthur Debon, retired, $100, Darlson, $100, and Krauss and Crane, $50.

Expenditures listed include Jensen Beach Mirror, advertising, $146.25; Northwood Silkscreen Printing, West Palm Beach, $170; and Stuart News, advertising, $172.

Artist of the month

Dorothy Elliott has 'always painted'

BY RUTH BOWMAN

[illegible] BEACH Mrs. Dorothy Elliott of Ocean Breeze Park in Jensen Beach is Artist of the Month during April.

"I have always painted," Mrs. Elliott said, "but I never took it seriously until my husband retired." She studied from two very prominent artists in Winnipeg years ago but didn't do much painting until she and husband, Tom, came here in 1966. Tom is a retired divisional auditor for T. Eaton Co. He helps his wife by making her frames.

The Elliotts live here six months of the year and during the summers they go to their island "Lake in the Woods" in northwest Ontario, Canada.

"We own one of the Fourteen Thousand Islands," Mrs. Elliott said.

They have three children, sons Don and Ted and daughter Lynne. All live in Canada and are married. There are eight grandchildren.

Hobbies for the artist include painting all kinds of Tamocraft, ceramics, and shuffling. They both belong to the Ocean Breeze Shuffleboard Club. She also loves to walk on the beach, picking up shells for her handicraft work. She is a member of Art Associates of Martin County, Inc. and Jensen Beach Art League.

Favorite subjects for paintings are flowers and landscapes. Locally Mrs. Elliott has studied under Don Heuchin, Marguerite Duston and Madelene Rehesser.

ARTIST—Mrs. Dorothy Elliott of Ocean Breeze Park [illegible] Beach Artist of the Month. Mrs. Elliott, who is [illegible] above working on her patio, prefers painting landscapes and flowers. Born in Surrey, England, she and her husband Tom spend six months in Jensen Beach and six months at their home in Ontario.

PRESIDENT ED HARVEY points with pride to the new dropped ceiling in the meeting room and dining hall at the Pioneer Occupational Center. Materials and labor for the job were contributed by members of the Martin County Builders Association. Inspecting the job and admiring the new, fresh look in the room, are the Center's Executive Director Ira Radtke and Charles Groome, President of Jensen Flooring.

...etters to the editor

...r member of the recently ... Martin County Charter ..., I would like to assure you ... readers that the proposed ... is not a work of fiends or the ... mad liberals or looming ... mad conservationists ... a thoroughly researched and ... document. The proposed Charter ... together by 15 people of varying backgrounds, recommended by the County Commissioners and appointed by the Legislative Delegation.

The Charter Commission was aided and advised by two professional consultants. The National Municipal League members of the public, the county attorney and several other attorneys not on the Commission. Charters from other Florida counties were studied in depth. It was not an assignment entered into lightly by any member of the Commission.

The proposed Martin County Charter is a basis for good sensible, practical operating procedure for county government. Actually, this Charter does not essentially change the present form of government but spells out in one relatively short and concise document the operating procedure for county government. Naturally it is not perfect. What is? It can be changed by amendment. It protects Martin County and its municipalities from State Legislation by special interest group pressures. It gives the people of the county and its municipalities home rule and responsibility for their own business, plans and well-being.

Jean Martin Hupfel

To the Editor

You have no idea how surprised and delighted my husband and I were to receive your very thoughtful gift copy of the Jensen Beach Mirror, especially since we will be spending our vacation at the Tradewinds in Jensen Beach. While there we will be making our plans to buy a mobile home at Spanish Lakes to retire there the Lord willing, in October of '74.

We were very pleased to read all about your town and the activities going on there since Spanish Lakes is not too far away.

Thank you again for your thoughtfulness, and we may drop in to your office while we are there in July to thank you personally.

Mrs Wm. W. Frank

To the Editor:

This concerns a near miss which could have been a disaster for Martin County and would have been but for some alert readers of legal notices in the Stuart News. It was the kind of disaster that will be impossible if we enact the proposed Martin County charter. To me it is THE most important reason for voting YES in favor of the charter.

FACT: For four years Martin County Commissioners had been turning down repeated appeals from the rotunda developers to rezone their 22,000 acres of swamp land to permit building of a "City in the Round." Our commissioners were supported and encouraged by civic groups, conservationists and us plain folk who have gathered thousands of petitions, sent telegrams, written letters and attended hearings.

QUESTION: Is this not clear evidence that just about every citizen of Martin County did not want a mid-city of 50,000 that inevitable would mean higher taxes for schools, roads and other services, overcrowded beaches and polluted waterways?

FACT: On February 10, 1972 a legal advertisement was published in the Stuart News by Rotunda Water Conservation District, a new better sounding name, giving notice of their intention to apply to the STATE legislature for a special act which would give extensive governmental powers to the Rotunda District Commissioners.

QUESTION: Wasn't this a cute ploy to "end run" the Martin County commissioners by going over their heads to Tallahassee?

FACT: This maneuber was so timed that the county had but a few days to register its opposition. Had such opposition not been expressed, the state legislature might well have passed the act as a matter of routine. Fortunately, a deluge of telegrams, phone calls and letters from county commissioners and citizens alerted the Martin County representatives in Tallahassee to the county's opposition and the application was not acted upon.

QUESTION: What is to prevent a future such maneuver from just sneaking by?

FACT: The home rule provision in the charter would have put the matter squarely in the hands of the county commission not in far off Tallahassee where the needs, hopes and wishes of the local community may be little understood.

QUESTION: Is this not the main reason most of the opposition to the charter comes from developers and other commercial interests who think our commissioners are being too tough in their efforts to control the rate and quality of growth in Martin County?

FACT: Attorney John Darlson, spokesman for the group against the charter, makes quite a point of the fact that only four of the 67 counties in Florida have adopted charter government.

QUESTION: What is the logic in that? Does it say Martin County should not be the fifth to take this important step to put the control of the county's future in the hands of the county's residents?

Your vote FOR the county charter is a vote for more responsive, more efficient government.

To The Editor

I wish to commend you on your new "Public Notices" section, which gives legal ads the attention they deserve instead of using them for fillers. Too often newspapers look upon legal ads only as revenue producers and forget the public function they serve on our legal system.

In Martin County...
We're helping it happen!

Our business is money. But, as responsible citizens of our community, we also believe our business is service.

If you've visited the Stuart Chamber of Commerce office lately, you probably noticed a marked improvement in its appearance. As the official information and greeting facility for Stuart, it has been the first impression of this area for many visitors and new residents. And, until its recent face-lift, it was not an impressive first impression.

When the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce decided to renovate the building, they needed financial help. The Chamber leases the building and the only collateral for the loan was the "good word" of the Chamber's officers.

At First National, that was plenty good enough for us. We were delighted to help with the face-lift on the Stuart Chamber of Commerce.

Like any of the civic organizations that we, or our officers, belong to, just paying our dues is not enough.

For those projects that make a positive contribution, First National is always anxious to be of assistance. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you and our community.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "the bank that grew up with Martin County." We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of "helping it happen" for Martin County's future.

Attention Everyone!! Friday, March 22 from 9-1 p.m. there will be a Sadie Hawkins dance. Girls you know what this means, don't you? Get busy and ask the man you want to take. You don't get this chance very often. The price is 75 cents per person. Music will be provided by Bunch Punch.

Mrs. Geeben retires

JENSEN BEACH–The Lydia Circle of Jensen Beach Christian Church met Wednesday, March 20.

Mrs. Zulpha Salyards was in charge of the devotional and lesson hour and the business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Dorothy Geeben.

After serving for two years, Dorothy retired. She installed the officers for the next year, president, Mrs. Zylpha Slayards, secretary, Mrs. Genevieve Hensley, and treasurer, Mrs. Florette Bartlett.

The work session was making Easter favors, to be given away. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, April 17, at 2 p.m.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE NINETEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT IN AND FOR MARTIN COUNTY, FLORIDA
PROBATE DIVISION
IN REGARD TO THE ESTATE OF
WILLIAM L. HAMILTON, Deceased
NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION
TO ALL PERSONS HAVING CLAIMS OR DEMANDS AGAINST SAID ESTATE
You are hereby notified that the administration of the estate of WILLIAM L. HAMILTON, deceased, late of Martin County, Florida, is pending in the Circuit Court of Martin County, Florida, Probate Division, the address of which is the Martin County Courthouse, Stuart, Florida, that the personal representative of said estate is RALPH HAMILTON, and that the address of the personal representative and the name and address of the personal representative's attorney are set forth below.
All persons having claims or demands against said estate are required, within three months from the date of the first publication of this notice, to file with the clerk of said court a written statement of any claim or demand they may have. Each claim or demand must state the place of residence and post office address of the claimant, the nature and amount of the claim or demand, and if the claim or demand is not due, the date when it will become due. If the claim or demand is contingent or unliquidated, the nature of the uncertainty shall be stated. If the claim or demand is secured, the security shall be described. The claimant shall deliver sufficient copies of the claim or demand to the clerk to enable the clerk to mail one copy to each personal representative.
All persons interested in the estate to whom a copy of this notice of administration has been mailed are notified that any objections they may have that challenge the validity of the decedent's will, the qualifications of the personal representative, venue, or jurisdiction of the court are required to be filed with the clerk of said court within three months from the date of the first publication of this notice.
All persons having claims or demands against said estate are notified that the failure to file their claims or demands within the time period set forth in section 733.702 of the Florida Probate Code will bar any claim or demand against the estate.

First come, first served

Kavanaugh pulling politics

Wants action

PORT ST. LUCIE–If there are strings to be pulled, Port St. Lucie Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh is the man to do the pulling.

"I don't know whether it has been procrastination, lack of interest, or what have you on the part of the post office department, but now I want to see somebody move," Kavanaugh said.

The mayor has launched an all out attack on the post office department following the notification that the sub-post office located in the Country Store would be closed effective March 31.

The post office branch has been operated at the Country Store in the country club community for the past three years under the sponsorship of General Development Corporation (GDC).

Just last Friday Kavanaugh made several contacts in Washington and received promises of powerhouse pushes on the issue.

The mayor said he is going to be in touch with Memphis, the postal supervising office for this whole area.

Since whatever they do will involve another delay, I am going to submit a special request to reinvoke the original contract three to six months by which time we would expect to have some information on what they are going to do," he said.

"With GDC's word they will go along on the contract," Kavanaugh said. "This will keep us going until we can get a fairly firm decision on what the post office plans to do whether they want to rent space offered or whether they want to construct a new building."

Although GDC asked for a termination, they have agreed to extend the contract one more time until the post office department can make arrangements to locate a classified postal facility in the area.

I am also getting information off immediately to Bafalis and Gurney," the mayor said.

L.A. "Skip" Bafalis is the U.S. Representative for this district and Edward Gurney, Republican, is Florida's Senior Senator.

According to the mayor and Robert Seeley, vice president and general manager of Port St. Lucie, the postal officials have been talking since 1968 about putting a classified station in the Industrial Park area.

But this has never gone beyond the talking stage, Seeley said. This is not the first time GDC has extended the contract, but action on the part of the postal officials has been nil.

Mayor Kavanaugh said that when the sub-post office was put in the country store a full-post office was promised as soon as the density was here.

That time has come, Kavanaugh said, now I want to see somebody move."

Fire station plans on drawing board

PORT St. Lucie– Plans for the new fire station in Port St. Lucie are now on the drawing board according to Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh.

Architect has been hired by the city following the St. Lucie Fire Board's decision to accept the proposal whereby the city would have some guarantee the station would be manned if it were completed before the White City station, slated for the October 1 deadline.

Since they have agreed to man the first station constructed, I want to get things going right away. We are going to build it and the sooner the better."

The architect, Carl W. Evert started on the plans last week. Evert just recently completed a design of a station to be located at the Vero Beach Airport.

Kavanaugh and the St. Lucie County Fire Chief have discussed certain things about the structure and the plans.

We have that pretty well in line–the number of men, rooms, the beds and all the facilities that are needed including the type of building. The architect will also be working with them," the mayor said.

There is no doubt in the mayor's mind that the Port St. Lucie station will be the first completed.

I am hoping the plans will be completed within a short month," he said. "Once the board approves them and I am satisfied with the approval, then we will immediately advertise for contracts.

From the very beginning, Kavanaugh was dead set against the Oct. 1 deadline.

"I have been involved in these things before and I am aware of what can happen to you," he said, in expressing his satisfaction with the first finished-first manned basis.

As the proposal stands, the City of Port St. Lucie will furnish the necessary land, pay for the construction of the station, furnish a rescue vehicle and handle the construction bids and contracting to get the station in Port St. Lucie. The construction costs are to be repaid to the city in three installments, interest free, commencing one year after the station is in operation.

FPL annexation, zoning passed

PORT ST. LUCIE– The Port St. Lucie City Council approved ordinances last night which annexed a 15-acre tract of land owned by Florida Power & Light Company.

Approved on the second reading was ordinance 74-4 which provides for the annexation of the FP&L tract into the City of Port St. Lucie and ordinance 74-5 providing for the change in zoning from agricultural to industrial.

Genie Van Turen, FP&L's Stuart manager, said it was the intention of FP&L to use the 15-acre tract for the construction of the Walton service center.

This service center, he said, will provide a place for the work forces, approximately 50 employees, with the associated vehicles and storage space.

According to power company authorities, the new center is needed to handle operations growth between service centers now located in Stuart and Ft. Pierce.

Prior to voicing his approval, Councilman Lawrence Kimmel made it clear that the City would not be obligated to provide an access road into the area, which is bordered on three sides by the Industrial Park.

When Van Turen said the access road would present no problem, the council moved to approve the ordinances.

Construction is expected to start this year.

Ordinance clean-up day

PORT ST. LUCIE– Due to the ever increasing workload on the Port St. Lucie City Council, a resolution was passed last Tuesday establishing regular working sessions.

The Council will hold workshop sessions on the first and third Tuesday of each month at the Port St. Lucie City Hall, effective immediately. The meetings have been scheduled for 8 a.m.

Vice Councilman Kenneth Thompson explained the five week months. City Attorney Rupert Smith said, "That will provide the council with a day of rest before action the council.

APPROVED a resolution providing for the establishment of a planning and zoning committee. Councilman Lawrence Kimmel will chair the committee, which will include City Attorney Rupert Smith and Kenneth Miller, a Vero Beach firm with General Development interests.

APPROVED on the second reading ordinance 74-7 which sets the salaries of the mayor and city councilmen. The monthly salary of the councilmen has been established at $300 each, the mayor at $400. Under the Home Rule Act, the specific salaries have been set. The ordinance will become effective immediately.

Smith pointed out that prior to this time councilmen were paid $50 per meeting with compensation for additional jobs and assignments performed.

APPROVED Ordinance 74-6, which Smith pointed out would upgrade the zoning by increasing the minimum living area for a one-story, single family residence from 600 sq. ft. to a required 800 sq. ft. Fifty percent of a screened porch and enclosed garage can be considered as living area.

Announcing that the pool heaters had been turned on by General Development Utilities, Seeley extended his thanks to the residents of Port St. Lucie for their cooperation in helping to conserve the gas.

City toots own horn

PORT ST. LUCIE– The City Council agreed last Tuesday to have 5,000 information booklets published. These books are designed to familiarize the newcomer with the city of Port St. Lucie and its facilities.

Vice Mayor Frank Boardsley, chairman of the project, said the booklets will provide the newcomer with much information about the city. The contents will include such items as telephone numbers, local services available, a brief description of the city ordinances of most interest to the average citizen, zoning ordinances explaining permits and zoning regulations, the method of voting, a brief history of the city and even what to wear.

It's surprising the number of people who stop by the city hall every day to ask for such information," Boardsley said.

Much time would be saved here in the city office if the girls could hand the visitor a booklet and a city map.

There will be no paid advertising included in the books. They will be published and distributed through the city hall as a public service.

The 5,000 booklets will be printed by Russell and Schmoyer for a cost of $975, a cost which the committee felt is very reasonable, Boardsley said.

Mrs. Mueller, city clerk, asked the various clubs, organizations, schools and churches to submit the pertinent information to the city hall.

Although the council approved the publication, it was decided to postpone the final preparations for at least a month until the new telephone numbers have been issued.

Practice game warmup for Babe Ruth season

PORT St. Lucie– In a warmup session prior to the season opener, the two Port St. Lucie Babe Ruth teams will play a practice game at Sportsman's Park, Saturday, March 30, at 2 p.m. Optimist vs Ideal Sports Shop.

The Babe Ruth season will officially open with a double header scheduled for April 6 at Sportsman's Park.

The first game, Maule vs Optimist, will get underway at 2 p.m.

The second game of the scheduled double header will feature Shultz Chevrolet vs Ideal Sports Shop. Starting time is set for 4 p.m.

Port St. Lucie has two teams in the Fort Pierce Babe Ruth League and this is the first year the local teams have been able to play their home games at Sportsman's Park. The league is comprised of ten teams.

BUNKO THURSDAY

PORT ST. LUCIE– Six prizes will be awarded at the Thursday night Bunko party sponsored by Barracks 2936, VFW. Veterans at the Port St. Lucie Marina. Game time is 8 p.m.

The committee in charge includes Cedric Betts, chairman, Leo Malone and Mattie Betts, hostess.

Oratorical finalists are named by Optimists

PORT ST. LUCIE– Mimi Cordaro and Robert Lord were awarded first place trophies in the Optimist Oratorical Contest following the second week of competition.

The finalist competition was held and trophies awarded to the top three contestants in each division last Monday night at St. Andrews Lutheran Church in Port St. Lucie.

Second place in the girls division was awarded to Yvonne Walker of Lincoln Park School, and Dianne Parker a Vero Beach Middle School student, was awarded the third place trophy. Presenting the trophies to the girls was Mrs. Marie Power, president of the Port St. Lucie Optimist Club.

Eddie Hearn placed second in the boys division and Kirk Braxton captured third place. Both boys are students of St. Lucie Middle School. Robert Seeley, vice president and general manager of Port St. Lucie, presented the trophies in the boys division.

In announcing the winners of the contest, Richard Lutherith, co-chairman of the contest, said, "The judging was close and the decision was a difficult one."

Miss Cordaro, a student of Lincoln Park School in Ft. Pierce, and Lord, a Melody Gardens, Rivh student, are eligible to compete in the District Oratorical Contest to be held May 11 in Seminole, Fla.

The winners of the District competition will be awarded a $500 scholarship payable to the school of the winners choice.

Speakers were judged on personal qualities, material organization, delivery, presentation and overall effectiveness.

Judging the girls division were Mrs. Virginia Lutherth, Robert Satchwill, Mrs. Shirley Sams and timekeeper, Charles Gibbons.

Judging the boys division were Edward Dentler, Frank Celentano, Andrew Helseth and timekeeper, Robert Seeley.

T-Ball Saturday

Port St. Lucie– T-Ball registration will be held at Sportsman's Park, Prima Vista Blvd., from 9 to 10 a.m., Saturday, March 30 and April 6.

There will be a $3.00 registration fee, and participants must be 5 to 8 years of age.

Play will begin on registration day and boys must furnish their own gloves.

The T-Ball program is sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Optimist Club.

Top tennis pro takes over courts

PORT ST. LUCIE– Mario Obando, 31, former Costa Rican national champion, has been named head of the St. Lucie County Club tennis courts, according to Bob Bartholomew, general manager.

Obando comes to Port St. Lucie from a similar position as general manager and head tennis pro of the Brighton Henrietta Tennis Club in Rochester, N.Y. He assumed his position Monday.

Born in San Jose, Costa Rica, Obando became a ball boy at the fashionable Costa Rica Tennis Club at age 14, and worked there during his off-duty hours.

He became proficient in the sport and at 18 was invited to play in the Junior Orange Bowl Classic. There he won the Costa Rican National Boys Championship, to be followed that with winning the Costa Rican National Championship in 1960 and 1964.

He was given a four year scholarship at Penn State. Obando became number one player for the university, and was captain of the tennis team in 1968.

Obando went on to become the number one player in collegiate circles in Florida.

While heading up tennis clubs in Rochester, Obando was city champion for four years, and is now ranked 20th in the Eastern U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

"My plan to bring some well known pros and stars to Port St. Lucie for exhibitions, and hope to get some good tournaments for our new eight court facility," Obando said.

He praised the quality of juniors in the area, and said he planned to begin a youth program as soon as he can.

NEW PRO– Mario Obando, 31, has been named tennis professional at St. Lucie Country Club.

Guest speaker was Bill Schwenger, scoutmaster of troop 401 of Ft. Pierce. He presented an excellent speech concerning scouting effect on the community it serves and effects on our next generation.

A pageant of David's life from joining the scouts of Lake Park on January 28, 1969 until his promotion to Eagle Scout was presented by scouts under the direction of Jack Nunn, assistant scoutmaster, who planned the activities of the night.

In addition, David was presented a Beaver Day Mug during the pageant for working at Camp Tanna Keeta with the order of the arrow. He was one of eight arrowmen to receive the award.

And, then the golden moment was at hand.

Art Pittman, committee chairman of Troop 811, bestowed upon David Hall the rank of Eagle Scout. David was one proud young man as his mother pinned the Eagle medal to his uniform.

There was more to follow.

The troop presented David with a plaque symbolizing his struggle to the top. A Mason's Recognition was given by Chris Kalb, followed by a national recognition by Jim Edgar, Sailfish District Scout Executive.

Also, a Lincoln Trail Award medal was presented to David by Bill Schwenger, Clear Lake Camp Director of Camp Tanna Keeta for a historic hike through Washington, D.C.

David made his response to the general assembly. In it he spoke of his responsibility as an Eagle Scout to the community, and of the feeling he shared with other Eagle Scouts throughout the country, only one per cent of all scouts get the Eagle badge.

The closing for the evening was made by the members of Troop 811, and people came to congratulate David at the conclusion of the ceremony, which he said he'd likely to forget.

GRATEFUL—Eagle Scout David Hall shared poise in manner and speech as he thanked parents guests in his Eagle court of honor.

Versatile salad

JENSEN BEACH–We all like versatile dishes to serve, don't we? If we plan a cool meal and the weather turns even cooler, it's always good to be able to pop the cold dishes into the oven and serve them hot.

I've done this with potato salad several times. Just pile it into a baking dish and heat until it is bubbly. Another salad that can be used as a hot vegetable is the very popular THREE BEAN SALAD.

Most of us are used to having Three Bean Salad served cold, but try it hot for a change. And possibly some of our readers are not acquainted with this good recipe, so we're using it this week.

THREE BEAN SALAD

1 can kidney beans, drained
1 can green beans, drained
1 can yellow wax beans, drained
½ cup chopped onions (or onion rings separated)
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped green peper
1 small can chopped pimento

Toss lightly with a dressing made of ½ cup salad oil

½ cup vinegar
¾ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt, pepper to taste

Refrigerate overnight to marinate. This salad keeps for several days. It can be varied by adding canned drained green peas, baby lima beans, whole kernel corn or garbanzo beans, the round white meaty canned beans which are Spanish Cuban oriented.

When we lived in Key West years ago we used to buy a concoction from street vendors. The goodies were little balls of a mixture of garbanzo beans and onions, highly spiced, then deep fat fried until they were crisp. No one within smelling distance of these little tidbits could resist them. I was never conscious of garbanzos until we lived in Florida, and now whenever I hear about them or see them, I think of Key West and the street vendors there.

Summer program is announced

HOWEY-IN-THE-HILLS–howey Academy is offering its highly successful two-part summer session June 15 - August 2, featuring a flexible academic recreation program to qualified students in grades 4-12.

This central Florida co-educational preparatory school will provide a special recreation program, set apart from the well established academic curriculum, and students may enroll for from two to seven weeks.

All Howey facilities will be in use this summer, including stables, private beach, and art center. Professional coaching will be available in team sports, tennis, golf, skiing, and horseback riding, with a student horse show and art show scheduled at the conclusion of the summer program.

Any part of the recreation program may be combined with academics by students who need individualized instruction for remedial, make-up or extra credit work. Up to two units of credit may be earned during the seven-week academic session, one-half credit may be earned by attending four academic weeks.

Enrollment is limited and officials urge early application in light of the announced wide-spread cutback of public recreation programs predicted for this summer.

Drama Club presents 'Charley's Aunt'

STUART–The Drama Club of Martin County High School will present "Charles's Aunt" at the Lyric Theatre Friday and Saturday, April 4-5 at 8 p.m. Student night will be April 4. Students through 12th grade will be admitted on student night. It is suggested that high school students bring their I.D. cards.

Rick Allen is assisting with the directing of the play. The Drama Club's sponsor is Marilyn Rinear, an English teacher at MCHS.

Actors taking park are Walt Woods, Tawaybe Decker, Connie Kiele, Linda Walden, Ann Noble, Allan Higbee, Tommy Rogers, John Vettel, Ingrid Johnson and John Salamone.

V.F.W. news

BY CHUCK BENDER

This past weekend we were in Ocala for the spring round up. The meetings in Ocala gave us a chance to meet with members from all around the state. It was beneficial and educational for those who wanted to know what the V.F.W. is and what it does for veterans.

We were told that we, as a small post, are doing a bang up job. The rest of the state knows that we are here and that we are a very active post.

We would like to welcome new members Frank Deely, Jerry Coons and Charles Albert. This gives us 97 new members and brings our membership to 267. This leaves us 33 short of our goal. With two months to go, with a little effort, we can make it. If you are eligible and would like to join, we sure would like to have you. Stop by the post and let us know.

We are sorry to hear Ed Snyder is home in bed sick. If you get a chance, stop by and see him. Carl Branford is home recuperating from a bout with the flu. Hurry and get better Carl, we miss you.

The Sons of the V.F.W. have changed their meeting to the first Saturday of the month. This past Saturday the boys were picking up cans in the community. They are planning a rock party in the near future, and they plan to plant some pine trees in front of the post. The boys are still very active with their stamp collection.

Coming events. Sunday, March 31, Cootie Scratch, 2 p.m. Wednesday, Apr 3, Auxiliary meeting, Thursday, Apr 4, regular meeting. This meeting will be nominations for the up coming election. The election of new officers will be Thursday, April 18. Let's have a tremendous turn out.

May 11 is the birthday of our most famous member, Capt. Frances Adams veteran of the Spanish American War and World War I. On this day Capt. Adams will be 100 years old. We will have a gigantic birthday party at the post.

SERVICE OFFICER'S REPORT
BY GEORGE HODGE

School enrollment under the G.I. bill reached 2.1 million in fiscal year 1973, a 14 percent jump from last year. The total is a 22 year high for the number of veterans in training. Some 1.2 million veterans were enrolled in college, 756,000 below the college level, and 189,000 in apprentice or other on-the-job training. The VA has now paid 8.1 billion dollars to 4.1 million post Korean conflict veterans. Over 14.3 million veterans have received 27.1 billion dollars for education or training under the various GI bills since WWII.

About 34 percent of the Korean conflict veterans used their GI bill benefits, compared to four percent of the Vietnam veterans. The reason for this is the lag between the end of the Korean conflict and the passage of the current GI bill.

Eligibility for post Korean veterans attending institutions of higher education expires next May 31, while flight, farm or on-the-job training benefits will expire in two years. Veterans have eight years after date of discharge to use their GI bill benefits.

D & M News Notes

MILDRED STINNETT

Stella Dobrowalski has become one of the residents in our Park and immediately joined in our activities by attending the March meeting of the D & M Home Association and by joining Pounds Off class. We are happy to welcome her, and hope she will enjoy us as much as we anticipate enjoying her.

John Sheridon is getting along well in Martin Memorial Hospital and finds that being ill has it compensations. The nurses have been shaving him, even removing his mustache because they assured him it took ten years off his age.

Fran Gehres' mother, Mrs. Mary Finch, who has been with her all winter, caught a nasty virus and was hospitalized. We understand she is recovering nicely.

Jane and Marvin Wininger celebrated their 21st wedding anniversary on the 20th. One of our local artists decorated her bicycle with a "hearts and flowers" poster in honor of the occasion.

Adrian Snyder planned on spending at least ten days with his daughter on Long Island, but the day after the family gathered for the baptism of his great-grandson, he was ready to return to the land of sunshine. He was back within a week and proudly showed us pictures of the big event.

Nonie Crossett, a former resident of our park, attends the "pounds off" group every Tuesday and Friday morning, and likes it so well that rather than miss a session, she brought along her guest, Mrs. Mary Jo Brown of Farmington, Mich., who joined in the exercises and walking with vim and vigor.

Bingo, ladies' blitz, and men's card games flourish in the recreation hall on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights, and the hobby group is well attended on Tuesday afternoons at 1:00.

A treasure gift anytime of the year.

Holiday Out-lines

BY BETTY TAYLOR
334-0624

Marcie and Terry Stacey, Mt. Pleasant, Mich. are spending two weeks with Marcie's parents, the Erett Clark, lot 196. They were introduced to friends at an informal gathering hosted by Ellen Percy and Liz Faust. Among those present were Helen and Bill Trudy and Nelson Beatty, Ruth Taylor, the Staceys and Ruperts.

Two couples are now on a short cruise aboard the Drumbeat II to Bimini and expect to spend a couple of days in Key West before returning to Holiday.

It is with great sadness that I report the death of members of our big family. Mary Jacobsen, lot 184, passed away in Florida after going home to see his doctor. The mother of Johnny Carson, lot 406, died early Sat. morning. And her many friends all greatly miss Florence Nolan who was stricken with a heart attack and died early Saturday morning. Our sincere sympathy of us all goes out to Nancy and friends of these park folks.

+ + +

Susan Heger and her daughter Tanja, are Susan's parents, Lee and Marvin Heger for a few days. Marvin and Lee have also joined the owners' rank with the purchase of lot 82 from his uncle's estate.

+ + +

Granville Myrtle Vincent are staying in Florida until early April.

+ + +

Dixie and Erling Johnson, lot 194, have son Ron, Cindy and Ronnie, Jr., visiting them. The Johnson's daughter, Barbara and granddaughters Betsy Ann and Heidi Sue are also visiting.

+ + +

The item will be of interest to our H.O. family as well. All you golfers try to remember this. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Downes of Burlington, Ontario, staying at Holiday for the winter, each had a hole-in-one while playing at the Holidays Golf Club. Philip Sweeney had his on the 13, or the 15th hole, and his wife, Rosalie, had her on March 11 on the 7th hole. Mrs. Alys Scott was playing with them and witnessed both unusual shots.

+ + +

Birthdays: March 29 a group from the park went to Hilltop House for a combination farewell dinner to departing friends and a birthday celebration for Lena Black, who adds a year to her age (age 2.) So far this group is made up of Carls and Les Ullmann, Bert and Ruth Latimer, Charles and Carrie Smith, Bill Laing and Myrtle Ehlenger, Lena Belle and Bob Black.

+ + +

Alys tells me that her brother Bill Scott and wife Dorothy spent the day with them in the park. They have sold their home on Lake Worth and Bertha and Roy Lamon, for the deep-sea fishing. They all had a real knockout, with fish up to 65 lbs. Len Black has been given a citation for a black fin tuna.

+ + +

Mary and Dave McCarthy hosted a party in honor of former resident Ann Wright's birthday, and the 58th birthdays of Marie and Archie Bright, which is March 23. Twenty-five were attended.

+ + +

Birthday scores for March 21 were Ruth Rose, 3060; Harry Smith, 2960; Katherine Schoke, 2840; and Peg Nelson, 2830.

Ruth and Vergual Smith had a weekend visit from their daughter Sharon and her friend Anne Keast, from Flint, Mich. The girls stayed for dinner.

+ + +

Sunday Brunch at the Hilton last week was attended by Gene and Bill Lane, Jo Perry, Maureen Holmes, Liz Petrea and Bill Chaisson, Camille and Joe LaRose, Lisette and George Hyde, and Gil Hill, Trudy and Nelson Beatty, Helen and Winton Olson, Ann and Mile Schoak and Jeanne and Rene Beauchamp.

+ + +

Jeanette Walsh, cousin of Dick Clark, visited the Clarks over the past weekend. Mrs. Walsh lives in Lake Worth.

+ + +

My reports all agree that the Hibiscus Ball on Friday was a bang-up affair, with everyone enjoying the music and dancing.

Congratulations are in order to Edna and Wally Spencer on their 43rd anniversary on March 28, and to Ada and Pete Grauel on their 51st on March 30. Eugenia Borlter celebrates her birthday on March 28. Thelma "Chum" Abel on the 29th, and Shirley Whitfield on March 31. On April 2 Lena Black has a birthday, and Fern and Orville Murphy mark another marital milestone.

+ + +

Grace and Bob Murphy said goodbye to grandson Shawn and his parents on Sunday. The place will seem empty without them, won't it Grace?

+ + +

Reports from Lauderdale and Hollywood indicate Art Nagy is up and about again after his bout with the flu.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Teal, Boonville, N.Y. visited H.O. for a week. Judy and Howard are friends of the Byrle Jacksons, also from Boonville. Other friends from home visiting the park and the Jacksons are Jessie and John Howland, who plan on staying for a week, perhaps two.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Klaus Hauser, Turin, N.Y. will be here through the month of April.

+ + +

Geneve and Averil Ramsey, St. Albans, W.Va. left for home, intending to visit various friends on the way back.

+ + +

Church services this week had Dick Dublon handling the layman's portion. Rev. Gunsalus preached his usual inspirational sermon in spite of the heat, which the air conditioner didn't seem to dispel.

+ + +

At bingo on March 23, Carrie Lang won two games, as did husband Bill Lang. Single games were won by Arlis Bright, Helen Evans, Muriel Ardizoni, Bertha Lamon, and Bill Bell. Al Schneider won the special coverall, while N.K. Beatty won the final coverall. The good neighbor game was won by Greta Updike, with Loren Updike and Mrs. Fielder on either side of her.

+ + +

Eight residents went to dinner at the Royal Lion on Saturday evening. Remo and Eda Bianco, Estelle and Len Shephard, Eloise and John Frisbee and Dolly and Byrle Jackson.

+ + +

This far into March, the park usually is thinning out--not this year. Some residents are leaving, but the spots are being filled as fast as they are emptied, it seems. Now that the gas threat has been partially lifted, folks who had planned to come earlier in the year are coming now before the season ends.

+ + +

Thirty-eight residents of Holiday Out had a real fun day on the March 14 Disney World bus trip. Unfortunately, 14 who signed up for the second bus were disappointed, since we must have 35 to reserve a bus. Late requests for a spot aboard indicate both buses could have been filled. Ila Taylor, recreation director, reminds, had folks registered in time, none would have been disappointed. On these trips, as well as any of our planned activities, prior committment is necessary. Help your recreation committee do a better job for you by early reservations.

+ + +

Wally Spencer and Fran Wode celebrated their birthday on March 21, while Judy and Carl Tyler chose the same day for their wedding 27 years ago. On the 23rd, Grace Carson has a birthday, and Marie and Archie Bright celebrate 58--that's no typing error--years of marriage. Peggy Ray's birthday was on March 24. Freda Weintraub's was the 25th. Hearty congratulations to them all.

+ + +

Some of the park ladies joined those from other parks and went to the style show at the Manatee Yacht Club the other day.

+ + +

Anna and Hugo Hallstrom, Satellite Beach, visited with their friends Betty Olive and George Taylor last Sunday. The Hallstroms were married 54 years ago on March 18. They joined the gang at Long's barbecue grill for one of those fabulous Sunday pot-lucks.

Anne and John Jedora, staying on Carl Edmondson's lot, came back last Sunday from a flying trip to Princeton, N.J. They picked up their daughter Helen in Miami and brought her up with them for a visit. The Jedoras report the weather up north as "not too bad, but nothing like as nice as here."

+ + +

Many items were discussed at length in the March meeting of the Board of Directors. The meeting was recessed for lunch, and again until Sunday afternoon so as to cover everything on the agenda. The proposed rental program was presented for discussion. Aubrey Jenkin's resignation because of illhealth necessitated his place on the Board being filled for the unexpired period. After a vote, Bert Turner was elected to fill Mr. Jenkin's seat on the board. This will please most owners, since Bert had the next highest total votes at the annual meeting.

+ + +

Isobel and Wellington Kennedy are chairmen for Friday's dance, which they are calling the "Hibiscus Ball". Don't forget to get your tickets EARLY at the rec hall. No tickets sold at the door.

Andre Aubin has his mother and brother John visiting him and Jacqueline. Let's hope Florida shows them her sunny side.

Lawrence E. Smith and family, Mt. Pleasant, Mich. are in for their Easter vacation. They are visiting Mr. Smith's parents, Vergual and Harry Smith.

+ + +

Bridge scores last week were: Myrtle Ehlenger, 3830; Sophie Holler, 3750; and Peg Nelson, 3330.

+ + +

Edna and Joe Vansant are busy, busy getting their new Carriage set up just as they want it, and showing it off to friends.

+ + +

Bill and Petrea Chaisson are also busy settling into their new Holiday Rambler.

Marcia and "Rupe" Rupert are tickled pink to have their daughter Marcia and her husband Terry Stacy with them for a short visit. The young folks are revelling in the warm sunshine.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Armstrong, No. 436, had a pleasant surprise when Roy, Jr. in Miami on business, paid them a flying visit.

+ + +

Dot and Bill Blair paid off some social obligations with a coffee and donut breakfast for about 40 friends last Thursday morning.

+ + +

Mary and Maurice Abearn have acquired lot 276 from Burt Jones, and Doris and Ray Neills have bought lot 228 from Ray Loveday. Welcome to the Neilses as new owners.

+ + +

Our week-ending Miamians, the James Falls and the Porters, enjoyed the nice weather. The Porters are busy with preparations for their elder daughter's wedding in May.

+ + +

Joan, Roger, Leslie and Danny Byrne have taken lot 276 for a ten day stay during the Easter school break.

+ + +

Mrs. Wilma Steslick, daughter of Osa and Horace Taylor, is visiting her parents. The Taylors spent the winter as guests of their friends, Doris and P.A. Berry. The Berrys are presently in the park and the Taylors have moved to lot 310 for the rest of their stay before returning to Mich.

+ + +

I hear Delores Brink has been hospitalized for an operation. Let's hope she mends fast and is back with us in a hurry.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Lofton DeVore, lot 88, entertained at a champagne party last Wed. evening. Guests gathered to watch the ceremony of "stepping the mainmast" of the model H.M.S. Cutty Sark. Mr. DeVore, the model's builder, was ably assisted by "Admiral" Norm Markham. A poem in honor of the occasion, written by Isobel and Wellington Kennedy, was presented to Jane and Lofty DeVore. Guests included Kay and Ray Kileen, Alys Scott, Isobel and Wellington Kennedy, Lois and Norm Markham, Gwen and Bill Lane, Gert and Phil Sweeney, and Eleanor and Fred Greenough. A Nautical time was had by all.

+ + +

Bev and Gary Hall have been hosts to Gary's brother Harold visiting from Calif. for the past three weeks. He flew home last Monday.

+ + +

Geneva and Averil Ramsay went to Merritt Island to visit friends last Monday.

Sally and George Fix left for home last Tuesday, as did the Horace Taylors. Sorry to see them go.

+ + +

Bingo winners last week. Single games, tie between Mildred Stall and Lucile Chilton, Elmo Smith, Helyn Kay, John Crocker, Pat Chilton, Violette Webb. The Good Neighbor game was won by Dwight Swofford with Bertie Swofford and Virginia Inman on either side. One person was down to a single number, but the special coverall was not won on 53 numbers. The final coverall was won by John Crocker.

Jeanne and Rene Beauchamp, Ottawa, Canada, are in the park for five weeks on their lot 185.

+ + +

Sorry to hear that Art Nagy has been down with the flu, and hope he is recovered by now.

+ + +

Al and Linda Korn had as their guest Gary Reed, Lexington, Ky., before he started a new career with IBM at Boulder, Colo. They were entertained with a punch party and cook-out in his honor. Those attending were Edna and Joe Vansant, Erma and Gordon St. Louis, Jean and Ralph Taylor, Olive and George Taylor and Judy Taylor.

Mirror newspaper survey is planned for next week

JENSEN BEACH—The fourth Jensen Beach-Port St. Lucie Mirror "Certified Newspaper Survey" will be included in The Mirror next week according to Richard E. Campbell, publisher.

Over $300 in cash awards will be included in prizes inducing Mirror readers to fill out the form that will indicate community ideals and buying habits of the people of Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie.

The form survey will be included in both newspapers for several weeks to get a representative sampling of the readership. Material from the survey is used to seek new businesses for the area to assist the Mirror in editorial campaigns according to the wishes of the residents and to give demographic information that is not available on either Port St. Lucie or Jensen Beach.

The survey is conducted by the Institute of Modern Marketing, of Boynton Beach. It is conducted every two years by the research group and all forms are held in strict confidence by I.M.M. and are destroyed after being compiled according to Dr. Rogger, head of the I.M.M.

Each form will be printed so that it can be folded into a postage paid envelope-size letter to be stapled and dropped into the mail. The forms will be collected at The Mirror and Dr. Rogger will select the prize-winners from the unopened survey forms.

The survey will be a list of questions concerning the buying and living habits of residents. It will be a guide to marketing for our advertisers and will help us promote future shopping services in our approach to businesses interested in moving into our area.

A proper response should be at least ten percent of our readership," he added. We want to know that people buy what they want to buy and why they buy. It should give us an idea of the spendable income in Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie.

The charge that the charter will double the millage is simply false," McQuigg said.

Home Rule should mean more power for the people of Martin County and more responsive government," Mrs. Hupfel said.

On the issue of rights of elected county officials versus powers granted to the county administrator under the charter, Mrs. Margaret Hurchalla, charter commission member said:

The charter guarantees that elected officials will be elected in the same way they are now. Only a county wide vote on a charter amendment could change that.

These duties will remain the same except that the supervisor of elections will take on the duty of registrar of candidates and the clerk will issue certain county duties in line with a state reorganization of her office.

The pros and cons of the charter which will be voted on April 9 were debated at FIT and only 30 persons attended the meeting.

Planning seminar Saturday at FIT

JENSEN BEACH—An all day planning seminar will be held at Florida Institute of Technology Saturday, April 6.

The seminar will be held in cooperation with Pratt, Markwick and Mitchell, the planning firm which made a study of Hutchinson Island for the County Commission.

The public is invited to attend the seminar which will be attended by county officials and advisory boards.

Tax relief predicted

JENSEN BEACH Some tax relief is expected to be voted in this session of the State Legislature, State Rep. Charles Nergard predicted Friday.

The St. Lucie County legislator who represents Jensen Beach area said he expects some legislation that would give some relief in property taxes and an expansion of the homestead exemption for senior citizens.

"I think we will spend a lot of time on the budget," Nergard said. The agencies should be able to justify every penny that they ask for.

Noting that there has been a big increase in state personnel, Nergard said. "There isn't any need for state people.

We have been over funding state universities," Nergard observed, noting recent stories about alleged padding of enrollment figures at tax supported universities.

Nergard said that college professors should spend the required time in classrooms.

The veteran legislator also observed that if the House supports a state growth policy early in the session that it will move around as a central issue.

Nergard said he supports a statewide growth policy but one with local implementation. He said the state should set growth guidelines and leave local governments free to act within them.

Nergard also expects legislation in the areas of veterans affairs saying that the Division of Veterans Affairs should be elevated to departmental status.

He said there should be legislation creating nursing homes for veterans, pointing out that federal money is available 65 percent with the state providing 35 percent.

This would relieve nursing homes for other people," he said.

Nergard says that his telephone at the Jensen Mirror office would be discontinued while he is in legislative session but that persons may call his office in Tallahassee collect for the next two months.

He said the number to call is 904-488-1798, and that he would return the call if he is not at his office at the time he is called.

Negard seeks resident opinions

JENSEN BEACH State Rep. Charles Nergard has issued his annual questionnaire to find out how residents of the Jensen Beach area feel about some issues that will be considered by this session of the State Legislature which opened Tuesday, April 2.

Rep. Nergard who represents the Jensen Beach area in the Legislature, asks residents to vote "yes, no, or undecided" on nine questions and mail their reply to his office in Tallahassee.

Rep. Chuck Nergard, Dial 76, Room 329, House Office Building, Tallahassee, Fla. 32304.

The nine questions are:

1. Do you support increasing homestead exemption for senior citizens over 65 from $5,000 to $10,000 on city and county taxes? Loss of revenue to local government being replaced with state funds.

2. Do you support ratification of the proposed "equal rights amendment"?

3. Do you support prohibiting the sale of cheap hand guns" Saturday night specials"?

4. Do you support authorizing local government to levy an impact fee to be applied to new development?

5. Do you support all political candidates seeking elective office to fully disclose their income tax return, and furnish a net worth statement on a yearly basis?

6. Do you support giving the Department of Natural Resources upon approval by the Florida Cabinet eminent domain authority for purchasing land deemed to be "environmentally endangered"?

7. Do you support revamping Florida's administrative procedure act so as to limit the rule making authority of appointed officials?

8. Do you support reducing the maximum ad valorem tax for schools from 10 to 8 mills" "Loss of revenue to district school board being replaced with state funds.

9. What do you feel is the most pressing issue to come before the 1974 Legislature"

FUTURE SCIENTIST Cindy Wethington was one of the kindergarten students from Hobe Sound to visit the Environmental Studies Center in Jensen Beach this week.

UF total is $80,000

JENSEN BEACH Almost $80,000 in cash and pledges has been contributed to the Martin County United Fund, Ken Ferguson UF president said Monday.

Ferguson said that the UF directors are contacting persons and businesses that haven't contributed and are making an effort to wind up the campaign.

This year's goal is $95,000 to aid the participating agencies.

We had kidded about her being a foreign correspondent and I asked that she send at least one story a month. She got off the plane in Bangkok, walked into the newspaper and got her feature job," he added.

By substituting for the editor while he was on vacation, Miss Ross earned a position as editorial writer on the newspaper. She was continually in the forefront with investigative writing, once exposing exploitation of poverty-stricken Thai Muslims by religious travel agencies, and another time exposing hunters who plundered wildlife reserves.

She also covered the war in Cambodia, once working with Pulitzer-prize winning photographer Horst Faas. She described him as being "afraid of his shadow," saying, "he would drop to the ground at the crack of a twig and tell me to get my butt down." She added, "Maybe that's why he stays alive."

Miss Ross returned to the United States, and to Jensen Beach, on a visit last November. She applied in New York for work in the television department of United Press International.

A graduate of the University of Miami, Miss Ross traveled throughout Europe and the Near East, once working for a year on a kibbutz in Isreal tending sheep.

In October, 1969, she walked into the office of Mirror editor Dick Campbell, saying, "I want to be a reporter."

She became a good one.

Ross scholarship fund is being investigated

JENSEN BEACH A journalism scholarship fund or awards program in memory of Claudia Ross is being investigated by The Mirror at the request of the mother of the former Mirror reporter.

Mrs. Ross has received memorial gifts and asked me to look into such a fund," said Richard Campbell, editor of The Mirror. "If there is enough interest, and if we can properly fund the program, The Mirror would be honored to see that The Claudia Ross Memorial Scholarship Fund or Editorial Awards is established.

Miss Ross was murdered last Friday in Bangkok Thailand where she was an editorial feature writer for the Bangkok Post.

John Paul Jones, dean of the College of Journalism and Communications at the University of Florida said Tuesday that he remembered Miss Ross and the articles she wrote for The Mirror, and would be happy to send the necessary information to set up a scholarship grant. An awards program would honor journalists for outstanding writing in the editorial feature field.

Dean Jim Tealey, head of Florida Institute of Technology in Jensen Beach, offered to assist in the selection committee for the scholarship or awards program.

Persons desiring to participate in a memorial to Claudia Ross can send donations to The Claudia Ross Memorial Fund, Jensen Beach Bank, Jensen Beach, Florida.

A decision on the type of memorial will be made when donations to the Ross fund are evaluated.

COG meeting is Thursday

JENSEN BEACH An organizational meeting of the Council of Government (COG) will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 4.

With the exception of St. Lucie County Commission, all government agencies in Martin and St. Lucie counties have adopted COG.

Martin County Commissioner Elmer Powers, who has spearheaded organization of COG, will appear before St. Lucie County Commission April 16 in an effort to gain that commission support of the multi-government council which will consider problems of the two counties.

Martin County Commission, City of Stuart Commission, Fort Pierce Commission and Port St. Lucie Council have approved COG.

Commission to meet Wednesdays

JENSEN BEACH—Beginning with the April 10 meeting, the Martin County Commission will have their official session on the second and fourth Wednesdays.

In the past, the commission has been meeting at 9 a.m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays.

District 1 Jensen Beach Commissioner Ross Philbrick said that the Wednesday sessions would give the commissioners an extra day in the week to prepare for the official session.

Florida Host Sen. Sen. and Mrs. Lawton Chiles stand proudly in front of Florida State [illegible] for Florida visitors in Washington, D.C. The building is the product of [illegible] of Chiles and the donations of interested citizens of Florida.

BY DICK CAMPBELL

WASHINGTON—One year ago, Florida House was a dream of Sen. Lawton Chiles and his wife Rhea. Last week it was open, and was being of service to Florida visitors in the Nation's capitol.

"We have had over 3,100 visitors since the Florida House opened last October, and it looks like we will pass our estimated 50,000 Florida visitors by the end of the first year," said Mike Mullin as we toured the townhouse.

Mullin has been director of Florida House since its beginning, and traveled throughout Florida to build the project, raising funds and gaining support for the brainchild of Sen. Chiles.

Located just across the street from the U. S. Supreme Court building, Florida House has been redecorated, its interior modernized in keeping with the traditional Washington townhouse decor, and painted light tan, a contrast to the dirty brick fronts of the other buildings along Second Street.

Mullin told me that the $125,000 cost of the house and $100,000 in renovation costs had been paid through donations of Florida citizens.

"We have $40,000 in renovation left to pay, and we are getting some fine donations of turn-of-the-century furniture to furnish the house," he added.

A full time expert on tours and reservations for hotel rooms is on duty through each day. Florida residents have been having meetings with their Congressmen, or with others in the upstairs meeting room.

Some visitors come just to sit down and rest awhile, he said.

Under the direction of Rhea Chiles, who serves as president of the Florida House board of trustees, the building has been growing in its assumed goal of serving as a central point for Florida visitors to Washington.

"Just recently," Mullin said proudly, "we had a group of fifteen retarded children come to town. They had no arrangements. We got them a bus, set up tours, and they had a wonderful time. If ever you would want to see a reason for Florida House, that was it."

Mullin put in a plug for more donations, from "a dollar to whatever anyone wants to give, because it is costing about $59,000 a year to operate Florida House, and we operate strictly on donations." Donations can be sent to Florida House, P.O. Box 1643, Washington, D.C. 20013.

As we finished the tour, Sen. and Mrs. Chiles came through the door. Remembering when we had stood on the stairs in the front of the building a year previously, looking at the view of the Capitol Building, and talking of the plans for the building, he broke into a big smile.

"Here it is," he said proudly.

Mrs. Chiles ducked into a side room where they have a makeshift office and place to change and freshen up. She came out beaming, just as proud as her husband of the work that had been accomplished during the past year.

I asked the two to pose in front of the building for an update story on Florida House, and saw a group of newsmen coming up the sidewalk.

One was Jerg Parve, former editor of the Palm Beach Post, today with Channel 10 in Miami.

"What are you doing up here?" Parve questioned.

"What do you mean, up here? This is the hot spot of Florida," I countered.

Everybody smiled.

Attorney Mallory Johnson gave commissioners assurances that safe [illegible] would be provided.

Commissioner James Kiernan opposed the rezoning, pointing that there was not adequate fire protection. He said that a [illegible] is needed west of U.S. 1.

Kiernan said that the closest fire station is in Rio, east of U.S. 1.

Commissioner Ross Philbrick, whose district includes the shopping center site, said the fire protection may leave something to be desired, but for a commercial area, the danger would be to property more than life.

A property owner can protect himself from property losses with insurance, he said.

Ed and Tani Weimer were kept busy entertaining her son Henry Parsons, daughter-in-law Maria and grandson Jeffrey for two weeks. They hail from Toms River, N.J. Happy to arrive in Florida to find the weather so delightful. Hank and Maria enjoyed the Rec Hall activities and goings on. The Luau festivities were more than they had anticipated. Monday Grandma Weimer and the Parsons took a trip to Cypress Gardens to see the water ski show. Must say they had a wonderful day. Too bad "Boppy" Ed Swan table to make it, he had to take care of things at the rec hall.

It's becoming a lonely depleted point with the gradual evacuation of our neighbors toward the north. It doesn't seem to be the nasty unreliable spring weather that's attracting them, but, instead, the spectre of April 15 that's urging them on.

The Wayne Barretts and the Charles Brombergers left a week ago. This Monday found the Ward Irwins and the Boyd Kitts also homeward bound. We will be looking forward to their return next fall.

One of the last social events before the exodus to the north was a combined birthday party for Helen Kitts and Marge Owens. A cocktail party was hosted by the Toad Bowlings and the Bill Greulings in their honor. This was climaxed by a dinner at the Outrigger.

JBWA installs officers

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Women's Association installed officers at the club house on Sugar Hill Road, Jensen Beach, Monday, April 1, preceeded by a pot luck luncheon at noon.

Installed were Hilda Costello, president. Irene Hunter, first vice president. Florence Klose, second vice president. Agnes Bond, treasurer. Edna Bassett, secretary and Edith Beck, corresponding secretary.

Marian Hill and Mildred Jones were installed as three year directors. The immediate past president, Mrs. Mildred Greenland, automatically becomes a one-year director.

Mike Fredericks was installation chairman and Geneva Siebert installing officer. The traditional candle-lighting ceremony designated the continuing life of the association was carried out as Mrs. Seibert charged each officer with her duties.

Preceding the installation, new members who had been accepted during the past year were initiated by Mildren Greenland. These were Mesdames Doris Andreasen, Jo Bowen, Mona Delz, Lois Frey, Ellen Failing, Irene Hunter, Florence Klose, Lee King, Alice Matas, Lois Oelschlager, Gertrude Wagner, Charlotte Wagner, Mary Wagner, Eileen McBriar, and Fran Gehres.

Following her acceptance speech, Mrs. Costello named the chairmen of the standing committees as follows: membership, Eva McCartney; constitution and by-laws, Mary Villano; publicity, Lorraine Middleton; sunshine, Ethel Koman; historian, Genevieve Heasley; improvement to building and grounds, Mildren Skinner; rental, Lois Artons; parliamentarian, Mildred Greenland; hostesses, Genevieve Gahagen, Agnes Corliss and Agnes Bond; activities chairman, Irene Hunter.

An executive board meeting will be held at 11 a.m. April 15, preceding the regular monthly meeting of the association.

WINNERS–D. B. Irons, left, president of First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart, presents a radio to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Meyer of Palm City. The couple won the radio as a result of a drawing of those who visited a booth at Ocean East Mall which showed residents condominium life in the county.

Racing checks

TALLAHASSEE—The March racing tax checks have been mailed to each of the 67 Florida counties, Comptroller Fred O. (Bud) Dickinson reported.

This month's checks are for $86,000, only $5,000 above the same time last year but still $79,500 ahead of last year's total distribution. The total amount mailed to each county is now $414,000. Under Florida law each county gets an equal share of the racing revenue.

A ceiling of $446,500 is imposed by the statutes, Dickinson said, "with only $32,500 remaining before this year's allocations are filled, we should be able to complete the program when the next warrants (checks) are mailed out."

After suspenses and other costs of operating the pari-mutuel trust fund, any extra collections are transfered into the general revenue funds.

NARFE to meet

STUART—The April meeting of the Martin County Chapter of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE) will be held Wednesday, April 10, in the community room of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Stuart.

The meeting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. and will be preceeded by a social hour.

Elton Schwarz, Martin County Public Defender, will be the guest speaker. Schwarz will discuss the role of the public defender in Martin County.

Plans will be finalized for those planning to attend the state convention at Cocoa Beach May 2 and 3.

A report will be given on the progress of the Martin County Council on Aging.

Any retired government employee in Martin County is invited to attend.

CONDOS Q's & A's

DEAR T. L.,

I have heard there is a condominium in Stuart that features single story living with plenty of wide open spaces. It sounds like a great concept, but how can I be assured that I won't get stuck on a new concept that I may regret later?

Still Not Sure

DEAR STILL NOT SURE,

What you have heard is true. Twin Lakes is a totally fresh look at condominium living. It's low in design, density, and price (all in the 20's). Your hesitation is understandable. That is why Twin Lakes offers a Lease-Purchase arrangement. Move in today. Rent up to one year. If you like it, you'll buy it. How's that for a deal?

For straight answers to your Condominium Questions, write Dear T.L., Post Office Box 2353, Stuart, Florida 33494, or for free personal consultation, come to Twin Lakes on U.S. No. 1, one mile south of Cove Road, Stuart, any day, 10 a.m. until dark. No appointment necessary.

Mirror newspaper survey is planned for next week

JENSEN BEACH: The fourth Jensen Beach-Port St. Lucie Mirror "Certified newspaper Survey" will be included in The Mirror next week, according to Richard E. Campbell, publisher.

Over $300 in cash awards will be included in prizes inducing Mirror readers to fill out the form that will indicate community ideals and buying habits of the people of Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie.

The form survey will be included in both newspapers for several weeks to get a representative sampling of the readership. Material from the survey is used to seek new businesses for the area, to assist the Mirror in editorial campaigns according to the wishes of the residents and to give demographic information that is not available on either Port St. Lucie or Jensen Beach.

The survey is conducted by the Institute of Modern Marketing, of Boynton Beach. It is conducted every two years by the research group, and all forms are held in strict confidence by I.M.M. and are destroyed after being compiled according to Dr. Rogger, head of the I.M.M.

Each form will be printed so that it can be folded into a postage-paid envelope-size letter, to be stapled and dropped into the mail. The forms will be collected at The Mirror and Dr. Rogger will select the prize-winners from the unopened survey forms.

"The survey will be a list of questions concerning the buying and living habits of residents. It will be a guide to marketing for our advertisers, and will help us promote future shopping services in our approach to businesses interested in moving into our area."

A proper response should be at least ten percent of our readership," he added. "We want to know that people buy what they want to buy and why they buy. It should give us an idea of the spendable income in Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie.

Following Dick Lundin's presentation which included a complete outline of what CESA intended, Robert Seeley, vice president and general manager of Port St. Lucie, pointed out that the residents of Port Charlotte had undertaken a similar project and today they have an extensive facility of the utmost importance to their community.

"I see no reason why we shouldn't have one as good in our community," he said.

"I believe if the City will support this project, the citizens will be more willing to offer their individual support in a very worthwhile project," said Councilman Dr. Harold Notley.

Mayor Eugene F. Kavanaugh, after conferring briefly with City Attorney Rupert Smith, announced there was nothing in the city charter to prevent participation.

The council made a motion to turn the matter over to the financial committee for their determination and suggestion as to the amount of such contribution.

CESA funds to continue

PORT ST. LUCIE: State funds from the Council of Aging for the CESA operation in Port St. Lucie are expected to be continued, according to State Representative Charles Nergard.

The announcement followed a threat made Monday in West Palm Beach by George Tsusmanakis, executive director of the Gulfstream Areawide Council on Aging, that CESA's funding for the next three months was virtually cut off.

Nergard reported Mrs. Jacks as saying, "I am very optimistic that the funds previously promised in the amount of $6,828 will be made available to CESA through April, May and June."

RT ST. LUCIE: The race is ow between Port St. Lucie and City to see which town can ete their fire station first.

ace for the proposed White City ation was approved by a special g of the St. Lucie Fire Board last night. At that time the board ed unanimously to buy the 4-ad acre tract at Midway Road-Regina Drive about a half mile of U.S. 1 from Glenn Gardner of Lansing, Mich. Purchase price was $18,300.

ning a good length ahead at this is the Port St. Lucie station ding to Mayor Eugene F. gh, the plans for the south n station should be completed the next week to ten days.

have talked with the architect, Everett, and the main thing right is last fitting in the mechanical, ing and electrical units into the ," the mayor said. "With the ption of these plans subject to the ns of all concerned, we will immediately advertise for bids. The one I am looking for is the one on which I can get some speed," the mayor concluded.

The Fire Board has agreed to put into operation the first of the two stations completed. The remaining site will sit idle for one year because the county claims it does not have the money to put two fire stations into operation during the same fiscal year without a tax increase.

The fire board has appropriated $130,000 for land purchase and the construction of the White City station.

The City of Port St. Lucie furnished the necessary land for their station, agreed to pay for the construction of the station, furnish a rescue vehicle and handle the construction bids and contracting to get the station in the south county community.

The construction costs are to be repaid to the city in three installments, interest free, commencing one year after the station is in operation.

Both cities are anticipating an October completion date.

t. Lucie Hilton as new manager

RT ST. LUCIE: David Conway, 27, assumed his new responsibilities as ger of the 280-room St. Lucie Hilton Inn located on the North Fork of the St. Lucie River in Port St. Lucie.

T. LUCIE MANAGER—David Conway, 27, ently named the new hotel manager the St. Lucie Hilton Inn. Conway is a ner manager of the Holiday Inn in Natchitoches, Texas.

Conway arrived last week from Nacogdoches, Texas where he previously managed the Holiday Inn for two years.

This is not the first venture for Conway here in Florida. Prior to joining the Holiday Inns, he was affiliated with the Hilton Inn in Orlando for 18 months.

Conway is a veteran of four years with the Air Force. He was stationed in Greece, Germany and England from 1966 to 1970.

He is enthusiastic about his new position.

"It is exciting to be with an organization that is consistantly growing. Everything the St. Lucie Hilton complex has to offer is obviously well received by the guests," he said.

According to Conway, the new 56-room-and-suite E building on the bank of the St. Lucie River are virtually completed and will be ready for full occupancy within two weeks. At that time the accommodations will be 280 similar units capable of handling between 500 and 600 guests.

A new restaurant adjacent to the Hilton Inn is currently under construction. Officials are hopeful for a June opening although no completion date has been set at this time.

Work progresses

Sellinger optimistic about school

PORT ST. LUCIE—In reporting the progress being made on the new Port St. Lucie Elementary School, D.R. Sellinger, St. Lucie County School Superintendent, admits he is probably the most optimistic person in the county.

"I am still pushing and holding out that the new 24 room building will be completed on time for the fall opening," Sellinger added.

The 15 acre site has been cleared and the contractor for the first phase, steel construction, has moved in. Steel work, roof and walls, is being done by Richard Davis Construction of Ft. Pierce, under a $300,000 contract.

"I feel real good with the way things look at the present time," Sellinger said. "According to the architect, there seems to be a lot of interest in the bidding of this job. We are apparently bidding at a good time."

The fact that Indian River County recently received bids that were $600,000 over the estimated cost had caused some concern to local officials.

"Frankly, we were beginning to get scared," Sellinger said.

"Everything seems to be working in our favor. Bids were received by the board for the addition of four kindergarten classrooms at Lawnwood Elementary and four at Fairlawn. These came in almost to the dollar of the estimated cost," he added.

Sellinger couldn't say enough about the cooperation they have received from General Development Corporation.

"They couldn't be any better. They are going right on as far as cutting the streets in up there, and they are putting in the sewage lines. We are getting tremendous cooperation from GDC as we couldn't ask for more," Sellinger said.

Although Sellinger is optimistic, he said they are making plans to hopefully organize the classes for the fall terms, in the case of a strike in the carpenters' union.

"We want to have the children meeting someplace else if the building is not completed in time so that when it is ready we won't have to disrupt children and teachers from other schools. It is our intention, even if we have to scatter them all over the county, that when the school is ready it will just be a matter of moving in," Sellinger said.

PORT ST. LUCIE: It was reported at the Tuesday workshop session of the City Council that the bids would be let within the month for Florida's Turnpike Interchange at Port St. Lucie.

Construction is expected to take approximately 18 months and the tentative completion date has been set for the end of the year or early 1975.

Communications explored

PORT ST. LUCIE—Communications was the theme for the monthly meeting when the cubs from Port St. Lucie Pack 499 gathered at St. Andrews Lutheran Church last week.

Cubs displayed and explained their handmade telegraphs, walkie-talkies and telephones.

Angelo Moraca, den 1, discussed the proper use of the two-way radio, while Michael Farmer and Dean Romano spoke on various types of non-verbal communications.

Phillip Mathews narrated a demonstration given by Skipper Lack and Chris Johnson, den 3, on the walkie-talkie. The bell systems were also a project of den three.

Dean Romano reported on a trip to the radio station, a scavenger hunt was relayed by Matthew Davidson and Tel Yankello explained the construction of his Morse Code sending kit.

David Bishop, William Jordan, Jr., David Larres, Jim Schaefer and Greg Welch received the communication patches earned at the 1974 Treasure Coast District Camporee. Webelos Leader William Jordan made the presentation.

Brian Smith, Dean Romano and Jimmy Warren graduated into Webelos.

Skipper Lack received his achievement award of wolf rank.

One new cub joined the pack, Daniel Larres was welcomed by Cub Master Tom Hillegas.

Den three took first place for uniform inspection and the Webelos followed in second place.

Racing checks

TALLAHASSEE—The March racing tax checks have been mailed to each of the 67 Florida counties, Comptroller Fred O. "Bud" Dickinson reported.

This month's checks are for $86,000, only $5,000 above the same time last year but still $70,500 ahead of last year's total distribution. The total amount mailed to each county is now $414,000. Under Florida law each county gets an equal share of the racing revenue.

A ceiling of $446,500 is imposed by the statutes, Dickinson said, "with only $32,500 remaining before this year's allocations are filled, we should be able to complete the program when the next warrants (checks) are mailed out."

After expenses and other costs of operating the pari mutuel trust fund, any extra collections are transfered into the general revenue funds.

NARFE to meet

STUART—The April meeting of the Martin County Chapter of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE) will be held Wednesday, April 10, in the community room of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Stuart.

The meeting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. and will be preceeded by a social hour.

Elton Schwarz, Martin County Public Defender, will be the guest speaker. Schwarz will discuss the role of the public defender in Martin County.

Plans will be finalized for those planning to attend the state convention at Cocoa Beach May 7 and 9.

A report will be given on the progress of the Martin County Council on Aging.

Any retired government employee in Martin County is invited to attend.

CONDOS Q's & A's

DEAR T. L.,

I have heard there is a condominium in Stuart that features single story living with plenty of wide open spaces. It sounds like a great concept, but how can I be assured that I won't get stuck on a new concept that I may regret later?

Still Not Sure

DEAR STILL NOT SURE,

What you have heard is true. Twin Lakes is a totally fresh look at condominium living. It's low in design, density, and price, all in the 20's. Your hesitation is under standable. That is why Twin Lakes offers a Lease-Purchase arrangement.

Move in today. Rent up to one year. If you like it, you'll buy it. How's that for a deal?

For straight answers to your Condominium Questions, write Dear T.L., Post Office Box 2353, Stuart, Florida 33494, or for free personal consultation, come to Twin Lakes on U.S. No. 1, one mile south of Cove Road, Stuart, any day 10 a.m. until dark. No appointment necessary.

Sailfish Point project is okayed

JENSEN BEACH-Sailfish Point development on the southern end of Hutchinson Island has been approved by the Martin County Commission. The 742 unit complex will add an estimated 1,613 persons to the island population.

Donation of a 100 foot long beach access strip at the northern tip of the 300 acre plot to the county and promises to improve MacArthur Boulevard clinched commission approval of the project.

The question of whether there would be enough drinking water has arisen and consulting engineer Fred Greene said if Southern Gulf Utilities and the City of Stuart can't supply sufficient water the company will supply its own source.

Still to be obtained by the developers, Cabot, Cabot and Forbes of Boston, is a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers for excavation of a 105 acre lake on the site.

The South Florida Regional Planning Council recently recommended that the county hold back its approval of the project until a number of contested points had been cleared up.

At a workshop session several days ago, commissioners indicated that the points in dispute had been cleared up to their satisfaction.

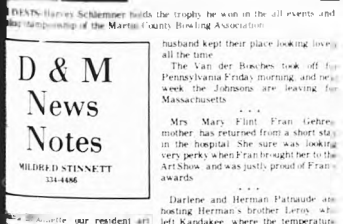
Regional experts contended that the development encroached into the sand dune area on the east. Greene told commissioners that the developers had agreed in writing that the dunes won't be damaged.

County planner Tom Leonard recommended approval, saying questions of dune preservation and beach access had been answered to his satisfaction.

Sailfish Point is the largest condominium project to reach this stage of government approval for the island, but with a density of about 2 units per acre, it is one of the least crowded projects.

PRESENTS TROPHY-Larry Lewis, left, accepts the Scratch doubles trophy from Walter Fralick, president of the Martin County Bowlers Association. Trophies and checks were presented to association members and teams last Thursday night at Jensen Lanes.

DOUBLES CHAMP-Winners in the doubles championship of the Martin County Bowlers Association are Aaron Johnson, left, and Bill Hilsch. They rolled a 1,330 score.



CHAMPS-Harvey Schlemmer holds the trophy he won in the all events and doubles championship of the Martin County Bowling Association.

Junior league baseball starts next Monday night

JENSEN BEACH-The opening games of the 1974 junior league baseball season will begin at 5:30 p.m. Monday at Langford Park, according to Fred Rogger, recreation director.

Dick Wold, president of the Stuart-Jensen Jaycees, winners of the 1973 Mustang League, will throw out the first ball.

First game will be Jensen Jaycees versus Rich Carroll Insurance at 5:30 p.m. on field No. 2.

Bronco league will be VFW versus Jensen Beach Bank following the Mustang league game.

CERTIFICATES-The Indian River Chapter of the American Institute of Banking recently awarded certificates to three local members. The certificates of academic achievement were presented by D. S. Hudson, Jr., (left) of First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart to James Foster, Charles Pope and Richard Swetzer. Gary Hayes, (right) is president of the local chapter.

'River Killers' talk at FIT Saturday

JENSEN BEACH-The author of a book about the civil work branch of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers will speak at Florida Institute of Technology at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 6.

Martin Heuvelmans, local resident is the author of "The River Killers."

Time after time the Corps has destroyed the nation's waterways at the taxpayers expense, Heuvelmans charges. And for no other reason than to perpetuate the agency's own existence.

Heuvelmans spent 10 years in research and close observation of the Corps' activities.

According to Heuvelmans publishers, Stackpole Books, "The River Killers" goes further than any other book has ever gone to document the misrepresentations and arrogant deceptions employed by the Corps' civil works project branch in the accomplishment of its destructive goals.

Legion charity bingo starts Saturday night

JENSEN BEACH-During the month of April, the proceeds from the Saturday night bingo parties held by American Legion Post 238 will be donated to the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department, Jensen Beach Samaritans Free Ambulance Service, Jensen Beach Cub Scouts, and Martin Memorial Hospital.

We invite the public members of all organizations and their auxiliaries to come out and play bingo," Legion Commander Virgil Matthews said. "We need a larger representation from other organizations to help support these local groups.

Games are held each Saturday night at 8 p.m. at the Post Home on Savanna Road.

Carl Bruner surprised

STUART-A surprise party was held in honor of Carl Bruner at the Outrigger recently. The complete surprise was initiated by Myrna Bruner with the help of their close friends.

The best wishes of the day were relayed to Bruner by singing and the presentation of gifts, many of which were humorous.

Those participating in the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Mulcahy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pope, Jr., Mrs. Radie Belle Krueger, Eleanor Tubahn, George McInnis, Mary Glover, Magda Hubala, Helen and Joe Reymann, Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Prince, and Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Nowajewski.

WEST PALM BEACH-Jim Jones, manager of Key Cinema Club, has been appointed as the Perry Cable Television Companies representative on the Postal Customers Council. The council serves the Palm Beach Post Office area.

Bible Academy Elementary Choir to sing at Trinity

JENSEN BEACH-On Sunday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m. the Elementary School Choir of Hobe Sound Bible Academy will present the cantata "The Story Of Jesus."

The choir consists of 30 voices under the direction of Mrs. Ann French. Musical instruments as well as the piano will accompany the singers.

All are invited to attend.

The Ruth Circle will meet at 1:15 April 8 in Fellowship Hall.

All members and prospective members and guests are urged to attend. A silent auction will be held. Co-hostesses are Mrs. Velma Woodruff and Mrs. Hellen Williams. Devotional leader is Mrs. Evelyn Faust.

Art Associates to elect Friday

STUART-Election of officers will be held by Art Associates of Martin County, Inc., on Friday, April [illegible] p.m. meeting in the community room of First National Bank and Trust Co. of Stuart.

Following the business meeting, a demonstration in sculpture will be given by Richard Proctor, now of Port Salerno. He studied at the Otis Art Institute in Los Angeles, Calif., and with Tom Sloan, Theodore Lukats and Joseph Martinique.

Mrs. Margaret Messmer and Mrs. Jeanne Pettit are exhibiting their murals at Stuart National Bank. Mrs. Lois Connolly, at Martin County Public Library, and Mrs. Dorothy Elliott in Jensen Beach.

A one-woman show of Katherine Zena-Twombly's work will begin April 6 Saturday, and show through April 30, at the Pieces of Eight Gallery, St. Lucie Ave., Port Salerno. The public is invited.

Katherine has an amazing list of achievements. At age 16, she was awarded the state prize for high school students in the state of Mass. As an art major at Dana Hall, Wellesley, Mass., she was awarded a first in watercolor by the Boston Globe. Miss Zena-Twombly has had shows at the Contemporary Gallery in Santa Fe and at the Zephyr Gallery in Orleans, Mass. Her studies include a year in Tokyo and a year in New Mexico.

New offices for Deal

STUART—Deal Development Company, builder of SunTide oceanfront condominium apartments on Hutchinson Island moved into new office quarters in the Stuart National Bank Building recently. The new offices which comprise approximately one-half of the third floor, total 3,200 square feet of space.

Glenn Anderson, development manager for Deal, stated that the move into the Stuart National Bank Building permits the firm to consolidate its operations in one office. The firm will continue to maintain its preview sales center in the Ocean East Mall, along with an on-site sales office at the SunTide location on Hutchinson Island.

George Christy, who is sales manager for Deal projects in this area, will also move to the new offices and Deal representatives will man both the Ocean East Mall office and the SunTide on-site sales office.

Oh!
I don't take chances any more!

Now even my pin money makes money! The days when I hid money all over the house are gone

I found it more beneficial to save money where it can earn more for me. I was constantly worried each time I left my house that it would be robbed or that after awhile I would forget where I hid my money. Now it's convenient and safe in my 5 1/4% passbook savings account at Community Federal Savings & Loan Association. I can get it out any time I please and the interest is compounded daily. There are few investments to compare with a savings account at Community Federal for versatility and return on your money. And all I have to remember now is where I left my passbook!

PC-UA reach greement

BY ALICE HICKEY

RT ST. LUCIE—Negotiations will immediately to purchase the rights-of-way for the alternate to the Twin Banyan Plantation opment of Universal Adams, Inc. announcement was made last by Robert Amann, area ator for the Miami-based firm, ing an out-of-court agreement the developer and the State ment of Pollution Control (DPC) uit Court Judge James Alderman Universal Adams $10,000 for construction of a causeway the savannas without the ary permit, and asked the to seek an alternate access agreement with the state that if the people refuse to sell erty necessary for the alternate within thirty days, we (Universal will proceed with the savanna Amann said.

e would like not to cross the savannas," Amann continued. "We would like to work it out the other way, but if we are forced to cross them, we now have a way that both sides have agreed to.

"The fate will remain with the people-the people who will, or will not, let us have access to the property without crossing the savannas," Amann said.

Amann said his firm is very optimistic that the rights-of way for an alternate route will be acquired.

"Universal Adams is putting forth 100 percent effort to acquire a different way in. We want to cooperate with the desires of the people we will be dealing with, and assure them nothing would be done detrimental to their wishes in the way of construction, rights-of way, or method of building or installing this access over the properties acquired," he said.

According to Amann, UA has agreed to purchase the property and is making every effort to solve the approach problem within the thirty day period.

"Should these people say, 'We will sell it to you, but we want it only as a roadway, we want it landscaped, want it grassed and hedged along so we can't see it from our homes,' UA will make every effort to accomplish these things in order to expedite the approach problem," Amann added.

Three property owners reportedly stand between Universal Adams and the alternate access route. If Universal Adams can obtain the land for a private road on the east side of the savannas, the access would extend south to Walton Road. In that case the developer would then remove the partially constructed causeway across the savannas wetlands, replace the fill in the borrow pits, and the balance will be bulldozed down to the natural bottom level, preventing turbidity and suspended solids from escaping.

According to the agreement, if the developer is forced into using the savanna access route, an additional $10,000 fine will be imposed, and the causeway will be examined by experts representing the developer and the state. The experts may make recommendations that the causeway be remodelled to provide culverts or bridges which would allow a flow of water through the wet areas.

"At least it is now down to thirty days, which is an inconsequential amount of time compared to the length of time we have been tied up," Amann said.

"We are immediately proceeding with engineering and other aspects of the project," Amann said. "I have in my possession the necessary permits for the sewer plant, the water plant and the various distribution lines.

"Therefore, we can start construction on the various aspects of the project which have nothing to do with either the causeway or wetland areas," he said.

Universal Adams made several concessions in the agreement with the Department of Pollution Control.

The developer agreed waters of the savannas are waters of the state and the firm will apply for permits for any future work in the wetland area.

They also agreed to deed all land owned below the 15-foot contour line that will not be occupied by a golf course, an arbitrary line designating areas the state considers endangered, to the state or a local government agency.

The developer will also replace as much vegetation as possible in the areas which have been damaged.

The state agreed Universal Adams could improve a sand roadway constructed from the east bank of the savannas on condition that culverts were placed under it to retain natural water flow.

The Twin Banyan Plantation Development was stopped several months ago by a temporary injunction filed by the Department of Pollution Control preventing the developer from constructing a causeway through the savannas near Walton. The injunction was issued by Judge Alderman.

GIRL WATCHING. This young man appears to be enjoying the form of his classmates during a yoga session at Florida Institute of Technology last week. The classes are taught by local artist Doris Thurston each Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the FIT auditorium. A six-week yoga class will begin next Wednesday. For further information call 283-5137.

Alcohope offers therapy in alcoholic rehabilitation

JENSEN BEACH—Now that the alcoholic has been classified as having a disease, rather than being just a drunk, counties throughout Florida have begun setting up rehabilitation centers with psychotherapists, and jails have been moving men out of their drunk tanks.

This, in effect, is what is being listed as the result of Florida's new law defining the alcoholic, according to Mrs. Marie Walker, a therapist psychologist who operates Alcohope, a rehab center in Vero Beach.

Operating under three different funding arrangements from the four-county district 18 Mental Health Board, the federal government's E.O.C. and the state under the Myers Act, Alcohope is just getting off the ground in Vero Beach, offering a program that is geared to help those who want help.

"We ask that the alcoholic remain for thirty days, because it takes him two weeks to get his thinking straight," Mrs. Walker told Jensen Kiwanians at their meeting Monday at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant.

Mrs. Walker defined an alcoholic as a person (statistics show that as many men as women become alcoholics) who needs a drink to function.

The businessman who takes a drink at lunch is not an alcoholic unless he needs that drink to do his job," she said. She added that out of fifteen who drink one will become an alcoholic.

Working closely with Alcoholics Anonymous, with two sessions each week devoted to the group, has been one of the best forms of therapy, according to Mrs. Walker, who praised AA as being the only satisfactory program in the United States.

She promoted her plans for a glyssa's Caravan, a flea market to be held at the Alcohope site on May 25, as one way the group was trying to raise money to buy a permanent site and building.

Hett, Lundin top scorers

PORT ST. LUCIE—At the Sunday night play of the PSL Pinochle Club an average score of 77 enabled Jeane Hett to take high honors for the double deck players with a score of 923, while Dick Lundin was accumulating a score of 580 to lead the single-deckers.

Prize winners for the month's play will be announced at the next session of play, which will be held at CESA Friday, April 5. Play will start at 7:30 p.m. instead of 7 p.m.

Easter egg hunt April 6

JENSEN BEACH—Ninety dozen eggs are being cooked and dyed by the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Dept. Ladies Auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Dorothy Smouse, for the seventh annual Easter egg hunt to be held at the Langford Park. This popular event, set for April 6, is sponsored by the Jensen Beach Fire Dept.

Prizes will be awarded in four age groups, one and two year olds, three-four and five-six, seven and eight-nine and ten. Children one and two may be accompanied by their parents, but the youngsters must be the ones to gather the eggs.

Registration will be at 9:30 a.m. and the hunt will start at 10 a.m. The Ladies Auxiliary will be there to register the children.

Chairman of this affair will be Nicholas Flora, assisted by Willard Bowman and Fred Jennings. Rain date will be Saturday, April 13.

All children of Jensen Beach area are invited to take part.

Bishop visits All Saints

JENSEN BEACH—On Sunday, March 24, the Rt. Rev. James L. Duncan, bishop of the Southeast Florida diocese, visited All Saints Episcopal Church, Jensen Beach. The rector of the parish, Rev. Daniel Alvarez, presented four adults to the bishop who administered the Sacrament of the Confirmation.

Those confirmed were Tom Cook, Mildred Finkel, Etta Wieser, and Florence Williams. An informal reception was held in the parish hall following the service, under the supervision of Mrs. Sandra Makris.

The parishioners of the congregation will herald Holy Week with three processions of the Holy Eucharist on this Sunday at 7:30, 9:15 and 11 a.m. Palm crosses will be given at each service.

On Easter Day there will be four processions of the Holy Eucharist at 7:30, 9:15 and 11 a.m. Clergy to participate include the Rt. Rev. Wallace J. Gooding, retired Bishop of Chicago, and the Rev. Ralph Banks, the Rev. Daniel Alvarez and Fr. Alvarez.

Acolytes for Palm Sunday will be Bruce Fletcher, Sue and Chuck Fulton, Beth and Doug Whipkey, Steven Wilkinson, Ricky Welker, Tim Ouellette, Chris and Drew Foust, Jeff Smith, and Jamie Haire.

Easter day acolytes will be Beth and Doug Whipkey, Sue and Chuck Fulton, Steven Wilkinson, Ricky Welker, Steven Wilkinson, Chris and Drew Foust, Steven Ouellette, Sandra Ouellette, James Woods and Jeff Smith.

The annual Sunday School Easter egg hunt and party will be held after the 9:15 service with Mrs. Gwen Henry in charge of arrangements.

Prizes galore at Gang

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Friday Nite Gang staged one of its sessions with many prizes given away to lucky players.

Caroline Rodier won the main prize of a gift certificate. Dorothy Fox won a ticket to the pancake breakfast, Maxine Bosch won a ticket to the Jaycees banquet and Mary Fondell, Edna Hamblin and Alice Cook tied for a special prize donated by George Petrie for the draw. Alice Cook won.

The Gang snooper had an easy time registering only one visitor, Mrs. Angela Sabatini from Lombard, Ill., visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Ballarini.

Household survey is this week

JENSEN BEACH-$350 in cash prizes will be awarded to readers of The Mirror in Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie who fill out and return the yellow survey form that is included in this issue a reward for joining in the effort to collect material on the economic and civic life of the two communities.

The confidential questionnaires which will be opened only by the Institute of Modern Marketing and then destroyed after all have been compiled are the only source of information on the likes and dislikes, buying habits, and other activities of people who live in Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie.

We hope to get a full ten to twenty percent of our readership to respond to the questionnaires, said Mirror publisher Dick Campbell. The information is needed to seek new businesses to serve the community and to properly inform our advertisers of the desires of our readers so that they will make such materials and services available.

The cash awards will be drawn by lot among the returned surveys by Mr. Franklin B. Rogers, president of I.M.M. and announced in The Mirror at a later date. The questionnaire will be inserted in The Mirror for several weeks.

The survey form has been simplified so that it is easy to complete. Many of the results of the survey will be released in news stories to follow the compilation of the results.

Each survey is printed so that it can be folded into a compact, letter size envelope stapled or taped and mailed postage free. Directions are on the survey.

One and two year old hunters had some help from their parents. Trucking was permitted, which some did and the site of eggs in a field without a chicken frightened some children.

The older children didn't need help from their elders.

It was every egg hunter for himself and baskets filled in a hurry.

The 90 dozen eggs were donated by Mike Quinn and the cooking and dying of the eggs was done by the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary headed by Mrs. Dorothy Smouse.

Winners of bunnies the chocolate kind were Jill Lynn Bower and Heidi Ruth Michael Cruse, Karen Mace, Garret Lips, Karen Lips, Harold Selover and Jerry Cream.

Planning seminar is held

PLANNING TALK-Robert Gisle, left, of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell, and Dr. Edward Sears, chairman of the Martin County Commission, were participants in the planning seminar held last Saturday at Florida Institute of Technology.

JENSEN BEACH-More than 100 persons attended an all day planning seminar last Saturday at Florida Institute of Technology.

Conducted by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., which did the Hutchinson Island survey for the county, the planners, builders and conservationists at the seminar were told that the county has the tools for development maneuvers.

Planners for the California based company said that they plan to put all the pieces together for the county and provide three alternatives for the development and a capital improvement program.

Much of the control will come through the planned unit development (PUD), the planners explained.

Key features of PUD, it was pointed out, include:

1. All property involved must be under unified control or ownership.

2. Development proceeds only in accordance with a master plan whose final terms and conditions represent a negotiated agreement between the developer and the governing body.

3. Construction takes place on a phased or staged basis as set forth in the approved plan. Specific building permit approvals, together with various local and state departmental approvals, are extended only for the particular phase of construction.

Planners also noted that there are a number of current trends important to Martin County and the state including:

1. Public support for strong growth management policies.

2. Environmental impact assessment requirements.

3. State involvement in regional and local planning matters.

4. Ways and means to control the timing and sequencing of developments via capital improvements programming.

Commissioner Richard Schmidt of the California firm noted that the county has indicated which areas it wants to grow, a population of 80,000 by 1990 instead of a Fort Lauderdale type chaos.

Martin County planner Thomas Leonard said that no area should be permitted to develop without adequate police and other community facilities.

Dr. Edward Sears, County Commission chairman, welcomed the group to the seminar and representatives of the building industry, realtors and conservationists groups attended.

Robert Doyle of the California based firm which headed the Hutchinson Island study, was one of the speakers.

Charter defeated

JENSEN BEACH-The continued rural County Charter went down in smashing defeat Tuesday with more than 4,000 Martin County citizens voting against the charter.

The unofficial count was 4,4... against and 1,8... for.

In Precinct ... Jensen Beach, Langford Park saw only 5 votes cast, all casting for the charter.

All other precincts showed Hobe Sound, Stuart and Indian Riverside precincts voted against the charter, the two Indian Riverside precincts voted against the charter, 1,2... to ...

Sewall's Point residents supported the charter, voting 120 yes and 117 no.

There was a 41 per cent turnout and 41 percent of the registered voters voted against the charter.

The charter was drawn up by a charter commission which began its work more than two years ago.

However it wasn't until the past few weeks that the question of a home rule charter became a hotly contested issue.

Supporters for the charter came from several conservation leaders, County Commissioner Ed Fowler and a majority of charter commissioners.

Stuart Attorney John Dorman headed a group known as Conservatives Against the Charter and he carried on an active campaign against the charter.

Dorman's group and the Martin County Builders Association spent a total of $3,000 in the fight against the charter, according to the court house records.

In financing the charter, spend $1,... on their advertising campaign against the charter.

The question of increased taxation was debated with proponents of the charter crying charter disputing claims by opponents that the amendment gives no new taxing powers to the county.

Also the shared county work and tax assessor, all constitutional officers opposed the charter.

Bowl down cancer tourney is planned

The second annual bowling tournament sponsored by the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart will be held at Jensen Lanes April 26-28, Terry Caves, Lanes owner, said.

Bowl down cancer is the theme for the benefit bowling tournament according to Caves.

Members of the professional bowling association some of the top bowlers in the country will be at the Jensen Lanes.

One of the features of the tournament will be a pro celebrity session at 8:15 p.m. Friday, April 26.

Caves said that a $5 donation will admit a person to all sessions of the tournament.

...ords flowed, ...affic slowed

... debated ... traffic lanes on Commercial Street from a point 80 feet west of Indian River Drive intersection.

The right south lane clearly identified right turn only and the left north left turn only. This is to be accomplished by angling the center strip from its present position at a point 140 feet west of the Indian River Drive intersection to the beginning of the two lanes proposed 80 feet west of the intersection from approximately 20 feet north of curb to 24 feet.

Also, provide a sign at the right hand intersection with Indian River Drive to effect that right turns with caution are permitted on red light.

The left turn for north bound traffic on Indian River Drive at Commercial Street was criticized by Ilon Wilkie.

"They have taken a two lane road and made three lanes," Wilkie said. "The left turn should be eliminated."

Wilkie said that the County Commission and not the chamber should come up with a traffic plan for the future.

A member of the Volunteer Fire Department, Wilkie also pointed out that as long as the county continued to make improvements on the causeway that St. Lucie County traffic would continue to use it, and another bridge over the Indian River would be delayed.

On traffic lights for the downtown area, Hansen pointed out that traffic signals were not recommended.

Cost of signals for downtown intersection and at the Commercial Street and Savanna Road have been obtained by Philbrick. He noted that the $47,289 signal cost had to be cut.

A traffic signal at Savanna Road and Commercial Street was needed according to Philbrick because it was a school crossing.

Cost of that signal is more than $12,900.

BOXTOP COLLECTORS-Two members of the Martin County High School band hold some boxtops and labels that the band members will be collecting in a campaign to get money for new uniforms. The two Jensen Beach girls are Joanne Yurillo, right, junior who is band captain, and Susie Fulton, sophomore.

Students collect box tops

JENSEN BEACH-Band members at Martin County High School hope to exchange some boxtops for new uniforms.

Band members and students this week started knocking on doors asking their friends and neighbors to save boxtops, labels or tear strips for 13 well known Colgate products.

Band director Ken Mauger and Jody Sward, community school director, announced that the school has agreed to participate in the Colgate Palmolive School Action Plan.

Mauger said that under the program the company supplies cash in exchange for proof of purchase of its products. The band will receive from 1 cents to 30 cents depending on the size of the product.

Mrs. Ben Fulton, chairman of the band parents, announced committee chairmen for the fund raising project. They include Mrs. Stephen Rathkoff, chairman of parent contact committee; Mrs. Jack Bonert, chairman of Store Contact Committee; Mrs. Tony Cromwell, chairman of publicity; Mrs. William Kirkhart, chairman of Murray Contact Committee and Mrs. Eugueen Rathgeber, Stuart Middle Contact chairman.

Collection boxes for depositing the proof of purchase of the Colgate products have been set up in various grocery stores throughout the county.

Mrs. Fulton asks that if a student does not visit residents seeking boxtops persons should drop them in the collection boxes.

EGG WORK-A lot of eggs — 90 dozen donated by Quinn's Market — were cooked and Ruth Bowman, Etta Burt, Dorothy Smouse, Lyle Kugel, Dorothy Ross, Ann Ford, Martha Spinney and Edith Bell, all members of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary, which is headed by Mrs. Smouse.

Chamber sponsors crime prevention program

JENSEN BEACH-The crime prevention program sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for April 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the Harry Hoke Community Room on Commercial Street.

Sgt. Bill Scott and Sgt. John Davis of the Martin County Sheriff's Department will be the instructors.

Merchants and residents are urged to attend the session.

Sculpture course for adults offered at Langford

A course in sculpture is the newest offering of the Adult Education Department, Martin County Public Schools.

The course, taught by Bergi Wood, well-known sculptress, will cover fundamentals in clay technique, including the basics in sculpturing and the use of armatures, tools, and materials.

Subjects taught will include portraits, figurines, birds, animals and flowers.

The class will meet each Friday evening at ten o'clock, starting on the April 19 at Langford Park Clubhouse, Jensen Beach. The Clubhouse is near the Arch just off U.S. 1 Road 707.

There is no registration fee. Students are required to furnish their own equipment and materials. The instructor will be able to assist with the purchase of these items, should students require or need information.

Additional information about this and other adult education classes may be obtained by calling the Adult Education Office weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at 287-6400.

Now co-ed

Scouting is growing as challenges change

JENSEN BEACH-One of the changes of scouting in America is its co-educational approach to the new Boy Scouts of America, according to Tom Fletcher, program director of the Gulfstream Council, who spoke to the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club Monday.

Fletcher said that there are now 400,000 registered teen age girls in scouting serving in units of vocational interests.

There is one unit already right here in Martin County, a joint on law enforcement that is sponsored by the sheriff, he said.

Fletcher said that the Boy Scouts of America found that boys do not like to be called boys, so they are now called scouts.

Citing the growth of scouting in Martin County, Fletcher said that there are now troops packs and posts in Jensen Beach, Stuart, North River Shores, Port Salerno, Hobe Sound and Indiantown.
